RUSSIAN TROOPS NOW REPORTED ON POLISH TERRITORY

Campaign in Italy Stalled by Weather

THURSDAY—

Berlin was heavily bombed for the eighth time in six weeks. The attack on Wednesday night was one of the heaviest of the war.

• • •

The Germans were cleared entirely from Ortona, in Italy, and Canadian troops were reported pressing on toward Pescara. At the other end of the Italian line the Germans launched a heavy attack against the Fifth Army, but no news of the result of the attack was available.

• • •

• • •

Three Nazi destroyers and a freighter were sunk in the Bay of Biscay, in an air - sea battle that lasted two days.

• • •

• • •

United States bombers attacked Rome airfields on Tuesday.

• • •

FRIDAY —

Canadian troops advanced another mile along the Adriatic coast and the Allied Fifth Army opened up artillery bombardment of Mignano.

• • •

German lines were reported to be collapsing on a 185-mile front west of Kiev and the Russians advanced to within 42 miles of the Polish border and 85 miles of Rumania. The Russians also made gains in the Dnieper bend and on the Vitebsk front.

• • •

In New Britain, United States Marines captured the Cape Gloucester airdrome and ended all organized resistance in the area.

• • •

Hundreds of Allied bombers pounded the French coast in what might be the opening of the pre-invasion aerial offensive.

• • •

SATURDAY —

The Russians recaptured Zhitomir in the Ukraine. In White Russia the Soviet troops advanced past Vitebsk on two sides and cut the Orsha railway.

• • •

In Italy, British raiders of the Fifth Army landed behind the German lines north of the Garigliano estuary in what was termed a "most successful attack."

• • •

Large forces of United States bombers raided ball-bearing plants in the Paris suburbs and the air base at Chateau Bernard, in France.

• • •

Allied forces repelled a Jap attack in North Burma on forces guarding the new Burma Road from India to Chungking.

• • •

• • •

MONDAY —

• • •

In Italy the Canadians were within artillery range of Pescara and also captured San Tomasso, two miles west of Ortona. Bad weather stopped action in other parts of the Italian line.

• • •

The R. A. F. and R. C. A. F. carried out a heavy raid on Berlin on Sunday and another on Hamburg.

• • •

• • •

Landing at Saidor, northern New Guinea, United States forces quickly gained possession of the harbor and airfield.

• • •

• • •

KATHARINE SIMPSON WEDS LIEUT. JOHN CARROLL NICHOLLS

The Venerable Archdeacon R. J. Gimbrille officiated at a lovely wedding, at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Napanee, on Tuesday, January 4th, when Katharine Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Milner Simpson, Napanee, became the bride of Lieut. John Carroll Nicholls, R.C.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll Nicholls Toronto. Mr. Eppes was at the organ throughout the ceremony and during the signing of the register played "O Perfect Love."

Forming the lovely floral background for the bridal party was a graceful setting of snowy white sprays and pale pink carnations in all standards in the chancel and low bowls on the altar. Flanking the white-carpeted bridal aisle were clusters of flowers marking the guests' pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an original gown of deep blush ivory satin, classically simple in style, fashioned with a sheath-tight basque and softly gathered skirt. The only note of trimming was an applique of rich satin cording encrusting the deeply cut sweetheart neckline and long tight-fitting sleeves, and accenting the slightly-lowered waist line. Her full-length veil of matching ivory tulle was caught to her head with satin loops. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses, forget-me-nots and pink camellias.

Miss Anne Nicholls, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant, wearing a frock of garden-rose crepe, the long-moulded bodice accented with soft shirring and a softly gathered skirt falling from the slightly-dropped waist line. Like the wedding gown, it was accented with matching cording. She wore a baby cap of matching crepe, trimmed with crisp bows and misted with matching fine veiling, and carried a miniature shade hat of sharp grosgrains and lace with forget-me-nots.

Ian MacPherson of Windsor, attended the groom as best man and the ushers were Robert William Nicholls, brother of the groom, and John Reeve Simpson, brother of the bride.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Simpson, mother of the bride, received her guests wearing an original frock of seafoam blue wool delaine, the bodice accented with soft shirring and a silk skirt fashioned with a graceful side drape. Encrusting the visor brim of her matching blue hat were tiny flowers of brown velvet. Her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Nicholls, the mother of the groom, assisting with the receiving, had chosen for the occasion a frock of wood violet crepe fashioned with panels of palest amethyst and accented with iridescent beaded buttons. She wore a becoming fashioned of matching material and a corsage of orchids.

Why Tea and Coffee Rations Unchanged

In the fact that Canada is now buying coffee to the full extent of her 1943-44 allocation of shipping and that such supplies are barely enough to meet the prevailing rate of consumption there lies one excellent reason why there can be no immediate change in the coffee ration, thirty per cent. of the existing consumption is for the armed forces the Red Cross for prisoner-of-war parcels and institutions. In the case of tea, it is pointed out that the current consumption in Canada of 30,000,000 pounds per annum is the maximum allocation made to this country by the British Ministry of Foods, which controls tea distribution. Here, too, about 20 per cent. of the available supply goes to the armed forces, the Red Cross, etc., and the latter has recently asked for a substantial increase in the amount for prisoners-of-war parcels.

Mayor D. R. Hall's Inaugural Address

Council Chamber,
Napanee, Ontario,
Monday, January 3, 1944

To the Members of the 1944 Council,
Gentlemen:

As this is the inaugural meeting of the Council of Napanee, for the year 1944, I wish to extend my cordial greetings to you all. We assemble today, to confer on matters concerning the Municipality and the welfare of its people.

Entrusted with the responsibility of representing the community bold and forthright action is needed, if we are to grapple effectively with the cries of to-day, and plan courageously for the problems of to-morrow.

Matters of local concern should not be neglected but should be shelved wherever possible, to give way to matters of national importance. There is no domestic or sectional grievance, that cannot be reconciled as long as we remain free people.

Freedom, however, is not enough, unless it includes freedom from want, and freedom from insecurity; sufficient food; adequate clothing; decent housing; good health and the right to a full education.

I regret that, in recent weeks, the Town of Napanee, and its law-abiding citizens, received from a local pulpit and from a local Press, a most unwarranted defamation.

As Chief Magistrate of this Town, it was my duty to make a thorough investigation of this matter, and I found that such accusation was not supported by facts.

It is true that freedom of the Press and freedom of speech, are two of the important pillars upon which we base our Democratic way of life, but it is equally true that they should not be used unjustly, but should be appreciated by all, as an invaluable heritage and as such should be used. We should spurn every word of action that would in any way weaken the solidarity of our people.

I would like to assure those of our citizens, who are serving with the Armed Forces, and who are prepared to sacrifice their all, in order that Democracy may prevail, that Napanee is one of the finest Towns in Canada, and that we appreciate with grateful thanks the sacrifices that they have made, are making, and will make, on behalf of the freedom loving peoples of the world.

I plead for tolerance and understanding among all sections of the community, and agreement on the objective before us — namely the speedy and glorious victory of the United Nations. There is nothing else that matters, save that we should win the war. We dare not fail, either the present or the future.

DUANE ROBERT HALL, M.D.
Mayor.

A Correcton

In the account of Mrs. Loreina Edmond's trip home to Canada from West China, it was wrongly stated that Mrs. Edmonds was in China under the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada. Mrs. Edmonds wishes The Beaver to state that she and her late husband were appointed to China by the Board of Foreign Missions of The United Church. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Edmonds was re-appointed by the Foreign Mission Board as a single worker.

Mrs. Edmonds stated: "In actual work in West China both boards are supposed to be working under one general plan and in station work we do work entirely together, but finances and appointments to work are under two separate boards."

CANNED SALMON RATIONED TO CIVILIANS JAN. 17

Ottawa, (C.P.)—The Prices Board announced last week that rationing of canned salmon will begin January 17.

The announcement said salmon available will be packed in one-quarter, one-half and one pound tins and will be put on coupon ration at the rate of one-quarter of a pound of salmon per coupon.

Valid meat coupons in ration books and cards will be used for purchase of the commodity and salmon thus will become an alternative for rationed meats.

The board said 200,000 cases of canned salmon have been made available for the civilian market.

Negotiations for the supply were made between the board, the canners, the British Ministry of Food, and the Department of Fisheries, and a portion of the 1943 pack was allotted to civilian consumption.

"Because canned salmon has been absent from store shelves for two years and because the supply is limited it has been decided rationing will be the only fair method of distribution," the board said.

Under the board's equitable distribution plan retailers will be supplied in proportion to the volume of canned salmon they purchased from their supplies in 1941. It was noted, however, that due to distribution problems there is no guarantee that each retailer will have his supply by January 17th.

Officials emphasized that, canned pinks, cohos, tuna fish, herrings and sardines are not on the ration.

UNITED STATES SECRET WEAPONS REVEALED IN USE

Washington, (A.P.) — The United States Navy is using secret weapons in driving the Japanese back in the Pacific, Navy Secretary Frank Knox reported. He gave no details, however.

Knox made the disclosure in a summary of 1943 activities, saying:

"In the field of new weapons, or secret weapons, the Navy has by no means been idle.

"The Japanese especially have felt the sting of weapons which, although greatly improved, nevertheless are of conventional types.

"Japanese and Nazi alike, however, also have felt destruction wrought by weapons not known to them, and will continue to do so."

The secretary also disclosed at a news conference that more than 42 aircraft carriers are in operation. He said their "offensive sting" has been increased by the Corsair and Hellcat fighters "the most powerful carrier-based fighting planes in the world." Also now striking its first blows he said, "is a powerful new dive bomber."

He did not identify the new dive bomber, but it presumably is the Curtiss Helldiver, which saw its first action against the Japanese in a raid on Rabaul, November 11. The Navy said recently that it "lived up to our expectations during combat."

Knox disclosed the figures on aircraft carriers in reporting that the Navy now has in operation "more than six times as many" carriers as it had when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. At that time the Navy had seven carriers. Knox's figures include escort carriers.

U. S. Output Reaches All-Time Record

Washington, (A.P.)—United States war production reached in December the all-time record pace of $90,000,000,000 a year, which, if maintained, is more than enough to meet the schedules for 1944, executive director Lawrence A. Appley of the War Manpower Commission said.

Appley said the war production board estimates 1944 war production at $77,300,000 and 1943 production at $61,000,000,000.

War production board sources said Appley's December figure was apparently a correct estimate, if money spent for construction is included.

Ontario Teachers Promised Help

Toronto, (C.P.)—Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost, acting Education Minister of Ontario while Premier Drew is in Britain, last week, said drastic changes in Ontario educational system.

In an address to the Ontario School Teachers' Federation Frost indicated that 50 per cent more of educational costs be taken from real estate and in general provincial taxes. He warned the transfer be accompanied by a corresponding reduction in municipal taxes on real estate.

Teachers should be assured of treated, the dignity of their profession recognized and the principle of compensation according to merit approved. Building and equipment facilities must be improved, especially in rural centres.

Dean Leacy Presides at Opening Ceremony

In an eloquent address at the inaugural meeting of the Napanee Town Council on Monday morning, Dean E. M. Leacy, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Napanee, invoked Divine guidance for the members of the Council in their work during the coming year.

Dean Leacy said that he had been struck during recent months by the frequency with which President Roosevelt and Premier Churchill called upon God for His help in their great task of leading their people in the present time of crisis.

The Dean deplored the present neglect of worship of God and dependence on Him and said that even in this time of stress we must think of the future. Shortly, he said, the boys will be coming back from overseas and when they come they will ask "What have you done with our country?" It may be, he said in answer, that we have done nothing to keep the country what it should be, for God is not to be found in some communities. We have been too complacent and have allowed certain of the finer ideals to pass out of our lives. If we don't make a country better than the boys left, we have failed, he said.

Napanee, Dean Leacy said, is a fine place in which to live—a decent God, fearing community. ### THE OTHER BATTLE LINE

The warring nations, besides being at war with an external enemy, have a battle on their hands at home. That battle is against inflation. So far, in Canada, we have done remarkably well on this front. Having pegged wages and prices, the inflationary trend has been kept within bounds. To be sure, wages have been increased here and there, and farm products have greatly increased in price. But in general, the situation has been kept well in hand.

Our great Neighbour to the South is in a much more difficult situation. There has been no overall pegging of wages and no universal price ceiling. Though every effort has been made to keep both wages and prices at a reasonable level. In spite of this, however, prices so[illegible] f living mounts. In an en[illegible]ith this, there is a constant [illegible] wages. The United Mine [illegible] four times since the war [illegible]ned practically all they [illegible]ened strike of the Rail[illegible]he Steel Workers made [illegible] intervene, if [illegible]p[illegible]

Whether a curse or a blessing depends on the use to which these and all great inventions may be put. When the war is over, and men return to their sanity, great vistas of service for the plane will, undoubtedly, open up. Forty years in the life of the world is as nothing. But with such astounding progress made in flying since 1903, the mind is staggered by thought of what might happen before 2003.

SICKNESS AND HEALTH

The Ontario Government has suggested a personal tax on all citizens, in order to secure for each and every person, hospitalization. This is a suggestion which should receive the support of all, whether they belong to a political party or not. At the present time about the most expensive experience a person can undergo is that of being sick. There are necessary professional services to be secured, medicines to be purchased, and care and attention to be paid for. All this costs money. Indeed it costs so much that many people are quite unable to get the attention they need. We are living in a most constructive and inventive era. The war has stimulated research in every direction. The science of medicine and surgery has not been overlooked. The new drugs which have come on the market in recent years have worked a revolution in the treatment of Pneumonia, one of the most dreaded of all diseases; and the more recent discovery of Penicillin has added another potent factor in the treatment of certain diseases.

Why, we may ask, should any person be deprived of the privilege of these drugs and the skill in the use of them? The fact that a person has enough money to pay for them is surely no justification for keeping the gifts of modern science from the needy. The most precious possession in any nation is the health of its citizens. This the Totalitarian Countries quickly discovered. As a result, the leaders in [illegible] se places saw to it that every individual was [illegible]ned in the matter of health and physical [illegible]ss. The Democracies have learned that. [illegible]They know that the war will be won only [illegible] army that is in superb physical condi[illegible]he nations will not always be at war. ## THE RED ARMY OFFICER

Much attention is being paid in the Russian military Press to the building up of a strong traditional sense in the Red Army's Officer Corps. Soviet officers, as the Red Star wrote recently, find a good deal in the old traditions of Russian officers which is making clear to them the origin and development of Russia's military strength. Emphasis is laid on the fact that Peter the Great, creator of the first regular army in Russia, insisted on a system whereby future officers began their service in the ranks and founded a tradition of "the officer as the father of his men." Under Peter, too, the Russians are now being reminded, grew up a comprehension of the officer's true honour. "He who fights only for his own glory, and not for the defence of the country, is not a great hero" is a remark attributed to the Russian Tsar whose traditions in contemporary Russia is probably greater than that of any Russian of the past, except Lenin.

A true officers' tradition is considered as having been kept alive successively by Catherine the Great's military administrator, Rumyantsev, and by Marshal Suvorov who, we are told considered it an honor to eat kasha with his troops. So Kutuzov, Ermolov, of the Caucasian campaigns and Brusilov. These commanders always understood that although military discipline is the Army's chief strength, as a man the officer is a member of a family, and can hold his men under a double law of love and discipline.

Perhaps as in no other land today young Russian officers look back for guidance from the past. For Russians brought up during the last quarter of a century, the rediscovery of the national history is a new and exciting experience. In what other land could one find an equivalent of the popular use of the phrase, the "Suvorov type" to describe men whose slight, wiry figures resemble that of the famous eighteenth-century marshal? It is as though Englishmen were to describe each other as being the "Marlborough type."

A similar example is provided by the recent upholding of Nelson as an example to officers of the Red Fleet. It was impossible to be a good naval officer if one did not combine the practical knowledge of the sailor with the honorable habits of a gentleman, the newspaper Red Fleet paraphrased the English admiral, and advised future naval officers to like exacting lessons, since it said, they would be the future representatives of the best stratum of the Soviet intelligentsia and should know how to conduct themselves in society. It is significant in this respect that since the war Russian naval men have been keen students of foreign languages.

By catching up many strains of the Russian tradition, mapped assuredly by the restoration, a type of regular officer is taking shape again. These men have welcomed the reintroduction of epaulettes (epogny), of a smart cut of uniforms, and of old divisional names, resent with Russia's past and still echoing recent victories. They have gladly taken up the fuller authority given to them by the relegation of political officers to positions subordinate to those of military commanders. Recent regulations tightening up the bearing of officers, dress and bearing in public places, the reintroduction of officers' orderlies and officers' clubs, have seemed to them quite a natural development.

In future the junior officers' corps will be recruited not only from the officers' training schools, which the Russian youth normally enters after his secondary education, but also from the newly founded Suvorov schools. These establishments have been organized on the model of the Tsarist cadet schools and are part of a great reconstruction programme announced during the summer. They will be attended principally by the children of officers killed during the war in the first place, and are intended in part to solve the orphan problem. At these schools, according to published descriptions, some 4,500 boys will receive training for a life profession as officers. They will be thoroughly imbued in the military outlook, and on leaving will be expected to become models of patriotism and culture. They must know a foreign language fluently, and will be taught to shoot, fence, ski, drive a car, as well as military theory and tactics. Classes are to be organized as companies, with colonels and majors in command, and the pupils as sergeants. During the four years of a 10-year course they will spend their summer in camp. Each group entering school will be attached to a tutor, who will remain with it through its education. [illegible] when most Russian ablemen are under arms, the [illegible] the Red Army's officers [illegible]ng to the regular forces. [illegible]ture that might be drawn [illegible]oregoing of a Russian [illegible]ent on his prestige and [illegible] of a professional class [illegible]r from accurate. For [illegible] officers are yesterday's [illegible]rs, factory inspectors, [illegible]clerks, and, in the main [illegible] other desire but to re[illegible]arly a morrow as pos[illegible]peace-time occupations. [illegible]rism is found among [illegible]uch there is recogni[illegible]disciplinary interests. [illegible] In their status were [illegible]ough those who sur[illegible]ill return to civil life [illegible]nged by the experi[illegible]the writer's opinion, [illegible]assume that the [illegible]em pitfalls. For [illegible]ill in life itself [illegible]irection of a [illegible] greater re[illegible]brisker effi[illegible] there has [illegible]e of the [illegible]throughout [illegible]n associa[illegible]n of those [illegible] men bet[illegible]

Another factor which should ease the transition from the army back to civilian life is the longing of the average Russian fighting man to resume his peaceful occupation as near as possible where he left off. For the war is seen here an an interruption in a forward process, not, as in some other lands, perhaps, as the cracking point of an unsatisfactory social system. The great majority of the Red Army's officers will probably slip off their long serge coats with relief. Your Correspondent has had frequent opportunities to meet these young officers — as aspirants grouped earnestly round papier mache models of the Russian countryside in training schools; as pilot officers sitting short in their dogskin boots and wool low lambskin jackets, among wild snapdragon and clover, beneath the wings of aeroplanes; as Cossack colonels proudly demonstrating their horsemanship along the baked mud paths of central Russia, as generals flushed with victory among the phantom ruins of Stalingrad. To talk with these young Russians who have come to the army from positions on farms, in factories, and offices is to discover men whose real interests are still at home, the interests of the men of all trades and professions from all over the Union.

The war indeed, has taught them much. Many young Russian officers have discovered their homeland afresh as they have seen the enemy's Panzer units crush the tender young wheat and the shellfire of his guns splinter the glistening birch trees. Many a Russian has pressed a raw-red, dust-soiled tunic against the harts-clover of the Krusk meadows or crouched tense among the sweetly blossoming lime trees on the outer skirts of a Ukrainian village occupied by the enemy, or bathed his feet in the Dnieper waters and has found all Russia in those moments. Siberians, Caucasians, Central Asiatics, Karelians, Christian, Moslem and Free - thinker have learned through fellowship in the Army more than any school-book or political lecture could teach them of the close-knit character of their land.

Though some who see in army service a life profession have been profoundly influenced by their new status, the bulk of the Red Army's present officers retain the character of civilians in uniform. Their influence throughout the army restrains any tendency towards exaggerated Prussianism. Three-pip Ivan Ivanovich, a spare-built, round-headed fellow will look a little incomfortable in a tight dress uniform. Though he smiles readily when off his guard his broad stub-nosed face usually wears the frown of a man trying to master a strange difficult subject. His response to a salute shows just a sign of surprise as if it were a [illegible] thing for him to be greeted [illegible] this way.

NORTHERN ITALY'S POLITICAL PUZZLE

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Naples: No matter what has happened to Fascism in Italy, it is a grave mistake to regard Mussolini as a washed-up, ineffectual symbol of political power. This fact becomes strikingly clear in conversations here with Italian military, governmental and naval sources.

Mussolini and especially his henchmen such as Count Ciano and various petty grafters — are considered good riddance in southern Italy, which always was his weak spot anyway. But the new so-called "Government of the Republic of Socialist Italy," which has been set up in the North, and for which Mussolini is the front man under German direction, flares up to puzzle fruition or intrigue every important Italian you meet here.

Leading Italians are convinced that this northern movement directed by Germans at its Vichy-like capital at Brescia, is designed as a profoundly important German stalking horse in world politics. And they read Mussolini's current manifestos which the Germans clearly are writing for him, as appeals for Russia's favor.

Natives here already speak of the home-made Italian Soviet in North Italy. And because Communism is not distasteful to them, we are made to appear to be fighting against it. Consequently they are a good deal less inclined than might be expected to help us clean out the northern part of the country.

Only recently Neapolitans had news over the radio from Mussolini's capital at Brescia that the Republic of Socialist Italy is turning over factories to the workers — giving the names of factories, their values and the numbers of employees. The canny German idea in sponsoring this is two-fold: On one hand it attempts to make us look more like enemies in fighting against the government in the north, which gives such bounties to the Italian people. On the other hand it provides a carefully designed showcase for Russian eyes as a political and ideological bridge in Germany's constant hope for some affinity with Stalin.

In the minds of several eminent United Nations Europeans, this whole pivot on which German thought is turning, and which now is in the laboratory stage in Northern Italy, is the biggest, most far-reaching news in Europe today. Certainly the Germans are far from the end in waging political warfare. In fact, standing here on the continent, it looks as though they are only at the beginning of a dangerous campaign of new political skullduggery.

As for the economic situation in Italy itself — here again, as throughout Europe, the final issue is not present or prospective shortages on a straight quantitative basis. Italians can produce, but they cannot buy. The currency breakdown is now and will remain the real bottleneck, rather than simple undersupply.

The inflation whirlwind here, with its present accompanying black markets — as in Spain, France, the Low Countries the Balkans and in Germany itself — is the real No. 1 problem which we face in giving any aid to Italy and to Europe. You find here that unless the polyglot, shinplaster currencies of Europe are tackled first, so that self-help can get under way, any such superimposed operations as emergency feeding or political rivalry will will leave Italy — the other countries unable to function and completely unable to use any new freedom to preserve freedom.

The German - sponsored Communism in the north, and the collapse of the lira, are clearly the two most far-reaching and troublesome factors in Italy to-day.

A Swedish Challenge

A blunt question has been put to the Swedish Prime Minister, P. A. Hanson, by a social democrat member of the Riksdag (Parliament) Mr Brandt, representing the district of Borlaechoe:

"Would your Excellence kindly, at a public session in the Chamber explain why the Government does not appear willing to take any practical steps in consequence of the demarche to the Government of the German Reich with regard to the deportation of students from Norway."

The actions against the Danish Jews and the Norwegian students have left a lasting impression within the Finnish newspaper Arbetarbladet (The Workers' Newspaper) in a recent editorial concerning the position of the Northern occupied countries.

"It is certainly not the first measure taken by the present rulers of Norway which has caused international protests," the paper writes, and continues referring to the execution of Norwegian Trade Unionists. "The demarche of the Finnish Government has created a feeling of satisfaction and relief in all Finland. Our country would, and could not remain silent on such a matter. With a sense of frustration our people have observe that this has had no effect."

Two well-known teachers of Oslo University, Professor Anderson and Adolf Landvik, have been released from internment, and it is also expected that Professor Frede Castberg an expert on international law may return home as ordinary to reach Sweden from Germany.

German and so-called Norwegian police carried out a series of raids last Sunday afternoon in Oslo's west end. Several persons were arrested and streets closed. No reason was given and no results disclosed. It is obvious that they were searching for students or other men as the women were allowed to pass unmolested.

Defiant Norwegian elementen reappeares in their churches for the students saying: "We must pray to God that He give our students strength to endure their sufferings that they may experience and that the day of settlement may soon come."

GERMANY PAYS NOTHING

The secret newspaper La Libre Belgique, in its Liege edition, describes the economic situation of Belgium under German domination, as follows:

"The whole of the output of Belgian industry goes to Germany, all the coal from our mines except the infinitesmal quantity needed to us for domestic use, comes either to Germany or to industries working for Germany and nine-tenths of our trains run on German transports.

"In return, Germany pays in paper, absolutely nothing, the amount is entered on the notorious 'Scrip' list, and that is the end of it. Thus we the Belgian community pay all the wages of our workmen for the benefit of Germany alone. There is no need to find out how this comes about. Someone is paying: it is not Germany it can only be us.

"Every time a ton of coal is extracted, Belgium is the poorer by a ton of wealth which goes to Germany, and 2/3 by the wages of the workers who produced it, these wages being in fact paid by the Belgian nation. The same applies to all products that go to the Germans.

"Do you understand what this means? If Belgium were paying the present wages, family allowances, special black coupons and all the rest, to all the workers now employed — miners, metal - workers and others — in the form of national relief, or under any other name, on the understanding that they should do nothing in return, she would be making an enormous saving, for she would be paying out no more than she does at present and would keep all the coal and other products which now go to Germany.

"The enemy accuses the saboteurs and the Allied airmen of depriving our workers of their livelihood by reducing the factories to idleness, whereas it is the Germans who impoverish our country and also our workers, for we are all one in the great national distress."

RIGHT BEFORE:

Farmer Sees End On Easter

Virgil Smith, the farmer, of Baldwin Georgia who predicted the correct date for the end of World War I, says that the present war will end on Easter Sunday, 1944.

Smith, who makes his predictions as a result of dreams, said three months before the end of the first World War, that it would be over on November 11, 1918. He even predicted correctly just how that war would end and how peace terms would be arranged.

Smith also made another prediction which came true — that Italy would be out of the present war by the middle of October, 1943, and would immediately declare war on Germany. He said that major battles would be fought on Italian soil and adds that before the winning battle is fought, the Allies will have gained enough strength to force Hitler to retire private life on Easter of 1944. He said Japan would follow in "short order."

He further predicted that the world following this, war, will be "[illegible] proof" — that this will end all wars and that the United States will have the leading voice in arranging the "everlasting" peace.

JAP PROPAGANDA ANALYZED

BY WAVERLEY ROOT

Some curiously candid warnings to the Japanese people by their propagandists, coupled with exasperated statements of Japanese successes from other quarters indicate that the perseverance for the future is one of the factors in Japanese psychological resistance. But it would certainly be a rare mistake to accept [illegible] tendency to predict a Japanese collapse as soon as Germany has been beaten. JESUS'S BUSY WITH [illegible] MINISTRY OF LOVE

Lesson Text: [illegible]

The gospel of Mark has been [illegible]ened as a [illegible]sonel of action. Today's lesson [illegible] illustrate the aptness [illegible] that description. The author [illegible] with rapid strokes and with [illegible]ness. It was just one chapter [illegible] of Jesus' baptism His Temptation and His keynote address. His [illegible] to a few chosen disciples and [illegible] ministry of healing. In the [illegible] reserved for this week's study [illegible] concerned primarily with the [illegible] ministry of Jesus. There were [illegible] doctors as we understand the [illegible] fession in Jesus' day. There were [illegible] scientific way of either making [illegible] diagnosis or of prescribing and [illegible] treatment. Consequently many [illegible] more violent forms of illness [illegible] ascribed to the work of evil spirits [illegible] or demons. This was particularly [illegible] of mental diseases when the [illegible] was in his violent moods he was [illegible] believed to be under the control [illegible] domination of evil spirits. To [illegible] not be overlooked in our study [illegible] forms the background for all [illegible] standing of the miracles.

The acts of healing which [illegible] performed as recorded here [illegible] centered in and around Capernaum. [illegible] Simply to emphasize the [illegible] healing done [illegible] this one day [illegible] a comprehensive list—delivering [illegible] the man in the synagogue [illegible] unclean spirit, the healing of [illegible] wife's mother, the healing of [illegible] were possessed with evil spirits [illegible] cleansed a leper [illegible]

It is quite [illegible] cus how Jesus [illegible] works of healing [illegible] time is spent [illegible] kind in many [illegible] the whole matter [illegible] moved with a [illegible] the suffering [illegible] and women who [illegible] Him and healed them of [illegible]

The annual Christmas concert of the United Church Sunday School was held in the Town Hall, and a program in keeping with the season was presented. The smaller children delighted the audience in several colorful numbers. The senior classes presented a play, portraying the "Nativity Story". Long white, lined, trimmed dresses, colored foot lights, back-drop of blue studded with silver stars, surmounted by a large electric star, made a very picturesque setting. The choir assisted in the singing. A feature was the acting by Mrs. Bockett, of "I Came Upon a Midnight Clear", as it was sung by Mrs. Dougal Ryan. Mrs. C. Lochhead also sang a solo. The closing number on the program was a prayer read by Mrs. Lois Kimmett and dedicated to every boy in uniform from this vicinity. Santa made his appearance distributing gifts from the tree, candies and oranges.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hanna motored to Toronto and spent Christmas with the latter's sister, Mrs. Burgess, and Mr. Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Gilmour, of Kingston, spent Christmas at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Courneyer, Mr. M. Richmond and Mrs. P. Rogers all received word from their sons, now in Italy. No word has been received from the boys for weeks prior to this.

The village was shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Mr. D. Drew in Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Drew lived here for years and ran a general store. "Davy", as Mr. Drew was fondly known by young and old alike, was a great favorite with everyone. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Drew and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Lawrence, in this their great loss.

Mr. Herb. Close and sisters attended Mr. Drew's funeral, which was held from his residence, 471 Victoria Street, Kingston.

The regular meeting of the W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Beckett. The President, Mrs. Easterbrooke, was in charge. The regular routine of business was followed by carol singing. A double duet, "Silent Night", was sung by four of the members. The highlight of the meeting was the telling of "Scrooge's Christmas" by Mrs. Seaton. All lights were turned off except a shaded reading lamp to give a spooky atmosphere. Mrs. Seaton, by change of voice, portrayed each character, and each one present greatly enjoyed the story, which never seems to lose its charm. Christmas gifts were exchanged, and a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Beckett and her committee.

The W. M. S. held its annual meeting at Mrs. Tom Milligan's. The candle lighting service was used. Mrs. Seaton had charge, as Mrs. Haggerty was ill. Rev. Mr. Seaton conducted the election of officers, and the result was all were re-elected for 1944. A Christmas message by Mrs. Seaton, and the benediction, closed the meeting.

Mrs. E. M. Pedley received the sad news of the death of her mother, Mrs. Cudlip, of Plymouth, Eng. The aged lady knew the tragedy of war, having been bombed out. After losing her home she lived with her daughter until she passed away.

Conway - Sandhurst

Conway - Sandhurst, Jan. 3 — The delightful weather of the holiday week has been very much enjoyed by everyone. Many holiday visitors took advantage of it to visit friends.

Quite a number have been ill with severe attacks of lumbago. We are glad to report that Mr. A. D. Wright who has been ill for the past two weeks is better.

A good deal of interest is being shown in the election to be held on Monday, when a Reeve, four Councillors and two School Trustees will be elected. Mr. Frank Ham, of Conway, is in the contest for Reeve. We are sincerely hoping for a Reeve on this street this year. Good luck, Frank!

On Wednesday evening of last week the W. A. of Conway Church held a pot luck supper, followed by a meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Church.

Mrs. Mary Mellow, of Battersea, spent the holidays the guest of her mother, Mrs. A. W. Mellow, Sandhurst.

Miss Helen Wright, of Bonarlaw; Miss Marion Wright, of Napanee and Miss Elizabeth Wright, of Toronto were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wright, Conway.

Christmas guests in the district were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ackerman and Harold, Conway; Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith and family, of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, of Lime Lake, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills with Mr. and Mrs. C. Roddick, Kingston.

Mr. William Craven, of Sandhurst, and Mr. Wilfred Craven, of Queen's University, at Manitoulin Island.

Mrs. Punchard and Joan with Mr. and Mrs. N. Bartlett, Conway.

DORLAND

Dorland, Dec. 31. — The favorable weather and roads on Christmas Day contributed to the pleasure of the many family parties which took place.

The northern side of the township was not represented at the nomination meeting held on Monday. The two candidates for the Reeveship are busy this week calling on the voters.

Most of those who have been ill with colds are out again, although many find it difficult to get fully rid of their cough.

CENTREVILLE

Centreville, Jan. 3. — A large crowd attended the nomination meeting, held in the Township Hall on Monday, December 27th.

The local Red Cross Unit held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the Township Hall. A new slate of officers for 1944 was elected as follows:

New Uniform

HYDRO RURAL RATES

Effective JANUARY 1st, 1944

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario announces new uniform rates for electricity to all consumers served by the Commission in the rural areas of Ontario, to become effective January 1st, 1944.

The new rates will result in a substantial saving to most Farm and Hamlet consumers, and their form is considerably simplified.

- A uniform rate to all Rural customers, now served direct by the Commission.
- The elimination of service charges to all farm users.
- The reduction of service charges to all Hamlet customers.
- The co-ordination of all present Rural Power Districts into one Provincial Rural Power System with the same meter rates applying throughout to the various classifications.
- The existing consumer classifications, totalling 11 in all, have been reduced to 5 clearly defined classes: i.e. 2 wire hamlet, 3 wire hamlet, farm, commercial lighting and summer cottages.

FARM SERVICE

NO SERVICE CHARGE.

Minimum charge $0.75 per Kilowatt of demand per month gross.

Gross quarterly bill subject to 10% Prompt Payment Discount.

This Farm Service rate applies to all services the first block of Kw.Hrs is 60 while the second block is 180. On larger farms these blocks will increase in proportion to the Kilowatt demand.

*(Kw.Hrs.) Kilowatt Hours.

2 WIRE HAMLET SERVICE

Service Charge 55c per month gross.

Minimum charge $1.67 per month gross.

Gross quarterly bill subject to 10% Prompt Payment Discount.

3 WIRE HAMLET SERVICE

Service Charge 55c per month gross.

Minimum charge $2.25 per month gross.

Gross quarterly bill subject to 10% Prompt Payment Discount.

*(Kw.Hrs.) Kilowatt Hours.

These new rates are to be established under Sections 71 to 79, inclusive, of the Power in Rural Power Districts. They do not apply to consumers in rural voted areas or townships Commission Act. They [illegible] of the Power Commission Act. In the latter areas, such operating under Section 5[illegible]er, Brantford, East York, Etobicoke, London, Nipigon, as the townships of Ancas[illegible]ronto and Trafalgar, the present rates will not be affected, North York, Scarborough, To[illegible]

As a result of these new r[illegible]rate reductions, Hydro Rural consumers will save an estimated amount exceeding $50[illegible],000.00 per annum. Experience justifies the expectation on the part of the Commiss[illegible]n that this reduction in revenue will be recovered in a short time through the increased [illegible]use of electricity in the rural areas.

The application of these uniform [illegible]m rural rates will enable the Commission to later extend service to many areas not now [illegible]served and to supply economically, consumers in the sparsely settled areas. In [illegible]most rural districts the new rates will provide a saving for the majority of consumers. ## RUSSIA and NORWAY

"In Europe's occupied countries, the ground is burning under the feet of the German-Fascist aggressors. The position is becoming particularly critical in Norway. The freedom-loving Norwegian people are conducting a heroic fight against the Hitlerite occupation forces. The Germans and their quisling lackeys are seeking new methods to cheat the people, but with their m'ware int-lligence he cannot discover anything new. In the press and radio they are still flogging the various variations of that miserable invention about 'the Soviet-Russian danger' which is supposed to threaten Norway.

"The Germans and their Norwegian parasites' new provocative and clumsy invention is supposed to destroy the conviction which is now growing in the hearts of all Norwegians that the Soviet Union and the heroic Red Army's struggle means salvation for the peoples in all the occupied countries in Europe; including the Norwegian people. The Red Army with its mighty blows against the Hitlerite war-machine, is bringing the hour of liberation nearer for the European peoples who are groaning under Hitler's bloody yoke. The Norwegians understand this. The Norwegians also understand that the great Soviet State does not want a single handful of Norwegian soil. This understanding increases the Norwegian people's hate of the German attackers and strengthens their determination in the struggle against them. And this is what the Germans and their quisling lackeys in Norway fear like the plague."

ODESSA

Odessa, Jan. 3. — We are sorry to report that death has claimed so many of our residents during the past week.

Mrs. Harry Freemantle, a resident of the village for several years, suffered a heart attack and passed away within a short time at her home. She, with her daughter had spent the previous day (Christmas) with her daughter, Mrs. Kyle, in Kingston. The funeral service was held from the Roy A. Jones Funeral Home, with interment at Morven. Left to mourn are one son, Thomas, Kingston, and two daughters, Mrs. Hedges, Odessa, and Mrs. Kyle, Kingston.

Mr. David Smith, a resident of the village for several years, passed away at the home of his niece Mrs. Walker, Kingston, where he had been tenderly cared for for several weeks. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the home of his niece, Mrs. John Frink, to the United Church. The deceased was a faithful member of the United Church, and the service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth. Interment took place at Cataraqui.

A very sudden death occurred about 1:00 o'clock on Saturday morning when Edward L. Oswald passed away, following a heart attack. A doctor was in attendance, but death occurred within 20 minutes. The deceased had always lived in Odessa, and was a nephew of the late Barnard and Eliza Toomey. His wife, Emma McCormick, died about 25 years ago. A daughter, Marie of Kingston, and a son, Buddy, of Petawawa, survive. The funeral was held on Monday morning at St. Mary's Church, with requiem high mass sung at 10:00 o'clock. Remains were interred in St. Mary's burial plot.

School reopened on Monday morning, with the usual staff in attendance.

Mr. Fluke, Principal of the High School, with Mrs. Fluke and family, have taken up residence here for the winter months in Mrs. Ida Montgomery's home.

PSYCHOLOGY AND THE ARMY

That complex and subtle thing, a man's mind, what it can hold and what goes into it, is receiving more attention than ever before in the Canadian Army with Brig. Brock Chisholm, as director general of medical services, superintending the attention.

The modern soldier needs a lot more than a sound body, strong muscles and a willingness to endure hardship and face death. He has to have a mind that can absorb knowledge and translate it into proper action quickly.

Under the inspiration and leadership of Brig. Chisholm, a front line soldier who rose from private to brigadier as a soldier and not as a medical man, who is a specialist in psychiatry and was a lecturer in a university, experts in both the body and mind of man have been brought together to serve the Canadian Legion.

"Nowhere, I believe, have physicians, psychologists, educationists and psychiatrists ever worked together as well as they are working now in the Army all over the Dominion," said Brig. Chisholm in an interview.

The job of the medical is to see that the soldiers are healthy in body, and the psychiatrist and psychologist to see that their minds have the degree of alertness and stability needed for modern warfare and for the particular job to which each man is assigned, and the task of the educationist is to impart the necessary knowledge to those who have the capacity to absorb it.

Under Brig. Chisholm's direct supervision as director of medical services comes the personnel selection branch of the army, the people who use scientific tests and personal interviews determine whether young Jack Canuck on joining the army becomes a driver, a mechanic a cook or a man behind a gun. Potential officers are also brought to the attention of commanding officers and officer selection boards.

In close co-operation works the special services branch, which looks after certain agencies whose business it is to see that the soldier is as happy and contented as possible in his work.

There is the education which brings illiterate and semi-illiterate but intelligent men up to army standards through the educational training centres at North Camp Borden and Valcartier. There is also the education carried on for men who need it to fill army requirements through the Canadian Legion educational services, directed by the three-fold objective of making a man a better soldier, preparing him for a later civilian career and keeping him interested during his leisure hours.

Farmers Can Get Farm Account Book

At all times the keeping of farm accounts has been associated with good farm management, but under war conditions a precise record of the business transactions in the operation of the farm is a necessity. To assist the farmer in keeping this record, the King's Printer, Ottawa, has available a simple useful little account book. It covers all farm operations and has the great advantage that the keeping of the book does not incur a special knowledge of expert accountancy. The book is entitled "Farm Account Book" and may be obtained from the King's Printer Ottawa, at the nominal price of ten cents.

DUTCH READY TO CO-OPERATE POST-WAR POLICY

London, (B.U.P.) — Eelco N. van Kleffens, Netherlands Foreign Minister, declared that there could be no question of the Netherlands entering with the British Empire, but expressed belief that the Dutch people would be willing to "collaborate" provided that the British maintain their armaments. He also foresaw close co-operation with the United States and Soviet Russia.

In a comprehensive exposition of his Government's present views on post-war foreign policy, Dr. van Kleffens envisioned a system of co-operation in which there would be "a strong formation in the west, with America, Canada and the other British Dominions as an arsenal and a vast reservoir of power, with England as a base, especially for air power and with the west European mainland as a bridgehead." He declared that such a system "would indeed compel us to rely on the western powers, but conversely they would also need us."

If Russian co - operation is also achieved, he said, "it looks, in my view as though a long period of peace is guaranteed."

Dr. van Kleffens spoke over Radio Oranje the Netherlands station in London, in reply to Premier Jan C Smuts of the Union of South Africa, who in an address to the people of the Empire Parliamentary Association on November 25 urged that Britain "work intimately together" with the "small democracies of Western Europe."

France To Return

The Netherlands Foreign Minister said in the post - war structure "France must resume its still-open place in the circle of western powers," and added that there was no doubt that "Belgium will stand on our side," while expressing hope that the United States would participate more actively in European affairs in the interest of preserving peace.

Dr. Van Kleffens prefaced his exposition with a statement that "we Netherlanders can only think of military collaboration if we ourselves possess armed forces commensurate with the circumstances."

"When, therefore, Marshal Smuts advises us to collaborate with England after the war," he continued, "my answer will be— we can only consider this provided that the British Empire and Great Britain particularly show, like ourselves, that they have no intention of once more going the way towards large - scale disarmament. This implies, in any case, that we cannot tie ourselves once and for all."

Dr. Van Kleffens warned against being "taken in" by Germany if she remained quiet for a time after the war. The Germans, he said have been turned into "a nation of saviours whose official doctrine of salvation is nothing but the code of morals of beasts of prey. Let us never forget that a wolf in a cage may look tame but that it never really will be tame."

He denied that the Netherlands as reported in enemy propaganda, had ever vowed to become merged with the British Empire. "The state of the Netherlands knows no allegiance" he said, "except to the Crown of the Netherlands which, to the exclusion of all others, is hereditary in the House of Orange. There can be no question, therefore, of absorption of our kingdom into any other Commonwealth, even in an attenuated form of becoming subordinated to it."

This does not, however, he said, exclude collaboration with Britain. Whether collaboration will have to be restricted to the British Empire depends on the United States, he declared, and "it is too early to say what attitude the United States will adopt at the end of the war towards political and military collaboration with other nations."

He remarked, however, that, "we may hope that instructed by bitter experience and a wider understanding of the United States may arrive at a consciousness of the vital interests of America in effective preservation of peace in Europe."

Twice, he said, "the people of the United States have seen that German aggression against the Netherlands, Belgium and France is in fact an attack on England, and I believe it realizes more clearly than previously that with the fall of England a decisive would be planted at the heart of the United States."

Outlining his ideas of a western security system based on the United States and British Dominions as an "arsenal," England as a "bridgehead," Dr. van Kleffens declared that "this formidable western bloc would find its eastern counterpart in Russia.

"Once Japan has been defeated," he said, "Russia's frontiers will be protected in the north, east and south by natural frontiers. But, like ourselves, it will have to devote continued attention to the security of its own frontier on the German side. This picture brings to the fore the need for preservation of good relations between the Netherlands and the Soviet Union."

"If all this could be achieved," he said, "it looks, in my view, as though a long period of peace is guaranteed."

He concluded with an assurance to the people of the Netherlands that binding decisions as to postwar foreign policy would be left, "as far as humanly possible," to the "free considered expression of the will of the resurrected Netherlands."

MORE WOMEN IN INDUSTRIES

Ottawa. — Women full-time workers in Canadian industries in 1943 numbered 518719 according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, covering the year to October 1st. This was an increase of 69,559 over the previous year. Employment of women in part-time jobs also increased considerably.

Two-thirds of the women in recorded employment in industrial plants at the last October 1st were in manufacturing industries, including light and power. This group numbered 337,251. The next largest groups of women were the 80,238 in trade, 32,968 in finance and 25,819 in miscellaneous services.

One of the striking increases during the year was in the numbers employed in plants turning out heavy manufactured goods. Women workers constituted 26.6 per cent of their employes at October 1 compared with only 20.9 per cent. at the same date last year.

Communication, transportation, construction, mining and logging together reported about 34 450 women workers only 6.7 per cent. of the total.

Among the provinces, Ontario and Quebec ranked first and second respectively in number of women in recorded employment. Ontario had 46.7 per cent of the Dominion total and Quebec 31.6 per cent.

The greatest gains in employment of women were in Manitoba and British Columbia. Manitoba reported 27 per cent. more women working in industry at October 1st this year, and British Columbia also showed the greatest increase in actual number of women workers, with a rise of 34.3 per cent. Alberta's working women population grew by 20.2 per cent.

THE DRIVE WEST OF KIEV

The Red Army in its drive west of Kiev has smashed the northern anchor of the German line from the Pripet marshes to the lower Dnieper, and with it the backbone of the entire enemy defense in that area.

It was to prevent this calamity that Marshal von Mannstein threw in all his available reserve strength in an effort to get back to Kiev and create a stabilized front for the remainder of the winter.

In less than a week, Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's army has more than undone what Mannstein was able to accomplish in six weeks of violent counter-offensive. The Germans are weaker now by reason of their losses.

The Russians are stronger, by reason of smart military tactics. They concerned themselves during the German drive with holding it, permitting Mannstein to exhaust himself in his effort to reach Kiev. In the meantime, they brought up reserves of men, supplies and heavy equipment, and when Mannstein's drive faltered, they were ready to strike back without giving him time to regroup.

The resumption of the Russian advance in the Kiev bulge has been marked by a new drive within the Dnieper bend between Krementchug and Zaporozhe, towards the principal German holding points of Kirovograd and Krivoi Boz.

The latter makes it imoractical for the Germans to withdraw any strength to bolster their lines in the north. Any reserves, if available will have to come from far to the rear in Poland, and it may be too late.

The Russians, in their push along a front of about eighty miles from recaptured Korosten to below Zhitomir, are within reach of the vital rail line from Lublin, Poland into the Ukraine. When they reach Berdichev, they will have severed it. Their ultimate objective is the only remaining trunk line which runs from Lwow to Odessa, and for a good part of the way is not more than fifty to 100 miles east of the Dniester.

When this has been achieved, the position of all the German forces within the Dnieper bend as far as the mouth of the river will be almost hopeless. A general German withdrawal well before that time is not impossible.

BAD OMENS FROM THE REICH

BY WILLIAM FRYE

Associated Press War Analyst

If Admiral Karl Doenitz has resigned his command of the German Navy it probably marks just about the last gasp of Hitler's military leadership by intuition.

Russian sources, reporting his resignation — actual announcement as a result of the sinking of the battleship Scharnhorst by the British Home Fleet, also tell of a widening breach between Hitler and his top generals.

That breach is a peculiar one, healed for their own purposes by the generals, who don't like Hitler but can't spare him. There was a time when Hitler riding high and rolling far into Russia, got rid of a number of the old army men. Some of them have been back for quite a while, and the stars of others are rising.

There is considerable evidence that the Prussian officers of the Junkers class, the core of German military tradition, are once again in full control of the army. Hitler remains the titular commander-in-chief, because he is still a symbol in the minds of the German masses. But the officer caste—the Junkers, not the upstarts —runs the army.

They hope, of course, to hold out for a negotiated peace that will leave the officer corps virtually intact, and have Germany the nucleus of military resurgence. But they cannot fight without public support, and the public allegiance is to Hitler, not the generals. So Hitler stays, but there is no misunderstanding about who is boss—and who is scapegoat.

Archtype of the Prussian military aristocrat is the commander of the western group of armies the man who will meet the allied invasion, Field Marshal Karl Rodulf Gerd von Rundstedt. Relieved of his command—by report, at his own request—when his Caucasus invasion was smashed by Red Army counter-blows, he came back to organize the coast defences, and is in complete charge in France and the Low Countries.

Others who have returned to high command after disagreement—to put it mildly—with Hitler are Gen. Fritz Erich von Maanstein, with important command of a large portion of the Russian front, and Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, active again in the high command after living for a time in retirement in Northern France, following a falling out with the Fuehrer. Both of these men were among the officer Punta reported more than a year ago to have started a program to "isolate" Hitler and establish themselves favorably with the Allies in case of defeat or stalemate.

Such officers, eager to salvage what they can of German militarism out of the debacle facing them, could not have been happy if Doenitz, as reported, sent the Scharnhorst out and lost her at a time when the Allies are obviously preparing a smashing blow.

Doenitz rose rapidly with Hitler's favor. A commodore at the start of the war, he got frequent promotion, in part due to his conception of the submarine wolf pack, and the final elevation came less than a year ago when Hitler advanced him over the heads of two admirals to replace Grand Admiral Erich Raeder as supreme naval commander.

If he lost the Scharnhorst trying to embellish his own reputation, the old-line admirals and generals undoubtedly have had enough of Doenitz.

INDIAN OUTWITS 100 GERMANS

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

With the Eighth Army in Italy — This is the story of a man and a machine — one born in India, the other made in Germany.

Life museum Sam Khan member of a Punjabi Moslem family and Subadar or lieutenant of a British infantry regiment, is the newest Indian hero of this war.

His company commander was ill with malaria and Khan took charge of the assault on a German-held village atop a high ridge.

The Indians fought their way up two-thirds of the slope, then met a concentrated hail of mortar and machine-gun fire that they were compelled to dig in quickly. They scraped fox-holes in the damp earth and arranged themselves to hold their ground.

The Germans turned on all their available firepower, but it wasn't enough to drive them back. Khan toured his positions, learned that his men were almost out of ammunition but he told them to stick.

Establishing contact with batteries of British 25-pounders, Khan relayed a report of his company's condition and requested that all be in readiness for defensive shelling if he needed it.

The Subadar's hunch came true. Spotting German infantry advancing slowly down the plowed ground from the ridge, he signalled urgently for artillery fire 200 yards in advance of his positions.

"The British guns barked savagely. 'One hundred yards' came the next message from the hardpressed Indian commander. The gunners obeyed. 'Fifty yards' was the next message.

Battered but still charging downhill, the Germans were almost at grips with the Indians, whose rifle and machine-gun cartridges were now exhausted.

"Defensive fire on my position," was Khan's final signal.

British shells exploded in spurts of black and red over the field where the Indians lay. The Germans who had survived the creeping barrage were unable to stand it any longer. They broke and fled back up the hill.

Subadar Khan's coolness and courage were given his good judgment," said a high British officer. "He and thirty men held their valuable piece of ground until relieved, while the Germans who attacked with 100 men suffered severe casualties. Because they were so well dug in, only six Indians were wounded by our fire. I don't believe Khan knows the meaning of the word "defeat."

A few miles from where the gallant action occurred is a mechanical expression of German defeatism. It is a specially constructed train for exploding steel rails and breaking wooden ties. It was captured in the recent Eighth Army advance before the Germans could put it into effective use on the Adriatic rail line.

Stamped as manufactured in 1923, the train consists of a locomotive supply car and a strange sort of caboose from which a giant steel hook is suspended. The hook is designed to grapple a wooden tie and wrench it in half. An additional apparatus similar to a drilling tool plants a small explosive charge beside each rail, timed to detonate after the train has passed on to safe distance.

Only an army which saw no hope of reversing its retreat would have brought it to Italy.

In Loving Memory

PRADSHAW — In loving memory of Hayley Bradshaw, who passed away January 4th, 1942

Away from us all he was taken
To that glorious home above,
Where the angels sing and the saints go over him.
And shower him with the gems of love.

Death here below, how we miss him
No shining face at the door
To greet us when days ended.
And no welcome to him more.
But our hearts are filled to overflowing with sorrow
When we meet in that land far away.
And look on his face that is smiling
And live our dreams of yesterday.

Sadly missed by
lap WIFE and FAMILY.

SNIDER — In loving memory of C. B. Snider, of Clarke Cnrt., who entered into rest January 22nd, 1942 With tears he saw you sinking
And watched you fade away.
We tended you with loving care,
But could not make you stay.
We watched beside your bedside
As lonely hours passed.
And how our hearts were broken
When we watched you breathe your last.

Sadly missed by
lap WIFE and FAMILY.

CALDER — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Bruce Calder, who passed suddenly away January 7th, 1943.

One lonely year has passed away,
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day,
We still remember well.
He never thought when leaving home
He would not return
That he in death so soon would sleep
And leave us all to mourn.
We do not know what pain is here,
We could not watch him die.
We only know he passed away,
And never said good-bye.
Surrounded by friends we are lonesome—
In the midst of our joys we are blue,
With a smile on our face we've a heartache,
Longing dear husband and father for you.

Lovingly remembered by
1a WIFE and Son, DOUGLAS

HAYBURN W. A.

A pot luck dinner was served and the proceeds were very gratifying.

During the day one quilt was quilted for Overseas Christmas, and two quilts were also done for war work.

A Christmas remembrance was extended to the Brooks family, as a token of sympathy in their extreme trouble and sickness during the last few months.

A vote was taken that all officers be returned to their offices.

A box of clothing was packed for the I. O. D. E. at Napanee, and the box contained 3 scarfs, 2 wristlets, 6 pair sockings, 2 pair mitts, 2 baby bonnets, 1 dress, 2 sweaters, 1 baby nightie.

The meeting closed with a Christmas tree, with gifts for all our members, and the National Anthem was sung.

Proceeds, $5.00.

Success or failure in business is caused more by mental attitude even than by mental capacities. —Walter Dill Scott.

WEDDING BELLS

SHARPE — KNOWLES

The marriage of Marjorie May, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Knowles, 529 Newman Street, Whitby, and LAC. 2 Douglas Earle Sharpe, R.C.A.F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sharpe of Napanee, Ontario was solemnized at 7:30 p.m. at St. Patrick's Anglican Church in Whitby, on December 23rd. Flight-Lieut. the Rev. George Phillips, attached to No. 6 R.A.F. Repair Depot, performed the ceremony.

Christmas decorations were used in the church. Mr. Thomas Treadwell played the wedding music.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a two-piece gown of white corded taffeta bridal, a Peter Pan collar and back peplum. Her chapel veil was held by a white lace coronet and fell to form a full length train. She carried a bouquet of Sarafeta crepe with streamers pleats radiating from one shoulder across the yellow front. The ensemble was marked by a tan pedigree. Her hat of matching felt had a sweetheart front and veil trim. She wore a corsage of Jeanna Hill roses.

A.C.2 Paul Karachewsky, R.C.A.F., was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

OBITUARY

JAMES BEECH HAWLEY

At the Kingston General Hospital on December 27th, 1943, there passed away James Beech Hawley, following a very brief illness.

He was born in Camden Township, on March 2nd, 1864, and was the second son of Sarah Rogers and Philip Simeon Hawley. He lived most of his life in the Bath and Morven districts and was a leading farmer of the community for a great number of years. He served for many years on the village council at Bath and as Reeve on the County Council and was always willing to give of his time and ability to the general welfare of the community.

The late J. B. Hawley was predeceased by his first wife Emma Leveare, on December 4th, 1911 and was later united in marriage to Hazel Elizabeth Cook, July 5th, 1916, who is left to mourn his loss, as well as five daughters, Mrs. W. H. Tuckett, Port Hope, Ont., Mrs. C. J. Hoselton, of Cobourg, Ont. and Misses Marion, Myrtle and Roxey, of Napanee. Ont. Six sons acted as bearers Ja Wesley, Gordon Joseph Howard and Morley. He was predeceased by one son a Great War Veteran, Allan Judson October 13, 1918. Honorary bearers were Stanley Bull, E. J. Cour, Wa D. Creighton, William Ryan, T. W. S. Wilson and William Wood.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. D. McLellan, B.A. B. D. at Morven United Church and at Riverside Cemetery at Napanee. Rev. C. D. McLellan made refer to the outstanding character, kindliness and high regard in w h the deceased was held, not only in the church and community but in the home as well, where he was an exemplary husband and father. Mr and Mrs. G. E. Fralick and Mr. Ward Wartman assisted at the service with a request duet and a solo.

Mr. Hawley was a lifelong member of the Methodist and United Church, in which he was an elder, member of session, lay minister, and for many years superintendent of the Sunday School.

The large number of floral tributes and the numerous relatives and friends who attended the funeral to pay their last respects were further testimony of the sterling character and high esteem in which held.

GRACE CH. MR. AND MRS. CLUB MEETING

The Mr. and Mrs. Club of Grace Church, meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Middleton, Tuesday evening, heard Mr. John Dimmant discuss present situation in the Balkans and showed deep interest in this subject by asking many questions. It was decided to have a pot luck supper for all young married couples, on Monday, January 24 in the Gibbard Recreation room.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vallieau, Monday, January 17.

Mr. Ted Middleton, the president presided.

HARD LESSONS OF THE SOLOMONS WILL BE FELT AFAR

BY JOSEPH DRISCOLL

The conquest of the Solomons, now in its final stages, did more than turn the Japanese back on their heels and stop them short of Australia and force them to do an about-face in the direction of Tokio. The So'omons have served as a proving ground for future jungle warfare and amphibious operations.

The lessons learned by Admirals Turner and Wilkinson when they landed troops in Guadalcanal, the Russells, the New Georgia group, Vella Lavella and certain other islands were painful lessons and they have not been forgotten. The experiences gained were pointers for landings in Sicily, Corsica, Sardinia, and the Italian mainland, and for future landings in Malaysia, the Philippines and the Japanese mainland.

For the first time in our history we have learned to combine our soldiers, sailors and marines into one harmonious force. Americans at least knew little of the arts of combined operations until the Solomons campaign got under way.

Likewise were we ignorant of jungle warfare at which the Japanese were past-masters. Our land forces under Generals Vandergrift, Patch, Hodge, Lieutenant Hester, Griswold, Wing, et al learned their lessons the hard way, and those lessons should come in handy when we get around to Burma, Thailand, Indo-China and a few other places.

Since Americans had pioneered aviation, military as well as civil, we had less to learn in that respect, but the Japanese did manage to pull a few surprises at Pearl Harbor and Mitsubishis and their curiously effective concept of aerial combat. The Japanese started out with aerial supremacy now up to and over Bougainville is no small tribute to Admiral Halsey's air chief and No. 1 lieutenant, Admiral "Jake" Fitch, who, in turn, has been ably assisted by Admirals Hardison and Mitscher and Generals Twining and Saunders, to mention only a few.

Admiral Fitch's air force like the amphibious forces of Admirals Turner and Wilkinson, combines three forces in one — soldiers, sailors and marines. Admiral Halsey has insisted over and again that the war will be won not with three forces or more, counting our allies, but with one unified force thoroughly co-ordinated. Symbolic of that, the land, sea and air forces all wear khaki and are difficult to tell apart.

Of course, the Navy officers still have the navy blues and tropical whites in their lockers for the days of peace, and they still carry with some of their prejudices against the army dating back to army-navy football games. But under the new Halsey-MacArthur set-up, officers don't care any more to air their prejudices or wear their blues.

Admiral Halsey and General MacArthur represent a new trend in Allied operations. For eighteen months after Pearl Harbor, the two directed operations in adjoining areas without ever meeting. Then as they squeezed the Japanese out of the Solomons and New Guinea, and their lines drew closer together, they met for the first time at MacArthur's headquarters prior to the opening of the New Georgia offensive. Now it is their fixed policy to get together and synchronize their operations whenever new operations are at hand.

All this seems so sensible and logical and business-like that an outsider might wonder why it wasn't done before. Blame it on the army-navy athletic contests, blame it on the rival traditions and indulgences of West Point and Annapolis, blame it on the competitions for Congressional appropriations or on ancient jealousies dating back to the wars of 1776 and 1812.

The past can be and should be forgotten. The important thing is that men like MacArthur and Halsey are able to get together and fight the common enemy not each other. Now that Halsey's advance in the Solomons has carried him beyond Vella Lavella, the further objectives of Bougainville and Buka lie across the boundary line in MacArthur's territory. This makes Halsey something of a junior partner in the old firm, but he doesn't seem to mind. In fact, there are growing indications that friendship between MacArthur and Halsey is ripening, thanks to the common enemy. Stranger things have happened than that.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. I have just received an envelope from an office of the Prices Board which bears evidence of having been used several times. What is the purpose of this?

A. The Board has adopted this practice throughout its offices in order to reduce its consumption of paper by fully 50 per cent. so that enough paper, now in short supply, may be available for essential uses.

* * *

Q. A laundry firm has asked me to let it use my grocery store as an agency. Am I allowed to do this?

A. You must apply to the Prices Board for a permit allowing you to change your type of business accordingly and your application will be given every consideration.

* * *

Q. I sold my retail store when I enlisted and, having been discharged from the army, now wish to re-enter the same business. Is there any official course that I should pursue?

A. If you will apply to the nearest office of the Prices Board for a permit, it is quite probable that, having regard to your military service, it will be granted.

* * *

Q. I have read quite a lot about the travelling wardrobes which demonstrate and display re-made articles of clothing. Are these wardrobes to visit this district?

A. Yes, an itinerary has been arranged in this part of Ontario for next March and April. The wardrobes will be seen in Belleville on March 24, in Trenton on March 26, Kingston March 28 Brockville March 30, Cornwall, April 1, Arnprior April 4 and Renfrew April 6.

* * *

Q. We are thinking of starting a day nursery in this congested city. Do we need a license of the Prices Board in order to operate?

A. Yes. Day nurseries are licensable under the regulations of that Board.

* * *

Q. I paid a dealer $18 for a used man's winter overcoat and later found that it has been patched and needed cleaning badly. The dealer refused to give me any concession. What should I do?

A. Please report the circumstances to the nearest office of the Prices Board. A dealer is allowed to charge $18 for a used coat of this type only if it is of good quality and in good condition, free from patches, darns, tears or holes, thoroughly cleaned and with all buttons and other fasteners intact.

Some time ago an infantry journal suggested that the Army, Navy and Marines should be merged into a single force. Other parties have gone so far as to urge the abolition of West Point and Annapolis, and would use the universities of the forty-eight states to prepare young Americans for national defense. Still others would retain Annapolis and West Point, but overshadow them with a point academy to teach the fledglings that there is no such thing as a navy war or an army war, but only a nation's war.

Into this sky realm of ideas there recently ventured an outsider. "The London Economist," to question the wisdom of three men (Nimitz, MacArthur, Halsey) running the Pacific show. Presumably the London typewriter strategist wants one big dictator and three medium ones. He may have something there.

Meanwhile, there's work to be done. I am able to report that the men running the Pacific show are preparing to work hard with a view to reporting further progress in the near future. As was said in the beginning, this area has served well as a proving ground, and if the Japanese need further proof that they can't win they are about to get it in full.

Victory From Blood Donations

To the Editor of The Napanee Beaver.

The following poem by Mae W. Goodman, printed in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, is a sequel to one you published some time ago. It is a word of encouragement to blood donors.

TO A BLOOD DONOR

You gave your blood that I might live,
Know that I bear it proudly in my veins.
No greater gift has anyone to give;
No higher tribute to your land remains.
You shared your blood that you might help to save
A life. To you I owe my very breath.
Know that the blood that you so gladly gave
Has met the foe — has even conquered death.
And though your gift I never can repay,
Yet mindful am I of the debt I owe;
I shall redeem it at some future day,
But how and when no one but God can know.
Now through my veins I feel the warm, blood run—
Blood donor, you and I, and life have won.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Do you know that more people in Canada feasted on the food that they were able to purchase for themselves this season, due to the fact that their earnings were much greater. Large quantities of good products are still in great demand but in short supply. This calls for intensive and comprehensive education on the proper use of food.

Our Dominion Government is launching a second nutrition campaign, stressing the conservation of food, during this coming month. The Mixing Bowl Columns will include authentic information and more economical recipes to assist in the programme. It is then up to each and every one to share and play square with food.

Food is fighting for freedom everywhere: in the Army field kitchens where meals are cooked within sound of battle; on ships, cooking goes on as guns roar their defiance at enemy dive bombers. Food is fighting in the liberated countries where there is white bread on the table for the first time in years and food fights at home. Canada has produced more food this year than in previous years, but the needs of war and of the peace which will follow will impose ever-increasing demands upon our national larder.

Co-operation on the home front will mean four things: It means producing food, conserving food, storing food and playing square with food.

The Home makers of Canada will assume a great deal of the responsibility along these lines. During the past year, women took the place of men on the farms and became enthusiastic victory gardeners. This year there will be more exacting demands on the kitchen shelf and Canada's national larder. We will have to consider methods of: 1 Producing still more food. 2. Conserving food by careful marketing. 3. Preserving food intelligently. 4. Planning Nutrithrift meals. 5. Proper cooking methods. 6. Using leftovers advantageously.

The fact that some foods are difficult to obtain makes it necessary to share available supplies—not only among ourselves but with the Armed Forces, the people of Great Britain and fellow nations. If we buy only what we need, we will be taking a big step in the right direction.

Hand in hand with sharing the food is the need for playing square with food and that means living up to the price and rationing regulations cheerfully and willingly. A few inconveniences or changes in our food habits are easy to make sacrifice to make in helping to win this war.

TAKE A TIP:

1. Provide a closed box near your doorstep if the sun shines on the place where the bottle of milk is left. Don't think that sunshine, just because it's good for man and beast, is good for milk, too. It is highly destructive of Riboflavin (b2), a valuable nutritive element in milk.

2. Peel potatoes and fruits just before you cook and serve them. Vitamin C, is lost when prepeared raw foods are left in a warm room.

3. Do use water in which vegetables have been cooked to make soups, sauces, gravies and stews. Vitamin B1 dissolves in water and is wasted when cooking water is thrown away.

4. Don't waste electricity, pound-age and food value in these critical times by wrong roasting methods for meats. Too-high temperatures shrink meats in fewer servings and rob them of their Vitamin V1

RECIPES

Barbecued Beef Loaves
(Requested)

One strip bacon, three-quarters pound ground beef, one-quarter pound ground lean pork, one tablespoon chopped onion, one-quarter cup dry bread crumbs (fine) one-third cup milk, one teaspoon salt.

Cut strip of bacon fine and mix with bread crumbs, milk and salt. Add meats and onion, and blend well. Shape into four individual oblong meat loaves and place in shallow oiled pan.

Make Barbecue Sauce by heating together one-third cup catsup, one tablespoon vinegar, half tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce one-quarter of teaspoon chili powder and one tablespoon chopped onion. Pour over the meat loaves and bake 45 minutes at 400 them of their Vitamin B1. Servings, four.

Stewed Heart With Rice
(Requested)

One beef heart (about 3 lbs.) two tablespoons cubed onion, two tablespoons cubed carrot, one stalk celery, two tablespoons flour two tablespoons shortening, half-teaspoon salt, one tablespoon vinegar.

Wash heart and remove all veins and tough fibres. Cut in small pieces and cover with water for fifteen minutes. Drain and add boiling water to cover. Add cut carrot, onion and celery. Simmer gently for three or four hours. Mix flour and melted butter and stir into the hot stock. Add the vinegar and stir until thickened. Serve with the gravy steamed rice. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Servings, 6

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to the care of The Napanee Beaver and let your suggestions on home cooking problems and watch the column for replies.

MORE SUBSTANTIAL DESSERTS AND PUDDINGS CALLED FOR BY COLD - WEATHER APPETITES

Cold - weather appetites call for more substantial meals , meals that have a staying or stick-to-the-ribs' quality. More substantial desserts and puddings help to give meals that staying power and have a very definite place in winter meals.

Every family has its favourite tried and true desserts but who wouldn't welcome some additional recipes especially designed for wartime cookery? Such are today's recipes from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

FARINA CREAM

Two cups milk, one-third cup of farina, half-teaspoon salt, one egg, one-third cup brown sugar, two tablespoons lemon rind, half-teaspoon vanilla.

Heat milk in top of double boiler. Whisk in farina and salt with a fork. Cook twenty minutes, stirring until it thickens. Add sugar, well beaten egg and grated lemon rind; cook two minutes longer. Serve hot with top milk; this pudding may also be served chilled. Serves 6.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE PUDDING

Three tablespoons mild-flavoured fat, half-cup sugar, one egg, well beaten, one teaspoon vanilla, one and three-quarters cups flour, purpose flour, three teaspoons of baking power, one-third cup cocoa one-quarter teaspoon salt, three-quarters cup milk.

PROVINCES GET LABOR CODE

OTTAWA SENDS OUT DRAFT PROPOSALS

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Dominion Government's new labor code covering compulsory collective bargaining and arbitration now is in the hands of the provinces, it was learned this week.

The new legislation, which is understood to have undergone numerous changes since it was discussed at a conference of Dominion and provincial representatives last month, is reported to include provision for discretion on the part of the provinces in its scope.

The Dominion Federal authorities hope to overcome differences of opinion which have been particularly apparent between Ontario and Quebec. Ontario at the recent conference was insistent that the code cover all industrial workers while Quebec would probably prove beneficial to war workers — the Dominion's original intention.

The province Quebec takes is that there are a number of collective bargaining agreements in effect in Quebec industries which have received formal approval of the Provincial Labor Department and which should not be disturbed.

The Ontario Government on the other hand has indicated disapproval of the Ontario Collective Bargaining Act which was introduced by Premier Harry Nixon's Liberal Government shortly before its defeat. Blanket coverage in the new Federal code would probably prove beneficial to Ontario in providing a substitute for its present legislation.

Well informed officials said to-day the probability is that a working basis will be provided by the code and that this may be extended by provincial legislation which desire the legislation to have wider effect.

At the conclusion of the three-day November conference, Hon. H. Mitchell, Labor Minister, said in a formal statement that unanimity had been reached on the basic principles covering compulsory bargaining and arbitration.

A draft of the code was the centre of discussion at that conference. Since then senior officials of the Federal Labor Department, with the views expressed by the provinces in mind, have made a long series of revisions, culminating in the suggested code which has, within the past few days, been forwarded to the provinces for approval.

Administration

Administration of the code is likely to rest largely with the provinces, which will utilize as far as possible Labor Department organizations already in existence. While the new outline provides for differences in application in various provinces one of the prime purposes of the code is that—as far as possible—the fundamental basis shall be uniform throughout the Dominion.

While no plans have been announced for further discussions with the provinces, final decision on this point will be dependent on the reaction of the provinces to the Dominion's latest proposals.

THE SABOTEURS NEVER REST

Six patriots entered Ronsse railway station, East Flanders, and dynamited three locomotives. They then placed an infernal machine on the track a few hundred yards along the line, and this exploded a few hours later while a train was passing.

Saboteurs tampered with a rail on the Louvain-Malines line near Newer, Brabant Province. The engine and nine cars of a freight train were derailed.

The same night they held up a train on the Bernissart-Blaton line, made the driver and fireman get down, and then disabled the engine by destroying one of the crank-arms.

At Modave, Province of Liege, saboteurs attacked a freight train and set fire to five cars containing about 50 tons of flax.

As many truck-loads of flax and colza have been set on fire in the Waremme district, Liege Province, the German military commandant there recently announced that, if further fires break out "the stationmasters railway employes, burgomasters and civilians detailed to watch over the railway stations will be regarded as saboteurs and punished accordingly."

After saboteurs had blown up the gates of a number of sluices and sank barges in canals, the Germans decided to create a special corps which will be recruited among collaborators and will be detailed to guard the canals.

A British Ministry of Economic Warfare spokesman told a recent press conference in London that in Belgium railroad patrols have been reinforced by "corps of anti-sabotage dogs." He described the Belgians as past-masters in sabotage after their experience in the last war and gave them credit for accomplishing a great deal by their delaying tactics on the railroads. Besides this they have set locomotives to running wild through freight yards and caused many collisions.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

In order that reports of organizations may be printed the week following the dates on which the meetings are held, we find it necessary to request that all copy be in our office not later than Saturday morning. We ask for the co-operation of the reporters, so that we may continue to be of service. — Editor.

SELBY W. M. S.

Mrs. W. A. McLeod, 1st vice-president had charge of the December meeting and opened the service with prayer. A moment's silence was observed in memory of our late president, Miss Alma Wood. Rev. Mr. Merrick offered prayer and spoke very feelingly of Alma and voiced his appreciation and that of all the members of Selby W. M. S. for the services which she so willingly and so efficiently rendered during her term of office as our president. Mrs. John McConnell gave a reading and Mrs. M. Windover a short talk. The watch tower was responded to by Mrs. Eph. Robinson and Mrs. Merrick. Rev. Mr. Merrick conducted the election of officers for 1944. The officers elected were: president Mrs. Jim Rose; 1st vice-president, Mrs. W. A. McLeod; 2nd vice-president Mrs. Luman McCutcheon; recording secretary, Mrs. Eph. Robinson; corresponding secretary, Miss Lucille Hudgin; treasurer, Mrs. Jim Henderson; secretary of Christian Stewardship Mrs. H. A. Wood; secretary of temperance, Mrs. M. Windover; community friendship, Mrs. F. L. Amey; supply secretary, Mrs. D. Weese; associate helpers, Mrs. S. D. G. Winter, Mrs. Manley Kimmet, Mrs. D. Weese; literature secretary, Mrs. Lila Miller; press secretary Mrs. Stanley Sexsmith, pianist, Mrs. Everett Price; Mission Band leader, Mrs. Dorland McPherson, assistant to be appointed later. Rev. Mr. Merrick then offered prayer and gave an interesting talk after which Mrs. Tate led in prayer. Mrs. McLeod had charge of a very impressive candlelight service. She was assisted by Mrs. M. Windover, Mrs. H. A. Wood, Mrs. J. Rose and Mrs. Tate. All four had lighted candles and while they lighted the candles of all those who were present, Mrs. Luman McCutcheon sang an appropriate hymn.

Mrs. McLeod closed the meeting with prayer.

ARE JAPS SHORT OF PLANES?

BY HAROLD STREETER
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Japanese Air Force has paid the price of more than 230 planes shot down over New Britain during the first two weeks of that island's invasion. Announced Allied losses were 39. But even more important than these comparative totals, other developments seem to indicate something decidedly amiss from the enemy standpoint.

Is Japan growing short of planes? of battle-experienced pilots? Or, on the other hand, is enemy air might held back for the battles to come?

Whatever the explanation, the pressure from the Marshalls southward over a Pacific outpost line of more than 2 000 miles as thinned out Nipponese air strength that it cannot be concentrated swiftly to repel new blows?

These questions are raised logically by what has happened since the invasion of New Britain opened Dec. 15th at Arawe on the southwest coast. New Britain is by all odds the most important Japanese Pacific position invaded by the Allies chiefly because of the superb harbor and network of airfields at Rabaul. Japan has said so in alarmed tones over Tokio radio and has expressed determination to hold on to the island.

In the light of that, the moves of the Japanese air force against the United States Sixth Army at Arawe and against the Marines invading Cape Gloucester Dec. 26 would seem to indicate one of two things. Either enemy reconnaissance is faulty or the air force is loath to give battle in force at critical stages.

Again, the Japanese invasion forces had to sail some 200 miles from New Guinea to put the men ashore at Arawe. Yet it was not until after the landings and the warships were on their way back that the first enemy air attack occurred.

Again on landing morning the biggest force of ships and men ever assembled in the southwest Pacific appeared off Cape Gloucester — but until mid-afternoon did the Japanese air force show up.

In the midst of the invasion campaign, the Allied air force has pounced on Japanese shipping at Kavieng, New Ireland, a vital enemy station on the Nipponese sea lifeline from Truk to Rabaul. And they have not encountered a single Japanese plane. War correspondents have written that presumably Japan was keeping planes at Rabaul for the New Britain battle.

Kavieng, Rabaul, Cape Gloucester and Arawe suggest all is not well with Japan's air arm.

"The Village Was Destroyed"

By the side of a highway in German - occupied Crete stands a "tombstone" on it, in German and Greek, is this "epitaph": "As a reprisal for the foul murder of German soldiers by armed men and women, the village of Kandanos was destroyed." Flanking the stele are the ruins of the razed and burned village.

Kandanos, at the time of the German invasion was a flourishing village of 1 000 souls. It had several public buildings including a telegraph office, a magnificent schools and a police station.

This is but one of many which the Germans have set up in revenge for defeats at the hands of the Cretan guerrilla who still a number of the British New Zealand soldiers left behind in the evacuation after the fall of Crete. They operate in the mountainous interior and have been a source of grave annoyance to the occupying forces of Germany.

Early in September the German Information now in the air, "The Greek War Relief Fund" now guerrillas rounded up one of the prisoners, killed 113. Another captured 13. In reverse, on December 15, the Germans announced that of their troops into the mountains, burned down the village of Riza, Mirthion and Embros, and, shortly, four other villages were razed by the Germans.

Why VICKS VapoRub Is So Good

For Relieving Miseries of

Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in mother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the widely used home-remedy for big miseries of children's colds. Here is the reason . . . The moment you rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime it sets to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to ease coughing spasms, help clear congestion in cold-clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It promotes restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when colds strike. Try it!

THE MENACE IN SOUTH AMERICA

BY WAVERLEY ROOT

Argentina's Fascist Government constitutes not only a threat to democracy in itself; it risks becoming the centre of infection from which the poison of Fascism may spread to other Latin American states. The theory of the present Argentine Government that Germany's military defeat in this war will not end the drive of the Reich for world domination and that partnership with Germany after the war, in preparation for World War III, will be more profitable for her than co-operation with the Allies during this one, may appeal to some other Latin American Governments.

Argentine has already begun her campaign to lead other South American countries in the direction she has taken, using the bait of the trade treaty, and the eventual promise of a customs union, to draw them into her wake. The first country she has persuaded to sign such a treaty is Paraguay — and it is perhaps more than a coincidence that the economic agreement between Paraguay and Argentina was made at the same time that reports have begun to come out of Paraguay concerning persecution of anti-Fascists in that country. As usual, political imitation goes hand in hand with economic imitation.

The report on what is happening in Paraguay comes, oddly enough, from the Argentine League for the Rights of Man, which still manages to function, though how long it will be allowed to do so in the new Argentina is problematical. The League reports that the Paraguayan anti-Fascist leader Augusto Canete is in a dangerous state of health as the result of several months imprisonment in Asuncion in a roofless cell which is flooded whenever it rains. In the cell with him is Cirilo Aguayo co-founder of the Latin American Federation of Labor. These two prisoners have often remained in water up to their knees for several days on end, unable to lie down to sleep.

Likewise, Alfredo Alcorta, the student leader who was formerly president of the Federation of Secondary Students, was arrested and was kept tied to a table for three days, during which time he was frequently beaten with rulers, fine chains and sabres. He is in danger of losing an eye as the result of bad treatment. Three other young students, Arnelio Ibanez, Rafael Quintana and Victorino Raez, have been beaten and subjected to electric shocks. There are other instances of similar mistreatment of anti-Fascist prisoners.

There are also large concentration camps in the Chaco area, whose political prisoners are constrained to forced labor on insufficient food. Many of them break down, but receive no medical attention.

This report from Paraguay may tend to remind us of something which has been more or less forgotten since the marshalling of the Latin-American countries behind the United Nations — that is that most of these countries though referred to as republics, are dictatorships, and the natural ideological alignment of their rulers, if not of their peoples, is towards Axis rather than Allied ideals. It should therefore be not too difficult for Argentina to find other allies for the pro-Fascist bloc which she seems to want to create, unless the United States and the other democracies manage to outplay her.

Paraguay, for instance, was not necessarily a country ripe to fall into step with a Fascist Argentina. True, Paraguay's controlled press, during the first part of the war, got most of its news from Nazi sources, and many of the country's leaders admired Hitler — but her part-Indian soldier. President Higini Morigino had decreed death for traitors when searches in several South American countries revealed a Nazi plan for their conquest.

If that plan is still among Germany's eventual aims, Paraguay would have reason to think twice before linking her destinies with Argentina to bring about the triumph of Fascism — for it included the disappearance of Paraguay for Argentina's benefit. Therefore, one wonders, on seeing Paraguay's tie-up with Argentina today, whether a new plan hasn't been worked out—one which would give Paraguay some spoils at the expense, for instance, of Bolivia or Uruguay, both of which were also scheduled, on Germany's original plan, for South America, to be absorbed by Argentina.

With Paraguay now co-operating with Argentina, the Allies may be justified in worrying about the effect on Uruguay, hitherto the most friendly to the democracies of all South American countries. Uruguay is pinched between Paraguay and Argentina, and cannot but be alarmed at the revival of Fascism in those countries. She has besides an internal problem in a reactionary political party, called the Herreristas. Although this group would not be proportionately strong enough to make trouble in most democratically ruled countries, it is aided in Uruguay by a peculiarity of the country's constitution which guarantees considerable minimum representation to opposition parties. The intention, when the constitution was made, was to safeguard minorities against exploitation by the majority; but as the Herreristas have been able to use it, their minority has often been able to tie the hands of the majority, which is pro-Allied.

The situation is a difficult one. The United States cannot bear down arbitrarily on pro-Fascism in South American countries without incurring the resentment of all Latin America and losing the advantages gained by the Good Neighbor policy. Yet she can hardly afford to let Fascism spread in the western hemisphere, in preparation for World War III, without some attempt to check it. The solution would seem to lie in some sort of co-operative action with the Latin American countries to oppose the new tendency introduced into South American politics by Argentina, which has now, apparently been adopted by Paraguay as well.

Germans Preparing For Third Attempt To Conquer World

By Waverley Root

Among those elements in Germany which set to work immediately after the Great War to make it possible for Germany to launch this conflict were the heavy industrialists, whose job was to evade clauses of the Treaty of Versailles designed to prevent the German industrial machine from turning once more to the production of weapons. Preparation is beginning now for them to play the same role in preparing for a third war. A decree just issued by Adolph Hitler is the sign of that.

The decree is unique, in that it puts a Government behind the maintenance of a family trust—that of the Krupp steel works. Not only is the German government helping to maintain the Krupp organization as a family concern; it is actually legislating that it must continue to be that.

The reason for the Hitler decree is that the present owner of the Krupp works, Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, has no children. At his death there is danger therefore that the estate might be broken up, and its ownership split up among various stockholders or banking interests whose future policies might not be foreseeable. Hitler desires that the great armaments concern should continue to serve the cause of German aggression in the future as it has in the past. His decree makes that plain. For it stipulates that the company shall be continued as a family affair in recognition of "the outstanding services rendered by the concern in increasing the military striking power of the nation for 132 years."

He could hardly have said more plainly: "Krupp helped us to annul the defeat of 1918, and make a second bid for victory; it must help us also to annul the coming defeat, and prepare for the third attempt."

Under the Hitler edict, Krupp von Bohlen must draw up a "family statute" to regulate succession to his fortune — which means, principally, to his armaments empire. Whomever he chooses as his heir must place the name of Krupp before his family name. Special rates are to be granted concerning the payment of gift taxes or inheritance taxes when the property changes hands, so that it will not be handicapped by lack of liquid capital to continue its development.

There is only one peculiar clause in the contract. Krupp von Bohlen is not only called upon to select an heir—he must also submit his choice to Nazi approval. The "family statute" must be registered in court, and will become valid only on Hitler's sanction of it. He is taking no chances that the Krupp works will fall into the hands of anyone who will fail to use control of it to continue the same policies which helped to give Germany the power to strike again.

ENEMY RAIL SYSTEM NEAR BREAKING POINT

BY JOSEPH A. GRIGG

Germany's transportation system may suffer a near-breakdown in the next six months and prove a major factor in her defeat, British economic experts believe.

The railroads supplying her hard-pressed armies in Russia and Italy already are strained almost to breaking point, according to reliable reports.

British and American air attacks on the Reich's main communications centres have created chaotic conditions on the railroads and knocked out or seriously damaged some 1,500,000 tons of shipping in the past two years, these reports added.

Persistent cannon and machine-gun attacks by R. A. F. fighters on German trains in occupied France and the low Countries were estimated to be smashing up some 150 locomotives a month. Reliable reports indicated the German railroads now are short of 8,000 locomotives and 200,000 freight cars.

Many of the Reich's major railroad marshalling yards and repair shops were devastated by British and American air raids this summer.

Three-fourths of the big Wagron Fabrik Talbot rolling stock plant at Aachen was destroyed in a raid on July 13. Three major attacks on Cologne in July and August did vast damage to the railroad workshops at Nippes and the marchalling yards at Muelheim, Kalk and Deutz. The Allied air forces have systematically attacked rolling stock works at Munich, Essen, Augsburg, Berlin, Liege and other important centres in Germany and occupied Europe.

Even conservative experts believe if these attacks continue on the present scale the whole Axis transportation network could be brought to something like a standstill in the measurable future.

Ever since 1933 the Nazis have neglected Germany's railroads. It was estimated she entered the war with a twenty per cent. rolling stock deficit.

The Nazi authorities sought to remedy this situation by denuding each occupied country of the greater part of its locomotives and rolling stock. Experts report about 4,000 French locomotives and tens of thousands of French freight cars now are in Germany itself working solely for the German State Railways. This reserve however, probably has been exhausted by now.

A year ago, in view of the increasing shortage of rolling stock, the German State Railways ordered every freight car to be loaded two tons above the normal maximum. Damage caused as a result of this regulation was so extensive that it was rescinded in June this year, but recently a new order was issued for overloading by one ton for each freight car.

Passenger train services throughout Germany and the occupied countries were slashed ruthlessly early this year and "rationed travel" introduced for the first time. It now is impossible even to climb aboard a long-distance train in Germany without permit.

At the outbreak of war Germans had two locomotives 1.3 miles of track. To-day, according to reliable estimates, there is more than one for every 1.6 miles.

A year ago the Nazis began to meet the increasing locomotive shortage by boosting locomotive construction to an A-1 priority. Men were drafted for building and repairing of "utility" or simplified locomotives.

This year the building programme was stepped up further. Plans for building 6,000 to 7,000 locomotives were announced, but the programme was thrown completely out of gear by the intensification of Ruhr factories attacks. Reports indicated the programme has come nowhere near being fulfilled.

It was estimated Germany built only 12,000 to 15,000 new locomotives during the current year and that production scarcely will reach the level of existing deficit already mentioned, at 8,000.

RATIONING AFTER THE W... IS ENVISAGE...

The need for international co-operation to make available ... to rescue the peoples of the... rope from famine and ... emphasized in a new ... Labor Office pamphlet on ... of children in the occupied ...

Nothing that answers ... has been clearly expressed ... the inadequacy of the so... able" to meet Europe's gre... needs, the pamphlet points ... establishment of the United ... Relief and Rehabilitation ... tration as the international ... which will have the responsibility ... assuring that these needs will ... The Inter-Allied Post-War ... ments Committee, which is ... functioning in London for ... two years under the chairmanship of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, ... already performed an essential ... in assessing requirements," it says.

The pamphlet quotes the resolution of the United Nations Conference on Food and Agriculture ... "freedom from hunger can be attained only by urgent and combined efforts to economize consumption, increase supplies and to distribute them to the best advantage," and declares that these words are a recognition in abstract terms that food restrictions imposed during the war will doubtless have to be maintained for some time after the war, or rather that certain restrictions must be established immediately to ensure a fair distribution of the common stock" once the countries of Europe are liberated.

"Such restrictions must inevitably ... ence those who have not had to endure them during the war, who even demand some slight relaxation of comfort," the pamphlet says. "But," it adds, "their effect would be salutary if the people who hitherto been privileged are ... by an appreciation of the ... make a willing sacrifice in the ... solidarity, and if the people ... have endured starvation conditions realize that, through that sacrifice, ... own lot has been improved ... economic experiment might ... prepare a climate of opinion favorable to a peace based on real understanding of the world-wide interdependence of peoples and of human solidarity."

The pamphlet entitled "The Plight of Children in Occupied Europe" paints a grim picture of present conditions in the occupied countries. It describes in detail the effects of malnutrition and the lack of adequate clothing, shelter and fuel on the growing generation.

Conditions vary in gravity from place to place, the study reveals, but everywhere they are constantly deteriorating, sapping the physical and moral strength of the people. Depopulation is proceeding on a scale which threatens the very existence of countries powered of recovery, the pamphlet declares, pointing out that the unfavorable relation between births and deaths must be attributed to war conditions.

"Other phenomena, the full extent of which will only gradually become evident" it says, "are also appearing. The incidence of scrofula is increasing, epidemics are appearing, making their appearance, and there is a general decline in health due to malnutrition and undernourishment."

The effects of more than four years of war have been felt most severely by the children the pamphlet makes clear. Boys and girls are steadily losing weight, a typical survey in Belgium showing that 30 per cent of children had lost from seven to thirteen pounds.

Tuberculosis and other contagious diseases are spreading "disastrously," the pamphlet says. In Paris the tuberculosis death-rate increased from 168 per 100,000 of the population in 1940 to 224 in the first five months of 1942. The infantile death rate has everywhere increasing alarmingly, and the death rate of adolescent young persons even more so. In the first two years of occupation of the Netherlands, the death rate among children from 5 to 10 years old rose by 27 per cent, and among youths from 16 to 24 by 43 per cent, as compared with an increase in the general death rate of only 9 per cent.

The pamphlet cites figures showing that the excess of deaths over births in France in 1940 and 1941 resulted in a net population loss of 396,648. It quotes figures indicating that the abnormal death rate has reduced the population of Germany by five per cent. The death rate among the Jewish population of Warsaw is reported to have risen in 1941 to four times its pre-war rate.

LUNCHBOX CARE

War worker or children's lunch boxes should be kept clean and sweet. One of the best methods of cleaning them is to wash out the lunch box frequently with warm water to which soda has been added. The lunch box should be dried thoroughly.

ONTARIO MOTOR LICENCES DELAYED

Toronto, (C.P.) — Issue of Ontario's 1944 motor vehicle licences will be delayed until January 14 or 15, Provincial Minister of Highways Doucett said, last week. They were scheduled to go on sale Monday, January 10th.

Mr. Doucett said the delay is due to arrangements to be concluded with the oil controller on placing of stickers which are to be attached to the windshields. Old plates will be retained on the rear of the vehicle.

Motorists and operators of commercial vehicles are expected to have until the end of Feburary to obtain new licences.

N. C. V. I. COMMENCEMENT

The Annual Commencement of the Napanee Collegiate and Vocational Institute has had to be considerably delayed on account of the inability to secure a speaker. However, it has been arranged to have it on Monday, 24th of January, at 2:00 p.m., in the Collegiate auditorium.

The speaker will be Dr. J. G. Althouse, M.A., Dean of the Faculty of Education of the University of Toronto. Admission is free and any citizen of either town or county is invited to attend.

MR. AND MRS. CLIFFORD MOORE HONORED BY FRIENDS ON 25TH ANNIVERSARY

On the evening of December 22nd a number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Moore to celebrate with them the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. E. Howell read an address and presented Mr. and Mrs. Moore with a silver cream and sugar set and tray, for which Mr. and Mrs. Miller expressed their sincere appreciation.

Lunch was served and a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

CONSERVATIVES TO CHOOSE FEDERAL CANDIDATE JANUARY 26

Preparing for Election Which May Come in 1944

At a meeting of the executive of the Prince Edward-Lennox Progressive Conservative Association, held last Wednesday afternoon it was decided to call a convention on Wednesday afternoon, January 26th, in Napanee, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the next Dominion election, which it is thought, might be held as early as June of this year.

Meetings in the various polling subdivisions in the riding will be held the evening previous, to select delegates to the convention.

Mr. George J. Tustin, the present member for the riding of Prince Edward-Lennox, has informed The Beaver that he will be definitely in the running for the nomination.

Other names have also been mentioned.

TAX REFUND RATE INCREASES

Ottawa. (C.P.) — Hon. Colin Gibson, Minister of National Revenue, said in a statement that income tax refunds are being sent out as quickly as possible and added it is hoped soon to increase the rate of 8.000 a day.

Between June and August last year the income tax division received the largest number of returns in its history and with them came thousands of claims for refunds arising from the forgiveness of one-half of the 1942 tax liability.

"Some taxpayers may have expected that assessment notices containing certificates for the refundable savings portion of the tax and refund cheques would be issued immediately." Col. Gibson said. "This was impossible in view of the fact that each individual return must be checked and compared with the return filed by employers and by companies paying dividends.

"This is a work of great magnitude and consequently it is not surprising that comparatively few assessment notices or refund cheques could be issued before the fall of the year. In fact, mass production did not begin until November.

"Since that time, hundreds of thousands of refund cheques and assessment notices, containing certificates for the refundable savings portion have been mailed to taxpayers all across Canada. Production now is being maintained at the rate of about 8,000 of each per day and the administration is confident that this rate will be increased in the near future and until the refund position is cleared."

OTTAWA FACES BUSY YEAR

ELECTION POSSIBILITY DISCUSSED IN CAPITAL

Ottawa. — Rather cautiously—because in much of the city it was still a holiday — the capital, on Jan. 3rd, squared away to the work of the New Year in the knowledge that it will be one of great events, abroad and at home.

Only about two weeks intervene before Parliament returns to close up the session formally, as it started a year ago—but has never been "prorogued." When that is done, a new session will begin the next day — January 27. While it is rather commonly expected, no one knows yet if this will be an election year. The war will be the great influence and, whatever the assurance of favorable outcome, no one can predict the time. If the war in Europe ends this year, nothing seems more certain than an election as soon as possible.

It is still going on that the chances of an election would be lessened unless some large domestic issue should arise.

Provincial elections will occur in three provinces, Quebec New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, because the Legislatures will have rounded out five years. They are all expected before the year is more than half over. Their results will have a bearing on the Dominion election.

CANADIAN TROOPS RECEIVED 29,966,715 CIGARETTES DURING HOLIDAY SEASON

Ottawa. (CP.)—Canadian soldiers overseas received 20,966,715 cigarettes during the holiday season, defence headquarters reported last week. The Overseas League shipped 14,456,240, with the balance going from the Buckshee Fund, the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire and other donors.

The Overseas League also delivered 300,000 cigarettes for free distribution to Newfoundland troops.

The manufacture of display shippers, counter boxes, laundry boxes, special gift boxes and bottle and can carryouts made of fibre is now prohibited.

PREMIER DREW GIVES RADIO ADDRESS AFTER RETURN FROM BRITAIN

Tells of Opening Ontario House in London

Premier Drew said, Friday night, there are "good, practical reasons" for believing Germany will surrender this year but warned there is greater obligation than ever before to help win the war "by work, money and united effort."

He said that is the outstanding impression he received from Canadians overseas in a one-month visit to Britain, from which he returned last week after making arrangements to rent a new site for Ontario House.

In his address, broadcast over the Ontario regional network of the CBC and affiliated stations, Col. Drew said the new building, on Charles Street, not more than 200 yards from Trafalgar Square "in the very heart of London," will be open for business in a few weeks. Minor structural changes and arrangements for furniture and fittings now were being made.

Another announcement that Ontario House would be reopened was received warmly by the armed forces overseas, the Ontario premier said, and this connection his visit to Britain was "much more necessary than any of us realized."

The British press also welcomed the step because of the opportunities they felt it would offer to British manufacturers to obtain information about Ontario, said Col. Drew, adding:—

"I can tell anyone here who may have doubts about our future that no such doubts can be found in Britain.

Ontario House would be particularly useful after the war when he predicted, "we will have greater opportunities than ever before to increase employment here by expanding the volume and variety of sales in our best export market." He cited last week after making arrangements for farm products valued at $180,000,000 to Britain in 1938 compared with $1,007,000,000 to United States, while 1937 figures were $225,000,000 to Britain and $83,000,000 to the United States.

Col. Drew said he received inquiries from "prominent businessmen all over the British Isles" after mentioning in a London speech that Ontario would encourage British manufacturers wishing to open branch plants in the province.

Of the war the Premier said German morale is not broken and victory will be won only after heavy and costly fighting. Canadians at home must strain every resource to support their fighting men "waiting with high heart and supreme confidence for the launching of the great offensive from the west."

UNITED STATES ARRANGES TO BUY WHEAT

Washington, (B.U.P.)—The United States War Food Administration reported that it had arranged for the purchase of more than 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat for use as livestock feed.

Part of the wheat already has been brought into eastern Great Lake ports by boat, and railroad cars will be sent into the interior of Canada for additional large quantities this winter.

The Canadian wheat purchases were disclosed after the Office of Price Administration announced new domestic price ceilings under which wheat at all markets will bring prices that O.P.A. said would reflect 100 per cent. parity to the grower, exclusive of any Government payments.

The W.F.A. said feed wheat imports for supplementing short supplies in the United States during the current fiscal year would total between 100,000,000 and 150,000,000 bushels, most of which will come from Canada.

The arrangement for sending American railroad cars into the prairie wheat producing belt of Canada has increased import prospects by, 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels during the past month, the W.P.A. said. Rail transport will assure eastern feeders a continued grain supply during the months that water transportation in the Great Lakes is closed by ice.

In addition to imports, between 350,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels of United States wheat will be fed to livestock during the current feeding year, compared with 320,000,000 bushels total fed last year, the W. F. A. estimated.

Livestock numbers now are at all-time record highs, but W. F. A. officials expect that a sharp reduction during the next few months will help relieve the feed shortage.

Increased Blood Quotas to Be Sought

Hamilton, Ont. — Russell T. Kelley, Ontario chairman of the Red Cross blood donor service said last week that increased quotas of blood will be sought from clinics across the Dominion, effective April 1st, in preparation against the possibility of heavier war casualties. He said the Canadian quota will be stepped up from 15,000 to 20,000 donations weekly — 11,500 of the new figure from Ontario.

I.O.D.E. BOOK MONTH

Canada is still far behind the other United Nations in measures to meet the demand for books for the services. There is an urgent and constant need for books in the Ship and Shore establishments of the Royal Navy. Wrens who have Library experience take charge of the libraries and when a ship docks the crew is provided with a new set of books for the next voyage. Camps libraries are set up in service camps across Canada but the demand for books has never been fully met. This should be a part of every Canadian's war effort. So look through your books and pick out some GOOD ones for our uniformed men and women.

One Hundred Thousand Dollars is Ontario's share of the sum so urgently needed to purchase new books, or fully 50 per cent. of all books sent to camps are new. Publishers grant a generous discount to the I. O. D. E. in buying these books, so we can make your BOOK DOLLAR go further. A letter of thanks from an army camp contained these words: "I would like to thank you again for your kindness in sending us another shipment of books. For our library, perhaps it would be of some interest to know that very favourable comment has been passed on the quality and condition of these. Both Protestant and Roman Catholic Padres were delighted with them." So whether with money or used books or both, please be ready to do your share.

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Word has been received here that Sergt. Robert B. Crouse, R. C. O. C., was killed in Italy on December 6th. Sergt. Crouse is a son of Mrs. B. W. Crouse, of Oshawa.

Pte. Nelson Chadwick has returned to Debert, N.S., after spending his furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, R.R. No. 1, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Harnden, received a telegram from their son, Harold Harnden serving with the R.C.N.V.R., St. Johns, N.B., announcing the birth of a baby girl to his wife on January 5th 1944. Mother and daughter doing well.

ENTERTAIN MUNICIPAL OFFICERS

An interesting supper meeting in connection with the Napanee Rotary Club was held on Monday evening at the Superior Restaurant, when the members of the club entertained the ex-Mayors and present Council members of the town of Napanee, the members of the Board of Education and the Public Utilities Commission.

Following an excellent meal, W. A. Fraser, a charter member of the Club, who has been Clerk of the town of Napanee for many years, gave an entertaining and instructive address in which he reminisced about the early history of the town, its municipal government and the early settlers of the municipality.

Geo. J. Tustin, M.P. introduced Mr. Grange and Ex-Mayor A. S. Kimmerly expressed thanks for his address and short addresses were also given by Ex-Mayors J. E. Robinson and John O. Daly.

W. T. Mackenzie thanked the Club on behalf of the Public Utilities Commission and Gerald P. Smith spoke for the Board of Education.

Sig. Wessman, Mayor of Deseronto, and E. J. Corkill, also gave brief talks.

Morley L. Perry Died On Tuesday After Long Illness

The death occurred early Tuesday morning January 11th, at Kingston General Hospital, of Morley Leonard Perry, a well-known business man of Napanee. Mr. Perry, who was in his 47th year, had been seriously ill since last July and during that time had undergone several operations. The most recent operation was performed last week and every day since his condition had been most critical.

The late Mr. Perry was born in the Hay Bay district and was a son of the late Bowen and Edith Perry. He was educated at the Napanee Collegiate and spent some time later at Queen's University, but did not complete his course. For about six years after leaving Queen's he worked in Sudbury, where he met and married his wife, the former Violet O'Reilly.

In 1925, Mr. Perry and his family returned to Napanee, where Mr. Perry started a coal and fuel business in which he had been very successful. For some years he also was a rural mail courier on Route 1, out of Napanee. On the opening of the selective service office in Napanee, in September, 1942, Mr. Perry was appointed the first manager, which position he capably filled until ill-health forced him to seek leave of absence in July of last year.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Miss Edith, and seven sons, Byron, Jule, Bernard, Jack, Donald and Morley, Jr., all of Napanee, and L.A.C. Vernon Perry, with the R.C.A.F. in Calgary. He also leaves one brother, Ray F. Perry, Morven, and one sister, Mrs. Sperry Fraser, of Morven.

His funeral is being conducted at St. Patrick's Church, to-morrow (Thursday) at 8:30 a.m., and burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

The pall - bearers will be Messrs. Harold Denison, J. W. Wilson, Ernest Marshal Jarvis McGuire, Angus MacDonnell and Jeff Bradshaw.

Conference Regional Chairmen, Jan. 18th At Ottawa

Realizing that the fight on the home front is getting tougher, 14 Regional chairmen of the Consumer Branch committees will confer with their director, Byrne Sanders, and key administrators of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Ottawa from January 18 to 21. They will go to Ottawa after making further plans to stem any and every movement toward an inflationary spiral in the cost of living.

Throughout the last few months, consumer committees from coast to coast have been meeting. One after another has been forwarding wires to Donald Gordon, Board Chairman, promising a "fight to the last ditch" against the forces of inflation. At the conference, the chairmen will give expression to the opinion of hundreds of thousands of Canadian women, who have declared themselves unwilling to admit defeat in this critical period of price control.

12,000 OFFICERS

Unlike the first National conference a little over a year ago when the Branch had only 2,850 active officers, the chairmen meet this year confident in the backing of 12,000 officers representing women in every city, town and hamlet across the country. Main job of the women has been to keep prices from getting out of bounds. These are the women, too, who interpret Price Board regulations to the consumer public and who represent, on the other hand, consumer opinion to the Board.

The annual report will show among other things, that 60,000 families and individuals found homes on Canada's congested centres through the Branch's 38 Housing Registries. A large representation of women — approximately 1,000 — sit on Local Ration Boards. The report will also show that thousands of discarded garments have been put back into action through the Eyan-Ya's program to conserve materials.

Boss: Boy, do you know the motto of this firm?

New Office Boy: Sure, it's push.

Boss: Wherever did you get that idea?

Boy. I saw it on the door as I came in.

Beginning next March 2nd the value of the D coupon for the purchase of maple syrup will increase from 12 to 20 fluid ounces.

AN APOLOGY

WE REGRET THAT LAST WEEK'S ISSUE OF "THE NAPANEE BEAVER" REACHED YOU AT SUCH A LATE DATE. CIRCUMSTANCES BEYOND OUR CONTROL WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DELAY.

LIKE MANY OTHER COMMODITIES IN COMMON USE, NEWSPRINT IS RATIONED. UNFORTUNATELY WE HAD USED OUR QUOTA FOR 1943 BY THE END OF THE YEAR AND COULD NOT GET DELIVERY OF THE FIRST INSTALMENT OF OUR 1944 SUPPLY UNTIL AFTER THE NEW YEAR.

WE HAVE HAD MANY 'PHONE CALLS AND LETTERS FROM SUBSCRIBERS WHO DID NOT RECEIVE LAST WEEK'S PAPER, BUT WE FEEL SURE THAT WHEN OUR READERS REALIZE THAT THE SHORTAGE OF PAPER WAS THE CAUSE OF DELAY THEY WILL UNDERSTAND.

WE HOPE THAT IN THE FUTURE "THE BEAVER" WILL REACH OUR SUBSCRIBERS AT THE USUAL TIME, EACH WEEK.

CORRESPONDENT SAYS ANOTHER YEAR BEFORE ENEMY DEFEATED

Warns Against Idea That War is Nearly Over

BY ALLAN NICKLESON

London, Jan. 8. (C.P.) — Many Britons at home have a theory that the war in Europe may be over by the coming summer, but the almost unanimous feeling in the Mediterranean war theatre anticipates at least another year of hard fighting.

With eight other Dominions correspondents I have just returned from a tour that included talks with both high and low-ranking personnel in the Army and Air Force in Italy and Africa. Based on news from home, they asked primarily the feeling of Britons as to the end of the European conflict. They deprecated the "summer theory" as over optimistic.

At the time of the tour there was no suggestion advanced as to future Mediterranean war plans. One highly placed Royal Air Force chief told us that "the whoe object of the moment is the capture of Rome because, as far as the Italians - are concerned, whoever holds Rome holds Italy."

That will be a hard task. Despite Allied superiority throughout the theatre, the terrain favors the defence and there is every indication the Germans will contest bitterly every inch of ground, even though their air power has been smashed. When the complete story is told, it will be found that the advance through Sicily and Italy couldn't have been accomplished any quicker.

GERMANS PRAISED

General Montgomery, who will lead the British forces, including Canadians, in the invasion from the West, told us that the German soldier, generally speaking, is "very good." He fights like a professional warrior and has the ability to forget all home troubles, such as air bombing, when he moves into action.

One top-ranking Air Chief told us that Marshal Badoglio informed him that the Italian leaders hasn't lost hope of winning the war. Although many complete defeatists have been captured, there are just as many more who hold that in the long run Germany can't lose.

There is a third type of prisoner, usually an officer who concedes that Germany has lost but looks forward to another generation of Germans to attain world supremacy. One such type was quoted to us as saying:

"Wel, I've made a mess of it, but my son will do it."

R. A. F. DISAGREES

Here are quotes from a Royal Air Force chief who controls a great part of the Mediterranean air effort.

"All this talk of the Germans being nearly done is nonsense. I'll take a bet with anyone that the war in Europe won't be over for a least another year.

"If you come to think of it why should the Germans not leave Norway if they are hard-pressed. They have got nothing and would save themselves a lot of trouble."

The same officer held that even if German morale sagged to a point of rebellion, it would be controlled by the "500,000-strong Gestapo ready to pounce on peoples' necks."

Turning to the air side of the picture, the officer said that "when the Germans get in and really start defending Germany, the concentration of flak will be terrific."

"Our aim is to get airfields as near to Germany as we can," he said, adding there would be "great value" in hitting Germany by air throughout this winter.

GOLD OUTPUT IN 1943 DOWN 24.5 PER CENT.

Ottawa, (B.U.P.) — Canadian gold mines last year yielded 3,649,671 fine ounces of the precious metal, a decrease of 24.5 per cent from 1942, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Despite this decrease, which brought the annual yield to the lowest level in seven years, gold remained the most important mineral produced in Canada from a monetary viewpoint, with an estimated value of $150,612,334.

AIRMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS DUE TO EXHAUSTION

About 6:30 a.m., last Monday, Leading Aircraftman J. Whitfield, No. 1 Wireless School, R.C.A.F., Montreal was found in an unconscious condition beside the road near Sandhill just west of Napanee, by Fred Robinson and Tom Brown, Toronto drivers and helper on a Loblaw transport.

The police were informed and at first it was thought the airman was the victim of a hit-and-run driver but it was later learned that he was hitchhiking from Hamilton to Montreal and while walking, had become exhausted and fell by the side of the road.

He was removed to the Kingston Military Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from exhaustion and had both feet frozen.

LIONS SPEND DAY PARLIAMENT HILL

Geo. J. Tustin, M.P., was the special speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions Club, held at the Superior Restaurant, last Monday, January 10th. Following the regular routine of business and introduction of guests, Mr. Tustin was introduced by Lion George Nicol.

Mr. Tustin gave an outline of the procedure of Parliament during a day's session and other information concerning the parliamentary set-up which was both interesting and informative.

Lion Ray Smith, on behalf of the Club, thanked Mr. Tustin for a very interesting and instructive address.

NOT "PROBABLY" BUT CERTAINLY

Some of the newspapers in Ontario have been having a bit of good-natured fun at the expense of Napanee during the past week. It all started when the Fergus News - Record published the following item: "A recent claim that most Americans are ignorant of Canada's geography and history reminds Councillor Beecher Parkhouse of a girl he knew in Rochester. The talk had drifted around to Canada. 'Oh, I know Canada,' she said, 'I spent part of one afternoon in Napanee'." The Toronto Star republished the article under the heading "Impression probably good anyway".

We can understand why the Fergus News-Record carried the article. The Editor is quite well aware that one must know the small town if he would know Canada. And he paid us a generous compliment when he quoted with apparent approval the comment of the girl who knew Canada after a brief visit to our town.

What we cannot quite understand, however, is the suggestion of doubt which The Star conveys when it uses the word "probably" in introducing the article. "Certainly," would have been a much better word, for certainly anyone who comes to Napanee, even as a casual visitor, gets a good impression of Canada, and if so inclined, can discover everything of importance right-to-home. If it is agriculture one is interested in, there are our market and our poultry fair, and our hog shipping days. There are lots of retired farmers, real dirt farmers who know all about the joys and vicissitudes of farming, having learned it the hard way. If one is interested in manufacture, why! we have a Biscuit Factory, a Furniture Factory, an Iron Works, and half-a-dozen garages. If it is business and merchandising, there are well-equipped stores of all sorts, not forgetting three banks. But perhaps one is interested in religion. Well! where better to study its influence than in this home of Methodism, with its churches of all denominations and creeds. There are those who might be interested in municipal life: we could introduce them to the Town Council and the School Board. Besides this there are the Rotary Club, the Lions Club, the Masons, Orangemen, Foresters, Oddfellows, and ever so many other interests like that.

To be sure the casual visitor from Rochester would not have time to study all these in detail, but she would see the reflection of these on our community with its large, well-kept homes and spacious gardens, its parks and wide open spaces Of course, it is impossible for anyone to see Canada as a whole except perhaps a man who is a trained observer, and a picturesque reporter like Bruce Hutchison. And even Bruce Hutchison, after viewing it all the way from Halifax to Vancouver, declares it "The Unknown Country." So if anyone really wants to see Canada he had better take some section of it and see it in miniature. He should eschew the big, impersonal cold cities and come to Napanee, with its generous, warm-hearted citizens in whose veins flows the blood of our loyal ancestors, or failing that — go to Fergus.

A GREAT CANADIAN

The late Sir Robert Falconer, on returning from an important international conference, told the present writer that the most outstanding man, in his judgment, at the conference, was Mr. John W. Dafoe, whose death took place on Sunday, January 9th. Mr. Dafoe, for years the brilliant editor of "The Winnipeg Free-Press, was a great Canadian. He knew Canada as few men have known it, and ably represented the Canadians' point of view at many important national and international gatherings. He was an excellent example of newspaper editors at their best. He knew news. He knew tendencies and trends. He knew men and their movements On this knowledge, he brought to bear his own keen perception, and gifted power of analysis and interpretation, which made him a great force in Canadian political and economic life.

Mr. Dafoe's life story is one which should inspire every Canadian boy. He told a bit about it in an address which he gave on October 16th, 1943, when his friends gave him a complimentary dinner at The Royal Alexander Hotel, in Winnipeg, on the Sixtieth Anniversary of his work as a journalist. He was born in what he called "the crest of the Highlands in Central Ontario" (Combermere, Ont.) He says that he was born under a lucky star, for when he applied for a job, as a young man, with The Montreal Star, the editor thinking he was too green to go out as a reporter, set him to work on an editorial desk. That was the beginning.

From that early start, Mr. Dafoe went from position to position. He first went to Winnipeg in 1886, when it was a city of only 20,000. It was not until 1901, however, that he became the editor of "The Free Press" which had then been acquired by Sir Clifford Sifton. From then on he worked until he made the "Free Press" one of the most influential papers in Canada. It is interesting in these days of organized news gathering and editorial writing, how one man may put his stamp on the paper he edits. The character of "The Free Press" was moulded and developed by Mr Dafoe. It reflected his own ideas, and carried influence and power largely because of that. Mr. Dafoe though an ardent Liberal, whose paper could be counted on to support the Liberal Party on most matters, never abused the power and the privilege which his position and his great circulation gave him. To be sure, he carried on vigorous campaigns, but they were always in connection with matters on which he had convictions. There was nothing of the opportunist about Mr. Dafoe. He was never moved by expediency Indeed "The Free Press" often championed unpopular causes. In his address at Winnipeg, to which reference has been made he said: "In fact, I know nothing that is better for a newspaper, in the long run, than that it should, when the occasion arises, face unpopularity in the advocacy of causes which it believes to be right. The resulting temporary loss is like the pruning of a vigorous plant in preparation for a greater growth."

The late John W Dafoe has served his generation well .He was a great Canadian, a credit to our country and to the profession to which he dedicated his life.

REFUSES RECOGNITION

Up to the present time the United States has refused to give recognition to the new government in Bolivia. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, says that there is evidence that the uprising there was planned and fomented by Nazi sympathizers. This is a serious charge to make, and yet it is one which we are pleased the United States has not hesitated to make. There is no corner of the Globe in which the Nazis did not have their agents, their money and their organization. Day and night, by means of the most subtle propaganda, they sought to drown out Democracy and to establish totalitarianism. The sad thing about it all is that there were so many who were willing to subscribe to these views.. It is probably well known by now how nearly Great Britain came to being destroyed. What is not quite so well known is that the United States was undermined by German propaganda to such an extent that, had it not been for Pearl Harbour, the cause of Democracy there would have been put back for centuries.

Last week the United States impeached twenty-eight people for subversive influences. They worked for the overthrow of Democracy and hindered the war effort of the United States. The story of the activities of these and others is contained in a new book, "Under Cover" which has run through eighteen editions since it was issued, July, 1943. It is the story of a man who worked under cover to ferret out those engaged in subversive movements. The technique followed by those who sought to overthrow the democratic way of life in the United States was that of the German Nazis. The mouthpiece of the movement was Father Coughlin, the man picked to head it was Lindberg; Senators Wheeler and Fish were linked up with it, while military men in high positions were already to move once the green light was given.

Meetings had been organized among the tough gangster crowd, among students and professors, among the clergy and the intellectuals. Practically every element in the community was being organized. The slogan in every instance was the same, down with the Jews, down with communism. The book "Under Cover" is thoroughly documented, names, places and dates are all given. Those who think that the solution of the post-war problems will be a simple matter, or that the Nazis will cease their influence and their subversive tactics, should read this book.

No wonder that Mr. Hull has stated openly that Nazi influences were at work in Bolivia; they are at work everywhere, including our own country.

THE JACKFISH

A story is told —whether apocryphal or not is hard to tell — about certain British fisherfolk. Some years ago before the modern methods of taking care of fish were introduced, so the story goes, the fishermen were worried because they lost so much time sailing to and from the fishing grounds. They figured that, if they could remain at sea when there was a good run on, they would do much better. But they had to come to shore to unload their catch perhaps just at the time the fish were running at their best. Someone thought up an idea of a tank boat. As the fish were caught they were dumped alive into the tank boat and kept there until the catch was over, when they were brought ashore. But the plan did not work. It was discovered that when the fish were unloaded, they were soft and flabby, not in good condition for the market. Then, one day, someone a bit more ingenious than the others, dumped a few jackfish in the tank along with the herring. Now ,we do not know much about jackfish from personal experience, but, apparently they cause quite a commotion when they get among other fish. Anyway, that seems to be what happened. The jackfish darted here and there among the rest of the fish in the tank until every fish was on its toes, so to speak, or on its fins, trying to dodge the jackfish. They worked so hard, and kept moving so actively that when they were landed on the dock they were seen to be just as hard, just as firm as they were when freshly taken from the sea.

The point of the story is quite obvious. It is not a bad idea to have a few jackfish around. They help keep the community on its toes; they help toughen the moral muscles of the men and women in the community; they keep the city fathers from going soft and flabby. Was it Plato who spoke of the gad fly who performed a similar function in society? Any community is in danger of moral and social somnambulism of accepting conditions as they are, as though they were the best possible; of assuming that everything is quite satisfactory and of refusing to admit the possibility of any change for the better.

Were there ever such halcyon days as those of the "Twenties." Work was plentiful, wages were high, prices were good, consumer demand was active and insistent. It looked as though the acme of social and economic perfection had been reached. And yet, in those days, there were the few—the jackfishes and the gadflies, if you wish—who protested those days could not last. To be sure, they were looked upon as kill-joys, as disloyal citizens, as pessimists and all the rest. And then the merry-go-round broke down It is not necessary to remind our readers of the tragic depression days, of the continual stream of men at the back-door, looking for a hand-out; of the nightly visitors sleeping in the Town Hall and of the soup kitchen in the Armouries. Those who speak the truth as they see it, even if it is unpopular, who sting the somnambulant wide awake, or keep the fish on their fins, are not to be despised. No, indeed, they perform a useful function in society, even if the gadfly's sting does hurt a bit, and the jackfish keeps us from going soft.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto Star had the following interesting and rather startling account of a struggle between a "plane" and a "sub" in its issue of January 4th :—

"Since we were working with the navy we gave the warships the sub's position," said Pilot Officer G. A. L. Lewingdon, Beech Ave., Toronto, wireless operator-air gunner. "No sooner had we sent our signal when an American Liberator, was blown to smithereens."

The U-boat without warning and dropped a stick of depth charges dead on its conning tower. The sub dived out of the clouds.

LETTER FROM GNR. T. THOMPSON SENT FROM ITALY

Dear Mother — You asked for some of the fun we had in Sicily. Well, there is not much to tell. We landed in Sicily on the 10th July, advanced up the centre of the island, the weather being very hot, but we liked it.

About four days later we were visited by General Montgomery and welcomed to the Eighth Army, and we were proud to be part of it.

We were issued mosquito protection nets for our helmets and long trousers, which we were to wear at night, and shirt sleeves rolled down. Tents are big enough for two men to sleep in. They were made out of fine netting and we sleep in these at night. The fruit was very plentiful—grapes, oranges, figs, lemons and lots of wine. The best thing we hated was the infested insect bites.

About two weeks before the campaign ended I went to the hospital with a touch of Malaria. I was sorry to leave but the Medical Officer said it was the best. I rejoined my regiment as they were camped in position at the foot of Mount Etna the last action we had in Sicily.

Then we went back for a rest and clean up, and got ready for our next drive. While we were in the rest camp we had swimming parades and swam in the Mediterranean, where the water was lovely and warm all the time.

Then came the day to pack up and get down to work again and our next push, which we were all waiting for and which brought us in to the heel of Italy. When we bring this little campaign to an end, I will tell you some of our fun. Will close with love to everyone.

Your ever loving son,

Tommie.

JAPAN WALKS DIPLOMATIC TIGHT ROPE

BY RUSSELL BRINES

Associated Press Staff Writer

By honeyed words and sometimes remarkable concessions, her diplomats hope to extend as long as possible the present neutrality.

But Tokio newspapers warn that any attempt to utilize Siberian air or sea bases, by any power will mean immediate war against the Soviet Union. Obviously, the statement has official government backing.

Soviet relations are the most important of numerous war-born problems for the Japanese Foreign Office and its host of diplomatic advisers.

The second key problem is China. The Japanese still are seeking some formula to transform successfully occupied Chinese areas into a cornerstone of the co-prosperity sphere.

Tokio seems well advanced in plans for adjustment to a third vital aspect of foreign relations — German capitulation. The Japanese now are that the Empire will shift into low gear for an intensified single-handed battle in the Pacific if the Nazis fall. It may be accomplished as smoothly as the reaction to Italy's collapse, which caused hardly a ripple among the Japanese.

Four years ago, Japan and Russia were near war over a host of problems, jealousies and hatred which had been festering since 1905. The two countries, with more important projects afield concluded a neutrality pact in 1941 which still stands.

Neutrality suits both countries at present. But there is little doubt that any move toward utilization of Siberia would immediately produce an attack by the powerful and well-equipped army which is being kept in Manchuria for such an emergency.

Meanwhile, Japan's efforts to maintain peace have produced one of the major sensations of the Japanese-held Shanghai, a vitriolic Soviet radio station continues to broadcast full coverage from Moscow on the campaign with Germany.

The Soviet Station constantly screams insults at the Germans. The local Nazi announcer replies in kind, but official German protests over this situation have brought no answer from the Japanese. Tokio's attitude is strictly non-interference, so long as the Russians maintain their agreement to avoid any coverage of the Pacific war.

These are some of the outward evidences of Japan's careful policy. The press is generally quiet concerning Russia, except for threats against the use of Siberia; but it does report enough of the Russo-German conflict so that educated Japanese can follow the Soviet advance.

As to Germany, the Japanese and Nazis do not seem to be augmenting each other on any important scale. German ships still enter Japanese harbors but the Axis surface collaboration is more in the propaganda field.

Most Japanese, say travellers recently returned from Tokio, intensely hate the Germans. The Japanese, considering themselves the original "divine" race, are apt to regard Germans as course upstarts in the dignity business.

Convinced Germany Will Surrender by End of Summer

Toronto, (C.P.) — There is a general conviction in Britain that Germany will surrender by the end of the coming summer, Premier Drew of Ontario said last week at a press conference at which he discussed his one-month overseas trip from which he returned at the week-end.

One reason for the conviction, he added, are the bombing raids and "the wonder is that Germany has been able to stand the bombing as long as she has."

The Premier's discussion of the progress of the war and conditions overseas came in answer to questions after he had issued a prepared statement in connection with the re-opening in the next few weeks of Ontario House in London.

An agent general had been appointed "but for reasons which will be apparent when the announcement is made it is not yet possible to reveal his name," said the prepared statement. Col. Drew amplified that by saying the announcement would come in three or four weeks. In the meantime S. E. Percival, in the agent-general's staff before Ontario House was discontinued under the government of Mitchell F. Hepburn was preparing the building for its official opening.

The statement described the activities of Ontario House as fourfold: to assist the armed forces from Ontario on overseas service; to stimulate interest in Britain in Ontario products; to interest British manufacturers in establishing branch plants in Canada; and to receive applications from persons who wish to move to Canada after the war.

The Premier told questioners that the immigration plan would be selective and that it would be conditioned on prospects for employment. The province's first duty was to provide employment and training for men and women from the armed services and war industry when the war ended. He said he believed the federal government would not seek to restrict any "proper" provincial plan for training immigrants from Britain.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 16TH, 1944

"JESUS ANSWERS HIS CRITICS"

Everybody has to stand a certain amount of criticism. Men and women in public positions naturally have more criticism levelled at them than others. When great issues are at stake those who have a certain position to maintain will often, instead of debating the issue, criticise condemn, and vilify anyone who dares to differ from them. This is a favourite trick of a certain type of politician. Often too, they will put a label on their opponents and then attach the label. Hoy clearly that technique has been demonstrated during the past few years. It is only a short time ago since the very word "Russian" was anathema to a large section of the community. By means of skilful propaganda Russia and everything Russian was made to appear as the enemy of everything we believe in. The next step was to pin the term "red" "communist" or "bolsherik" on any man or any group which seeing injustices in our society, suggested changes. The trick worked. All that was necessary was to pin the label on a man and then attack the label That is one form of criticism with which we have all been deceived in recent years. It is a type of criticism of which we will hear and see a good deal more in the days that lie ahead. We shall have to be on our guard against it.

Jesus was not immune from criticism. He, too, was called names, misrepresented, openly condemned and finally put to death on false charges. In this lesson he was criticised by leading church men because he permitted His disciples to pluck corn on the Sabbath day. That seemed a simple and natural thing to do. Walking through a grain field they pulled a few ears of corn, rubbed them in their hands to get the kernels out and then ate them. That—according to the critics—had never been done before. It was wrong. Jesus was condemned for permitting it. His answer was that David had permitted his followers to eat the shewbread which was not lawful. Jesus appealed to the past. He appealed to history. He cited a precedent in order to show that human need was to come before obedience to a law.

The men who were bound to [illegible] Christ, to find some charge against Him that would condemn Him in the public eye, followed Him to the synagogue to see whether He would heal a man who was sick on the Sabbath day. Of course, Jesus knew the man. He then put the question to His accusers. "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do harm? They had no answer, except that they planned, more determinedly than ever, to get rid of Him.

The question of Sabbath observances is naturally involved in this lesson. Though the title to the lesson indicates that the emphasis should be placed on the purpose of criticism. Nevertheless we cannot escape the necessity of dealing with this other issue. A good deal of harm has been done by a misinterpretation of the statement of Jesus that "the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath." That is often quoted to us as support for the argument that a person is justified in any sort of action on the Sabbath. The whole attitude of Jesus to the Sabbath must be taken into account "as His custom was He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day. Jesus kept the Sabbath. He was careful, however to make His position clear—that healing and care for the needs of men were not contrary to Sabbath observance. The catechisms says: "works of necessity and mercy" which about covers it all. There can be no doubt but that the present tendency to secularize and paganize the Sabbath has had a serious effect on our whole national life. Unless there is one day in seven given over to worship and rest the whole spiritual background of our civilization is bound to deteriorate. We have seen the paganizing influence in operation in Europe in what has been called the continental Sunday. This breakdown of the Sabbath observance in Europe is undoubtedly a symptom of the breakdown of their spiritual life. We have seen where it has landed us. It has brought on the most tragic war the world has ever known. There is not wanting evidence of the same tendency in this country, which if not checked, may land us in a condition of paganism from which the world may not be extricated for a century.

War Output Per Head Is Higher in Canada Than in United States

Ottawa (B.U.P.) — Government statistical sources today worked out Canada's contribution on a gift basis to the United Nations war effort as $174 per citizen, as compared with a lend-lease contribution of $141 per person by the United States.

The figures admittedly were only approximate in both cases.

The Canadian figure for example, takes into account only the $1,091,000,000 gift to Britain in 1942 and the $1,000,000,000 mutual aid appropriation made for the benefit of the United Nations generally, in 1943.

It makes no allowance for the $709,000,000 balance due from Britain for materials purchased from the Dominion in 1941, which the Government here although it not written off the national books, is making every effort to collect and upon which no interest is being charged Nor does it take into account the admitted prospect — said to be virtually a certainty — that the mutual aid account of the current year will be substantially exceed the $1,000,000,000 which Parliament voted, and will require a substantial supplementary appropriation at the coming session.

The American figure of $18,600,000,000 for its part does not take into account, as Washington dignitaries pointed out of "reverse lend-lease," which that nation now is receiving.

For example, over the past year four frigates — large type naval convoy vessels — which have been built in Canadian yards and presumably charged against this country's $1,000,000,000 mutual aid fund, have been drawn by the United States Navy from the pool of such vessels which the United Nations now operate.

UNITED STATES MAY GET PACIFIC ISLES

Washington, (A.P.) — The Army and Navy Journal says that Allied leaders at the Cairo and Teheran conferences agreed that the United States should get the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific, after the war.

These are the strategic former German colonies of the Marianunas, Marshalls and Caroline Islands awarded to Japan by the League of Nations under mandate. She has transformed some of the islands into heavily-fortified bases.

The Cairo meeting of Premier Churchill, President Roosevelt and President Chiang Kai-shek plotted to strip Japan of the islands, but the communique made no specific reference of their disposition. Japan was not mentioned in the communique from Teheran conference, in which Premier Stalin of Russia, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt participated.

There has been speculation that either the United States would take over the outposts or that they would be placed under some form of international control.

State Department and White House sources said they had no information on the report.

The British Army, aided by United States forces in French North Africa has freed the whole African Continent from the Axis grip. 975,000 men were the total of Axis casualties in Africa. More than 248,600 of these were Germans, 220,000 killed, wounded and missing were the total casualties suffered by the forces of the British Empire in the African and Middle Eastern theatres of war.

NORWEGIANS SEE NEW HOPE FOR LIBERATION IN 1944

The conviction that Norway will be liberated in 1944 and that an early victory is assured, is the keynote of the New Year and Christmas messages extended to the Norwegian people by the representatives of "The Big Four" in Stockholm — Great Britain, Russia, United States and China.

These messages primarily addressed to 18,000 Norwegian refugees in Sweden have been published in the current issue of the Norwegian language paper in Sweden—"Norwegian News."

The Soviet Ambassador, Madame Alexandra Kollontay says: "What can one wish for the gallant and indomitable Norwegian people in 1944 but what our people wish themselves —complete annihilation of the common enemy Hitler, Germany and her vassals. When I speak of Norway I see mountains, fjords, fairy-like landscapes, unique in the world. I think of a people which have always shown endurance and courage in the face of Atlantic storms and mountain perils, a people which have enriched humanity with many great names in the world of art music and science. A people which have the joy of life and vitality.

"For the benefit of all humanity, all progressive democratic humanity, Norway's people must be able to live their own life and rebuild their country in accordance with their great human ideals. The Norwegians were a free and happy people, and they shall again be a free and happy people. Norway is not, as the Norwegians say themselves 'Little Country.' The Norwegian people have become great through their grand will to fight, and their persistence against the worst enemy of democracy, liberty and humanity.

"I admire Norway and love Norway. I am glad to be able to think that our glorious Red Army, by fulfilling its great heroic offensive, will contribute towards making 1944 the year of victory for all people, and the year of happiness for Norway. Free Norway that is the warmest wish to the Norwegian people."

The British Minister to Stockholm Vol Mallet, writes: "It is with the warmest sympathy that I greet our Norwegian friends and Allies who are in exile here in Sweden and separated from all whom they love on the other side of the frontier. Their firmness and patience will surely receive its reward soon. They have good reason to hope that next year they will be celebrating Christmas at home in a Norway forever liberated from the enemy which so infamously assaulted their country."

From the American Minister Herschel V. Johnson comes the following message: "Ever since those April days of 1940, Americans have followed with admiration and respect the fight of the Norwegian people and their representatives and our common enemy which has been carried on both at home and with armed forces overseas. Like their compatriots at home the refugees who have left their families have proved unmistakably that in a free and democratic world there will always be men and women prepared to sacrifice everything for their principles and ideals. I hope the Norwegians who have sought refuge here in Sweden will soon be able to return home to help in the rebuilding of the country I know they love.

The message of the Chinese Minister, Wu Lin Hsieh, says: "It is with the greatest feeling of sympathy I greet the Norwegian refugees in Sweden. At the same time I express my admiration for the undying patriotism, endurance and faith in victory which they have manifested together with their severely tried compatriots in Norway."

SURPRISE FOR ESCAPEES

After two days and two nights at sea, ten Hollanders after their escape from occupied territory recently reached an unnamed point of the British Isles to find one particular part of the coast guarded by members of the Netherlands Legion, "Princess Irene Brigade."

The Hollanders were welcomed most enthusiastically by their countrymen and were treated to an excellent meal specially prepared for the occasion with typical Dutch dishes. Even more than by the choice of food, the like of which they had not tasted for years, the escapees were impressed by the fact that Netherlands soldiers were standing guard on the British coast.

The above story was revealed in the latest issue of "de Roeraanger" (The Helmsman), publication for Netherlands seamen, by J. A. W. Burger, Minister without Portfolio in the Netherlands Cabinet in London and a one-time escapee from occupied Holland himself.

The Minister declared that the only baggage in the boat consisted of a pail of fruit from Holland for Queen Wilhelmina and a bar of chocolate saved months ahead of time for the purpose of the escape.

Immediately after their arrival the "England-farers" phoned to Prince Bernhard in London, who passed the news on to the Queen. A few days later the fruit was presented to Her Majesty in the very pail in which it had crossed the North Sea. The Queen was deeply moved by the gift and ordered that some of the grapes be sent to a sick Dutch woman who had recently arrived from Holland.

The Economic Drain Of The Occupation

An underground newspaper in Norway has given a review of the Nazi maladministration in the economic field. The newspaper describes the ambitious plans of the Nazis to develop Norway's heavy infantry by building many additional power stations, electro - metallurgical factories etc., and giving details of projects in many parts in Norway which have been definitely abandoned. The newspaper continues:

"The Germans were to help us in everything, it was said. But now all the material is being sent south again. All kinds of material, war material, anti-aircraft guns, cars, and unfortunately also a constantly growing stream of equipment for factories. Even our last small resources of metals are being taken from us. The Germans had promised to send us at least some of the essential quantities of copper, tin, lead, etc., and earlier in the war we did get a minimum of what we needed. But now it is all going south again.

"After three years' of quisling-government we find an emptied and mis-governed country . . . our stocks are consumed our railways worn, our lorries worn out, the fishing fleet worn out our livestock reduced in number and grave injuries inflicted on our forests. Irreplaceable assets have been lost. And our finances?

Hitherto about two million dollars has been drawn on the Germans' account at the bank of Norway. Money has practically ceased to be a medium of exchange . . . No country in Europe has had anything like as heavy occupation expenses per individual as Norway, mainly owing to the costly defence of our coast. According to an American calculation some time ago, Norway was No. 1 with 109 dollars per head in occupation expenses, while France had 70, Belgium 42, Denmark 32, and Holland 28 dollars per head."

A FAIR DEAL FOR THE FIGHTER

Sir William Jowitt, British Minister without portfolio, is working on the tremendous problem of discharge and servicemen and how to ensure that they will decide "it was worth it."

As Lord Woolton's chief deputy, Sir William's task is to aid in balancing the conflicting demands of different groups to arrive at a tentative solution for consideration by the Government and parliament.

"In the last war the people who had jobs to go to were the first to get out," Sir William said in an interview in which he discussed the problem without attempting to suggest solutions.

"Letting them out of the services was based on getting industry going as soon as possible. The plans for demobilization, and the variations of them, were not based on service needs, and the effects on the men were bad. This time things are different, for we shall have probably, the far Eastern war to finish when we have finished Germany."

Sir William has been working on a demobilization scheme in which the guiding features were age and length of service, but he now is reconsidering it from the point of view not only of length but nature and quality of service. Under a plan called the "points system," put forward by the Conservative Party, each man would be given points for length of service age, military record value to industry and a number of other considerations.

"There are many difficulties in the principle of 'first in, first out'," said Sir William. "In the first place many of those who went into the services early in the war were then holding less responsible positions in industry The later men have less service, but these may be just the men that industry wants back first.

"The balancing of these three factors — justice to men of long service, the military needs, and the requirements of industry —will be no easy task.

"Moreover, the men who are kept to fight the Far Eastern war to a finish, ought not to feel acute anxiety about their future prospects at home or they cannot fight as well as they will have to in order to defeat an implacable enemy. Demobilization is therefore bound up with employment questions, for, if we have good employment after the war, which in its turn depends very largely on international co-operation, men in the services need not have fears about their future."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. As a rural housewife, I find the distribution of non-rationed articles that are scarce most unfair. The store in towns put things on their shelves at intervals but it is almost always the country people who go without as sometimes they only get to town once a week. Would not the rationing of all scarce foods be the solution?

A. Scarcely as stocks of some of these articles are insufficient to provide more than the most infrequent and limited rations. Moreover, rationing is a difficult and costly process which the authorities are loath to expand. Further rationing would also add to the chaos of retail merchants.

Q. As a retail merchant who does not sell red fish am I to acquire the meat coupons with which to stock tinned salmon seen to be fashioned?

A. You should apply to the nearest branch of the Ration Administration for a special purchase permit which will be after endorsement accepted by your supplier for tinned salmon. As you collect meat coupons against its sale, you must forward each month a meat ration cheque or bank transfer voucher to the branch covering all the coupons you have received. This you must do every month until you have paid back all the coupons covered by the special purchase permit.

Q. I entertained two soldiers for a week-end and they left me their ration application cards. Do I cash these at my store?

A. No. They are merely application cards and not ration documents to be accepted by merchants. They should be exchanged at your Local Ration Board for coupons covering the rationed food of your choice. These coupons should be presented to your dealer.

Q. I know that during the holiday season many city people, by making repeated visits to candy shops, were able to accumulate as many as five or six pounds of chocolates, whereas I, who live in the country and cannot get to town frequently, had to content myself with only half a pound. Don't you agree that in the distribution of wartime luxuries, it should be the same for everyone no matter where they live?

A. Most decidedly, and it would be if people would practise restraint in their buying and not make hogs of themselves at the expense of others.

Q. I read somewhere that the Prices Board had fixed ceilings for the sale of horsemeat. Surely this does not mean that it is to be placed on sale for human consumption?

A. Of course not. The ceilings in question apply to the sale of horsemeat to 5ox ranchers and others for animal feeding.

Q. Can I write to 'Household Counsellor" on the radio about a rental problem that is troubling me?

A. Most certainly. All enquiries in connection with any Prices Board subject will be welcomed by him and will bring a reply.

I. O. D. E. NOTES

The January meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Chapter of the I. O. D. E. was held in the Legion Room, on Monday, January 4th, with the regent, Mrs. Dunne Hall, presiding. After the Prayer of the Order, greetings were extended to the members present, and reports were given by the convenors.

A committee was formed to assist with the campaign for the adoption of Russian town "Altyrka". Mrs. Fred Carter and Mrs. Clarence Reid were appointed convenors and the hostesses in the Campbell Home Block will be open every Friday afternoon when gifts of clothing, equipment, tools and supplies will be received and shipped.

The coming drive for the Camps Libraries Fund was arranged with Mrs. McLellan as convenor. Everyone is asked to contribute money and books and a canvass will be made between January 10th and 22nd. The Provincial Chapter of Ontario is pledged to raise 10,000 to purchase books for the Camps Libraries, and the assistance of every citizen and business firm is needed.

A generous donation of $250.00 was acknowledged from the Napanee Rotary Club for the I.O.D.E. Prisoner of War Fund.

It was decided to have a supper party to celebrate the Founder's Day of the Order, on or about February 14th, the arrangements to be made by the Social and Finance Committee of which Mrs. G. E. Goddard is convenor.

I. O. D. E. calendars were given to the Legion, Public Library, N. C. V. I. and Public Schools and were also sent to the Chapters located at Oshawa, Ont. and to H.M.C.S. "Napanee".

The next Salvage collection will be on January 26th, when paper is urgently needed, also fats, bones and rags.

Nominations were received for the election of officers which will take place on February 9th at the annual meeting.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN GRAHAM

Mrs. John Graham, who had been a resident of Windsor for twenty-seven years, passed away at her late residence 1752 Pillette Road, Sandwich East, November 21st. Mrs. Graham had been in good health until a few days before her death, although she was in her eighty-ninth year. She was born in Napanee and had lived in Dresden and Chatham before coming to Windsor. Her maiden name was Nancy Rikley, and she was the daughter of the late Andrew Rikley and Anna Burd.

She was survived by her husband and by two daughters, Mrs. William McFadden of Windsor, and Mrs. Robert B. Hall of Detroit; and by fourteen grandchildren. Her only son, Harry Graham of Windsor, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in 1941. She was predeceased by three sisters, Nellie, who was the wife of Dr. George Burrows, of Marlbank; Elizabeth, Mrs. Amos Frizzell, and Jane, Mrs. George Wallace, both formerly of Tamworth; also by three brothers Benjamin of Newburgh, Isaac of Selby and Jacob, of Marlbank.

Mrs. Graham had a great many friends who will hear, with sincere regret, of her passing. She was a true Christian, highly respected for her many sterling qualities. She was always very active in mind and body and took a keen interest in the life of the community. She was of a particularly cheerful disposition and her kindness and unselfishness greatly endeared her to many friends in all the places where she had resided.

The funeral services were held at the Morris Funeral Home in Windsor at 3:30 on November 23rd, the Rev. B. H. Robinson, of Lincoln Road United Church officiating. Interment was at Windsor Grove Cemetery.

THE LATE JOHN GRAHAM

William John Graham died at his late residence, 1752 Pillette Road, Sandwich East Township, December 4th, after an illness of two weeks. He was in his ninety-fourth year and had been in failing health, but was able to go about until the death of Mrs. Graham, on November 21st. He was devoted to his wife, who had been his constant companion for sixty-five years, and her death was a severe shock from which he failed to recover. Mr. Graham was born in Napanee, the son of the late Harry and Mary Graham. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William McFadden, of 395 Gladstone Avenue, Windsor, and Mrs. Robert Bell, of Detroit; also fourteen grandchildren and thirty-three great-grandchildren. His wife and his son Harry, a sister, Mary, and two brothers, Henry and Thomas, predeceased him.

Mr. Graham retained interest in life up to the very end. In politics he was a staunch Conservative and a fervent admirer of Sir John A. Macdonald, for whom he cast his first vote. In the provincial election last August, he was said to be the oldest resident of Windsor to exercise his franchise. It was estimated that he had voted for the Conservative party, forty times in the last seventy-three years.

Mr. Graham was well and favourably known in Camden, Dresden and Chatham, where he had lived before coming to Windsor. He was a good neighbor with many sterling qualities and his genial disposition won him many friends everywhere.

The funeral services were conducted by the Reverend Francis Watts at 2:00 p.m., Monday, December 6th, the pall-bearers being six grandsons. His remains were laid to rest beside those of his wife in the family plot in Windsor Grove Cemetery.

WEDDING BELLS

CHURCHILL - VANBLARICOM

On Friday morning, December 24th 1943 at 10:00 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, Highland Park, Michigan, Cleo Luedlie, youngest daughter of Albert E. VanBlaricom was united in marriage to PFC William Lee, eldest son of William T. and the late Mrs. Churchill. Rev. Ralph Armistead officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin, fashioned with a net skirt and sweetheart neckline. Her veil was finger-tip length. Her bouquet consisted of white baby mums and baby's breath. Mrs. C. E. Ames, Jr., only sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor wearing an floor-length gown of shell pink satin and sweetheart neckline. She carried pink sweet peas and baby mums.

The groom's cousin, Mr. Jack Chalk, acted as best man. Mrs. Robert Vanlaricom was master of ceremonies.

The bride's gift to her matron-of-honor was a pearl and jewelled earring; to her she presented a single strand of pearls and the groom's gift to his best man was a gold tie clasp.

NORWEGIANS BATTLE SCHARNHORST

The Nazi battleship Scharnhorst [illegible] Norwegian waters [illegible] Spitzbergen, Russian outpost [illegible] Germany, Berlin announced [illegible] Reich's most powerful warship [illegible] Scharnhorst put [illegible] Spitzbergen [illegible] first time [illegible] Scharnhorst [illegible] by British United Press.

The German task force, which included aircraft possibly [illegible] from the battleship's decks and piloted leading troops ashore, described as "the whole German battle fleet," and probably included all remaining Nazi surface units in Norwegian waters.

The second hour report of not six Norwegian lives and a small number of prisoners, Norwegian sources said. A Norwegian source [illegible] observers, were hit by the fire from [illegible] Norwegian shore batteries, but were not believed to have been badly damaged.

The German task force, composed of three large and seven smaller ships, was sighted by a guard at the mouth of Icefjord. The naval forces split up, three destroyers turning into Grensfjord toward the mining town of Barentsburg, one battleship and two destroyers taking position in the middle of Icefjord and the remaining two or three destroyers put out to sea to protect the rear from surprise by Allied naval units.

Capt. Linne at the entrance to Icefjord was bombarded heavily, but there was no garrison there. A lieutenant was in command of a battery at Cape Heer, manned by nine gunners, and opened fire on a destroyer which pulled in range. Before the cape and the mining town [illegible]

An enemy troop ship landed men while the battery was engaging the destroyer and Nazi troops circled around to the rear of the gun crew. The lieutenant, after scoring several hits on the destroyers deck and bridge, ordered the gun turned to bring it to bear on the soldiers, when the latter were only 75 yards away but before he could fire it a shell from the battleship lying well out to sea landed nearby and put his gun out of commission. He and his men successfully withdrew before the Nazis reached the gunpit.

Meanwhile other destroyers were attacking Barentsburg, bombarding the town preparatory to a landing. Only Norwegian ordinance was there, two of them small calibre anti-aircraft pieces but they concentrated their fire on the two nearest destroyers. One of the jack-ass guns fired 160 shells, most of which hit their targets. The cries of German wounded could be heard from shore, and smoke began to pour out of one of the destroyers. She withdrew out of range, and continued to pound the defenders with her heavy guns.

After a half - hour's bombardment, the Germans landed troops on both sides of the town, and the hopelessly outnumbered Norwegians destroyed their guns and withdrew, pursued by the German infantry and planes. Four hours later the Germans, after doing all the damage they could, evacuated Barentsburg.

I.O.D.E. BOOK MONTH

From January 10 to January 22 a house-to-house canvas of Napanee will be made by members of the I. O. D. E. Chapters in town, to give citizens an opportunity to donate money for the purchase of books for Camps Libraries, and also to contribute interesting used books from their own libraries.

The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has been asked by the Department of National Defence to undertake the gigantic task of supplying half a million books for use of the men and women of the Army, Navy, Air force, and Merchant Marine, in their long off-duty hours. Our young people are more contented in their arduous tasks if they have suitable recreation, and reading is among the most popular. They like good books, up-to-date novels, exciting mystery tales, travel books writings of war correspondents, and high adventure. Dictionaries and an Atlas are also in great demand.

Through the courtesy of publishers the I.O.D.E. is able to make your Book Dollar go much further than if you spent it for new books. So please give your money donation to the canvasser instead of buying new books for this cause. Books are received with great joy at all the camps and the I.O.D.E. has received many letters of appreciation. One officer writes: "The Colonel wishes we would take at least half as much interest in our Military pamphlets as we do in these books." Another Air Force man writes: "The men have opened your package and are so delighted as a group of book worms in a deserted library."

Mr. Churchill said: "If you had seen, as I have seen on my many visits to the forces, the need for something to read during the long hours of duty and the pleasure and relief when that need is met, you would gladly look, and look again through your book shelves and give what you can."

Better Order Your
BRAY CHICKS
NOW!

ANYONE watching this 1944 poultry business develop can see that there is going to be a real scramble for chicks, the same as last year, and for the same reasons: Patriotism and Profit, combined. Good chicks, well raised, made money for their owners in 1942-43 same conditions that made them profitable then are carrying on into 1944. And the patriotic urge, the patriotic need, are carrying over into 1944, too.

Last year we had to disappoint many would-be purchasers and hand back their money, and say, "Sorry—no chicks—did our best." That's why we urge you to write or call right away. Your 1944 requirements, not just soon, but RIGHT AWAY.

HERE'S WHAT BRAY BUYERS SAY:

Mrs. Harrison Cross, Vankleek Hill.—"I had excellent results last year, and in fact for the past 8 years. My last year's pullets are laying over 75% now (March) and have laid an average of 60 all winter."

Edward Lowe, Park Read, Ont. —"I have raised chicks both for show and utility, and I can truthfully say that the pullets I received from you were the best I have ever handled."

Mrs. Wilter Clyde, Plaster Rock, N.B.—"I want you to know that I am well satisfied with the chicks I got from you last spring. They are the largest pullets I ever raised, as well as the best looking ones. The cockerels weighed more than any I ever raised, at the same age."

THAT'S HOW — AND HERE'S WHY:

That's HOW "the Bray Chick does the Trick", and here's WHY: Bray breeders aren't selected by the flock—they're tested BY THE BIRD. Every last one is handled, sized up by experts for vigor, constitution, meat conformation, and in relation of high egg production. Those that pass this rigid inspection are then leg banded. If there is even a suspicion of reaction, out they go! Breeders are specially fed, so that the embryo chicks will get what it needs for full development inside the shell. Eggs are carefully selected and skilfully incubated in up-to-minute machines. Many Bray flocks have 16 generations of this kind of careful management behind them!

BAY EAST W. M. S.

The Bay East W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Norman Fitchett on Tuesday, Jan. 4th, with eleven members present. The president, Mrs. W. C. Joyce opened the meeting with a New Year's message. Mrs. Kenneth Hambly was at the piano. Mrs. Joyce read letters from Mrs. Love of the Dominion Board and Mrs. Bailey of the Belleville Presbyterial. Miss Meta Outwater had charge of the study work and distributed readings to Mrs. Kenneth Hambly, Mrs. Arthur Dean, Mrs. Mooney and Mrs. Alkenbrack. Due to unavoidable reasons the election of officers was postponed from the December meeting to the January meeting.

Rev. A. C. McCallum took charge of the meeting, the result of which was that the 1942 officers were all re-elected. The slate of officers is:—

Hon. Presidents Mrs. Ella Card and Mrs. Carrie Mellow; president, Mrs. W. C. Joyce, 1st vice-pres., Mrs. Rockwell Parks; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Herb. Mellow, treasurer, Mrs. Ross Card; corr. secretary, Mrs. Clare Snook; rec. secretary, Mrs. Arthur Dean; supply secretary, Mrs. Herb. Mellow. Missionary Monthly secretaries, Mrs. Norman Fitchett, Mrs. Clare Snook, Community Fur secretary, Mrs. Alvin Pitchett; Christian Stewardship secretary, Mrs. E. Alkenbrack; Press secretary, Miss Meta Outwater, Associate leaders, Mrs. Amos Hambly, Mrs. Ella Card, pianist, Mrs. Kenneth Hambly.

Mr. McCallum read a few words to the officers after the meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served and a silver tea amounted to $1.75. Two new members were reported.

Shotgun Shells To Be Increased; Rationing Stays

Of decided interest to many residents of rural districts is the announcement made by the Prices Board that the production of shotgun shells in Canada this year will be three times as great as in 1943 and that some ammunition will be available for the use of sportsmen the quantity depending upon the volume of essential needs which must first be met.

Pointing out that, in spite of the increased production, the output of shotgun shells this year will be slightly less than 70 per cent. of that of a normal pre-war year, the Board emphasizes that the limiting factor is production facilities. Only one plant in Canada produces small arms ammunition for sporting purposes and much of its capacity is devoted to military requirements. While the increased production for 1944 will allow some distribution for sporting purposes later in the year, the Board warned that for several months yet it will be necessary to continue to restrict distribution to essential users.

The greater part of the production during the early part of 1944 will be directed to posts in the Eastern and Western Arctic Regions of Canada. The statement pointed out that the 1943 production of shotgun shells for civilian use was only 23 per cent. of the pre-war normal and it had not been possible to meet even the full needs of essential users. On the basis of experience during a year of rationing the Board is making certain changes in its order governing the distribution of small arms ammunition to essential users. Advantage will continue to be taken of the help and advice of provincial government departments and similar arrangements are being worked out for working with voluntary associations such as sheep breeders' associations. Certain types of municipal police forces are produced but of which some stocks are still in dealers' hands are being removed from the ration.

Revised Order Makes Other Minor Changes

All other authorized purchasers including licensed trappers, plant guards and municipal police forces must now obtain prior approval for purchases, either from a local ration board, or in certain districts from branch ration offices. The order also provides that all approved and outstanding essentiality certificates in the hands of consumers and replenishment certificates in the hands of the trade expired December 31st, 1943.

TENDERS WANTED

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers; As the shelves of Canadian shops are becoming depleted due to scarcity of certain articles of food and to the requirments of the military forces, each household must be governed more and more economically, with the focal point on sufficient nourishing food for the family.

It must become apparent to every loyal homemaker that the conserving of vitamin content in foods at our disposal is most important. Cooking, therefore, in these wartime days needs to be accomplished by proper planning and study of those methods which preserve that nutritive quality—guesswork today is "out" and every homemaker should realize it. It may call for a discipline in regard to food and its preparation never before employed in a large number of households but a family to be cared for is the homemaker's responsibility and not many will shirk it in this present time of need. Gather your ammunition to assist with Canada's Nutrition Programme —Now Food Fights for Freedom.

TAKE A TIP
To Prevent Loss of Food Values in Cooking Meat

Use gentle heat, and don't overcook. Long cooking at high temperatures not only has a destructive action on thiamin, but it dries out meat, fish and poultry, and toughens rather than tenderizes. Learn to use low temperatures for roasting (325 deg. F. to 350 deg. F.) and, roast unbrowned. Use short cooking methods when feasible—that is, for all tender cuts. Be sure, however, to cook all forms of fresh pork very thoroughly, to avoid danger which comes from eating underdone pork. It is better to accept some destruction of vitamin B, (of which pork is a rich source) than the risk infection. To avoid vitamin losses, avoid leftovers of cooked meats so far as is practical. Serve leftover roasts sliced cold when possible, rather than warmed over. Reheating causes increased vitamin loss.

Basic Recipe for Pot Roast

A delicious roast may be prepared in this way from the less expensive cuts of beef. Cuts of chuck, rump, round, shoulder, short ribs brisket, plate or flank, may be used for pot roast. It may be cooked with the bones in or they may be removed and the meat rolled and tied or skewered securely. When the roast is rolled it is easier to serve in slices, and the bones may be saved to use in the soup pot. The bones in the short ribs are left in Three and a half to four lbs of meat; flour; salt and pepper, three tablespoons fat or drippings, half-cup of hot water.

Heat the fat slowly in a heavy deep skillet or deep-well cooker. Dredge the meat with flour and brown well on all sides. Season with salt and pepper, add hot water, cover, and let simmer until tender. Add more water as it cooks away. Turn occasionally; simmer three-quarters of an hour or until tender. Remove to a hot platter and thicken the gravy with two tablespoons flour blended in the fat remaining in the pan. Gradually stir in two cups cold water and continue stirring until thick and smooth. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Thrifty Changes

One onion finely chopped or sliced may be added while browning meat.
Try one or two garlic cloves finely chopped.
One tablespoon vinegar added to the water helps to season and make the meat more tender.
One-half cup grated horse - radish may be added to gravy.
One bay leaf broken and a few chili tepines may be added.
One tablespoon of any meat sauce such as Worcestershire, adds to the flavour.
Adding three-quarters teaspoon of any favourite herb (thyme, rosemary, etc.) will give the roast a delicious savory flavour.
One teaspoon caraway seed or celery seed is a favorite seasoning.
Tomato juice may be added instead of water.
Add plenty of hot tomato juice or stewed tomatoes the last half-hour
Season with garlic and add one cup spaghetti, rice or macaroni and cook until tender.
Whole vegetables washed and peeled onions, potatoes, carrots, turnips, etc., may be placed around the meat the last hour. They make a delicious dinner all cooked in one pot.
Try cooking a few parsnips around the roast; arranging them on the platter and sprinkling with a little nutmeg and a few drops of lemon.
Soak a few dried mushrooms for one hour, and add them with the juice to roast the last twenty minutes.
Chopped celery tops and parsley are another adventure in flavouring.
Noodles may be added the last fifteen or twenty minutes.
Dumplings are always good and are another way to please everyone. Remove the roast to a hot platter, and keep hot while dumplings are cooking. Have about two and one-half cups liquid in kettle when you drop in the dumplings.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs—

Well, I asked for it and I might have known I would get it! Reming me never to be so unwary as to ask for your "frank" opinion again. While it gives me a wonderful opportunity to be a "good sport" (some people call them suckers) I think I prefer a state of blissful ignorance of my shortcomings. Leave me a few illusions, Chum.

A few days ago, I was delighted to see my old buddy, Sergt. Muriel Robinson of Peterborough, Ont., breeze in from the west, agog with the wonders of this Canada of ours. You may remember that I told you she was a lucky girl chosen to tour with the C.W.A.C. bands as recruiting sergeant. She has had a perfectly thrilling time and has come back brimming over with enthusiasm.

Here are a few of the highlights of her tour. In Quebec just as the two bands were marching past the Cenotaph, the news of Italy's surrender was made public. You can imagine what a moment that was! Another memorable place in the history of the trip was written in Halifax when the band girls had the unexpected privilege of catching a glimpse of Prime Minister Churchill, surrounded by his chiefs of staff, near the public gardens. There he was, just as they had so often seen him pictured puffing his cigar, that indomitable smile illuminating his face. In reply to the girls' frenzied cheers, he gave them the famous V salute.

Dartmouth, N.S., stands out in Sergt. Robertson's mind, as giving the bands one of the warmest welcomes of the tour. The people turned out, almost to the last man, and gave them an ovation that none of those girls will never forget.

Only the Pipe Band was lucky enough to go to Cape Breton Island where the members of the band were taken on a tour of the harbour in a boat. This proved to be an exceptionally interesting experience. Of course the girls took a great interest in Glace Bay, the tip of Canada which is the nearest to England, and they all posted letters from this point to friends "Over There." It is something in the life of a C.W.A.C. to look out over the gray Atlantic and know that England lies straight ahead.

Ah, it was an absorbing saga of adventure which Muriel related and I, drinking in every word, lay on my bunk, berating myself for not having been born with a trumpet in my hands or a bagpipe under my arm—anything to have been among the lucky group!

When band personnel learned that Prince Edward Islanders were most anxious to see them, they voluntarily gave up the few days set aside for a rest and went to the Island, which I thought was very sporting of them as their opportunities of taking life easy were so infrequent. However, they had their reward in the royal welcome accorded them as they paraded through the quaint streets of old Charlottetown.

Muriel went into rhapsodies over the Maritime provinces which, she said, were looking exceptionally beautiful during the tour. It is an early fall bud quickened the autumn tints to a riot of colours.

I suppose every group develops its own set of idiosyncrasies and Muriel tells me that the band girls had not been on tour long before they had developed a passion for novelty dolls and insisted on ransacking every city en route for them. She say it was a whimsical sight to see them line up for roll call on station platforms, their costume dolls clutched firmly in their arms.

But I see the sands in the hour glass are running down and I have no time left in which to tell you about the eastern half of the trip. I will continue in my next letter that is, if you can sustain your interest so long. I can recollect occasions when your mind has wandered during my more lengthy recitals, and when I waxed accusing you defended yourself by saying that since it was impossible to decipher by "vile" handwriting, you were forced to give it up. However, now that I have taken to using a typewriter, that excuse will not hold water any longer. Don't bother to answer this letter, as reasonable facsimile of a threat. I will close.

Your old school friend,
NICKEY.

EMPEY HILL W. A. AND W.M.S.

The January meeting of the Ladies' Aid and W.M.S. was held on the afternoon of January 4th, at the home of Mrs. Frank Hutchinson, Mrs. W. Bell, the W.M.S. president, presided and opened the meeting with singing the doxology, followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Several hymns appropriate to the season were sung, and Rev. W. R. Merrick offered prayer. The Communion offerings were read responsively. Mrs. Bell read a paper on "The Bible is the Guide Book of Life." Mrs. C. Abbott gave a reading, "In the Steps of the Master" and Rev. Merrick read "A Little Nurse in a Russian Hospital." Three temperance readings were given by Mrs. Breen, Mrs. Price and Mrs. Hutchinson. A hymn was sung after which Mrs. Bell and Mrs. B. Kimmerly gave a short dialogue on the best use of our opportunities. A splendid Christmas story was told by the leader. The roll call was a "New Year's Resolution" and was responded to by twelve members and one visitor. Mrs. F. Hutchinson was appointed press secretary and Mrs. E. Price corresponding secretary. It was moved and seconded that the corresponding secretary send cards or letters to the sick or bereaved.

The meetings and programs were planned for this year.

Mrs. Merrick closed the meeting with prayer.

AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATIONS PLAN MEETINGS

During the month of February the city of Toronto will be the mecca for thousands of farmers from all over the Province. Throughout the month the majority of the agricultural associations and societies will be holding their annual meetings and conventions and, with serious problems of wartime production confronting the whole agricultural industry, these sessions are expected to be of more than usual interest. In addition to the meetings and conventions the Ontario Department of Agriculture is to conduct exhibitions of labour-saving devices for the farms at the Royal York Hotel from February 1 to 5 and at the King Edward Hotel from February 7 to 11. The Ontario Crop Improvement Association is to hold a seed display from February 7 to 11. The list of meetings and their dates, scheduled for February, is as follows:—

Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association, annual meeting, February 2
Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association, joint convention on February 3rd.
Ontario Fruit Growers' Association annual meeting, February 4th.
Ontario Plowmen's Association, annual meeting, February 8th.
Ontario Crop Improvement Association, potato growers' special meeting February 7th; business meeting February 8th; annual meeting February 9th.
Class "B" Fairs Association, annual meeting, February 9th.
Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies, annual convention, February 10th and 11th.
Ontario Horticultural Association, annual convention, February 24th and 25th.

Details of the programme for these meetings and conventions are now being arranged and will be made available to members in the near future.

RUNNING THE INCUBATOR

(Experimental Farms News)

Ideal conditions for the incubation of hens' eggs include a temperature inside the egg of 99½ to 100 degrees appreciably more carbon dioxide in the air surrounding the eggs than in normal air but not more than half of one per cent. and enough humidity to keep the eggs from losing too much moisture but still not enough to produce a "soft" chick which results when too much water remains in the egg, says Dr. C. C. Munro, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

There are two kinds of incubators, (1), the still air machine and (2), the forced draft type. The former are small machines holding from 50 to 600 eggs, usually heated by a coal oil lamp from which either hot air or hot water circulates through pipes or a chamber a few inches above the eggs. These small machines should be run in a room or basement where the temperature is fairly constant (65 to 70 degrees) and should be perfectly level on the top to prevent heat inside from pocketing in one corner. Only a single layer of eggs can be placed in the trays and the temperature is measured by a hanging thermometer, the bulb of which is one-eighth to one-quarter inch above the eggs. The thermometer should read 103 degrees to provide the right temperature inside the egg.

There are usually vent holes in the top and bottom of such machines which are so arranged as to take care of the carbon dioxide and at the same time regulate the humidity. Shallow pans are placed under the egg trays and water should be kept in them when they are in a heated room. However, in a basement or an unheated room in late spring or summer no moisture is required. The eggs should be rolled over by hand at least three times per day, but it is not necessary to cool them. When proper temperatures are maintained in such machines, poor hatches are generally due to inadequate feeding of the breeding stock.

The forced draught machines are so-called "mammoth" incubators and hold anywhere from 1000 to 50,000 eggs in one chamber. Such machines are generally run by experts who need little advice. In these machines the air is kept in circulation throughout the chamber by fans or agitators. They are not subject as much as the small machine to changes in outside temperature, but the operator must carefully regulate airflow and humidity to avoid too little or too much carbon dioxide or humidity ruining the hatch. Humidity is most accurately measured by a wet bulb thermometer which should read from 84 to 86 degrees when the air temperature is at the ideal of 99½ degrees. Most of the air should keep re-circulating within the machine but in the early stages only a small volume being exchanged with outside atmosphere. As hatching time approaches the vent holes should be gradually opened until from the 19th to the 22nd day they are fully open.

In machines with water thermostats, the temperature will be found to vary directly with the barometer. Daily variations in barometric pressure are mainly responsible for daily temperature variations. At the Central Experimental Farm variations as much as three degrees within a few hours have been found to be entirely due to such atmospheric changes. As long as the machine maintains a temperature between 99½ and 100 degrees at normal pressures for a locality it is not necessary to adjust the thermostats each day to offset changes in the barometer.

DESMOND Y. P. U.

Desmond Y. P. U. held its regular meeting on the evening of Jan. 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Quinn. Meeting opened with a reading by E. Ramsay and hymn 436 followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The roll call was answered by thirty-one members and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The business was discussed and Mrs.

The regular meeting of Tamworth Red Cross was held in the Red Cross room, Thursday, December 30th. One quilt was completed and hospital supplies of sheets and towels heimmed. This was the last meeting of the year and the election of officers was the main business, along with arrangements for a euchre to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McFee.

In opening the meeting the president spoke of the passing of Mrs. MacLellan in Sussex, N.B., at the home of her niece Mrs. J. C. Wallace and Mr. Wallace. Until the last year, Mrs. MacLellan had resided at Tamworth for ten years. She was an ardent worker in the Red Cross and despite her advanced years her knitting was perfect. Sincere regret was expressed by all present at her passing and one minute's silence was observed followed by prayer by Mrs. Seaton.

Election of officers, conducted by Mrs. S. Gilmour resulted as follows: President, Mrs. F. W. Froste. 1st vice president, Mrs. Nicholson, Erinsville; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Ware; secretary, Mrs. Marshall; asst. secretary, Mrs. Clarke; treasurer, Mrs. T. Milligan; auditor, Mr. F. W. Froste.

Committees — Sewing: Mrs. S. J. Haggerty, Mrs. Seaton, Mrs. Millar, quilting, Mrs. Dan Gilmour, Mrs. J. Huffman Mrs. B. Richardson, Mrs. Pedley; social: Mrs. T. Milligan Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. McFee, Mrs. Nicholson Mrs. Pedley, Mrs. Laitman; refreshments, Mrs. P. Rogers, Mrs. McFee.

The branch held 31 meetings in 1943. Three hundred dollars in cash was forwarded to Napanee, also the following articles of wearing apparel for the Army and Air Force:— Knitting— 29 sweaters, one helmet, 3 alternate caps, 7 pairs mitts, 7 pairs gloves, 12 pairs seamless stockings, 26-inch, 5 pairs service socks, 3 ladies' sweaters, 8 pairs ladies' ankle socks. Sewing — 49 quilts, 11 crib quilts, 1 afghan, 35 shirts, men and boys', 3 windbreakers, 1 boy's coat, 3 girls' coats, 2 girls' short coats, 4 dressing gowns, one baby's dress, 6 girls' dresses, 7 pairs ladies' bloomers, 9 boys' pyjama suits, 7 boys' sheets, 7 boys' vests, 13 towels, 10 sheets.

GRACE CHURCH W.M.S.

Miss Mata Mellow president of the Woman's Missionary Society of Grace United Church presided for the monthly meeting held in the Sunday School room of Trinity United Ch., on Monday afternoon. She was assisted in the opening by Mrs. S. Booth. The annual report was presented by Mrs. Peterson and showed that $200 was donated by Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Allen will be sent to Mrs. Frank Fox, and Miss Purcell discussed the hymn. After the singing of another hymn Norman Bell gave a Bible discussion and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction and the National Anthem.

CAMDEN EAST

Camden East, Jan. 10. — Several around here have had colds and grippe.

Mrs. A. A. Aikenbrack has gone to Timmins to visit her daughter, Mrs. G. Watt, and family.

Mrs. W. Bryant, of Kingston, visited her friend, Miss Thelma Harman, for a few days.

Mr. Edwin Galbraith has returned to Moncton, N.B., after spending New Year's with his mother, Mrs. J. Galbraith, and Fred, Bethel Street.

Mrs. F. Hanaghan was hostess to the W. A. Wednesday afternoon last. Eleven members were present, and lunch was served.

Mrs. Edna Scott spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. I. Russell.

Mrs. A. Parrott and Mrs. Percy E. Histed spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Hanaghan.

Mrs. A. Parrott entertained members of the Ladies' Aid at her home on Thursday.

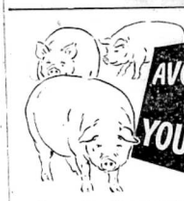
Tea is now being consumed in Canada at the rate of 30,000,000 lbs. a year, the maximum allocation provided for the Dominion.

To-day, as always, the 'Salada' label is your guarantee of a uniform blend of fine quality teas.

"SALADA" TEA



Every runt in a litter, or one that dies young, represents a real loss of money. If young pigs are started on "Miracle" Hog Starter, runts will quickly achieve normal size, and the mortality will be lessened. Then, at the proper time if they are changed over to "Miracle" Hog Grower they will develop strong frames and fine flesh—faster. It pays in fewer losses and quicker marketing—better grading, too—to feed these feeds.

NORTHBROOK

Northbrook, Jan. 10. — The many lumbermen welcome the return of six inches of snow, making the logs easier on skids, awaiting the general haul to mill, and stream.

Much cord wood is also being piled on the highway, ready for trucking.

Wm. Sowers has been operating his lumber camp in Myers Cave area, and recently sold his camp to the Mill Valley Lumber Co., of Ohama, through their agent R. F. Dobbs.

Peter Kennedy recently received game from the R.C.A.F., and is also a guest at Toronto. Peter is the father of four children, the youngest two months old.

Sgt. Willis Rosenplot had a brief visit at home and is returning to Camp Borden, Ont., on the East Coast.

Sgt. Len Clarke has returned from overseas service, and is being put in service in Ontario. He was visiting with his family for three days recently.

Mrs. Jean Jackson is improving slowly in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, from a serious rupture of appendix operation. Blood transfusions have been necessary, and for days, Jean was very ill. Mr. Jackson is now home after many anxious days at her bedside.

The one service and work prayer meeting in the United Church on Thursday evening was well attended. Rev. Mr. McNulty intends continuing these weekly services each Thursday night.

The wedding dance of Fayne Officer and Mrs. Odey Levere, in Flinton Hall, on Monday evening, was well attended by their host of friends, and many valuable presents and purses of money were given the well known couple.

Mrs. Lyn Zufelt, Miss Mary Miller, of Woodstock, and her mother, Mrs. Wm. Peterson, of Napanee, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Morley.

Miss Wilma Bryden, a student teacher, very ably taught our S. S. village school last week, under the guidance of our teacher, Mrs. Russel Sedore.

The Women's Association of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. J. Vogan on Thursday, where an official yearly program was arranged.

Mrs. Arch Wood has returned from Kingston, where she was nursing Mrs. Fred Mead and baby.

Only about 25 per cent. listlessly went to vote in Monday's local election. This is a shame, and does not back up "what we are fighting to preserve". Should we be deprived of the franchise we would realize our present privilege.

NEWBURGH

Newburgh, Jan. 10. — The Daisy Mission Band met at the Primary Room of the church on Saturday, January 8th, at 2:30 p.m. There were 18 present. Games were played by the children.

The January meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. Paul on Wednesday, January 5th, at 2:30 p.m. The President was in charge. Mrs. Herrington and Mrs. J. Paul gave short prayers and talks. Mrs. Herrington gave an interesting synopsis of the chapter of the Study Book.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert, received word that their son, Corp. Kenneth Gilbert, had arrived safely in Africa. He has been overseas for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Tompkins, of Bath, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tompkins, of Kingston, were the Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Tompkins.

Mrs. Harry Sutton is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilson, at Kingston, on Albert St.

Mrs. Ethel Moffatt has gone to Halifax to spend a while with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wm. Moffatt.

Mrs. R. F. Hanna, of Rossmore, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Walker a few days.

The January meeting of the W. A. of the Newburgh United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Dale Metcalf on Friday evening, January 7th. Mrs. Herrington, President of the W. A., in the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of a few favorite hymns. Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The Treasurer reported proceeds for the year were $240.86. Mrs. Hounslow offered a prayer of thanksgiving for success in the past year. Miss Shores gave a reading for the Prayer and Praise Committee. A letter of thanks and appreciation from Mr. Herrington for the help and prayers given him during his illness was read by Mrs. Hounslow. The roll was called and answered by names of flowers. Mrs. Herrington led the devotional part through the opening Prayer by Mrs. Hounslow. A Duet by Mrs. Herrington and Norman Hurd, Mrs. Hounslow and Mrs. Len Wass followed. Mrs. McGill, Welshman. Reading, Mrs. McGill. Mrs. Hounslow pronounced benediction. At the close of the meeting, Miss Madden, Treasurer, was presented with a gift and the following address was read:

Dear Miss Madden: We, the members of the Women's Association, wish to express to you our deep appreciation of your valued services as Treasurer of this Society.

For over 20 years you have faithfully filled this position. It is always the individual who makes the success of any society, and you, by your loyalty and devotion to your office, have been an inspiration to life other members of our W. A.

At the January meeting of the New Year we intend to you our very best wishes and pray that divine blessing may be yours during the year 1944.

Will you kindly

SIMPLICITY
THE '44 TREND IN MEN'S CLOTHES
Practical good taste — the mark of distinction in EATON'S Made-to-Measure Clothes promises to be even more popular this year. A trim, conservative single breasted style with just enough dash to slim the hips and broaden the shoulders—the basic model. ## TAMWORTH

D. J. KEARNS PASSES

Tamworth, Jan. 5. — On Friday, December 31st, the body of D. J. Kearns was brought to his home in this vicinity from Hamilton Sanitorium, where he had been a patient for a few weeks. Mr. Kearns was a highly respected citizen, who had always resided in Sheffield, where he was a prosperous farmer. He was the only child of the late Dennis and Mrs. Kearns. He was a devout member of the R. C. Church in Erinsville, where his funeral was held on Monday morning. Surviving are his wife and baby daughter.

MRS. JAMES WOOD

On Sunday, January 2nd, 1944, Mrs. James Wood passed away suddenly at her home in Tamworth. Her funeral was held in the United Church on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. A. W. Seaton in charge. Mrs. Wood was a highly respected neighbor. While never being too robust, she did her part in church work, especially in the W. A., of which she was a valuable member. She is survived by three daughters and two sons. One daughter, Mrs. Pringle, predeceased her some years ago, and a son, Tom, was killed in the first Great War. The sympathy of the community is extended to the family, who have lost a kind and loving mother.

DESHANE — CARROLL

On Tuesday morning a quiet wedding was solemnized at the parsonage, Tamworth, when Rev. A. W. Seaton united in marriage Doris, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oran Deshane, Tamworth, and Don Carroll, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carroll, Tamworth. The young couple were attended by Miss Elsie Carroll and Mr. Dan Carroll, sister and cousin of the groom. The bride wore a blue street length dress with matching blue hat. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the bride's home, where a wedding dinner was served. The young couple will reside a few miles east of Tamworth, where the groom is successfully engaged in farming. The bride will be missed from different activities of the church, especially from the choir, of which she was a very regular attendant.

Y. P. U. OFFICERS INSTALLED

On Sunday evening, January 2nd, during the regular service, Rev. A. W. Seaton installed the officers of the Y. P. U. The candle light service was used. Mr. Seaton lighted the first candle. Then, as each officer took his or her vow, he or she lighted a candle. It was an impressive ceremony. The candles burned during the remaining part of the regular service and through the communion service that was administered later. Officers are as follows: Hon. President, Rev. A. W. Seaton; President, Miss Marguerite Gilmore; Vice President, Wm. Huffman; Secretary, Don Beckett; Treasurer, Edwin Lochead. Conveners of Committees: Citizenship, Herman Ackerman; Christian Culture, Wray McLaughlin; Christian Fellowship, Rev. A. W. Seaton; Missions, Lois Kimmett; Recreation, Mrs. Seaton; Press Reporter, Valorie Allison.

DORLAND

Dorland, Jan. 8. — The January thaw did not last long, but made a few slippery places in the road, but nothing serious. Most people would be glad of enough sleighing to draw wood, etc.

While the ice on the bays is quite thick, driving is rather hazardous, owing to the number of cracks.

Miss Lillian Carr entertained a well attended meeting of the W. M. S. last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Gallagher is spending a few days in Napanee with her daughter, Mrs. Perry Rombough, who is ill.

EBENEZER

Ebenezer, Jan. 6. — A fall of snow has made us realize that winter is here, after a spell of lovely weather.

Miss E. Ferguson and Miss Jessie Whiteman have returned to Hamilton and Melrose, to resume their teaching, after having spent their holidays here.

Mr. Wm. Whiteman has returned home, after a recent operation in Belleville Hospital, and his friends here hope for him improved health.

Mr. J. S. McAlister is able to be around again, after being under the doctor's care, suffering from the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Sexsmith and Mrs. E. S. Hewitt spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. R. Sexsmith, in Tweed.

Mr. T. W. Dunwoody received word on December 26th that his step mother, Mrs. Hattie Jones, Thomasburg, had passed away. The deceased lady formerly lived here and had many friends who regret her demise.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Brown, who has been ill, is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewitt entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. Asselstine, of Roblin; Mrs. Earl Kimmett and son, Miss K. Asselstine, of Napanee, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hewitt, on New Year's.

Mrs. James Richmond is recovering from an illness, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. Doyle.

Messrs. Kenneth and Dan Ferguson, and Miss Nyla Ferguson, Trenton, spent New Year's with their uncle, W. J. Sexsmith, and sons.

Mrs. Alva McAlister and daughter, Rosalyn, are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Masten. Mr. McAlister is attending Dairy School.

ROBLIN

(For last week)

Roblin, Dec. 26. — Roblin W. A. met at the home of Mrs. Stanley Lasher on Tuesday. Owing to a great deal of illness in the community the attendance was small.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kimmett, Lois and Gordon, and Mrs. Ida McLaughlin, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nugent at Newburgh on Wednesday.

Mrs. Phodip Dilme is spending the remainder of the winter at the home of her brother, Mr. Ed. Bradshaw, Tamworth.

Mr. the Campbell Nursing Home, born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Smith, a son.

Roblin, Jan. 10. — Lieut. and Mrs. Wm. Cook and baby, Martha, of Ottawa, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Paul.

Mrs. Ben Young, Napanee, has been a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Woods.

Mr. Wesley York is improving slowly, after a severe attack of flu and pneumonia.

Mrs. Ida McLaughlin, of Marlbank, has returned home, after spending the Christmas holidays at the home of Mr. John Kimmett.

School has reopened, with Mrs. Britton, of Kingston, as teacher.

Service will be held in Roblin United Church on Sunday evening next, with Rev. J. I. MacKay, of Montreal, as guest speaker.

Mr. Lyall Woods has enlisted in the Navy, and is training at Windsor, Ont.

Word has been received from Gnr. Wm. T. Beecher, that he is in Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Volney Woods visited recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson, Trenton.

WILTON

Wilton, Jan. 10. — The service in connection with the "Week of Prayer" was held in the United Church on Friday evening.

Miss F. Fingland spent the week end at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gray, Odessa South.

Mr. Jack Sharpe, of the Medical Staff of the Lady Nelson, spent a short leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharpe. The Lady Nelson docked at Halifax on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Olive Storms, of Odessa, was a recent guest of her brother, Mr. Bruce Peters, and Mrs. Peters and family.

Mr. A. W. Babcock is a patient at the Kingston General Hospital. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Florence Rae, of Odessa, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Simmons.

Mrs. Ethel Reed, of Kingston, is spending some time at the home of her parents here.

ERINSVILLE

Erinsville, Jan. 7. — The holiday season is over and many have returned to their former occupations.

The ice roads made motoring hazardous, but a soft snow has fallen and now they are in splendid condition for traffic.

Many have already harvested their supply of ice, which ranges from 14 to 16 inches, and is of excellent quality and free from snow.

The annual municipal elections are over and the Council for 1944 is as follows: Reeve, Clarence Millikan; Councillors, Thomas Carroll, Raymond Caffrey, Thomas Hinch and Arthur See. The new Council will meet and be sworn in on Monday.

During the holiday season there were four funerals held at the Church of the Assumption. Mrs. John O'Brien, of Tamworth; John Kearns, Sr., and Thomas Hunt, of this place, and D. J. Kearns, of Tamworth. Mr. John Kearns, Sr., was in his 95th year, and Thomas Hunt, a young man of this locality, suffered a heart attack.

We are pleased to congratulate the former students of St. Patrick's Separate School, who have been successful in attaining their Registered Nurses' diplomas. They are Miss Marjorie McGrath, Miss Norene Crawford and Miss Marie Quinn.

The flu epidemic has subsided and was not of a serious nature.

COLEBROOK

Colebrook, Jan. 8. — The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the United Church on Sunday, January 2nd. The pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, preached an impressive sermon on the text, "Oh Come Let Us Worship".

Several from the village visited the Aluminum Plant in Kingston last week, when visitors were taken through the plant.

Mr. E. D. Shengraw, who has been ill for some time, is somewhat improved these last few weeks.

Miss Winnifred Eckardt and Miss Mary Purcell have resumed their duties at their respective schools, Colebrook and Desmond, after having spent a pleasant holiday.

A congregational meeting of the United Church was held in the Orange Hall on January 5th. This took the form of a supper meeting, and was attended by a goodly number of members and adherents. After the supper, the pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, presided for the reports of the different organizations of the church. These reports were very encouraging. The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

We are glad to report that Harry Woodruff, who has been ill with flu, is improving in health.

CHILDREN

One of the most pressing problems the Nations will have to deal with in the near future is the care of children in the war-ravaged countries. We are apt to concentrate all our thoughts on armies and munitions. But there are hundreds of thousands of homeless children in wartorn Europe and in Asia who are either starving to death or living in packs, like animals, pillaging what they can get from any source. In a recent book on the subject there is a brief sentence or two on the Greek situation which is an example of what is going on in other countries. "An anonymous Greek worker," says the writer, "for the Red Cross, whose daily dispatches are checked by American authorities, writes these heartbreaking words: 'I know now that no man has looked into the face of horror until he sees children starving, and in Greece, a whole proud nation is staggering, then dropping on it knees, then falling on its face, to writhe in filth and expire of hunger.' Continuing, he says: 'The Red Cross has been driven to take this terrible position. The increasing scarcity of food and medicine forces us to distribute them only to those who have some chance of surviving. Nothing is to be squandered on those who cannot be saved'."

The Quakers and the Red Cross are doing a magnificent job under the circumstances, but the death, starvation, disease and utter despair of thousands of children in every occupied country is unimaginable and is quite beyond the ability of voluntary groups to cope with. Only when the public conscience is aroused, and united action becomes possible, will these innocent victims of man's errors get a chance to recuperate—those who are then alive. The rest no matter what is done for them, will have lost all the joys and happiness which is the right of children the world over.

MAKING PROGRESS

We have been told so often that we are passing through one of the great creative periods of history, that it might be assumed it is unnecessary to say anything more about it. But the full extent of that observation has scarcely dawned on the world as yet. The whole of organized society is in the melting pot. Just what the result will be nobody can forecast. The one sure conclusion is that the world we have known is passing away. The new world is now being born. Just what it will be like will depend very much on the way the average man and woman thinks, votes, and acts.

There are trends, however, which show the general drift of things. One of these is to be found in the announcement made by Agricultural Minister T. L. Kennedy, that the Ontario Government plans to take over the Union Stockyards in Toronto, and operate them as a publicly-owned enterprise. A Commission of the Government will operate and administer the stockyards to the advantage of the farmers. In making the announcement, Mr. Kennedy said: "The new system will be a money saver to the farmers; the necessity of profits for shareholders will be eliminated." This is an interesting development. That the Government plans to own and operate the stockyards is good news for the farmers; it is good news to the men and women who are watching for trends in modern life. It is another indication that there are fields of public ownership now being explored which, hitherto, have seemed outside the realm of political politics.

It has been announced, too, that the Godbout Government will, at its next session, bring in a bill to expropriate the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, and institute a Provincially-owned and operated Hydro Electric System. This is a drastic step. The Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company is one of the most influential companies in Canada. That the Government in Quebec is strong enough to expropriate it, and operate the company as a provincial enterprise, indicates that there must be a great body of public opinion in Quebec in favor of the proposal. We, in Ontario, who have had long experience with The Ontario Hydro System, and have known its privileges and benefits, will wish Premier Godbout well with his new legislation.

These are two straws which show the way the wind is blowing in Canada. There will be some opposition. There always is opposition, and as the movement towards public ownership grows, the opposition will increase. Already there are evidences of a well organized and highly financed effort to block the further development of public ownership. We can depend on it that all the cunning, all the ability modern propaganda can use will be pressed into service to make the development of public ownership appear the work of communists and wild-eyed radicals. So long, however, as these movements are fostered and carried through by such groups as the Drew Government in Ontario and the Godbout Government in Quebec, there is little hope of the people being deceived by selfish propagandists.

JOBS FOR ALL

D. W. Foster, Associate Director of National Selective Service, speaking in Ottawa recently, said: "We will have 100,000 men after jobs instead of jobs available for men!" Mr. M. J. Coldwell, speaking in Victoria says: "By the first of April, at the climax of the war, we will have 100,000 idle in Canada." These men speak with some responsibility. They are in positions of trust and do not throw their words around loosely. We have no way of verifying the predictions, but the very fact that they have been made by these men, warrants us in urging that the situation with respect to employment be not allowed to drift. If there is any considerable number of people in Canada out of work when the war ends, the situation may very easily get out of hand when large numbers of men and women return from overseas.

There is abundant evidence that the men overseas are thinking about this and doing not a little worrying. When Minister of Defense Ralston visited the troops in Italy, he was handed a charter from The Loyal Edmonton Regiment:

1. The Canadian Government has a moral responsibility for the return of the fighting forces into civilian life with jobs.
2. Security of livelihood for every citizen should be assured by all means available, notably minimum wage, health and hospital insurance and national security measure along the lines of the Beveridge plan.
3. A large standing army, navy and air force sufficient to meet Canada's international obligations for the maintenance of world peace should be established and the active army should be established and the active army should be given preference there.
4. One of the existing overseas army a Canadian group for attachment to the Allied military occupation army should be established on a voluntary basis by maintaining Canadian identity and officered by Canadian reinforcements to be drawn from trainees.
5. Preparations be made forthwith to let men awaiting discharge begin trades and other training as soon as possible to obviate the necessity for purely parade-square routine. Existing educational personnel and trades school staff could be used as a nucleus for this purpose.

It will be noted that the first request is for jobs. Unless we are to betray all these men who are so bravely and gallantly struggling for our protection now, they must be given every opportunity to work and earn a decent living when they return, along with adequate security for themselves and their families.

THE AMAZING RUSSIANS

On every count the Russian people have won the admiration of the men and women in The United Nations, and the respect, too, of our enemies. They have demonstrated a passion and enthusiasm the equal of the Nazi frenzy. For the first time in their Eastward drive the Germans met a people who were as confident, as enthusiastic, as determined as they themselves. The Germans believed they had a monopoly of that spirit, that no other nation could match them. They have discovered in the Russians, a people who had a love of country as deep as that enjoyed by any other; a people who were willing to die freely for the preservation of their way of life. The Germans fondly dreamed of the Russians as people ready and willing to betray their country into the hands of the invader. In all this they were deceived.

In strategy and generalship, the Russians have out-guessed, out-smarted and out-thought the Germans. They have a flexible mind, they change their tactics and baffle the enemy and have the ability to meet changing situations. They know when to back-up and when, as at Stalingrad, to hold to the last man. They know when to conserve their resources and when to fling them away in what might seem reckless abandon. This baffles the scientific and methodical Germans, who stubborn and clever as they are, cannot understand people who do not follow the text book.

On the home front, too, the Russians have shown an efficiency and a capacity of which few thought them capable. They have, it is true, been immensely helped with munitions of every sort from the Allied countries. But they have great aeroplane factories, great arsenals, and munition factories of all sorts, to say nothing of their steel plants and basic industries. They have managed, as well, to feed their people. The mechanized farms, so well developed before the war, have enabled the U.S.S.R. to maintain an adequate and healthy diet for their people.

There is hardly any area of organized war in which the Russians have not shown themselves to be the equal of any, and indeed the superior of those against whom they are arrayed. As this is written, the Russian Armies are pressing on at great speed. The whole Russian line is active from the Gulf of Finland to the Sea of Azov—a line estimated at 2,000 miles in length. And at every part of it the Germans are falling back as a result of the terrific pressure of the Russian Forces. To have been able to do all this, when twenty-five years ago they were a defeated nation, is one of the achievements of history.

SMALL COUNTRIES AND THE NEW EUROPE

BY DR. ARNE ORDING
Counseller to The Norwegian Foreign Office, London

The assumption that small states no longer have any significant part to play in international affairs underlies much of the discussion amongst progressive circles in Great Britain, and perhaps still more in the United States. The simple fact that rational feelings in European countries have been strengthened rather than weakened by foreign oppression is often dismissed with an impatience which precludes proper understanding.

Take the case of Norway. National feelings are stronger there today than at any time in our history. but it would be quite wrong to stigmatize these feelings as a reactionary factor. On the contrary they are indisputably bound up with our century-old democratic tradition. That is why to us a Fascist is automatically a traitor and all patriots are democrats. It also follows that even the best intentioned attempt to force our people into a mold shaped by external powers would arouse a most intense opposition. Any international system which ignores this inescapable fact will end in disaster or dictatorship.

The desire for national self-assertion has, however no necessary connection with isolationism. The Norwegian people are quite clear that they cannot achieve either political or economic security in the future by standing alone! Most of them realize that the policy of neutrality was a mistake even if the fault did not lie solely with the small nations. The Norwegian people would certainly this in protest against any demand that on principle, so to speak they should give up the sovereignty of their state. They will on the other hand be wholly willing to accept concrete and binding international obligations which they themselves recognize to be necessary for the assurance of their own future security.

Obligations involve and at the same time help to create an international framework. We Norwegians, so some of our friends suggest ought for example, to plump for a northern federation. There is of course close political kinship between the northern countries and Norway has a common frontier of over one thousand miles with Sweden. North-wide cooperation will be received and will probably be extended after the war. But we believe that even more can be achieved through free collaboration between governments around precisely those lines as An additional North would be quite powerless to provide security for the northern countries. Their economies are complementary, their strategic positions vary, and their combined military strength could not defend them from attack by a great power.

The future of all northern countries depends entirely on a wider international community.

Some people think in terms of a European Federation embracing all the European countries west of the Russian frontier. It is true that the west-European countries have a certain cultural unity and are link to so many other ties There are however three objections to the formation of such a European Federation.

First of all must be regarded as being directed against the Soviet Union that is as an anti-Russian bloc

Secondly there is a danger that sooner or later Germany might come to occupy a predominant position in the federation. Germany's treatment of the occupied countries has left deep and unforgetable scars. The rebuilding of Germany as a democratic and freedom-loving nation will probably take a long time and the occupied countries will insist on strong guarantees before approving the entry of Germany into a "world family of democracies."

A third objection to a European Federation is that it might create new barriers between the United States and Europe. This objection also applies to General Smut's plan for a British west-European Federation. As a sea-going people we Norwegians always maintain that the seas do not atraply divide but also unite. As far as regional arrangements are concerned, it would, therefore, be more natural for us to associate ourselves with regional agreements with countries bordering the North Atlantic On the condition that, at the same time, we were able to expand and strengthen our good relations with the Soviet Union. An Atlantic regional agreement would probably give us a maximum degree of security. Nevertheless, all plans for regional agreements face many difficult problems. The world cannot be divided up into watertight compartments and many countries would have interests in several different regions. There is also a danger that "federations" or "regional agreements" may become part of a policy which leads to a division of the world into "spheres of interest" around the "Big Four."

Perhaps there is no way of stopping such a development, but it will certainly provide no guarantee of peace, least of all, for smaller nations. Spheres of interest will always overlap and they will automatically lead to diplomatic intrigues and a growing atmosphere of suspicion in which no small nation will be able to feel safe.

The more one discusses various plans for federal or regional agreements, the more one becomes convinced that the primary aim must be an international organization to which all other agreements are subordinate.

If we adopt this standpoint we have the great advantage that we possess a natural starting point in the United Nations which both during and after the war have a number of concrete tasks which can only be solved by cooperation. Naturally, the basis for an international organization must be genuine co-operation between the Big Four. That is the most important problem of all—much more important than drawing blueprints for a new international organization. For this reason the conferences at Moscow, Cairo and Teheran may be regarded as an historical turning point. The fact that the Soviet Union, for example, is represented on an Italian commission, and that there are both British and Russian missions at Tito's headquarters, is evidence that the great powers have broken away from the theory of "spheres of interest."

In the conduct of the war, it is natural that the Big Four should have the leadership, but when we come to all the plans and problems which arise in connection with the ending of the war and the securing of future peace, it is inconceivable that the small nations should enter as active partners and that permanent inter-Allied organs should be created which the small nations will be represented on various Allied bodies. The occupation of Germany is a task which might well very well taken over by an international force working under a common general staff. And it ought to be possible to organize an international Allied air force. Such measures would lay the foundation stone of an international police force. After that it should be possible by building on practical experiences during a transition period, to create a permanent force for establishment of a true international political authority.

It is too early to discuss the post-war situation of our land. Naturally all the allied great powers must be members from the beginning. There is no point in putting Russia and Britain on the same level as regards their position between the great and the small powers as such. The small nations may well have certain common interests but no union would be successful than the formation of a bloc of "small nations in opposition to great powers."

Small nations often differ considerably from each other. It is for example obvious that Norway has closer ties with Great Britain than with, say, Hungary. By having the main emphasis on international organization we keep in closer contact with the realities of future political and economic development. Military and civil aviation will make old boundaries between nations and continents illusory. Norway, like Britain, has for long been a modern sea-going people. Our ships sail over all seas. It seems obvious that our future economic organization must be international. The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association, for example, would have no meaning if, as matter the United States, the Russian participation was left out.

Economics united during and immediately after the war by such organizations as UNRRA and international trade will provide a basis for the building up of an economic organization adequate a political one.

Such an organization will not necessarily take the form of organization, but its political content. The real question is whether we shall succeed in overcoming the conditions with their disastrous evils of blind competition and over-production followed by crises and mass unemployment. Only then will it be possible to achieve an international planned economy in which all nations can participate in a planned expansion of their external and internal markets. This is bound up with the question whether the principle of the right of recognition is going to guide our future course.

On the solution of such problems the fate of both the great and small nations will depend. Here there is no conflict of interest between great and small. We can only hope that the democratic forces in all countries will prove strong enough to determine the direction in which we move.

"DOUBTERS" IN GERMANY ARE EXECUTED

Signs of flagging morale in Germany have brought a wave of death sentences making it impossible for any person to organize a revolt, says Christer Jaederlund, Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen, said in a dispatch recently.

"A collapse of the home front could be precipitated by doubt as to whether to go on fighting, but today doubters are punished by death," he writes.

Numerous executions in recent months, Jaederlund said have frightened the Germans, quieted defeatist talk and made the people suspicious of one another.

To overthrow the Nazis, the correspondent added, "a real revolution must be organized, but the German people have been stripped of all responsibilities to organize a revolt.

"One of the leading Nazis close to Hitler told me that only the Hitler regime has a possibility of organizing a revolution. Even the slightest manifestation of organized opposition by Germans would be answered and nipped by the all-powerful Himmler organization."

Jaederlund said there is no danger of a food shortage and wrote that German officials say the Allies' total bomb war against the Reich now is the fourth home front as well as military problem.

He indicated in his story, phrased carefully because he still is working in Berlin, that there is a question how much additional bombing the Germans can stand, especially during the winter months. He said that thus far Berliners have stood up under the attacks.

He told how Hamburg had been able to resume production within a few weeks after it had been practically knocked out in August.

Workers were ordered to return under threat of being deprived of any place to live in the Reich. Now they work, sleep and eat in factories as well as in the cellars of their bombed-out homes.

German officials confess that a certain percentage of imported workers in the country are engaged in sabotage and underground activities, but claim their number is not large enough to be dangerous. He said the Nazis would not hesitate to conduct wholesale massacres in order to quell revolt.

Meanwhile Schwartz von Berk in Berlin's Das Reich reiterated a warning to the peoples of the occupied countries that an Allied invasion would not give them liberty but instead would bring "devastation to your countries, starvation and a decline of explosives, fire and steel."

SELBY

Selby, Jan. 17. — There is considerable sickness in our midst, especially among the children and older folk.

Deep regret was expressed on Monday evening when it became known that another of our older citizens, Mr. L. L. Price, had passed away at his home in the early morning, following an illness of some months. The deceased, who was in his 87th year, was of a quiet, retiring disposition, a good friend and accommodating neighbor, enjoying the esteem and respect of the whole community. The funeral service, which was held in the United Church on Wednesday afternoon, was conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. R. Marrick, who delivered a comforting message and paid a fitting tribute to the deceased. Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. Price and family in their bereavement.

The annual meeting of the Sunday School Board of the United Church was held on Tuesday evening. Following the opening exercises, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Merrick, the Secretary reported number of pupils on roll, 197; 42 officers and teachers; 7 in the Home Department, 22 on the Cradle Roll, making a grand total enrollment of 268. 51 sessions of the Sunday School were held, with an average attendence of 112. The Treasurer reported total receipts for the year, $419.10. The election of officers resulted in Mr. Percy Hudgins being returned to the office as Superintendent, which he fills so acceptably. Mr. Alex. Collings, Assistant; Secretary, Harold Windover; Assistants, Burton Hudgins and Ray Rose; Treasurer, Mr. W. A. McLeod; Librarian, Mr. Chas. Pringle; Assistants, Clifford Frieken and George Collings; Pianist, Mrs. Everett Price; Assistants, Miss Gwenyth Gourlie, Mrs. Fred Jackson; Department Superintendents: Temperance, Vera Graham and Lois McConnell; Missions, Mesdames Jack McFarlane, Dee Weese, Cradle Roll, Mrs. Ernie Kerr; Home Department, Mrs. Ross McConnell; Assistant, Mrs. Will Frieken; Grading Officer, Mr. Ross McConnell; Secretary of Sunday School Board, Maurice McLeod; Teachers: Beginners, Vivian Henderson; Assistant, Mrs. Lucille Martin; Junior Girls, Mrs. Lucille Hudgins; Assistant, Mrs. J. LOOSE COUPONS NOT NEGOTIABLE

Consumers are reminded by the Local Ration Board that it is distinctly contrary to the ration regulations for consumers to tender loose coupons in exchange for rationed goods or for dealers to accept them, except when the coupons have been removed from the ration book in the presence of the dealer or one of his representatives.

It has been brought to the notice of the ration authorities that coupons detached from sheets are occasionally accepted by storekeepers without this requirement having been observed, and that, moreover, some deliverymen for storekeepers are in the habit of accepting loose coupons in return for delivered rationed goods when they have not been detached from ration books in their presence.

Any storekeeper or his representative it is pointed out, is perfectly justified in refusing to accept loose coupons which are not detached from ration books in their presence, and there are, as a matter of fact, stiff penalties provided for violations of this regulation.

Year's Output Planes Up Eighty Per Cent In The United States

Washington, (B.U.P.) — American aircraft factories produced a record of 8,802 planes in December to make the 1943 total 85,946 — or 80 per cent. more than 1942 production, Donald M. Nelson, director of the War Production Board, revealed in a report which reflected increased emphasis on heavy bomber output.

He said that while December figures were five per cent short of the scheduled goal for all types of planes, production of four-engined bombers exceeded the schedule.

Mr. Nelson said the proportion of heavy combat types rose so that aircraft production by weight increased 127 per cent in twelve months—from 37,000,000 pounds monthly at the start of the year to 84,000,000 pounds in December.

ANNUAL MEETING TRINITY CHURCH CONGREGATION

The annual meeting of Trinity United Church congregation was held in the dining hall of the church on Tuesday evening of this week, when reports were heard from officers of the various departments and societies concerning the year's activities. Supper was served by the Women's Association, and the business session followed, with Rev. G. M. Chifley, the minister of the church, acting as chairman.

Mr. E. J. Corkill, Clerk of the Session, reported that there was an increase of six in the church membership during the year, bringing it up to 411. In 1943 the minister conducted 12 marriages and 16 funerals, and baptized 13 children. The Recording Steward, C. L. Graham, stated there were six meetings of the Church Board, with an average attendance of 14 members. F. H. Henderson was elected a Trustee of the Church, replacing the late W. F. Lowe. The congregation accepted a recommendation from the Official Board that the members of the Session and the Board of Stewards remain the same as last year.

D. B. Wilson, the Treasurer, read the financial statement for the year, which showed a splendid cash balance on hand at the close of 1943. S. L. Hart stated that there was an increase of $22 in the amount subscribed for the M. & M. Fund. Individual subscriptions to the fund were quite a bit higher, but interest on bequests was somewhat lower. The church elected its allocation to be by Presbytery for the M. & M. Fund.

The other missionary departments of the church also had a splendid year, both in activity and in amount of money raised for missions. The report of the W. M. S. given by Mrs. Mac Hawley was that $533 had been raised. The Mission Circle gave $113, as reported by Mrs. Chas. McConnell, and the Mission Band, which was in charge of the report read by Rosemary VanLuven, making a total value for mission by the church of $1,874 in 1943.

Other reports were given by the following: Sunday School, F. C. Hart; and F. B. Wood; Bexley Hall, Mrs. Class; Miss Eleanor Ainsworth; Women's Association, Mrs. T. M. Assselstine; Miss Gandier, Orphan; Mrs. Fred Rowe, Cradle; E. R. Weiss, Benevolent Fund; C. L. Graham, The report of the Patriotic Committee, which looks after sending gifts to members of the Armed Forces from Trinity Church congregation, was given by Miss Mae Hawley, the chairman. Miss Hawley said that there were, at the end of the year, 32 members of the congregation overseas and 28 serving in Canada. All were remembered in the sewing and at Christmas. A number of letters of acknowledgment were read by Miss Hawley.

Mrs. Geo. H. Switzer, president of the W. M. S. and a member of the Church Board, expressed the appreciation to Rev. G. M. and Mrs. Chifley for their leadership in the past year and extended to Mr. Chifley an invitation to remain as pastor for the next year. This motion was seconded by Mr. F. J. Corkill, and was endorsed unanimously by a standing vote of the congregation.

Mr. Chifley in replying accepted the invitation and thanked Mr. Switzer for her words of appreciation.

Next item of the business was by G. M. Chifley on behalf of the Church Board, who read Miss Beatrice Bramhan with a cheque in recognition of her faithful services as pianist and accompanist at many of the week day services held in the church.

A motion was passed that W. J. Wagner and D. I. Miller be appointed church auditors. Another motion was carried by the congregation that the name cards on church pews be removed and that all pews be declared free and open to all who attend the church.

During the evening several solos were sung by Mr. Jack Caldwell who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. E. Madden.

NAZI ROCKET GUN ONLY ONE OF MANY INVASION PROBLEMS

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Day after day air forces based on Britain are drenching the coast along the English Channel with bombs directed at a multitude of objectives which are described mysteriously as "invasion targets," that is, targets which must be reduced before the land forces can be put ashore for their drive on Berlin.

The rocket gun, however, is only one of the problems. The spade-work now being carried on by the daring and uncannily skilful Anglo-American air fleets, in the face of fierce enemy counter-blows, is a labor which will save untold thousands of men when the day of invasion finally arrives.

But we shouldn't let that blind us to the cruel fact that even under the best of circumstances the casualties among the landing forces are likely to be heavy. I think we should get that idea firmly fixed in our minds, to help us meet the shock when the day of reckoning comes.

We can have the satisfaction, however, of knowing that the Allied High Command is doing all possible to lessen the dangers.

Among the targets on the invasion coast are railway communications and rolling-stock, which can move Nazi supplies and troops up to the battle line. Airfields and grounded aircraft are constant objectives, for invasion will be accompanied by a titanic conflict in the air.

Heavy artillery emplacements are a particular menace. A battery of guns could destroy a warship, and could play havoc with a great and closely-packed fleet of transports carrying troops and equipment.

Tank bases also are prime targets, for these speedy steel fortresses are nasty obstacles for amphibious forces trying to establish a beachhead. Naturally wherever Hitlerite soldiers are gathered together, there will fall Allied bombs. Enemy supply bases such as ammunition and gasoline dumps, are constant objectives.

One of the greatest threats invasion forces will go up against will be mines—both of the sea and land variety — which are all the more fearful because they are hidden dangers. The waters along the entire invasion coast are sowed thickly with these devilish contrivances, and almost every yard of the landing stages on the shores contains its metal case of death.

THE CANADIAN WAY OF LIFE

OPINION OF F. H. MARSH, PRESIDENT OF THE BANK OF TORONTO

Mr. F. H. Marsh President of The Bank of Toronto, in his annual report said:—

"The people of Canada are possessed of the ability to think clearly when aroused to the point of being concerned about any subject. There is then little to fear in contemplating our national future if people stop to consider what a socialistic form of Government would mean. The common sense of most Canadians, including labor, who would not be immune but would also have to conform to such a system and its regimentation, will, I am confident, remain proof against any such plan as world overturn Canada's entire system of individual freedom in growing, producing, manufacturing, marketing, export, import, wholesale and retail trading, banking, investment and ownership.

Totalitarian Government and regimentation is what our sons are fighting against while the advocates of socialism are trying to have that very form of Government placed in control of Canada.

There are many hundreds of thousands of Canadians who own their farms or homes; there are the owners of 5,000,000 bank accounts and some 4,000,000 people who own life insurance policies, all of whom are in reality capitalists.

Such ownership is the result of the toil and thrift of the country. It represents the stake that most hope to hand down to their widows and children, whose safe future is their keenest human desire. In the rural parts of Canada especially I believe, this heritage of home and ownership and freedom and the right to pass it on will be held with determination and tenacity, and will never be surrendered in favor of any socialistic, centralized state control of property and civil rights.

It is reasonable to suppose in contemplating the future, that these millions of people will not be dominated where their own interests are affected, and when they realize what socialism means in the way of totalitarian power."

SMALL BUSINESSES MUST BE PRESERVED

Mr. Marsh in his report, emphasized the important contribution small industries would make in the post-war period. He pointed out the importance of the smaller businesses in relation to the life of the towns and villages throughout Canada. He said:

"It is generally known that post-war planning of a constructive nature is under way on the part of governments and large scale enterprises, but there is some question as to whether the medium sized and smaller concerns are able to do much in this direction under the present tax structure. Many of them started with little after the last war, and in the relatively prosperous twenties built up adequate working capital, which was seriously depleted by losses in the depression of the early thirties. During the 1936-39 period, profits were comparatively small. The basing of standard profits on the average of these years has resulted in many instances in little being left to build up the cash reserves necessary to effect the change from wartime to peace time conditions, thus making it essential that definite assurance by way of tax adjustments or other remedial measures be provided. I believe that an early announcement of governmental policy in this respect would be most helpful.

"Clearly the job of industrial conversion cannot effectively be undertaken by concerns which, though possessed of well - equipped plants, experience and organization are without the working capital which is essential to forward planning and to the continuance of operations, during any disruption of business following the cessation of war production.

"These smaller manufacturers and traders scattered throughout the length and breadth of the country, furnish an important backbone of employment. A recent study of industry made under government direction shows that as of the year 1941, there were 170,803 establishments in the manufacturing, wholesale and retail fields, and that no less than 161,904 or 94 per cent. of these were small businesses, employing less than fifteen persons each, the total number employed by them being 929,626 persons. They are not only important in the aggregate, but are essential in the life of the towns and villages throughout Canada."

TOUGHEST BATTLES ON HOME FRONT ARE JUST BEGINNING

With all their hopes and prayers for the New Year, Canadians realize that this is no time to relax and let down the barriers, they know that the toughest battles on the home front are just beginning. It is difficult when the overseas picture brightens to fight inflation every day of the week by watchinb prices and the smallest expenditure, to continue saving paper, rags, fats and bones, to bundle up and live in a cool house in order to save fuel, and to stay at home rather than jam transportation facilities.

In Canadian homes, housewives are taking rationing in their stride although a listener-in can hear from time to time "Who's getting the canned vegetables? Somebody's hoarding!" . . . "Isn't it terrible trying to find some underwear for the youngsters?" and so on.

MORE CANNING

In the first instance, Victory gardens were successful, more people canned fruit and vegetables than ever before, but that unpredictable old maid Weather just didn't co-operate during the year. This has resulted in a lessened supply of fruits and vegetables for consumers to purchase this winter. Despite this most families are well fed quite used to meat and other rationing, and realize that it is because they can afford to buy more milk that the dairy man says "No cream to-day", and that evaporated milk is reserved for babies. In every way Price Control hovers over the family table like a benediction, for most foodstuffs are under a price ceiling.

HOUSING PROBLEM

Another burning problem which affected Canadians during the past year, was the housing situation in many centres. Government legislation fixed rentals for every kind of housing accommodation and clarified by orders the rights of tenants and landlords and the terms of leases. Although the housing situation is still acute, abuses are controlled.

In the broader picture of Canada, the government was faced with many man-power shortages together with its other headaches. In essential war work the difficulties were alleviated by the application of priorities, transfer of workers, postponement of military services of men in some occupations, and the "freezing" of workers to essential jobs.

Essential civilian industry was stabilized by orders such as the ones keeping teachers in their profession and designating the man who delivers the coal or works in a meat packing plant as engaged in an essential job. The food production front was kept in good shape during last summer when some 4,000 prairie farmers went out to Western Canada to help harvest the crops, substantial numbers of soldiers, airmen and sailors on duty in the Dominion were given furloughs, internees, some war prisoners and conscientious objectors worked on farms.

WOMANPOWER TAPPED

Womanpower also went a long way. By November 1 there were 1,320,000 women in industry across Canada and 10,000 enlisted for part-time work in the Provinces of Ontario, Halifax and Toronto districts. At the same time women should have a hand in taking away the strain on hospital workers, clerks, stenographers, besides helping to fill some positions in industry. Added are the members of 34 Women's Voluntary Service Centres across the Dominion. These women give assistance where they can. Just how their projects are turning to deal with epidemics and reconstruction in the post-war period Canadians are in a hopeful frame of mind. There is a feeling in the air that the end of the war will soon be in sight and while life on the home front is sometimes unsatisfactory, the generally voiced opinion is "We haven't much to grumble about."

STELLA

Stella, Jan 17 — Our ice bridge is good for driving once more and the farmers are busy drawing feed which is very scarce on the Island. The Neilson Bros are expecting rain at Ernestown this week. A large number of the young people are crossing in cars nearly every night, attending the shows in the city.

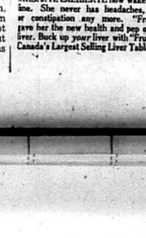
The Red Cross held a dance in Victoria Hall on Friday evening last. There was a good crowd in attendance. Music was furnished by the Glenn orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Young, Bath, visited friends on the Island on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Filson who have been quite ill with flu for the past month, are recovering.

Our coal supply has run out, but most of the people have enough on hand to let them for the remainder of the winter.

We are enjoying lovely winter weather. Roads are good. Some are driving cars and others cutters and sleighs. It is fine for getting out wood, as there is just enough snow to make sleighing in the fields.



MRS. J. H. LALIBERTE now wakes up feeling fine. She never has headaches, backaches or constipation any more. "Fruit-a-tives" gave her the new health and pep of a healthy liver. Buck up your liver with "Fruit-a-tives", Canada's Largest Selling Liver Tablets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on rationing control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be addressed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Why can't I often have several meat coupons for cheese? Will there be enough canned salmon under rationing to use these extra meat coupons for purchase or will there be a restriction on the number of cans sold to customers?

A. About 200,000 cases of canned salmon are being made available for distribution under rationing. It is hoped that these will be sufficient to meet all reasonable consumer requirements. If not retailers will naturally desire to effect the most equitable distribution possible, confining their customers.

Q. I have done business for years with a feed dealer in a nearby town who now insists that I take my wheat with the feed I buy from him. Why need this flour? Am I obliged to take it?

A. No. The regulations of the Prices Board forbid this practice as a condition of sale unless the dealer in question established it during the period in 1941.

Q. A woman whom I employ daily for a month has her dinner with me. Ought she not to surrender some of her food coupons to me?

A. No, she ought to give you one of every three of her coupons for the rationed foods you serve her.

Q. When will government departments go to such lengths to conserve paper, why are not the stores issued with only a certain amount of it for wrapping paper bags, etc., are going away for a trip, leave word or send it on a Post Card.

A. If there is no voluntary conservation of paper and if all wastepaper is not carefully set aside for salvage collection, it is quite possible that some restriction in this connection may have to be applied. In the meantime, consumers will assist the paper supply situation very materially by not insisting upon the wrapping of articles which do not require it, and by doing without such packaging or wrapping wherever possible.

Q. My son is about to enlist for active service. What should I do with his ration book?

A. Please turn it into your Local Ration Board immediately he leaves your household.

Q. Is it true that some ammunition will be available for hunting this year?

A. The manufacture of small arms ammunition is being increased this year. There are, however, many essential requirements having precedence over sports use. Nevertheless, it is quite possible that later in the year a limited amount of ammunition may be released for that purpose.

Q. What should I do with the ration book of a guest at my hotel who died recently?

A. It should be surrendered, with an explanation to the Ration Administration or to the funeral director who was in charge.

WAR RULES TO BE EASED

E. G. Burton, retail trade administrator of the Prices Board, today told the Ontario Retail Furniture Dealers' Association wartime controls were beginning to ease as certain articles came under removal.

"This should not lead you to believe that we can dispense overnight with our whole program of stabilizing trade practices and eliminating waste," Mr. Burton said.

"It has been an essential factor in the agreed-to timetable of this program and supply controls. With the conditions which made these essentially necessary fast changing, we can be assured our standardization restrictions will go the same way.

The administrator warned it was "quite conceivable" that developments might necessitate further regulations on the manufacture of civilian goods but added that such curbs will be held to a minimum compatible with the provisions of the most essential needs of the community."

ANGLICAN CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING

The annual vestry meeting of St. Mary Magdalene's Church was held in the Sunday School room on Monday evening, January 17th. Archdeacon R. J. Dumbrille presiding. Reports of the Women's Guild, the Altar Guild, the Women's Auxiliary, the Junior Auxiliary, the Sunday School, and the Laymen's Association, were given by the various secretaries, showing the excellent work accomplished during the year and a satisfactory cash balance in each case. Archdeacon Dumbrille gave a very gratifying report of his efforts, and spoke most appreciatively of the work of the various societies.

The Church Wardens, Mr. Charles Buchanan and Mr. W. A. Grange, presented their reports. Mr. Buchanan, the Rector's Warden, outlined the general policy and activities of the church. Mr. W. A. Grange, the People's Warden, gave a comprehensive statement of the financial standing for the year.

Mr. C. E. Jamieson, Mr. W. S. Wilson and Dr. D. R. Hall were appointed delegates to the Synod. An interesting part of the evening's programme was the presentation of a gift to Miss Rose McGreer for her years of service to the Altar Chapter.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CHURCHWOMEN'S GUILD

In the afternoon on Monday, January 17th, the annual meeting of the Churchwomen's Guild of St. Mary Magdalene's Church was held at the home of the President, Mrs. W. V. Webster. Reports of the various committees were given, showing a very successful year had been completed. The following officers were elected for 1944:

Honorary President — Mrs. W. V. Webster.

President — Mrs. Donald Macnaughton.

1st Vice President — Mrs. W. S. Phippen.

2nd Vice President — Mrs. L. V. Cowling.

Secretary—Mr. Albert Hill.

Treasurer—Mrs. K. O. Birkett.

Mrs. D. R. Hall spoke on behalf of work for the Russians in connection with the scheme which the town has inaugurated. Work will be supervised by the Guild at once at regular sewing meetings during the winter, in addition to its usual activities.

The Guild is fortunate in having a substantial balance from last year with which to commence the New Year's work.

CADET SERVICE IS EXPANDED

Ottawa, (CP) — Defence Headquarters announced that the establishment of the Cadet services of Canada is a component part of the Non-Permanent Active Militia consisting of commissioned officers who instruct Army cadet corps, had been greatly increased under an Order-in-Council passed last December 27.

The announcement said a table of distribution of officers authorized for cadet corps of different sizes has been promulgated and provision has been made for the organization of a minimum of forty days training pay annually to such officers in addition to pay they now receive while attending cadet summer camps.

The department also will grant commissions in the cadet services to as many instructors as possible provided they are properly qualified. Provision also is made for payment of a maximum of forty days' training pay to civilian instructors who for various reasons may not be eligible for commissions.

Promotions will be granted after an officer has successfully completed special courses of qualification and has the required length of service.

Qualification for rank in the Canadian Expeditionary Force of the Great War or the present Canadian Active Army as well as the British or Dominion forces, will qualify an officer for the same rank in the cadet services. Men who have been acting as civilian Army cadet instructors will receive credit for their services in that capacity when they are commissioned in the cadet services.

To prolong the life of women's clothing the Consumer Branch recommends ventilation of clothes closets, and letting air circulate freely through the clothes.

Since price control was adopted here, the cost of living has advanced little more than three per cent., as against 23 per cent. during the corresponding period of the Great War.

In Loving Memory

FRINK — In loving memory of our dear son, Arthur, who passed away January 18th 1943.

One year has passed, dear Arthur
Since you were called away.
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day.
You suffered much and murmured not;
We watched you day by day;
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away.
Sadly missed by your MOTHER and FATHER

3ap

FRINK — In loving memory of our brother Arthur (Lou) Frink, who passed away on January 18th, 1943.

Treasured thoughts of one so dear
Often bring a silent tear;
Thoughts return to scenes long past,
Years roll on but memories last.
Ever remembered by
HAZEL and FRED

3ap

WEESE — In loving memory of David Albert Weese, who passed away January 19th, 1943.

God called him home; it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear to-day
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone—
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
Sadly missed by his WIFE and FAMILY

3ap

YOUNG — In loving memory of a loving mother and grandmother, who passed away January 19th, 1943.

When the Lord said you have finished,
Come up higher mother dear,
You have won a crown in heaven
By your love and kindness here.
We remember well our sorrow
As we stood beside your bed
With deep and heartfelt anguish,
When we saw that you were dead.
We miss your kind and loving hand
Your fond and earnest care—
Our home is dark without you mother,
We miss you everywhere.
Every remembered by her Daughter, NELLIE,
and Granddaughter, LAURA MAE

Mrs. A. T. Harshaw Died in Toronto After Short Illness

After a short illness, on old, and respected former resident of Napanee, Miss Lydia Harshaw, beloved wife of the late Archibald T. Harshaw, passed away on Tuesday January 11th, 1944, at her residence, 271 Goudian Avenue, Toronto. Mrs. Harshaw was born at Hoboken, New Jersey, on May 7th, 1859, and came to Napanee to reside at the time of her marriage in 1893. In 1929 she went to Toronto to make her home with her two daughters.

Mrs. Harshaw was always keenly interested in the town and the welfare of its citizens, and was instrumental in forming the United Empire Loyalist Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, of which she was Regent from its inception in 1910 to 1929. At the time Mrs. Harshaw left Napanee the members of the U.E.L. Chapter honoured her by presenting her with a life membership in the Order.

After taking up residence in Toronto, Mrs. Harshaw became affiliated with the Dreadnaught Chapter I.O.D.E. of which she was entertaining Secretary up to the time of her death.

In 1943 Mrs. Harshaw was again honoured, when on the formation of a new I.O.D.E. Chapter in Napanee the members voted to name it The Alice L. Harshaw Chapter. Mrs. Harshaw was an Anglican and took a great interest in the work of St. Mary Magdalene's Church while living in Napanee. In Toronto she was a member of the Church of the Transfiguration.

Surviving are her three sons, Archibald C. of Montreal, Harold L. of Toronto, Arthur of Hamilton, and two daughters, Louise and Jean of Toronto.

A funeral service was held in Toronto on Thursday and at Napanee on Friday at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene with Archdeacon Dumbrille officiating. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery.

The honorary pallbearers were Capt. A. Hepburn, W. & H. Pringle, K.C., W. A. Grange, Jno. G. Daly, Jno. Topping and J. F. Hellyer.

Active bearers were Dr. D. R. Hall, W. S. Wilson, K. S. Hall, J. M. Simon, K.C., Harold Mackrow and H. F. Bolton.

OBITUARY

FLYING-OFFICER R. J. McHENEY

On January 2nd 1944 Flying-Officer J. J. McHenry was killed in action on active service. He had been attached to 10 Bomber Group based on the R.C.A.F. Base which was held on January 9th 1944.

Reginald Cornelius McHenry was born on July 17th, 1919. He joined the R.C.A.F. (Permanent) Active Militia on December 3rd, 1940, and received his wings and commission on March 31st, 1941. He was then employed as an instructor on service flying training schools until he was promoted to the rank of Flying Officer in October.

He was a proud member of the congregation of the Holy Name of Mary Roman Catholic Church, Marysville, and belonged to the Knights of Columbus, the Army Sports Club, the League of the Sacred Heart. He leaves to mourn his loss his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McHenry, and three sister, Henry, Minnie and Norah. A sister and a brother, Dorothy and Lawrence predeceased him in 1923.

Killed In Action Christmas Day

Lance-Corpl. Murray Alexander Brown was killed in action on Christmas Day while serving in Italy with the 48th Highlanders according to word received by his wife, the former Violet Ruby King, of Walmsley Road, east Toronto, youngest daughter of Mrs. Robert King and the late Robert King, of Croydon, Ont. She is a former instructor with the C.W.A.C., Kitchener, Ont. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brown reside on Davisville Avenue, Toronto.

Joining the 48th Highlanders at their outbreak of war, Lance-Corporal Brown was evacuated from France at the time of the collapse. He served throughout the Sicilian and Italian campaigns. Born in Toronto, he attended Deer Park school and North Toronto Collegiate.

Three brothers also survive. Harold is overseas as a Y.M.C.A. supervisor; Dorion is with the Tank Corps at Camp Borden; and Billy 17, is with the Toronto Scottish (Reserve). His father is a sergeant with the Governor-general's Horse Guard.

Much sympathy is extended his wife and parents and brothers.

RED CROSS NEWS

The regular weekly tea was held in the Red Cross rooms Saturday, January 15th, with Mrs. Fred Hepburn and Mrs. Lloyd Cowle, hostesses. On January 8th, the tea was given by Mrs. George Paul and Mrs. William Dibb. There was a good attendance at these events. Everyone is invited to come to the rooms every Saturday, where tea is served at 4:00 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Napanee Red Cross Society will be held in the rooms on January 25th, at 8:00 p.m. This meeting is open to everyone interested in the work of the society and splendid reports are expected from each department. Mr. C. A. Scott, Canadian Red Cross Commissioner in London, England, during the first period of the war, will be the guest speaker on this occasion.

An earnest plea is being issued for woollen pieces for the making of knitters' belts. Used materials, washed, are acceptable. There has also been a request issued from headquarters for any old furs, or pieces of fur, for the making of seamen's vests. 21,000 of which are needed. If you have any pieces of woollen material or any old furs please bring them to the Red Cross rooms. They will be very muc happreciated.

CRIMINAL CONVICTIONS HIGHER IN CANADA

There was a sharp increase in convictions for infractions of the law in Canada during the first three years, as compared with the three years preceding the outbreak. By actual count there were 632,431 convictions during 1942, 484,326 in 1939, and 420,975 in 1936. During the first three pre-war years the increase in convictions was 16 per cent. while during the three war years the increase was 30.6 per cent. In other words convictions increased twice as fast during the war years as during the peace-time period.

Convictions of both adult and juvenile offenders increased at an alarming rate during these war years. The percentage increase in convictions of juveniles was far in excess of that of adult offenders. Further, fewer adults were convicted of the more serious branches of the law during the war period whereas amongst the juveniles the reverse was the case.

The number of adults convicted of indictable offenses decreased 18.3 per cent. during the war period, while for non-indictable offenses the increase was 35.6 per cent or an increase in total adult convictions of 30.2 per cent. Among the juveniles, major convictions increased 37.9 per cent. and minor convictions 86.4 per cent., or an increase during the war years of 54.4 per cent. The pre-war increase in juvenile convictions was 5.6 per cent. and that of adults 15.2 per cent.

Juvenile convictions which had increased from 7,120 in 1936 to 7,613 in 1939 or by 5.6 per cent. continued to increase at a rapid rate during the next three years. The 1942 convictions were 11,758 an increase over 1939 of 54.4 per cent. At no time since statistics of juvenile crime were compiled separately in the early 1920's has any period shown suc ha marked acceleration in the juvenile crime rate as the three war years have revealed.

Convictions of juveniles for major offences which increased from 4,970 in 1936 to 5,018 in 1939 or by one per cent. advanced to 6,920 in 1942, an increase of 37.9 per cent. over the 1939 total. Minor offences which increased from 2,240 in 1936 to 2,595 in 1939 or 15.8 per cent., rose to 4,838 in 1942, or 86.4 per cent. higher.

AFTER-WORK COOKING

Hello Homemakers; Never a day dawns but we have unexpected duties to perform, or contributions to make towards patriotic work—which do require time. Business women, war workers and busy homemakers should first of all, make contributions toward their specific job of serving adequate meals in order that time, electricity and expense are saved. It saves a lot of worry, too, if a few plans and preparations are previously accomplished.

Many of us know what can be done but forget about them until the last minute. With this in mind we list a few suggestions:

1. Boil a piece of beef shank while you are having dinner one night to have ready to put rice or pot barley into it the following evening for soup.
2. Stews may be made the night before and reheated for serving. In fact many people think they are better on the second day than on the first. This also applies to Boston baked beans.
3. Make white sauce, a quart at a time, and store in the refrigerator. You will use it often for sauces, for vegetable or fish; as a basis for cream soups or scalloped dishes.
4. Dry bread in an oven after heat has been turned off. Prepare a supply of crumbs for topping scallops, crumbing fish, cutlets, croquettes, etc.
5. Have a quantity of biscuit mix (flour, salt, baking powder and shortening) in a covered bowl in the electric refrigerator, ready to add liquid and turn into baking powder biscuits or the base for an oven dessert such as a shortcake; dumplings, apple pinwheels or fruit dumplings; or as a crust for meat or fish pies.
6. Pastry may be prepared wrapped in waxed paper and stored in the lower part of the electric refrigerator. Made into a pie shell the night before it a butterscotch or lemon pie is to be served. To conserve time, prepare one crust pies.
7. Desserts may often be prepared the night before serving — custards, gelatine dishes, etc.

RECIPES

Individual Stuffed Meat Loaves

Four cups ground cooked veal, 1 cup bread crumbs (fresh), one egg, three-quarters cup milk, one and one-half tablespoons of chili sauce, two teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, five pork sausages.

Prick the sausages. Place in a hot pan. Add one-quarter cup water, reduce heat, cover tightly and let steam until cooked and firm. Mix all the other ingredients and divide into equal portions. Encase each sausage in meat mixture. Place on a greased baking pan and bake for thirty minutes in a 350 deg. F. electric oven. Serve with chutney or spiced fruit.

Favourite All-in-One

Three tablespoons bacon fat or dripping, one pound ground beef, half-cup chopped onion, two tablespoons flour, one tin tomato soup, one and one-quarter cups water, three-quarters teaspoon of salt, few grains pepper one and one-quarter cups of spaghetti. Brown onion and hamburger in hot fat. Stir in flour and blend well. Add soup and water and seasonings. Cook the spaghetti in salted water till tender. Drain and rinse. Add to meat mixture. Toss lightly and serve. Serves five or six.

Sweet Dumplings

Half-cup molasses, one-third cup sugar, two tablespoons each flour and butter, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, one and one-half cups hot water, two teaspoons vinegar, one and one-half cups flour to make into biscuit dough.

Mix ingredients and pour into a baking dish. Let come to a boil. Make thin baking powder biscuits; place in hot syrup and bake at 450 deg. F., for twenty minutes in electric oven.

Apple Betty

Five apples, rind of one lemon, three cups soft bread crumbs, one-third cup sugar, three to four tablespoons butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, half - teaspoon nutmeg, one-third cup hot water.

Pare core and slice the apples. Put one cup bread crumbs in a greased casserole. Cover with apples, lemon, sugar and butter and spice. Repeat with another layer of crumbs, fruit and flavouring. Top with crumbs. Add hot water. Cover and bake one hour at 350 deg. F. to 375 deg. F.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

Our salvage committee reminds us to save waste paper; do not burn it unnecessarily. Out of waste paper new paper can be made. There is another vital reason for saving paper. From it can be made munitions. Modern machines can work a miracle — can take waste paper apart separate the myriads of tiny interlocked fibres which make up "paper" and roll them out again into new paper or cardboard. The cardboard is then ready for another transformation — into shell containers, cartridge boxes, packet boxes for rifles, parts of airplanes and many other items.

Do you know that One breakfast cereal carton makes two cut-out targets; 12 old letters make one box for rifle cartridges; 60 cigarette cartons make on outer shell container; six weekly periodicals make two gun cases; one envelope makes fifty cartridge wads; one newspaper makes three 25-pounder shell cases.

Every homemaker can help to swell the enormous quantity of waste paper required for war purposes. Take your part in the salvage drive of the ...

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

I think the New Year is still young enough to risk wishing you a bright and happy one. Like most of us, I always do a little stocktaking at New Year's and make those brave resolutions which are to easy to make and so hard to keep. I intend to be a little ray of sunshine so if you see any of my besetting sins peeping out squelch them pronto. I wonder what this year will bring? Surely the peace which we all so earnestly desire. God grant that it may be a lasting peace!

I am glad to hear that you found my account of Sergt. Robertson's tour interesting and "wait with baited breath" for more. That was a very tactful way of putting it, my dear, and I am quite mollified. I won't let you off though, so here we go again.

When the tour of the Maritimes was completed, the band personnel, after a few days rest at the Training Centre at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que. turned their faces west. The first stop was at the Lakehead Cities, Port Arthur and Fort William. The outstanding feature of their concerts here was in Port Arthur when the bands were introduced by the Inspector General, Major Gen. Alexander. Kenora, Ont., will be long remembered for its enthusiastic welcome. The girls were entertained by the clubs of the city at every meal and were taken boating on the beautiful Lake of the Woods. At their concert the Mayor of Kenora presented the second in command, Lieut. Anne Lendrum of Duncan, B.C. with a box of souvenirs for the girls which proved to be novelties — tiny Indian work moccasins.

Winnipeg brought the girls the first breath of the prairies. Here band personnel had the opportunity of seeing the wonderful United Services Centre where the three services mingle. This centre, Sergt. Robertson tells me, is very popular with men and women in uniform. During their stay, the bands gave a broadcast from the Centre. After being entertained at luncheons the girls left for Moose Jaw, convinced that the hospitality of the west had not been exaggerated. Concerts at Moose Jaw were followed by a stay at the C.W.A.C. Basic Training Centre at Vermilion, Alta., where the members of the bands had a five-day respite from the rigors of touring. Vermilion, a dot in the midst of the rolling prairie, furnished members with a panoramic view of life on the wide open spaces. Sergt. Robertson described Vermilion as a town of the type so frequently portrayed by Hollywood—board walk, shanty stores and western characters against the dramatic background of the vast, purple-hued prairie. The training centre is situated just out on the town . . .

With renewed vitality the tour proceeded to Edmonton which proved an eye-opener for the C.W.A.C. who had many members of the west that the character of this city has been altered by the influx of Americans connected with the United States Defence development projects.

"Edmonton to-day," says Muriel Robertson, "has a distinctly American air. There are magnificent recreation centres for United States citizens in Edmonton on the business of war complete to the smallest detail. Members of the C.W.A.C. Pipe Band, arriving in Edmonton ahead of the Brass Band, were entertained at a Kiwanis Club luncheon and had the privilege of listening to an address by Major General W. W. Roster D.S.O. whose subject was the North-west Territories and the Alaska Highway. As the highway begins only three miles from the Prince of Wales Armouries where the band personnel were quartered, interest ran high.

A very hearty welcome awaited the two bands at Red Deer, where another army town met them at the station playing the C.W.A.C. song, "Shoulder to Shoulder," in their honour. This was followed by a presentation made to the Military Band of the traditional leopard skin for the bass drummer. The band girls will never forget the marvellous dinner that night, provided by the School of Cookery. The cooks surpassed themselves in culinary triumphs and Muriel's description was, for the reminiscent and wistful as she enlarged upon a certain pie that was glorified by a lavish application of "whipping." I was quite undermined and had to console myself with cheese and crackers before I would let her continue.

Continuing on their way to Calgary Lethbridge, Vancouver and Victoria, the girls saw the panorama of the west unfold. In Victoria at the end of November, with the roses blooming and the raspberries still ripe, the tour came to an end.

Oh, Babs what a priceless opportunity came the way of those lucky (and talented) girls! In such respects women in the Services have unparalleled opportunities of broadening their horizons and extending their knowledge. There I go once again, preaching the doctrine of the C.W.A.C., so I will close before I become boring.

Yours as ever,
NICKEY.

IN THE WAKE OF EISENHOWER'S TRANSFER

BY WILLIAM FRYE AND NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writers

The command structure for the European invasion so far is like a jig-saw puzzle with half the pieces missing, but enough has been disclosed to make it evident that Gen. Dwight O. Eisenhower is taking with him to Britain a lot of, the first-string men of his winning Mediterranean team. It is also evident that air power is getting even more emphasis than before.

The disclosures to date leave a lot of blanks to be filled—including the command of United States ground forces in the invasion.

It is by no means clear as yet just what relation the seemingly overlapping air commands bear to each other, either Eisenhower's authority does not reach the Mediterranean, but that all his American strategic bombing commander, Lt.-Gen. Carl Spaatz, apparently does— extending to all long-range behind-the-lines bombing of Germany whether by the Eighth Air Force in Britain, or by any of the three United States air forces in the Mediterranean.

The air war in the Mediterranean would seem, purely on the basis of announced changes, to be the one aspect of combat operations in that area destined to increase in importance in the immediate future. Nothing else offers a satisfactory explanation of the transfer of Lieut.-Gen. Ira C. Eaker to command all Allied Air Forces in that zone.

Eaker is largely responsible for the growth and development of the Eighth Air Force in Britain to its present formidable strength.

Obviously, such a man is not being "kicked upstairs." It seems much more likely that, while the Eighth's striking power is more important than ever, its relative importance as an independent command has shrunk in the vastly increased scope of all operations against Germany.

So Maj-Gen. James H. Doolittle, whose northwest African strategic air force obliterated the supply sources of the Axis African armies, moved to command of the Eighth, while Eaker takes over command of three U. S. Air Forces, the Ninth, Twelfth and Fifteenth, plus R.A.F. units in the Mediterranean. Another portent of increasing Mediterranean air operations is the assignment of Maj-Gen. Nathan T. Twining, veteran chief of the 13th Air Forces operations in the Solomons, to succeed Doolittle in command of the 15th . . .

Gen. Eisenhower's transfer may result ultimately in improvement of the United States' prestige in North Africa and in France . . .

Eventually, it might cost General Henri Giraud his job as commander-in-chief of the French armed forces in North Africa . . .

Eisenhower has been highly popular personally and superbly efficient militarily. But nothing could not save him from being the "number one fall guy" in North Africa — not in official circles but in cafes, in the lobby of the hotel-dwellers Band up to buy food, and wherever gossip flourishes.

The commander-in-chief has stood as a symbol of United States rule in North Africa and residents there believed that any action or failure to act on the part of any Allied military, political or economic agency came at his direction and was an evidence of American policy . . .

No official agency ever appeared interested in trying to correct that misapprehension. Eisenhower, like his good soldier, was too busy winning his campaigns.

Unless his successor, General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson is willing to accept a target of unwarranted criticism, it would appear the American State Department must be a little more explicit about its Mediterranean area policy.

Eisenhower's departure robs Giraud of his strongest supporter in North Africa. It was on behalf of Giraud that Eisenhower made his only demand of the French Committee, now headed and dominated by General Charles de Gaulle.

When the committee was organizing, rumors circulated that the Allied commander-in-chief had made many demands concerning its composition . . .

Eisenhower summoned war correspondents to his Algiers headquarters and told us bluntly and emphatically that he had made one and only one demand: that Giraud should remain as commander of the French armed forces so long as North Africa continued to be a base for Allied military operations.

Eisenhower said he had implicit faith in Giraud's loyalty and ability and cited the fact that, under Giraud's administration of North Africa, the Allied armies had operated over a vast area, requiring long, vulnerable lines of supply and communication, without being hampered by a single major act of sabotage . . .

Ardent de Gaullists did not like it and they never have given up hope that some day—before the liberation of France itself begins—Giraud will relinquish his command. They know quite well that the commander who leads a victorious French army into France will have great postwar prestige.

Axis Propaganda A Year Ago

Jan. 16, 1943—German Home Station: "Russian artillery is no longer efficient. The number of Russian tanks which from time to time support the operations of the infantry can be counted on the fingers of one hand. The Russian soldiers do not appear to be so well trained as those who fought at Vyazma, Bialystok and Bryansk."

Jan. 18, 1943 Das Reich: — "Several years will have passed before the Americans can become active in Europe—if they ever get so far at all. And by then the Soviet Union will have been defeated and the war thus incontestably won for us."

Jan. 19, 1943. Radio Paris — "The construction of a new Europe would be dangerously threatened if the Anglo-Saxons succeeded in establishing themselves on the Mediterranean coast. The German Command is absolute master of all operations."

Jan. 23, 1943. Radio Friesland — "Air supremacy will be the decisive factor in this war."

The Royal Bank of Canada Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President, says any degree of political freedom impossible under wholly planned economy. — Challenges socialists to show how public would benefit by state monopoly of banking.

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice President and General Manager, reports bank business at unprecedented levels. — Assets reach new peak of over $1,500,000,000.

The threat to the personal liberty of all Canadians, inherent in the plans of the socialists for the nationalization of Canadian industry, was emphasized by Morris W. Wilson, President of The Royal Bank of Canada, at the bank's Annual Meeting.

Mr. Wilson reviewed the tremendous role Canada had played in this mighty test of war of all time and the manner in which workmen and enterprisers alike had co-operated in it. "Despite this fact," he said, "we are being told by all the publicity methods revolutionary partisans can devise, that in order to win the peace we must change our entire economic system and launch out into new and untried paths, under new and inexperienced leaders. The theorists and visionaries who preach these doctrines of an economic revolution may be thoroughly honest and sincere. But the fact remains that the principles they advocate can only lead, as a final and inevitable result, to a completely regimented economy, and on this point I cannot do better than quote the Editor of the London Economist, a well-known writer of liberal views.

"... A wholly planned economy "is incompatible with any degree of "political freedom. The possibility "of a man's earning his living in his "own way, without let or hindrance "is the essential condition of there "being any freedom of discussion, "any freedom to oppose. If more "than a fraction of the electorate "come to depend for their livelihood "upon the temporary masters of the "mechanism of the State — that is, "upon the politicians — then democracy is at an end."

"I am more convinced than ever that the menace of socialistic teaching is one which closely affects everyone in Canada in both his business and private life.

"These advocates of a new order have an astounding scheme, which will result in nothing less than complete regimentation of Canada. As you know, one of their principal objectives and the first plank in their platform, is to nationalize the banks.

SOCIALIST MENACE

"Naturally, we are interested in preserving our business, in which so many shareholders have invested, and to which so many depositors have entrusted their savings. But even more as citizens than as businessmen, we deplore the rise of this creed, because we firmly believe that implementation of the socialist plan would ruin this generation and set Canada back centuries.

"It is as a citizen as well as a banker that I put before you some further considerations to which I hope you will give your earnest thought.

"The course of the socialist party in Canada has been charted for us in several books which make clear that nothing short of complete socialization of the means of production and finance will satisfy the party. That means domination of every phase of economic life, including agriculture, labour and capital. Therefore, because we all fall into one or other of the classes, it means domination of every individual.

"What would the socialists achieve by nationalization of the banks? Their book on social planning says that they will form one board of directors for the national bank monopoly instead of the ten boards which now operate the competitive chartered banks.

"Socialistic literature suggests that access to the books of the bank and a consequent rupture of the confidential relationship that now exists between bank and depositor, would be of inestimable value in determining taxation policies. But would this appeal to the depositor?

"Furthermore as we are organized today, a prospective borrower may go from one bank to another if he fails to convince the first banker of his probity, ability and prospects; under the socialistic system unless the prospective borrower could convince the state bank of the soundness of the project for which he sought to borrow money, and also that the transaction to be financed was in harmony with socialist party objectives, he would be turned down and would have no other bank to look to for a loan. Do you think that such a system would assure the borrower of as fair treatment as he now receives?

"I believe the answer to these two questions, affecting depositors and borrowers, is a positive 'No.' On the contrary, history and experience lead us to expect that such a government monopoly of banking would lead to favouritism of party adherents. At the same time, we should witness a spread of that sterility of ideas and enterprise which tends to accompany every human activity that finds itself in a position of unchallengeable power."

PRIVATE BANKING BEST

Mr. Wilson suggested that it was not simply due to chance that banking the world over had continued in private hands, but that the people and the Governments had considered it advisable from every point of view that banking should be free of political and partisan influences. He reminded his audience that Canadian banks were already effectively controlled by the Bank of Canada and that further intervention by the Government in the banking business would, in his belief, be superfluous and would not be welcomed by the majority who deal with the banks.

Mr. Wilson again urged business to speak up on its own behalf. "Business will have only itself to blame if, through inaction, it vacates or fails to openly defend activity into which it later finds that public opinion has forced the Government to enter."

Mr. Wilson saw no reason for approaching the post-war era with any defeatist attitude and declared that the same energy, initiative and self-lessness which had developed in the war years, could be used for constructive purposes after the peace.

In all plans for the rehabilitation of devastated countries, the United States and Canada would be looked to as leaders, he said.

POST-WAR REHABILITATION

"I personally believe that large outright gifts of food, raw materials, finished goods and machinery to backward and devastated countries will in the long run and even from the most selfish point of view, not only contribute most to human welfare, but both in the short and long run be in the best interests of those nations which can afford to make the gifts.

"If this is too much to expect of human beings in their present stage of development, the alternative must be loans on a very large scale on long and easy terms, or probably a combination of both loans and gifts."

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice President and General Manager, in reviewing the banks Balance Sheet said that the volume of business passing through the bank's books had been unprecedented during the past year. Total assets now exceeded $1,500,000,000, an all-time high in the history of the bank.

He reviewed at length the part played by the banks in assisting the country's war financing.

"There appears to be a misconception in the minds of some people that the banks purchase a substantial portion of the Government public issues and increase their earnings in this manner. This is not the case. During 1943 two Victory Loans were issued, realizing $2,592,000,000. The 4th Victory Loan floated in May last was purchased by 2,669,000 subscribers and the 5th Victory Loan in October by over 3,000,000. In neither loan did the banks buy bonds for their own account. While there is naturally some change in the holdings of the original subscribers, relatively only an unimportant amount found its way into the banks.

"In common with the other banks, we have done everything possible to make these Victory Loans a success. Managers have encouraged customers to subscribe or to increase their subscriptions. All depositors considered capable of subscribing for an amount of $50 or more have been written to and advertisements have been inserted in the press urging depositors to subscribe to the full extent of their ability."

EARNINGS MODEST

Despite the tremendous increase in the business of the bank, earnings were modest, said Mr. Dobson. "I think that any fair-minded person will agree that the $2,100,000 paid to shareholders last year was a very modest amount to be paid to the proprietors of the bank, when we consider the size of the organization and the tremendous amount of business it is necessary to handle in order to earn that amount. Any other type of business working with assets of one and a half million dollars would have been able to earn for shareholders considerably larger return. It we consider this yield in relation to our two main earning assets, loans and investments, we find that the dividend paid to our shareholders was less than 1/5th of one cent on the dollar on the total of these two items, a very trifling handling charge, to say the least. I have never heard the claim made that Canadian banks are not efficiently run, therefore the answer must be that the profit in banking is small."

Mr. Dobson reported that the progress made by the bank's South American branches had been particularly gratifying and that its foreign branches were in a position to be of practical aid in promoting post-war trade.

The General Manager remarked on the efficient manner in which the bank's staff had dealt with tremendously increased business and provided new wartime services despite enlistments, and paid tribute to the enthusiasm and ability of the many young women who have joined the bank since the war began.

2,123 ENLISTMENTS

"The voluntary response of our staff to our country's call has been magnificent," said Mr. Dobson, "and there are now 2,123 men in the armed forces. Of this number 2,009 were employed in Canada, which is equivalent to 69 per cent. of our Canadian staff of military age at the outbreak of war.

"To these men the bank pays a portion of the difference between their bank salary and service pay. They retain their membership in the Pension Fund Society, and the bank pays their group insurance premiums. We shall welcome them when the time comes for them to return to their duties in the bank.

"Unhappily the number of casualties has doubled since I last reported to you; 67 of our young men have now given their lives in the cause. Their names, which we hold in honour, appear in the printed record of this meeting, and we extend our heartfelt sympathy to their families."

SELBY W. M. S.

The new president, Mrs. Jim Rose, had charge of the January meeting and opened the meeting with hymn 449, followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Merrick and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Rose gave the topic of the day's programme "For All of life" also thanked the W.M.S. for the letter of sympathy on the loss of her father, Mr. A. Lapum. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The watch tower was responded to by Mrs. Merrick, Japan; Mrs. J. McConnell, India; Mrs. A. Prisken, Korea. Mrs. Luman McCutcheon was appointed as assistant to the leader for the Mission Band. Mrs. S. Winter and Mrs. A. Wood were appointed to audit the treasurer's books. The treasurer, Mrs. J. Henderson gave her report for the past year. The total amount raised was $346.37, of which $320 was sent to Presbyterial, leaving a balance on hand of $21.05. Reports were given from the various departments. It was decided that the Press Secretary's work be given over to the Recording Secretary, Mrs. Eph. Robinson and that Mrs. S. Sexsmith be an associate helper. Rev. Mr. Merrick conducted a very impressive installation service for the new officers, after which Mrs. A. Prisken offered prayer. Mrs. L. Miller read from the monthly "Thoughts of God for Boys and Girls." Mrs. G. Price synopsized the third chapter of the study book on "Joy of work skilfully done in the Orient." Mrs. Merrick led in prayer, and the offering was taken. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Rose closed the meeting with prayer.

SILLSVILLE W. A.

On January 5th, 1944 Mrs. L. McLean was hostess to the members of Sillsville W. A. There were thirteen in attendance and one visitor. One large quilt was tied, and the meeting opened by singing a hymn, followed by the reading of a psalm by Mrs. Laura Cuthill, and all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Several reports were given. Bills for repairs to the parsonage, and taxes on same, were ordered to be paid. The society has $200.00 invested in Victory Bonds. Mrs. Bruce Robertson expressed appreciation of the cards sent her at Christmas time.

The 1943 officers were returned for the ensuing year, namely: Mrs. L. McLean, president; Mrs. Laura Cuthill, vice-president; Mrs. H. White, secretary; Mrs. Perry Young, treasurer; Mrs. Rod Sharpe, convener of sick committee; Mrs. Young and Mrs. Sharpe were appointed to represent the parsonage board. Grace was sung and a dainty lunch served by the hostess, assisted by Mr. R. Sharpe. Richards. The Roll Call was "My Duty as a Good Citizen." Mrs. Aikenbrack was tendered a hearty vote of thanks by Mrs. Katherine Powell and Mrs. E. I. Boyle.

The meeting was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

SWITZERVILLE MISSION BAND

A meeting of the Busy Bee Mission Band was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon, January 12th, with the president, Paul Craig, in charge, and fourteen members answering roll call. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Geneva Robinson, and approved, and during the business period the installation service for new officers was conducted by the leader. A membership pin was presented to Barbara Robinson, a new member. After call to worship and response, the scripture lesson was read by Nelson Brandon and a reading given by Geneva Robinson. The Litany was followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer and a very interesting scripture story was read by Miss Alkenbrack. The offering was received by Jack Spafford and George Vanalastyne and dedicated in song. After singing a hymn, the Watch Tower items were given on Canada, Trinidad and China, by Vernon Snyder, George Benn, Nelson Brandon and Norma Spencer. The temperance peace and stewardship were given by the heralds Barbara Robinson, Beulah Craig and Mary Vanalstyne.

The story from the study book was told by Mrs. Wales, and copies of World Friends were distributed by Paul Craig.

The meeting was closed by singing the National Anthem and repeating the Children's Benediction.

NAPANEE W. I.

The monthly meeting of the Napanee Women's Institute was held in the board room of the Agricultural department on Tuesday afternoon last with Mrs. James Haggerty, the president presiding. There was a good attendance and the meeting opened with the singing of the Ode, Prayer for Peace and the Salute to the Flag. Mrs. Katherine Powell, Treasurer, presented her monthly report which showed a substantial balance on hand. The short course with Miss Rourke, leader, which is being sent from Toronto, will be held on February 15-16-17 from 1.30 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The committee appointed in connection with the course consists of Mrs. R. Long, Mrs. Fred Richards and Mrs. James Haggerty.

It was decided to hold an afternoon euchre on Friday January 21st and the convenere will be Mrs. T. S. Moore and Mrs. W. W. Exley. The prizes are to be donated by Mrs. Jack Yake, Mrs. C. I. Russell and Mrs. Marshall Hudson.

Mrs. Powell made an eloquent appeal for support in regard to the Russian relief for clothing and also spoke in connection with the Library Fund. Mrs. Alma Aikenbrack was convener for the program and gave a highly interesting talk on the subject, "The Development of Constitional Governments in Canada." Her talk was based mainly on citizenship.

Mrs. Fred Richards gave a paper on "The Part that Institutes Play in Citizenship" and a paper on the subject "The Coat-of-Arms of Canada" was given by Mrs. James Haggerty. Two recitations were given by Jerry Robbins, and there was also community singing. A contest was held and the winner was Mrs. Fred with a small remembrance as a farewell gift because we are truly hopeful that this will be only for a short time you leave our soil. But we wish you to know we appreciate the fact that you, all the other gallant sons of Canada are struggling for us against anny that threatens to overturn the world. So, Bill, we would ask you to accept this money and send to you to buy with it something you would like and will have a constant reminder of our good wishes.

Billy thanked his friends for the gift after which was sung "For a Jolly Good Fellow." Lunch was then served and the neighbor friends departed for their homes after having seen the New Year in.

NSPIRATIONAL TALK GIVEN SCHOOL PUPILS BY O.C.E. PRINCIPAL

Diplomas and Awards Presented to Graduates

N.C.I. Commencement

Dr. J. G. Althouse, M.A., Principal of the Ontario College of Education, Toronto, was the speaker at the Annual Commencement Exercises of the Napanee Collegiate and Vocational School on Monday afternoon, when diplomas, medals scholarships and other awards were presented to the students.

The speaker was introduced by W. O. Eirkin, M.A., B.Paed. He based his remarks on "What is the Cost and Worth of a Certificate". Dr. Althouse said the cost of the primary and secondary education of each pupil who graduates from a Collegiate is between $2,000 and $3,000. He asked the graduating pupils if they considered they were worth such an outlay to the community. The answer to that question, he said, would depend upon the light in which the pupils regard their certificate and the use they make of the start toward education made in the primary and secondary schools.

Certainly, Dr. Althouse said, the investment is not worth while if the certificates are regarded as a license to stop studying and an end to gaining wisdom. If it is looked upon as putting the holder in a position where he should receive more privileges and larger pay than those who have not hold a certificate of graduation, it has not been a good investment.

But if receiving a certificate is considered as merely a start toward refining more wisdom, as a help in learning to co-operate with others, having learned that many of the distinctions and discriminations made by people are not worth while and as a true indication of real worth and as having gained sufficient knowledge to realize it is still necessary to study, then the investment will pay a large dividend in later years.

In closing Dr. Althouse said that the acquisition of knowledge helps being able to say what one thinks in a manner to be understood and being able to understand intelligently what others say. Such abilities, he added, will be of great assistance in helping to solve the many problems which will face the world in the near future.

T. J. Laidley, chairman of the Board of Education presided, and after a short address called upon E. M. Leacy to present the Fox medals and and Memorial Scholarship.

Honour Graduation diplomas were presented by Archdeacon R. J. Dumville. The graduation diplomas were given out by Rev. G. M. Chidley and W. B. Creighton made the presentation of the Board of Education prizes. Rev. C. D. McLellan presented the commercial diplomas.

NEWBURGH BOY WINS D. F. C.

The R. C. A. F. announced last week that among ten officers and one warrant officer awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross overseas was P.O. H. L. Card of Newburgh, Ont. The D.F.C. was awarded to the men for having completed in various capacities "many successful operations against the enemy in which they have displayed high skill, fortitude and devotion to duty."

P.O. Card, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Card of Newburgh, was born in Hamilton and received part of his education there and part of it in Newburgh. He joined the R. C. A. F. in June of 1941 and after graduating as an observer went overseas in September, 1942. He was first put on a bomber but when the Pathfinder Squadron was formed he transferred to it and has served with it ever since. His wife is the former Louise Vandervoort.

A WARNING TO CAR DRIVERS

When the fire alarm was sounded about two o'clock Saturday afternoon the fire truck was held up for a couple of minutes because an auto had been parked in front of the fire hall doors. This should not be allowed to happen again because a few minutes lost in answering an alarm might easily result in a fire getting out of control with the resultant cost of much property loss.

The no-parking zone in front of the fire hall and along the north side of the town hall is plainly marked with a red-painted strip, and car drivers would be well advised to not park their cars inside the prohibited zone, otherwise some one will be hailed into court and have to pay a fine for their thoughtlessness.

BLOOD DONATION RECORDS SET

Toronto (C.P.) — Dr. John H. Phair, chairman of the Canadian Red Cross national blood donor committee, said today a record number for blood donations in Canada was established during the week ending January 15, with 18490 donations received.

Records were also made in Quebec with a weekly total of 2,296 in Manitoba with 741, in Alberta with 489, and in Ontario with 12,389, he said. The national objective is 20,030 donations weekly.

P.O. HERB BUTCHER Describes Experiences AFTER CRASH

In a recent letter from Pilot-Officer Herb. Butcher who is attached to the South African Air Force and whose squadron is operating in the Mediterranean area, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Butcher, Napanee, Herb describes a harrowing experience which occurred while on operational duty in the air.

According to the letter Herb had just returned from a two weeks' leave and had gone out with his squadron on a mission, when it engaged a flight of enemy planes. During the battle that ensued the bomber in which Herb was a member of the crew came into the path of machine gun fire from one of the Allied planes and went down out of control. No time was available to parachute to safety and the plane hit the waters of the Mediterranean at a terrific speed. The several members of the crew were thrown all over the plane Herb was severely cut on the head and the navigator received a dislocated shoulder and an injured knee. The balance of the crew came out with a bad shaking up.

The crew quickly straightened things out and piled into a rubber dinghy and began to paddle. The plane sank in three minutes.

The crew figured they were within fifty miles of enemy patrolled waters and the wind and tide was blowing them closer to this area every minute. By steady paddling they were able to hold their own and were picked up twenty-three hours after hitting the water, by an Allied plane. They were quickly flown to a hospital where those injured and requiring treatment were confined.

Herb's scalp injury necessitated his staying in the hospital a little over a week and he is now back on duty.

The weather turns real cold about 4 o'clock in the afternoon in that section and in Herb's own words, "believe me, it was cold in that dinghy at night."

Herb who was recently commissioned as a Pilot Officer in the R. C. F has had to change his official number, and in case any of his many friends wish to drop him a line here is his new address:

P O H. Butcher, — J 18794,

NAPANEE BRANCH V.O.N. CELEBRATES THIS YEAR ITS 20TH BIRTHDAY

Campaign for Members Now Being Carried On

V

The Napanee branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses is this year celebrating the twentieth anniversary of its founding. The branch was organized on November 9th 1923 at a meeting held in the Town Hall, at which Mayor A. MacGregor presided. A number of interested citizens of the town attended the meeting and Miss Stevenson, an inspector of the Order, from Ottawa was present and gave an address in which she outlined the history of the organization and its aims and objects. The V. O. N was founded in 1897 by Lady Aberdeen, wife of the Governor General, the Earl of Aberdeen, in commemoration of the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria.

The V. O. N. is a national public health organization and has, at present, 98 branches throughout the Dominion. It is financed by voluntary subscriptions and grants from municipal and public bodies. Its primary objective is to provide nursing care for the sick in their own homes, for which patients are asked to pay 75c per visit if possible. But no patient is refused care because of inability to pay.

Nursing care is available to all citizens in the community under the direction of a physician. In addition to bedside nursing, baby clinics are conducted by the nurses each Thursday in the Armouries, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The first officers of the V. O. N in Napanee were:

President— Mrs. F. F. Miller.

1st Vice-President — Mrs. W. H. Milsap.

Secretary—Mrs. George A. Thompson.

Treasurer — Miss Mary Leamy.

Executive Committee — Father O'Connor, Reverends A. J. Terrill, A. J. Wilson, J. H. H. Coleman, W. R. Tanton and the Officer Commanding The Salvation Army Corps.

The first members of the Board were the following:

Mrs. Wm. Bell, Mrs. Wm. Bell, Jr., St. Mary Magdalene — Mrs. W. S. Herrington, Mrs. W. Doller, Mrs. A. T. Harshaw.

Grace Methodist Church — Mrs. Ross Symington, Mrs. G. W. Gibbard, Mr. G. W. Gibbard.

Trinity Methodist Church — Mrs. Rudd Perry, Mrs. H. Chevrier, Dr. W. H. Milsap.

St. Patrick's Church — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams, Miss Mary Noonan, Mrs. P. Gleeson.

Salvation Army — Mr. York, Miss Miller, Mr. Hardwick.

St. Andrew's Church — Mrs. E. J. Cockill, Mrs. J. B. Willoughby, Mr. A. MacGregor.

The presidents who have held office since the founding of the branch are: Mrs. F. F. Miller, Mrs. Geo. H. Switzer, Mrs. R. G. Guthrie, Mr. G. E. Smith, Miss Lenore Herrington, Mrs. W. A. Ashley, and the present president, Mrs. T. J. Hunt.

The nurses who have been in charge of the work since its inception are: Miss Gardiner, November 1923 to March 1925. Miss Barclay, March 1925 to October 1925; Miss Marjorie Robertson, October 1925 to December 1926. Miss C. Lambert, December 1926 to July 1927. Miss Lillian Lauder August 1927 to 1938. Miss K. F. Decker, 1938 to 1943, and Miss Mary Morrison, September 1943 to the present time.

The V. O. N. has, this week, launched its annual campaign for members and during the present week and next week canvassers will be calling at homes and business places to secure membership fees.

The work of the Victorian Order Nurse in Napanee is well known and in all the efforts of the branch to secure funds and support it is heartily commended to all the citizens of the community.

4½ Tons Scrap Paper Gathered by I.O.D.E. Last Salvage Day

The I.O.D.E. in its salvage collection last Thursday secured about 4½ tons of paper together with a large quantity of other scrap material. The average amount of paper gathered on the monthly salvage days has been from two to three tons.

Paper is extremely scarce and every citizen is urged to save as much as possible.

Deer Seen Near Roblin

While fox hunting in the Roblin area last week a party of hunters had turned their dogs loose in a swamp near the village and in no time the animals were giving tongue. Figuring the path the fox would take the men hurried to the spot and before getting there a large deer crossed the fields and headed towards Croydon. Apparently, from reports, the dogs turned the deer and brought it back near where it was first started. In doing so the deer ran through the station property and into the bush.

It is unusual for deer to be found in this section so far south in the county, but several hunters have seen tracks around Forest Mills as well as Roblin.

LOCAL BATTERY AT CENTREVILLE

On Thursday evening of last week the 47th Field Battery R.C.A. (R.), was in the village of Centreville for its regular parade and drill.

The members were transported in troop lorries from the local Armouries and arrived about 8:45 at the Municipal Hall, where a good crowd of people from that locality gathered to see the various weapons and equipment the Battery took along with them.

Brief explanations of the uses of the equipment and arms were given by members of the unit and demonstrations of rifle and squad work were also put on.

The unit was under the command of Major C. E. Jamieson, O.C. Lieut. W. Whitely and Second Lieutenant McPhee who also spoke to the audience in regard to serving in the unit. Several signified their intention of [illegible] part of a troop in the vicinity is good.

NEW INVASION FORCE LANDED NEAR ROME MAKES PROGRESS

Russians Relieve Siege of Leningrad

WEDNESDAY —

Russian forces broke through strong German defense lines on the Leningrad front and were reported pushing on at this point and at another north of Novgorod.

Canadian troops gained their first objectives in a new offensive in the Pescara area, after a terrific 12-hour barrage.

• • •

Allied heavy and medium bombers dropped almost twenty tons of explosives on a Japanese troop camp in Northern Burma, earlier in the week.

• • •

THURSDAY —

Rome was temporarily isolated from the north by Allied bombers. All railroads except one line leading down the east coast were cut.

• • •

British troops of the Fifth Army in Italy crossed the Garigliano River and established bridgeheads at three points.

• • •

In twin thrusts to free Leningrad from its two and a half year siege, the Russians advanced twelve miles through the city's outskirts, on a 25-mile front.

• • •

FRIDAY —

British units of the Fifth Army captured the town of Minturno, two miles beyond the Garigliano River. A heavy battle along the whole front on the Minturno area was reported in progress.

• • •

The Russian Army captured the city of Novgorod after six days fighting in the new northern offensive.

• • •

A new mass attack on Berlin—the eleventh since November 18th—was made by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. on Thursday night.

• • •

• • •

United States bombers conducted four new raids on the Japanese in the Marshall Islands, damaging two cruiser, three ships and causing other destruction.

SATURDAY—

Thursday night the heaviest air raid of the war was carried out against Berlin. More than 2,300 tons of bombs were dropped in 30 minutes. On Friday, 2,000 tons of bombs were directed to the Pas de Calais area of Northern France.

• • •

The Russians, broadening their front in an effort to pry the Nazis from the Leningrad area, captured a vital rail junction on Friday. As a result the siege of Leningrad was lifted and the Russians will be able to give more attention to Finland.

• • •

Activity in Italy was very slight on Friday. The Nazis are reported to be building powerful new defenses in the rear of the Gustav line about 65 miles south of Rome.

• • •

United States submarines accounted for twelve more Japanese cargo vessels in the South Pacific.

• • •

The Germans raided London area the eighteenth consecutive night on Friday night losing 11 bombers and causing a number of casualties in the London area.

• • •

MONDAY —

In the most powerful amphibious assault since the Salerno landing last September British United States and French forces landed on Saturday morning on the Italian west coast below Rome and the main German defense lines. The beachhead has been steadily enlarged since the landing and the invader penetrated several miles inland.

• • •

Russian forces drove south from Leningrad and threatened two towns through which nearly 250,000 Nazi troops must pass if they hope to avoid capture or death.

• • •

Manchuria was the chief target of the R.A.F. on Friday night, but Berlin was also visited by a smaller force of heavy bombers and mosquitoes.

• • •

TUESDAY —

The Allied invasion army which landed south of Rome on Saturday was reported widening its bridgehead and consolidating its position. The Allied Fifth Army was up against a terrific counter-attack in the United States held sector which forced the Americans back across the Rapido River.

• • •

The strongest Russian Army south of Leningrad was reported nearly in a position to launch a new offensive of escape for the 250,000 Nazis who have held the siege of Leningrad for many months.

• • •

The Chinese drive to clear a road for the new supply route to China through Northern Burma was reported to be continuing without much opposition.

• • •

United States heavy bombers blasted Western Germany again on Monday night. Hundreds of medium and fighter - bombers kept up the attack on the mystery targets in the Pas de-Calais area.

• • •

The Nazis are said to have ordered the evacuation of women and children from the French Mediterranean coast.

The regular weekly tea was held in the Red Cross rooms on Saturday afternoon with a splendid attendance. Mrs. Harry Johnson and Mrs. Scobie Phippen were hostesses.

An urgent plea is being made for old blankets all wool, clean, for the making of Dive Bomber belts, also any old furs or pieces of fur for Seamen's vests.

The annual meeting of the Red Cross Society, Napanee, branch, will be held Wednesday, January 26th, at 8:00 p.m. sharp. A cordial invitation is issued to the public to attend.

An extra number of turtle-neck sweaters was received on Saturday in the knitting department.

BUSY SESSION COUNTY COUNCIL AT FIRST MEETING

Members Appointed to Standing Committees

County Council met for its 1944 inaugural session in the Council Chamber in the Court House Tuesday afternoon, January 17th, 1944. All members present.

Rev. Archdeacon Dumbrille opened the session with a short service and an address congratulating the members and the Warden-elect. Reeve J. G. Daly on having been called upon for important duties.

Moved by Mr. Brandon, seconded by Mr. Drew, that Reeve John Geale Daly be elected County Warden for the year 1944. Unanimous.

The Warden was escorted to the chair by ex-Warden Courneya and Sheriff Haycock.

County Solicitor Gerald F. Smith administered the oath of office to the newly-elected warden.

A number of ex-members of the Council present, also offered their congratulations to the warden.

Mr. Daly made a fitting reply expressing his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him.

The Warden then called Mr. Courneya to the dais, and on behalf of the 1943 Council presented him with a cane, to which ex-Warden Courneya made a fitting reply.

Messrs. Drew and Bryden moved that Council go into Committee of the Whole to strike the standing committees for the year.

An amendment by Messrs. Brandon and Stratton, named Messrs. Stratton Creighton, Breault, Bulch, Scott, McLeod, Ham, Johnston, Milligan and Ward as the committee to strike standing committees.

Mr. McLeod asked for the yeas and nays on Mr. Drew's motion: Yeas 7, nays 9. Motion lost. Dr. Stratton's motion was carried.

Council adjourned for the benefit of the committee to strike standing committees.

The committee reported recommending the standing committees as follows:—

Finance — Messrs. McLeod, Breault, Creighton, Milligan, Perry.

County Property — Messrs. Stratton, Brandon, Ward Bulch, Scott.

Education and Printing — Messrs. Bryden, Thompson, Scott, Ward and Bulch.

HYDRO PROPOSES TO CONSTRUCT IN 1944 300 MILES RURAL LINES

To Provide Service for 5000 More Farms

Rural Ontario will provide an annual market for something like $4,000,000 worth of electrical appliances and equipment, and accessory materials in the post-war era, according to Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman and chief engineer of The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Already, Dr. Hogg stated, Hydro was paving the way for its part in post-war electrification programme. This week, he announced, the Commission had made representations to the Metals Controller at Ottawa for the release of additional materials during the present year.

The Hydro chairman said that, in the coming months, the Commission hoped that it would be possible to extend many existing rural lines and to add new short extensions which would make Hydro service available to an additional five or six thousand farms in Ontario and thus help increase food production. I mail, Dr. Hogg stated, proposed plans called for the construction of 300 miles of line.

Discussing Hydro's new rural rate structure, he said that 97 per cent of the provinces rural consumers had received a reduction in the cost of electricity, providing an incentive to use it more extensively. Existing consumers particularly on the farms, he stated, were using, on 'an average, only about 12½ per cent. of the electricity they might use.

"There are two basic advantages which may be enjoyed by using electricity to a greater extent on the farms," continued Dr. Hogg. "The first is an increase in production with a minimum of farm help. An adequate supply of water, which can be pumped by electricity, is import-

THE WAR AFTER THE WAR

There are not wanting signs that the post-war world will witness a struggle, not between national groups, but between groups that cut quite through all national boundaries. The line-up for that struggle is already taking shape. On the one hand those who would have the world we've left behind restored and those who would seek to bring about the new, brave world of which we dream. There can be no doubt of the impending struggle. The mails are full of propaganda; the services of writers, speakers and publicists are being pressed into service in order to prevent the upsurge of democratic spirit finding result in practical action. Throughout the whole world the common man is in revolt. He has not been at all satisfied that he has had sufficient say in the management of affairs, nor a sufficient share in the results of his toil and labor. He hopes, from the present struggle, to see a world in which he will have a larger share of both of these. In many countries besides those of the Axis there are many who would not trust the common man. It is one thing to talk about democracy, to extol it, and to sing its praises, it is quite another to permit it co-operate in business, politics and economies. There is no hope for the future unless the common man — he who fights the world's wars and pays the price, the common ordinary every - day variety of citizen, sees through the thinly-veiled attempt which will be made, indeed which is now being made, to deceive him, and unites with his brother citizen to make democracy work in all human affairs.

RACIAL ANTAGONISM

It is estimated that three million Jews have been done to death during the present war. That is a colossal figure merely as statistics go. But as representing human suffering, human sorrow, it is simply staggering. A few years ago this would have seemed impossible. We would have associated it with the darkest of the dark ages. And yet, now, almost before our very eyes, we have seen persecution of a people purely on religious grounds, in an unprecedented manner. History has nothing worse to show than the wholesale massacre of men, women, and little children, for no other reason than an accident of birth.

What can be done about it? Probably not a great deal while the war is on, but so soon as hostilities cease, the remaining Jews should be given a chance to work out their destiny unhindered. This was the clear intention of the Balfour declaration. This declaration was passed on November 2nd, 1917, by His Majesty's Government. It stated that: "It viewed with favour the establishment in Palestine, of a national home for the Jewish people, and would use its best endeavours to facilitate the achievement of this object."

Since then the population of Palestine has increased ten fold. There has been an unprecedented development in every line—agriculture, manufacturing, education, scientific investigation. Now the situation is clouded, because in 1939, under a "White Paper" Britain declared that after March 31st, 1944, all Jewish immigration to Palestine must cease, unless the Arabs consent thereto. In the debate on this White Paper in the House of Commons, in May, 1939, Winston Churchill, Leopold Amery and Herbert Morrison, members of the present War Cabinet, called the document a breach of faith, and a repudiation of the pledge contained in the Balfour Declaration.

The situation is critical. The Arabs have benefited greatly by the improved economic conditions in Palestine, due to the increased Jewish population. But Nazi intrigue always stirring up trouble, has interfered and set the Arabs against the Jews. The racial situation will undoubtedly clear up once that Nazi influence is removed.

It would seem the most natural and the most reasonable solution for the difficult Jewish problem for the British Government to stand by the Balfour Agreement and permit the establishment in Palestine, of a national home for the Jews.

"SITTING BULL"

They used to call the old Indian "Sitting Bull" because apparently he had a propensity for immobility. Probably, when men dressed in skins, roamed the woods or prairies in native attire, the problem of where they would sit and when, really never presented a problem. In these more sophiticated days, when men wear business suits and spats or on special occasions a morning coat and striped pants, the situation is a bit different. Take for example, the difficulty the Ontario Government is having in finding a place for Hon. St.Clair Gordon to sit. Hon. St.Clair Gordon is a Liberal, holding the position of Liquor Commissioner under a Progressive Conservative Government. Where will St.Clair Gordon sit? that is the question—shall he sit over among the Liberals where he belongs, because of his party affiliation, or shall he sit with the Progressive Conservatives under whom he now serves. Maybe some Solomon will be found who will solve that one.

It is really a very funny situation. The Honourable Liquor Commissioner is a Liberal Member of Parliament, yet he holds down an $8,000 job under the Crown. It will be recalled that the Hepburn Government had to pass special legislation to legalize the illegal procedure of an elected member holding a government job, and there he is. He is quite a busy business man, too. He operates a war industry in the Windsor area — a monel metal business. Now even a casual observer knows how much monel metal and plastics have been used for face-lifting the premises of beverage rooms and hotel fronts in recent years. We are not hinting that Mr. Gordon's monel metal is so used, but he is helping supply the general market from which this metal is purchased.

Now where does this man sit? That is the problem—at least it is one of the problems. Another is what does he say. He has no legal authority because he is in the Opposition. If any Member of Parliament should ask the Attorney-General why the Liquor Act was administered in such and such a way, he will have to ask Mr. St.Clair Gordon, a member of the Opposition.

Of course Mr. St.Clair Gordon can have quite a lot to say sometimes. He has been saying quite a lot to about a thousand members of the Hotel Association. He condemns the Act which he is hired to enforce, and being a Liberal and not a member of the government, he can criticise the party which keeps him in power. Funny situation! If Mr. St.Clair Gordon does not like the Act, which he is hired to enforce, and if because he is not a member of the government which makes the regulations under which he operates, the way is open for him to retire. He would still have his seat—among the Liberals, and he would even then be the envy of a lot of his erstwhile friends who have "gone with the wind."

A DARING RAID

The achievement of a landing by the United Nations behind the German lines in Italy, is good news to the people in the countries of the United Nations. There has been a good deal of worry over the situation in Italy. The hard, slow, and costly campaign up through the mountainous region of South Italy seemed too slow a process in a war of movement. It was reminiscent of the trench warfare of the First Great War, when the gain of a few yards was considered a not inconsiderable advance. It was hoped by the United Nations that the experience of the former war would not have to be repeated in this. The German General Staff too, had built their whole strategy around the "Blitz" idea—a sudden hammer blow that the enemy could not withstand. But the Germans under pressure in Italy, changed their tactics, and planned a defensive action which would delay the advance of the United Nations until the Spring, which accounts for the ferocity with which they defended every inch of the way.

Now, however, the United Nations have taken advantage of the situation caused by the German determination to fling every last man into the fray, leaving the coastal area largely without reserves. The United Nations struck at the right moment. They have landed behond the German front line Detailed news is meagre, but it seems as though the British armies have succeeded in penetrating quite a distance inland. For some days the communication lines north of Rome had been bombed by the Allies; indeed Rome was cut off from the north for several days. The Airforce of the United Nations will not have overlooked the necessity of keeping those communications closed, and if the armies act quick enough it may be that the whole German force now facing the United Nations in the north will be cut off from their base of supplies. This would hasten the fall of Rome, and incidentally inflict a crushing defeat, not only to the German field forces, but to German prestige, both at home and abroad.

The landing was daringly conceived and accurately carried out, with a minimum of loss to our gallant men.

HITLER BELIEVED PLOTTING HAVEN IN SOUTH AMERICA

The New York World-Telegram said last week in a dispatch from Washington that the U.S. State Department had been warned by sources inside Argenina that Hitler has "prepared a future haven" for himself in that South American country.

The dispatch also said that the State Department has been informed that the Nazis engineered the Ramirez revolution in Argentina and that Germany is lirfing up other South American countries against the United States.

"When the Nazis saw defeat staring them in the face at Tunis, according to the report, they realized it was time to prepare a haven for themselves and their capital. The United Nations had made it clear they had intended to punish all Axis war criminals and the Nazi leaders realized that no European neutral could offer protection.

Aemrican Haven

"They knew that they could find real safety only in a country they could control through subterfuge—what better place could Hitler find than a country in the New World easy to prepare as a haven and one which the United States would hesitate to invade for fear of being accused of imperialism by her other good neighbors?

"Thus," the dispatch continued "it is plain that Germany began a systematic study of Argentina's hopes fears and weaknesses. The Nazis 'corrupted her politicians, bribed her officials, spread propaganda through the press, radio and church and finally furnished the will and the push to engineer a crafty revolution to meet her needs."

The dispatch gave no further details of Hitler's plan or the report's authorship, but said that the document asserts that by winning the "battle of Argentina," the Nazi have attacked the Western Hemisphere on the ideological front at its weakest point."

"The document concludes," the dispatch said, "with a plea that the United States take immediate steps —economic to begin with, military if necessary — to bring about an early downfall of Argentina's dictator and restore the country to its people, the majority of whom is held are pro-democratic."

Hull Non-Commital

U.S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull said recently he hoped soon to be able to announce the findings of the investigation being conducted by 19 American Governments into Nazi influences in South America.

The process of exchange of information between the countries necessarily is a long process, he told his press conference, but it would be terminated as soon as possible.

Hull linked the study of the South American situation — which resulted from the coup d'etat in Bolivia — the situation in regard to Argentina and pro-Nazi activities there.

He was asked about a report published by the World-Telegram last week that Hitler has "prepared a future haven" in Argentina. The dispatch from the paper's Washington bureau, said scurces inside Argentina has so advised the State Department.

Sometimes, Hull replied, when people wanat to believe something they will believe it anyhow regardless of what is said about it. He said that if there was such a report he believed it would come along with the complete South American report.

When correspondents pointed out that in the absence of affirmation or denial, the inference would be that the report was true, Hull replied that many reports were being circulated. He would neither affirm or deny this one.

"SHOWER CURTAINS"

It works this way, rubber company officials here explain. Norwegian sailors found that, after they had been shipwrecked or torpedoed, the papers recording their origins, histories and ratings usually had been made illegible by immersion in salt or oily water. So, because lack of papers frequently delayed their return to active duty, they devised some envelopes of shower curtain fabric coated with Koroseal, a limestone-coke-salt synthetic material. Impermeably sealed by pressure of a hot flatiron, the envelopes stayed watertight, despite long immersion which by 1630 (4:30 p.m.) had reduced her speed to 20 knots.

Though the enemy fire was always accurate and the ship was straddled time and again, the Duke of York received only two minor hits which penetrated the masts.

Masterly handling of his ship by Capt. Guy Russell, who commanded the Duke of York, can have been the only reason why she was not more seriously damgaed.

By 1824 (6:24 p.m.) the range had opened undue and, as a reduction in speed had not yet become apparent, the Duke of York ceased firing, as fire could not be effective at such a distance, and the enemy did likewise.

A few minutes later she was seen to open fire again with all her armament at a much closer range. This proved to be the destroyers of the Duke of York's screen, who had been creeping up on the Scharnhorst, waiting for a chance to get close enough to deliver a torpedo attack.

Damage inflicted by the Duke of York's gunfire by now had made itself felt and the Scharnhorst had slowed down to 20 knots. The destroyers had an opportunity which they seized with both hands.

About 1845 (6:45 p.m.) the Savage and Saumarez swept in on the starboard bow of the enemy and the Scorpion and Stord on the port bow under murderous fire from the Scharnhorst's guns. They pressed on undaunted and the range was under one mile when each in turn fired torpedoes point-blank and turned away under smoke to make good their escape.

Only the Saumarez was hit and sustained damage to her upper works one officer and ten ratings killed and 11 ratings wounded.

EXPLOSIONS HEARD

At appropriate intervals at least three underwater explosions were clearly heard by the Duke of York. From then on the fate of the Scharnhorst was sealed.

The Duke of York had been steadily gaining on her but she still was making fair speed and firing all her guns at the destroyers when at 1901 (7:01 p.m.) the Duke of York again opened fire. From then on she was repeatedly hit by 14-inch shells. Internal fires glowed and flashes of exploding ammunition were seen. She started to circle her speed gradually dropping until at 1928 (7:28 p.m.) she almost stopped steering to the north.

At 1932 (7:32 p.m.) the Duke of York ceased fire to allow the Jamaica which had been detached for the purpose, to close in and finish her off with torpedoes.

Other forces by this time were on the spot. Admiral Burnett on the Belfast, with the Norfolk, who had been engaging whenever they had the opportunity, now closed in from the northwest and the destroyers Musketeer, Matchless, Opportune and Virago arrived from the west, where they had been acting as guard in case the Scharnhorst broke back in that direction.

TORPEDOES USED

Between 1931 (7:31 p.m.) and 1940 (7:40 p.m.) the Belfast and Jamaica attacked with torpedoes from one side of the Scharnhorst and the destroyers from the other. Many hits were scored and it is impossible to say at present what ship or ships may have fired the final shot. It can only be said that somewhere between those times she received the coup de grace and sank in position not far to the northward of North Cape.

It only remained to carry out a search of the area for possible survivors and other evidence of her end, and this resulted in the Matchless picking up, of six and the Scorpion 30 from the sea. So the action ended.

The cruisers had by their dogged pugnacity given safe conduct to the convoy and delivered the enemy to the Duke of York. The Duke of York fought the Scharnhorst hard, skilfully and well, and after being subjected to the full weight of the enemy's fire for over an hour and a half won a capital ship gun action many pended animation. At any rate the girl was restored whole to her parents, recovered completely and, to my knowledge, suffered no relapse. But we ought to say that, for reason, to conclude that this reminds impossible did not happen.

The title of the lesson, however, gives us the cue to the use to be made of it. It is "Jesus Uses His Power to Help." We live in a power-driven, high-powered era, high-powered engines, high-powered planes, high-powered tanks. What a world this would be if the power we have were used for helping rather than for destruction. In all the long history of the world there never was such a demonstration of misapplied power as that which we are witnessing today —the wholesale wanton destruction of men, women and little children. The accumulated treasure of a thousand years destroyed in less time than it takes to write about it. The control over the power of nature which has marked our generation, has been accompanied by a decline in those spiritual forces which alone can make safe in our hands, these great forces. Only a deep sense of responsibility born out of faith in God, will enable us to use the powers we have to help rather than destroy.

All this, however, is a fairly general statement to which an easy assent would be given by all of us. But when it is broken down into more intimate and personal statements, the force of the lesson becomes more challenging. For the possession of power is not the prerogative of the great. In differing proportions, each possesses mental, moral and spiritual power. We have power we have used to help? Jesus used His power to help—what about the power we have? Take for example our social power, to some extent each has power to mix with people, to influence them. How is that used? A few women in every community have the power to set the social standards of that area. How is it used? The young people who in the last post-war era abused that social power, are old now. What have they to show for the abused power which were theirs; nothing in all probability but regrets. Each in his of her place, has power. The abuse of power on a world-wide scale is due to the way men and women in their own personal lives and in the community they live, neglect to use their power to help and to serve.

SUGAR QUOTA IS ANNOUNCED

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Prices Board announces that sugar for 1944 home canning will be made available through 10 spare "F" coupons in ration Book No. 3 now being used by consumers.

The board said consumers will thus be provided with a standard allotment of ten pounds of sugar per person for home canning purposes, but households wishing to do more canning will be able to supplement this amount by using their preserves coupons for the purchase of sugar.

The special coupons will be exchangeable for preserves coupons on application to local ration boards at the rate of one "F" coupon for one preserves coupon.

The first of the canning sugar coupons will become valid July 1st.

The "F" coupons from one to 10 will each be valid for the purchase of one pound of sugar. If all the 1944 preserves coupons are also used to obtain canning sugar the total obtained will be 23 pounds for one person.

SCHARNHORST'S LAST FIGHT DESCRIBED BY ADMIRAL SIR BRUCE FRASER

A British Northern Naval Base,— (C.P.) — A daring attack and pursuit by three British cruisers and an audacious torpedo onslaught by four destroyers at a range of less than one mile earned high credit by Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser for the December 26 destruction of the German battleship Scharnhorst under the big guns of the Duke of York.

The entire action was fought in the Arctic night north of North Cape, Norway, Admiral Fraser said in writing his own account of the battle for Arthur Oakeshott, Reuters news agency correspondent with the Home Fleet. The Duke of York the cruiser Norfolk and the destroyer Sumarez suffered minor damage from the Scharnhorst's shells, he stated.

The Home Fleet commander's calm matter-of-fact narrative, which did not mention the experience of any other German ships, follows:

At 0800 (8 a.m.) on December 26th the Duke of York (Admiral Fraser's flagship), with H.M. cruiser Jamaica astern and the destroyers Savage, Saumarez Scorpion and the Norwegian Stord acting as anti-submarine screen, was some way to the westward of the eventual scene of battle, steering to the eastward.

The weather during the previous night had been extremely bad and few people, even in the battleship, had had much sleep. There is no daylight in these latitudes, though there is a period of twilight at the middle of the day. The whole of the main action was started in the afternoon, was therefore fought in the dark.

At 0820 Admiral R. L.Burnett with the force of cruisers was at this time to the southward of the Russian Bound convoy which was in the latitude of Bear Island. He himself was on the Belfast, with the Norfolk and Sheffield in company. The convoy was escorted by destroyers and corvettes.

About 0930 Admiral Burnett sighted the Scharnhorst at long range, steering toward the convoy. Speed was increased to 27 knots and all three cruisers opened fire, the Norfolk obtaining a hit.

This engagement lasted until 1030, when touch with the enemy was lost due to her superior speed in the weather conditions prevailing. She was last seen steering off to the northeast having been driven off from the convoy by the determined attack of Admiral Burnett and his cruisers.

During this time my force still was many miles to the westward, proceeding at speed with the intention of getting between the Scharnhorst and her base at Alterfjord.

CONVOY GUARDED

Admiral Burnett, who was joined by the destroyers Musketeer, Matchless Opportune and Virago from the convoy escort, now raced back to support the convoy in case the enemy should attempt another attack on it.

About 1230 the expected happened and the enemy reappeared from the westward, making toward the convoy. The cruisers were stationed ahead of it, opened fire, as did the enemy, obtaining a hit on the Norfolk, killing one officer and six ratings and seriously injuring another six.

The Sharnhorst now fled to the southward with the cruisers in close pursuit. The pursuit to southward lasted all afternoon. Admiral Burnett had fleeting glimpses of the enemy and was able to keep me informed of the enemy's movements, my force coming up from the west, and to the south of Burnett.

From this invaluable information I was able to decide a course on which I must steer to intercept the Scharnhorst before she got too near her base.

The stage now was set for the main action, the Scharnhorst being pursued by the cruiser force with dogged persistence and the Duke of York making all speed to intercept to maximum advantage.

DUKE OF YORK OPENS FIRE

During the flight the enemy altered course which enabled me to engage a little earlier than I had expected. It actually was at 1649 (4:49 p.m.) the Duke of York, having turned to southward, parallel to the Scharnhorst, illuminated her with a starshell at a range of just under six miles.

At 1650 (4:40 p.m.) the Duke of York opened fire with a broadside of her 14-inch guns, followed by her 5.25's and the Jamaica's six-inch Although the enemy fired a star-shell it was not until 10 minutes later, at 1700 (5 p.m.) that she opened fire with her 11-inch on the Duke of York.

From then on until 1824 (6:24 p.m.) the Duke of York and the Scharnhorst fired at each other continuously, the latter's tactics being to fire a broadside and then turn away so that her length was hidden and only the narrow width of her beam presented as a target.

With her superior speed the Scharnhorst was gradually drawing out of effective range. Several hits had by this time been observed and one obtained at about 1806 (6:06 p.m.) succeeded in inflicting damage which by 1830 (6:30 p.m.) had reduced her speed to 20 knots.

Though the enemy fire was always accurate and the ship was straddled time and again, the Duke of York received only two minor hits which penetrated the masts.

Masterly handling of his ship by Capt. Guy Russell, who commanded the Duke of York, can have been the only reason why she was not more seriously damgaed.

By 1824 (6:24 p.m.) the range had opened undue and, as a reduction in speed had not yet become apparent, the Duke of York ceased firing, as fire could not be effective at such a distance, and the enemy did likewise.

A few minutes later she was seen

869,321 MEN JOIN FORCES, STATISTICS SHOW

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The take of men into the armed forces from the start of the war to September 30th was 869,321 disclosed in statistics of the War-time Information Board published in its monthly "Canada At War."

The figure does not present strength of the forces but allowance for retirements and casualties leaving for 1,741 men who have withdrawn outside the enrolments compulsory in Canada, were 867,580 at the end of the month or the end of 18 months.

BY DISTRICTS

The tabulation breaks down men's by Military Districts. Military District No. 2 — Toronto — has the others with a total of 197,335 men or 42.7 per cent. of the population of male of that district.

Intake in other districts with percentage to male population in brackets, had:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| M.D. 11 | Victoria | |
| M.D. 6 | Halifax | |
| M.D. 7 | St. John, N.B. | |
| M.D. 10 | Winnipeg | |
| M.D. 3 | Kingston | |
| M.D. 13 | Calgary | |
| M.D. 12 | Regina | |
| M.D. 4 | Montreal | |
| M.D. 5 | Quebec | |

The navy's total intake was 73,757, Army, 58,106; Air Force 264,458.

PEACE-DOWN

The Army total was intended to show voluntary enlistments under the National Resources Mobilization Act and transfers from other services and volunteers for the regular force.

Appointments and enlistments voluntary total 360,995 exclusive of the N.R.M.A. 129,646 transfers total intake of 627,258. That total was increased to 742,000 when reckoned on outside Canada and by 37,939 men who went to the Navy or Air Force after being called up volunteered for special service and thus reduced the total of volunteer enlistments and enlistments.

Figures on transfers from the Army and Air Force to other services are not given but a note attached to the table says the numbers were small.

The foundation of Canada's fighting figure is indicated by the increases in all branches of the services rendered to the public by Transport Controller Gordon Conant. The volume of express carried was nearly 10% greater in 1943 than it was during the first year of operation and last year's figure was the greatest in the company's history. It was greater and more than 88 times as many passengers were carried.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JANUARY 30TH, 1944

"JESUS USES HIS POWER TO HELP"

The News-Chronicle, of London England, recently carried the story of the death of a man who was a soldier in the First Great War. He was seriously injured in that war and after examination was entitled to a pension on a 100 per cent. disability. A short time after that he went to Lourdes, in France, in search of health — explain it as you will the man was cured. But because he was not cured in the orthodox way, because neither a civilian or an army doctor could issue a certificate that he had cured the man the Government continued to pay his pension of a hundred per cent. disability for 29 years after his health had been restored. Even governments departments to say nothing of great numbers of individuals, refuse to believe in the reality of experiences or events which are not done in the way to which they have been accustomed. And history is full of examples of men of vision and insight who have been ridiculed, mocked at and persecuted because they insisted on a truth as they saw it, which was different from the accepted view of things.

We cannot tell what was the secret of Christ's power. We do not know how he brought peace to those in the boat on the Sea of Galilee suffice it surely that the disciples in their turmoil and fear were calmed, strengthened and had their self-control and confidence restored when Jesus took charge of the situation. It is the contemporary that He should have interfered with the laws of nature to have restored peace, quietness, confidence in the midst of a storm which, till He spoke, had the little group in the throes of panic. While Jesus did not contradict the laws of nature, He used them in ways we have not yet learned. Just as the soldier healed at Lourdes was cured in a way that would neither be explained nor believed by the Pensions Department of the British Government.

In the next section of the lesson we have the account of the restoration to life and health of the daughter of the ruler of the synagogue. Once again we are in the presence of the inexplicable. The young girl was pronounced dead, Jesus was called, and taking her by the hand, said to her, "Get up little girl," and she arose. When Jesus said to the ruler "she is not dead but asleepeh" He may have recognized a state of sus-

DORLAND

Dorland, Jan. 22. — The recent mild spell has removed most of the ice formed from the road, and put a little addition in curlers, but farmers would be glad of enough snow to be able to draw wood, etc., and to cover meadows and fall grain.

The first meeting of the Women's Association for the new year was held at the home of Mrs. Russell Cousins on Wednesday afternoon, and plans were made for the year's work.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bird and Mr. Frances Bird were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Church, Milford, on Wednesday last.

A euchre in aid of Red Cross funds was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Brooks one evening this week, and a tidy sum was realized.

Mrs. R. K. Mazee returned home on Monday, after a few days treatment in Kingston General Hospital.

Skating on Hay Bay has been very popular and some have driven quite a distance to enjoy this winter sport. On account of so many cracks, only some parts of the bay are fit for skating.

BETHEL

Bethel, Jan. 21. — The weather, so far in January, has been ideal, and the farmers are taking advantage of it by cutting and hauling wood and cutting ice and filling ice houses.

Mr. George Jaynes has purchased a new Peterborough skiff and will be all ready for the first fishing when the lake has opened up.

Mrs. Percy Galbraith is spending this week end in Belleville visiting her sister, Miss Orpha Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ball spent Tuesday in Kingston, the guest of their son, Earl, and Mrs. Ball.

It was learned today that Mr. David Gowdy, an elderly resident and much esteemed citizen of Colebrook, who has been confined to his home for some weeks, was taken to the Kingston General Hospital, suffering from a fog ailment. It was expected he will have to have his foot amputated. His friends hope it will be a successful operation.

It was with deep regret the many friends of Mrs. Jack Beattie learned recently that she had received a telegram from Ottawa notifying her that her son, Gordon Allan, who is serving overseas, was missing while in service in Italy. No further official word has been received up to date. We all join in hoping he is only a prisoner-of-war, and that she will be hearing from him again in the near future.

Mrs. E. D. McKnight and Mrs. Wm. Jackson accompanied Mrs. Percy Galbraith as far as Napanee today, and returned home with Mr. Galbraith.

Aims ToMake "Gas" Coupons Theft Proof

Special Colour for Each Coupon — After April 1st — Expect Three Gallon Value To Be Continued.

In an effort to halt the increasing number of theft-gasoline ration coupons, which are finding their way into the market, the Oil Control Department will have what is considered a "foolproof" coupon on April 1st.

The new coupons will be coloured according to the category in which the motorist is placed. The colour will go clean through the paper, which is being specially manufactured for the Oil Control Department.

Drivers will be required to write the number of their motor vehicle on the face of each coupon before the service station operator is permitted to sell gasoline.

With the introduction of a specially prepared book it is hoped to overcome the loose coupon racket. The book will be so bound that it is believed it will be impossible for any person to illegally present a coupon at any service station.

It is understood that the present value of each coupon — three gallons — will remain when the new books are issued April 1st.

ant in operating a dairy farm while milk costing and refrigeration was being given more study by farmers. Good kindergarten for his small son and store products for his own use. The second factor advantageous to the city, he said, was that when making his farm a more comfortable and entertainment of on which to live, he was putting the city in a position to sell its system, his modern household appliances, at very reasonable prices. Now that the farm will be a more attractive place to live, that young people will be more inclined to stay with agriculture.

He also strongly emphasized the importance of a more industrial labour and the former and declared that both must co-operate hand in hand if they were to enjoy mutual prosperity. Both must have the highest possible standard of living. He pointed out, however, that the former is far from the case. At the present time, the farmer represented a large market for industry's products. In Canada, he pointed out, approximately 27 per cent of our industrial production was absorbed by the farmers.

In the post-war era, he emphasized, efforts must be made to increase the fast industrial worker and farmers are equally important to the stability of our economic system.

INTERESTING TALKS — ON — WILD IFE

LENNOX AND ADDINGTON FISH AND GAME PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION HOLDS FIRST MEETING IN YEAR 1944

The enthusiasm shown at the meeting of the above association, held in the basement of the Strathcona Hotel, Napanee, on Friday, Jan. 21st, was an omen for the year of the year 1944 promises to be filled with good things in store for the members. Promptly at 8:30 p.m. President Major P. K. Hutcheson called the meeting to order and after the regular business was disposed of a varied and interesting program was enjoyed by the members.

Following the annual meeting of the Federation of Anglers and Hunters were appointed. Reports of the several fox hunts, arranged by the secretary, Fred Cornell, were heard. The report of the delegation to the County Council was given by the vice-president, D. Bergin.

The president reported his success at a meeting with the Minister of Game and Fisheries Hon. Mr. Dunbar, having the Department stock sections of area of Hungarian partridge to be released in the County. This news, he said, should be received will make a marvellous improvement in upland game for the benefit of the hunters of the county at large.

After the business had been dealt with, a wild life sound picture was shown of bird migration, all agreeing that it was a wonderful. The mass of ducks, geese, plover swallows etc. photographed, dwarfs the imagination.

Mr. Austin Peters, president of the Frontenac Rod and Gun Club of Kingston, addressed the meeting. He gave a wonderful description of a recent count of a goose hunting trip to James Bay that was Fall Together with a group of four others, he went to Moosonee on the Inlet of James Bay and from there to the goose feeding grounds where samples of the famous Blue Goose were obtained. Pictures were shown of this and other trips over the same area, photographed by Austin Peters which at the least were marvels of beauty. One of the most colorful parts were the working of the retriever "Susie" Lloyd Cockburn, of the R.C.O.C. at Barriefield gave a talk of the game and wild life of that area where he had lived with his family for a number of years, illustrating his talk with pictures. One of these was the capturing, alive, of a male and female wolf and the subsequent taming of them till they would run on a farm loose, with no more concern than an ordinary dog. Lieut. Cockburn, in his modest and unassuming way thrilled his listeners and left a desire in the minds of everyone to make the trip as soon as possible.

Prof. Curran, of Queen's, also spoke of the work done in Kingston at the University, where he is Prof. of Biology, and invited all who could to come to the meeting of the Rod and Gun Club in Kingston, Thursday, Jan. 27.

Mr. Regan thanked the various speakers and the president thanked Mr. Ron. VanLuven for coming to Napanee and bringing his sound projector for the entertainment of the Napanee Association.

LIONS CLUB ENTERTAINS ON EDUCATION NIGHT

Dr. J. G. Althouse, Principal of the Ontario College of Education, Toronto, who was the guest speaker on Education night at the Napanee Lions Club's annual Education Night, spoke on the subject "Our Educational Problems."

Dr. Althouse stressed the responsibility of educators in helping to produce a vigorous citizenship in an effective democracy. In order to produce such a citizenry, he said, young people must be instilled with a sensitivity to a common purpose which will disregard factions and self-interest. They must get the habit of co-operation to attain these purposes and build up for themselves a scale of values which will subordinate the less important to the more important. These essentials of citizenship can be taught in school, he said, more easily now than for in years because young people have discovered the thrill and satisfaction of service in these days of crisis. They are vastly more educatable than they would be under ordinary circumstances. Educators have a great opportunity and a great challenge.

The Althouse was introduced by Robert Smith and the thanks of the club were extended to him by John Hanna.

The programme which was arranged by Gerald F Smith and his committee, included the singing of the national anthem at the opening of the various matters by several members of the club who were born or lived in other countries than Canada. The national song of France was sung by H. H. Rollo of Greenwood, John Dumont of Norway by R. Thomas of Wales by Mervin Dowsley and the United States by Walter Hobbs.

Dr. Whidden, a young British war veteran, and Thirtell Always be at Home" and the whole gathering joined in "The Maple Leaf Forever."

Brief words of welcome were by members of the Board of Education and the A'vsary Vocational Committee. Dr. Althouse, Dr. Phillips Scott and the Collegiate and Public Schools and the Collegiate and Public Schools by C F Jamieson and Albert Hill. The thanks were extended a welcome to the meeting by Gerald F Smith.

GALA BIRTHDAY PARTY

Queen of Sheba Rebekah Lodge celebrated its 26th birthday on Monday, January 24th, in a novel and delightful manner. Mrs. Harry Babcock, in her usual gracious manner, welcomed the members and many of their families and friends to enjoy the evening's program of talented entertainers from Belleville.

Bunny Boy Smith, in his inimitable manner, delighted the audience with his collection, modern and old-time numbers, so skilfully played on his real guitar. As a magician, his tricks with cards, handkerchief and rope held his audience in suspense and evoked hearty laughter. As a special treat he played and sang many selections, using his very rare electric guitar.

Miss Madeline Waldren was a very youthful accomplished dancer, and in a rainbow costume, gracefully performed a difficult acrobatic dance. Again, in a picturesque "Kilts and bonnet" costume, she thrilled the audience with her very neat and splendidly timed tap dancing.

Miss Margaret Fox, a prettily gowned young soloist, gave two well received solos in her first a love song. She showed great promise of becoming a very popular singer, and in her second number, a modern patriotic favorite, she sang sweetly, with excellent diction.

Mrs. Grace Calvert, at the piano, was a very able accompanist for the young ladies.

The Noble Grand lighted the many candles on the very attractive birthday cake and Mrs. Mervin Silk, a charter member, rose to cut the cake. Refreshments, served by the members, brought to a close one of the most interesting birthday celebrations of the Lodge.

OBITUARIES

MARY ELLEN McKEOWN

Mrs. Mary E. McKeown, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Centreville and district, passed away on Tuesday 17th 1944 at her home, in her 88th year. About two years ago Mrs. McKeown sustained a fall which resulted in a broken hip but her condition did not become critical until a few days before her death.

Mrs. McKeown was born near Croydon, Ont. on June 21st, 1856 and spent all her life in Camden Township. She was the daughter of the late Jas. and Eleanor Campbell. Her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Hawley Lasher, predeceased her. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, Stanley, of Centreville, and Anson, of Newburgh Road, also ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Her funeral was conducted from the home of her son, Stanley, to Centreville United Church, where her pastor, Rev. Mr. Frair, took charge of the service. The hymns were favourites of the deceased and the choir sang "No Night There."

The remains were placed in the Tamworth vault until spring when she will be buried in the Centreville Cemetery.

FRANK GRAHAM

Frank Graham, who was in his 74th year, died suddenly of a heart seizure in his room at the Y.M.C.A. Belleville, Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 18. He had just reached his room and wife talking to his room mate when he was stricken and died immediately.

Born near Napanee Ont. the deceased lived for many years in the Belleville district and for some time was employed by the Canada Cement Company, at Pointe Anne Of late years he lived retired. In religion he attended the United Church.

Surviving him are one step daughter, Mrs. Earl Anderson, Canniton; one step-son, William Gray, Pointe Anne; one sister, Mrs. Kine Scott Sharps Corners, and one brother William Graham, Kingston His wife died some years ago.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p.m. Thursday from the funeral home on Campbell Street, with interment at Bayside Cemetery.

MRS. FRED A. DARLING

After an illness of three months which was borne with Christian fortitude, there passed away in Kingston General Hospital on the last day of the old year, Mary Ann (Mollie) Judge, wife of the late Fred A. Darling of Moscow.

Mrs. Darling was born in the township of Hinchinbrooke, seventy-three years ago, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Judge. Her parents were of Irish descent. Mr. Judge having the distinction of being the first white man born in Hinchinbrooke. Since her marriage fifty-one years ago, Mrs. Darling had always lived in the Moscow district, where she could be counted on to help in any worthy activity of the community. Mrs. Darling was a loyal adherent of the United Church, and had for many years been a member of the Women's Missionary Society of that church.

She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving and self-sacrificing mother, four children, Chas. E. Darling, Moscow; Mrs. Claire Potter, Belleville; Mrs. Eloise Allen, Moscow; and Mrs. Carmaletta Armstrong, Moscow. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. W. A. Benn, Yarker, and a brother, Mr. E. J. Judge, Moscow.

The pall-bearers were her three sons-in-law, Messrs. W. C. Potter, Calvin Allen and T. C. Armstrong two nephews Messrs. Roy Judge and R. H. Woodruff, and a life-long friend Mr. R. E. Lampkin.

FRANK J. DETLOR

The many friends and relatives of the late Frank J. Detlor, Tamworth, were deeply shocked to hear of his sudden passing on January 15th. Although he had suffered with his heart for years no one realized he was so near the end, as he appeared in perfect health and was active up to the time of his death. With his passing went an invaluable friend and neighbor, a kind and affectionate husband and father. The many beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which he was held.

The late Frank Detlor was 49 years of age. He was born about 10 miles north of Tamworth, where he lived until he bought a farm four miles nearer Tamworth. He was a son of Darius Detlor, of Tamworth, and the late Evangeline Downs was predeceased him seven years ago.

He leaves to mourn his great loss his wife formerly Enid Potter on of Bertha Wood two children, Jordan age 15, Ethelda, age 11; his aged father Darius Detlor of Tamworth, six brothers and sisters, Mrs. C. ## ANNUAL REPORT NURSING ACTIVITIES FOR THE YEAR 1943

VICTORIAN ORDER OF NURSES NAPANEE BRANCH

The following report was presented by Miss M. Morrison, the Victorian Order Nurse, at the recently held annual meeting of the branch.

It is my privilege to present the report of the nursing activities for the year 1943. The number of patients contacted and the number of visits made (4098) during the year remain about the same. Although I do feel that some worthwhile accomplishments have been made. Our program remains much the same under the following headings: 1- Bedside Nursing 2- School Nursing 3- Child Welfare Conference, and 4- Health Supervision.

213 Cases were cared for during the year. Classification of these cases under maternity, medical, surgical and health teaching, showed a slight increase in ratio, over last year. There was a noticeable increase in visits made to medical patients. 22 confinements were attended as compared with 11 in 1942.

265 Hours were spent in the two Napanee Public Schools. The very marked increase in school attendance is making this work more strenuous. I am pleased to report that, on the whole, the general health of the students is good. During the year measles mumps and chicken pox were prevalent, at times during the year, also a number of cases of impetigo during the fall term.

The Well Baby Conferences, conducted each Thursday afternoon in the Armouries, continue to be well patronized. They are apparently much appreciated by the mothers who bring their babies and young children for guidance in matters of hygiene and nutrition. The aim is to keep the babies well and happy. Any deviation from the normal is referred to the family physician.

Health supervision visits into the home increased slightly. This is a field and one feels that much more could be done to help citizens of all ages. Prevention of illness is so much better and so much less expensive than the treatment of illness that has developed.

Although there is no increase in the nursing visits, I still feel we are not doing all we could do in the field og bedside nursing. This we hope to see increased in 1944. Trained nursing care, under the direction of the physician, with teaching of someone in the home, should be available to anyone needing this care. Nursing care by the Victorian Order Nurse is available to all — men, women and children regardless of race, colour creed or financial status. Each new case reported from any source is visited, but nursing care is given only under the direction of a physician.

Under the local Board of Health, the Annual Diphtheria Toxoid Clinic was successfully carried out. In the schools, children, who had not already had the treatment, were covered, as well as the infants and preschool children.

To all officers and members of the local branch of the Victorian Order, to all official and unofficial bodies and citizens, striving for the betterment of our community, not forgetting our local doctors, I thank you all for your support and trust it may continue in 1944.

Let our program of nursing the sick, the prevention of disease, and the promotion of health, be so broadened and far reaching, that we make our influence felt in every corner of this town.

Respectfully submitted,
MARY MORRISON.

WEDDING BELLS

THOMSON - RICHMOND

Clusters of pink and white 'mums and fern formed the setting in Carlton Street United Church, Toronto, Saturday January 15th, for the wedding of Hazel Blanche Richmond, only daughter of Rae T. Richmond formerly of Marlbank and Napanee, now in Whitby, and the late Mrs. Richmond, to Lieut. Edmund Ross Thomson, elder son of Mrs. Thomson and the late Dr. Alex. Thomson, Jr., Ottawa. Rev. J. Arthur Hunter performed the ceremony, with Norman Laird at the organ. Miss Margaret Cummings was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in ivory satin with sweetheart neckline and fitted bodice, the full skirt falling in a train. A sweetheart cap of lace held her long veil, and she carried a cascade of red roses. The gowns of both attendants were patterned after the bride's. Mrs. J. Russ was matron of honor in turquoise blue embroidered taffeta, and Miss Eva Robinson, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid in pale pink chenille taffeta. They wore pink flowered Dutch caps with shoulder-length veils and carried colonial nosegays of baby 'mums and sweet peas.

Lieut. Jack Russ, Barriefield, was groomsman, with Lieut. J. C. Webb and Lieut. P. A. Locke, Camp Borden as ushers.

Following the reception on St. George Street, the bride chose a crystal blue dress with black accessories and a feathered hat for going away. With it she wore a corsage of sweet peas and yellow roses.

NEEDHAM - DOWLING

At Hamilton on Wednesday, January 12th, the marriage took place of Irma Dowling, formerly of Napanee and daughter of Mrs. Dowling and the late Michael Dowling, of Napanee, to Mr. Bert Needham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Needham, of Hamilton, was solemnized by the Rev. Father O'Brien, in the presence of only immediate relatives and friends.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of powder blue silk with hat and accessories to match and wearing a corsage of pink roses.

Miss Frances Dowling of Toronto, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a dress of gold crepe with blue accessories. Mr. Mac Anderson supported the groom.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold cross and chain to the bridesmaid a pair of gloves, and to the groomsman a gold penknife.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, 39 Broadway Street, where a luncheon was served to a number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Later leaving on a wedding trip to Toronto and eastern points, the happy couple on their return, have taken up residence in Hamilton.

OBITUARIES

LAURENCE LYONS PRICE

Selby community learned with regret of the passing early on Monday morning, January 10, of one of her oldest and most respected citizens in the person of Laurence Lyons Price. Although in failing health since last May when he suffered a stroke Mr. Price had been confined to his bed only a few days.

Mr. Price was born in Richmond Township on October 9th, 1857, but at the age of one year moved with his parents, the late Nicholas Price and Mary Bamford, to Ernestown Township, Frontenac County. In 1887 Mr. Price married Mary Elizabeth Rogers and to them were born eight children. In 1919 the family moved to a farm west of Selby, where they have since resided.

On the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Price's golden wedding May 4 1937, the family planned a surprise celebration and a very happy time was enjoyed in the reunion of many relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Price.

The late Mr. Price although of a quiet, retiring disposition, had many friends. He was a member and faithful attendant of Selby United Church until failing health confined him to his home. Besides his widow and one sister, Mrs. W. J. Magee of Kingston, he leaves to mourn his loss two sons, George and Everett of Selby, and five daughters, Mrs. Percy Card, Belleville, Alta., Mrs. Ernest Warren of Lansdowne, Mrs. Percy Hudgins of Selby, Mrs. Melvin Pulver, Rednersville, and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds, Selby. A son, Edward predeceased him in 1938. There are also seventeen grandchildren.

The funeral from his late home to Selby United Church on January 12, was largely attended and was in charge of his pastor, Rev. R. Merrick, who spoke conforting words based on Numbers 23: 10 "Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like His" A solo, "The Old Rugged Cross" by Mr. Wartman Napanee, was much appreciated by the family. Interment was made in the family plot, Riverview Cemetery, Napanee.

In the passing of Mr. Price the township has lost a good citizen; the community a kind neighbour; the church a staunch supporter and the home a wise counsellor and companion, but—

We cannot think of him as dead.
Who walks with us no more—
Along the path of life we tread.
He has but gone before.

BERTHA ELLEN CREIGHTON

The funeral of the late Bertha Ellen Clement, wife of George Arthur Creighton, was held from her late residence at Hawley, on Wednesday, January 12th, 1944. The service was conducted by Rev. C. D. McLellan, pastor of Grace United Church, Napanee, of which the deceased was a member. During the service Mr. and Mrs. Ward Warning very feelingly sang a duet. "Some Day I'll Understand." The floral tributes were many and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pall-bearers were her three sons, Fred, Milford and Harold, and Henry Clement, Morley Creighton, and George Loyst. Interment was made at Riverside Cemetery, Napanee, awaiting burial in the spring.

The deceased was born at Hillier, Ontario, February 8th, 1883, a daughter of the late Eliza Patten and Dorland Clement. Prior to her marriage in 1908 she came to Fredericksburgh to live where she was highly respected by all who knew her.

Death occurred on Sunday evening, January 9th, at the Kingston General Hospital after an illness of three weeks, following an attack of the flu.

Surviving are her husband, three sons, Fred of Deseronto Road, Milford of North Fredericksburgh and Harold of Hawley; seven grandchildren; a sister Mrs. Louise Wilson of Toronto, and a brother, Henry Clement, of Deseronto Road.

SALVATION ARMY

FORWARD TO VICTORY

CAMPAIGN

The purpose of the coming campaign "Forward to Victory" to be launched the latter part of January by The Salvation Army is threefold. First, to deepen and intensify the spiritual life of its members, second, to wage an active war against sin and vice; and third, to concentrate on winning new recruits to carry on The Army's work in the future.

The spiritual assault against lethargy indifference and ungodliness will be a Canada-wide effort, with the various Corps centres planning holiness meetings, spiritual gatherings and other activities intended to arouse the public to an awareness of Christ.

To quote General Carpenter:

"We need do more with our young people to broaden their vision, to bring home to their consciousness the love of the Lord of work. The Salvation Army is seeking to do in the world Only that which makes for their edification with all their hearts, the will and purpose of Christ can be regarded as a worthwhile achievement."

Commissioner Grames, Territorial Commander of Canada, says:

"Now is the time for the Church of Christ to take up its spiritual weapons of faith and aggressiveness for the fight against these enemies of God and will and destroy the soul. Our field of battle will be the streets of cities and towns where the forces of evil are rampant. Our objective is the winning of souls for Christ. Our battle-cry is Forward to Victory."

The Campaign will last for three months in which time it is hoped that blessing and help will be brought to the needy.

Townsfolk can co-operate with Capt. Hoggard of the local Salvation Army by giving her the names of people in need of help or advice. The sick and aged will be visited and help given in every way possible.

The Late Albert W. Babcock

On Wednesday, January 19, Mr Albert Wellington Babcock one of the most highly esteemed residents of Wilton, passed away at Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. Babcock was born at Wilton on February 19th, 1876 and was a son of the late Thomas Babcock and Anne Walker. He was a faithful member of Emmanuel United Church at Wilton, of which he was a trustee, chairman of the Board of Stewards and secretary of the adult Bible Class, which he attended regularly.

For many years he served efficiently as the president of the Wilton Dary Company. He was a loving and considerate husband and father, a true neighbor and friend and endeared to all who knew him.

His funeral was held on Friday afternoon, January 21, at his late residence. The service was conducted by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth, pastor of Emmanuel United Church. During the service a duet "In the land where we never grow old," a favorite hymn of the deceased was sung by Mrs. Melville Lee and Mrs. Erwe I Hutt.

Interment was at Wilton cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. George Emberley, W. H. Miller, Delbert Simmons, Blake Switzer, Thomas Wallace and John Wilson. The flower bearers were the following friends: Bruce Bert, Russell Galbraith, Ross Hartman, Clinton Hutt and James Robson.

Surviving Mr. Babcock are his wife, the former Minnie M. Boyce, two daughters, Ethel, Mrs. Reid of Kingston, and Helen, Mrs. Fred Gilmore, one son, Clinton E. Listowel, two grandchild, Ralph Denyes, Jr., also leaves two sisters, Mrs. W. Chubbey and Mrs. Linda Webb, of Kingston and two brother, Clarence G. Wilton and Orren W. Toronto.

Hundreds of women now enrolled with the Canadian Women's Army Corps, will be fitted to enter a civilized industry after the war as a direct result of their army training.

CANADIANS' LOSSES MOUNT

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Unofficial tabulation of Canadian casualty lists issued since the last official report covering the period from the start of the Italian campaign to November 23, confirms a London dispatch Jan. 17—passed by British censors—from Ross Munro, Canadian Press correspondent, that casualties in the Moro Valley and Ortona battles in December were heavy.

Within the last four weeks casualties have been roughly three times greater than in the previous four weeks. The comparative figures are 284 for the four weeks ended December 21, compared with 695 for a similar period ended January 18.

An unofficial casualty total for the Italian campaign up until recently was 20.73. In the 38-day Sicilian campaign the Army reported a total of 2 939 casualties.

OFFICIAL TOTALS

The compilation was based on official Defence Headquarters totals up to November 23rd and a check of casualty lists ince that time. Headquarters have not issued a breakdown of casualties siffered in the various war theatres since the November 23rd totals.

Here are the comparisons:

Official

| | Kill. | Wound. | Miss. | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sicily | 475 | 1814 | 150 | 2439 |
| Italy — to November 23 | 238 | 811 | 45 | 1094 |

Unofficial

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 4 Weeks to December 21 | 64 | 204 | 16 | 231 |
| 4 Weeks to January 18 | 135 | 32 | 25 | 699 |

Italy total to January 18 includes official and unofficial: 2073

Canadian troops overcame the most stubborn resistance of their Mediterranean campaign in winning the battle of the Moro Valley which ended December 23rd, the Germans withdrew from the Adriatic coastal town of Ortona.

BITTER STRUGGLE

For three weeks from the time two Western Battalions crossed the narrow, muddy Moro River, the Canadian First Division hurled the full weight of its man and tank power against the Germans, who were under orders to fight to the last man and last bullet. The Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, a Vancouver unit and the Royal 22nd Regiment of Quebec participated in the Moro crossing. Allied Headquarters revealed.

HOG GRADING CHANGE MADE

Ottawa, (C.P.) — Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Agriculture Minister, announced last week that the number of grades for hogs now effective on Canadian markets will be reduced and the old procedure of establishing prices by applying discounts will be dropped.

Hogs will be purchased on the basis of carcass values in the various grades. All possible speed will be made with introduction of the new system but "some time" will be required.

The Minister said, however, that a temporary arrangement has been made with the packers to put the payment of Government premiums—$3 a head for Grade A and $2 for B1—into effect Monday, Jan. 24th. These premiums were announced a week ago.

Announcement of the revisions followed discussions between the bacon advisory committee, the advisory committee on agriculture, the Canadian Meat Board and the Agricultural Food Board.

PRINTING OF CERTAIN SALES BILLS ALLOWED

Printing of dodgers, bills or circulars advertising a merchant's clearing sale is permissible under the printing regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, provided the paper used to produce such printed matter, together with the paper used by him for all other non-permitted kinds of advertising, does not exceed a total of 25 pounds in any one calendar month.

V

The over-all wool situation improved during 1943. Cuffs on trousers and two-pant suits are again legal, also fuller skirts, deeper hems and patch pockets on dresses and skirts. More children's underwear will be on the markets this year.

V

Canadian soldiers Overseas received 20,966,715 cigarettes during the holiday season. Almost all were supplied by civilian organizations.

WHAT DO CANADIAN MEALS LACK?

Hello Homemakers! Dishes containing adequate amounts of calcium, riboflavin and niacin are not being considered by Canadians today, is the announcement made by Dr. L. B. Pett, Director of Nutrition Services Ottawa.

Calcium is one of the important minerals necessary for building strong bones and teeth, and as a stimulant in the process of the beating of the heart. Milk is the important source of calcium. The nutritional requirement is half-pint daily for each adult and one quart for children. Other foodstuffs containing calcium are: eggyolk, dried peas and beans and whole-grain cereals.

Riboflavin and Niacin are part of the Vitamin group of which there are now eleven known units, hence the term Vitamin B Complex. Vitamin B is the modern version of sulphur and molasses and bitter "tonic" of a half century ago. But there is a difference. Vitamin B foodstuffs produce good results.

The B Vitamin Complex is made up of: Vitamin B1 or Thiamine, Vitamin B2 or Riboflavin, Nicotinic Acid or Niacin, Vitamin B6 or Pyridoxine.

Value of Vitamin B2 (Riboflavin)

1. Helps to "burn" sugars and starches. 2. Helps to prevent nervousness. 3. Aids normal growth. 4. Helps digestion. 5. Helps to maintain healthy eyes and skin. 6. Preserve the characteristics of youth.

Good Sources of Riboflavin

Organs of food animals (liver, kidney, heart and sweetbreads); Green and yellow vegetables; Milk; Cheese, Eggyolks; Yeast; Soya beans; dried peas and beans.

Value of Niacin

1. Promotes health skin. 2. Promotes good digestion. 3. Helps freedom from nervousness. 4. Prevention of pellagra. 5. Aids in resistance to disease.

Sources of Niacin

Mock Turtle 8

Cut a large incision in one whole beef liver. Season to taste. Scald a half-minute with hot water. Stuff with any favorite bread stuffing, skewer, rub well with dripping, dredge with flour. Bake in electric oven at 350 deg. for one and one-half hours to two hours.

Codfish Cakes

Two potatoes, one cup cooked codfish, one egg, one tablespoon of grated onion, one teaspoon horseradish, one-quarter teaspoon of dry mustard, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Peel and cook potatoes (or use one and one-half cups left-over potatoes). Combine potatoes, codfish, beaten egg and seasonings. From into cakes. Fry in hot fat for three to five minutes. Serve with sauce.

Split Pea Soup

Two cups dried split peas, two quarts water four stalks celery, two carrots, one onion, one-quarter teaspoon thyme, one bay leaf, salt and pper.

Wash and pick over peas. Place in large kettle. Add water, sliced vegetables and seasonings. Boil hard for twenty minutes, then simmer slowly four hours, adding more water if needed. Strain through colander.

• • •

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. C. M. asks: How to clean scorched grease from the enamel lining of the electric oven.

Answer: Leave a saucer of ammonia in the closed oven overnight and the fumes will tend to soften grease. Wash with a stiff brush dipped in hot soapy water. Rub with a scouring powder or scouring pad. Wipe with a moist cloth and then a dry one. It is difficult to clean a burnt residue off, but frequent cleaning will prevent further corrosion. Leave oven door open after each baking period.

Mrs. W. R. asks: Recipe for a tasty salmon dish that will serve six, using small amount of rationed product.

Salmon Loaf

One cup cooked salmon, one tablespoon baking fat, one and one-half cups fine crumbs, one scant one-quarter cups hot milk, two eggs, beaten, salt, pepper.

Combine ingredients. Press into a greased loaf pan. Bake in electric oven at 350 deg. for thirty minutes.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her care of The Napanee Beaver, sending in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Bobs,

I was stunned to learn that Dot had left from an eastern Canadian port" and had arrived overseas but we both know how much he wants to go. I can well imagine your state of mind but that, my dear, is the price that women pay in time of war. I know you well enough to be sure that you will stand and wait proudly and confidently.

I see the light of a new find shows in Barry's eyes. I'm not at all afraid that playing the waiting role of the "little woman" would soon lose its charms. Oh, don't misunderstand me she is very devoted to Carlton and has a huge picture of him prominently displayed on her bureau but she needs an outlet for her lady store of surplus energy. Her work as a wireless operator is very interesting and she has done well. Recently she put up the stripes of a full corporal but to be really happy, she requires, in addition, some intellectual pursuit. Of course as I feared, it has turned out to be the study of psychology and now she is a perseverin amateur psychiatrist. I wish that she had confined herself to botany; it was harmless. This is dynamite and if carried far enough could make her very unpopular. One always resents another poking into the innermost recesses of one's mind and Barry's scientific curiosity knows no bounds. I must try to steer her into another channel.

Changing the subject, there have been revolutionary changes in the C.W.A.C. in Kingston. All personnel of No. 39 Company in Kingston have been transferred to the newly formed 103 Depot Company with Major Pearl Brent of Vancouver, B.C., who recently returned from overseas, as officer commanding. In future, No. 39 Company, under Capt. Agnes Anderson of Ancaster, Ont., will comprise only the outlying platoons of C.W.A.C., stationed at Kemptville, Cornwall, Brickville and Peterborough. Truly, life in the army is a life of change.

Talking to a civilian friend a few days ago, I was amazed to learn that many civilians are of the opinion that women are no longer urgently needed in the C.W.A.C. Of course, this is utter nonsense! Women are needed in the Corps to-day as much as that day more than two years ago when the first clarion cry for recruits was sounded. Where that erroneous impression originated, I have no idea but it amounts to sabotage. Already recruiting in the C.W.A.C. is feeling the results of this apathetic lack of interest. It makes my blood boil.

Another obstacle standing in the way of recruiting, I believe, is a deep-rooted fear of army discipline and regimentation. I wish that there was some way of giving a preview of life in the Canadian Women's Army Corps so that women must realize how groundless these fears are. Our leaders do not propose to turn women into army martinets. They realize fully that while the Corps is organized along lines similar to the army, women cannot be treated like men. Every one of our girls was used to doing it their own way and it would be wrong to force them to do otherwise.

Well, that Dave has left. I know that you will be plunging into additional activities to keep your mind occupied but you will listen to me and if you're sensible you'll do both and confine it both ends. I will have more to say in regard to your husband in my next letter. Understand me? and wish to hear that in mind when you are tempted to drive yourself too hard. Somebody has to be stern with you.

No time for any more chatter now. The first Mail for Parade of the new company training platoon is formed and I intend my buttons and shoes to be positively dazzling, so I must get to work on them.

Best love,

NICKEY.

RATION COUPON CALENDAR

BUTTER — Coupons 42 to 47 (inclusive) are now valid. Coupons 48 and 49 will fall due February 3rd.

MEAT — Coupons 30 to 38 (inclusive) are now valid. Coupons 36 to 38 will fall due January 27th.

SUGAR — Coupons 14 to 24 (inclusive) are now valid and are without expiry date until announced. Coupons 25 and 26 will fall due February 3rd.

TEA OR COFFEE — Coupons 14 to 27 (inclusive) are now valid and are without expiry date until announced. Coupons 28 and 29 will fall due January 27th.

TINNED SALMON — Meat coupons are now valid for the purchase of tinned salmon at the rate of one coupon per quarter pound.

EVAPORATED MILK — Applications for special G coupons, each of them good for six tins of evaporated or partly skimmed evaporated milk for infant feeding and medical cases, may be made to the Local Ration Board. All such applications affecting those aged more than two years must be supported by medical certificates.

• • •

MAPLE SYRUP COUPON VALUE WILL INCREASE

Consumers are reminded by the Ration Administration that on March 2nd the value of the "D" coupon for the purchase of maple syrup will be increased from 12 to 20 ounces so that they will be in a position to buy it in larger quantities. A good many consumers have already begun to save their "D" coupons so that they will have enough of them on hand by the date mentioned to buy at least one gallon of maple syrup.

It is also announced that arrangements are being made to accommodate those who are accustomed to buy their maple syrup from year to year by mail order.

NO EXTRA RATIONS OF TEA OR COFFEE FOR MEDICAL CASES

Although provision is made in the ration regulations for the issue of extra rations of certain other commodities in the cases of various diseases, the Local Ration Board drew attention to the fact that under no circumstances are extra rations of tea or coffee provided for medical reasons.

PREPARE TO ISSUE NEW RATION BOOKS

Although distribution of the No. 4 consumer ration books is already weeks distant, initial plans in that connection are already being prepared in various communities where Local Ration Boards will again supervise this important branch of war work. It is understood that the programme to be adopted will be very similar to that which was followed with such success in the distribution of the Number Two and Three ration books and that liberal use will be made of volunteers to assist in the distribution. To that end those ready to serve in that capacity will shortly be invited to offer their services and thus perform a wartime work for a few hours' time which will be of distinct national value.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. In this clergyman's house we find that we have to entertain a good many visiting clergymen at week-ends and sometimes for longer periods. Is there any way in which we can obtain extra rations to cover these additional meals, as we find that our own rations are strained to the utmost to provide them?

A. I am afraid there is no provision in the rationing regulations to cover such a situation. Why not intimate to your visitors that a share of their rations would be appreciated? Most guests nowadays take their ration books with them as a matter of courtesy.

• • •

Q. I had a tenant on my small farm who has left it owing me eleven months' rent. Is there any way in which I can collect it under the rentals regulations?

A. No. You should resort to the ordinary processes of law to effect recovery.

• • •

Q. It seems to me that I am being overcharged for the meat that I buy nowadays, considering that it is composed 25 per cent. of soft cod. How can I find out if this is or is not the case?

A. Please report the circumstances to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Showing if the dealer's sales slip would be of assistance.

• • •

Q. For weeks and weeks I paid eight cents per pound for sugar at my grocer's and now the price has been increased to nine cents. Is that permissible?

A. It all depends upon the ceiling your dealer had during the base period in 1941. If that ceiling was nine cents or higher, he is at liberty to increase his price to that level.

• • •

Q. I understood that canned salmon was to be released on January 17 and yet I have been unable so far to obtain any supplies. What is the reason?

A. Distribution of canned salmon throughout the trade on the basis of the Prices Board's policy of allocation has taken some time. Before long your dealer should have canned salmon on his shelves.

• • •

Q. A man I employ to remove my ashes wants to increase his charges. Can he legally do that?

A. Cartage and trucking charges are subject to price control as Services. Your carter or trucker cannot increase his charges above those made during the basic period 1941 for the same services.

• • •

Q. Last winter my landlord had the snow cleared as part of the rent. This winter he refuses to do this work but charges me just as much as before. Is this in order?

A. It performance of this service was part of your lease, this rate of payment constitutes a variation which is not permissible. You would be well advised to take the matter to your Wartime Prices and Trade Board Office.

DESMOND Y. P. U.

The Desmond Y. P. U. held its regular meeting on January 19, 1944, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Switzer. The meeting opened with a hymn followed by prayer.

The roll call was answered by 25 members and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

After the business was discussed the meeting was turned over to the convener, Mrs. Howard Bell, who opened her part with a piano duet by Mrs. Bell and Miss Purcell.

The scripture was read by Fred Switzer Music was played by Norma Drew and readings were given by Mrs. Victor Drew and Mrs. Howard Bell Mary Purcell and Janet Huffman sang a duet which was followed by a hymn. Mrs. E. Ramsay led in Bible discussion, and the meeting closed with the Maple Benediction and the National Anthem.

SANDFORD W. A.

The annual meeting of Sandford W. A. of St. Paul's Anglican Church was held on Wednesday afternoon, January 19th at the home of Mrs. H. Robinson, with a goodly number in attendance. The president, Mrs. G. Claringbold, was in the chair and the meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and prayer. Reading of the year's work were given by various officers, showing an active year. Mrs. Jas. Wood read the financial statement which was one of the Dorcas Secretary's report which took in Red Cross and Dorcas work and Christmas Sale to Coe Hill.

Before retiring from the chair for the election of officers the president expressed her thanks to all the members for their splendid co-operation and help during the year. Rev. Secker took the chair for the election of officers which resulted in the re-election of the following officers: Hon. President, Mrs. T. Secker; President, Mrs. H. G. Claringbold; Vice-President, Mrs. G. Hann; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. Hinse; Living Message Secretary, Mrs. P. G. Whitfield; Educational Secretary, Mrs. W. Hann; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. R. Wright.

Plans were then made for the year's work after which Mr. Secker pronounced the benediction, and the serving of a light lunch by the hostess brought the meeting to a close.

ODESSA W. A.

Mrs. H. J. S. was the first hostess of the auxiliary of the United Church. Mrs. Jenkins presided over the business of the day. Reports for 1943 were given. Burnett, president, read the annual report and members with a total of eighteen. The secretary and three stewards were elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. Stanley Wilson, reported a quilt had been quilted.

There were 17 members and strangers present. Mrs. Wallanna read the Scripture lesson for the day. Mrs. Wallanna favored with a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Jenkins. Mrs. Wallanna read a paper on "Missionary Work" and Mrs. Jenkins said eighteen copies of the paper had been sent to different public schools, one of which included the Indian School.

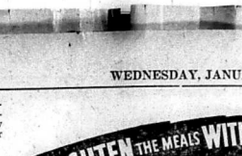
Rev. C. W. Hollingshead installed the officers for the year in a very impressive service. Tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wallanna and Mrs. Jenkins.

Mrs. Jenkins asked for a donation to be given to her for the new president. Mrs. Wallanna, who then took the chair, gave an interesting and encouraging address on the beginning of a new missionary work.

The worship service for all of Life" was conducted by Mrs. Georgina Jenkins assisted by Mrs. Robinson, with a goodly number in attendance. The president, Mrs. G. Claringbold, was in the chair and the meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and prayer. Reading of the year's work were given by various officers, showing an active year. Mrs. Jas. Wood read the financial statement which was one of the Dorcas Secretary's report which took in Red Cross and Dorcas work and Christmas Sale to Coe Hill.

Before retiring from the chair for the election of officers the president expressed her thanks to all the members for their splendid co-operation and help during the year. Rev. Secker took the chair for the election of officers which resulted in the re-election of the following officers: Hon. President, Mrs. T. Secker; President, Mrs. H. G. Claringbold; Vice-President, Mrs. G. Hann; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. C. Hinse; Living Message Secretary, Mrs. P. G. Whitfield; Educational Secretary, Mrs. W. Hann; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. R. Wright.

Plans were then made for the year's work after which Mr. Secker pronounced the benediction, and the serving of a light lunch by the hostess brought the meeting to a close.



Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening until mixed. Beat egg slightly in measuring cup; add milk and marmalade to make ⅔ cup and add to first mixture. Roll out about ½-inch thick; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Top each with a little marmalade; bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 16.

They'll Do It Every Time

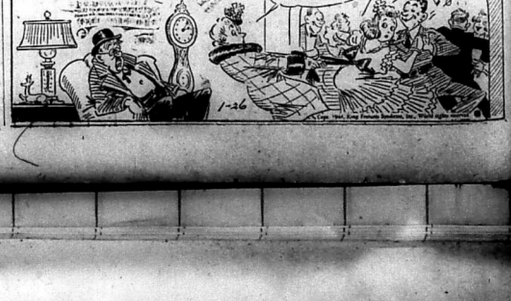
By Jimmy Hatlo



WHEN MOM & DAD AND POP WERE YOUNGER THEY COULDN'T STAY VERY LONG AT PARTIES. LITTLE GRENADINE ALWAYS WANTED TO GO HOME.
WHAT ARE YOU LEAVING ALREADY? WHY, IT'S ONLY NINE O'CLOCK— THE FUN HASN'T STARTED YET!
I WANNA GO HOME - I WANNA GO TO BED!
GRENADINE'S VERY TIRED AND CRANKY SO DAD WILL TAKE HER HOME.
GRENADINE'S IN HIGH SCHOOL NOW. MOM AN' POP AREN'T SO STRONG FOR PARTIES 'TIL 2 O'CLOCK AND YOURS FATHER HAS TO WORK TOMORROW
GRENADINE, ARE YOU COMING HOME WITH US OR NOT? IT'S WAY AFTER 2 O'CLOCK AND YOUR FATHER HAS TO WORK TOMORROW AW MOM JUST ONE MORE DANCE JUST ONE MORE - THAT'S ALL - OKAY?

WAR MILK

The demands of, war upon milk will be heavier than ever this coming year . . . millions of pounds will be required. Every cow must do her best — and you can't get proper production without proper feeding. That's where "Miracle" Dairy Feeds step into the picture. These feeds contain the necessary and vital elements for high and quality milk production . . . at lower feed cost! For maximum flow from every cow — use "Miracle" Dairy Feeds!

We regret the shortage of supply which may occur at times owing to conditions over which we have no control.

"MIRACLE" DAIRY FEEDS

If it's 'Ogilvie' it's good!

TAMWORTH

Thomas Scanlin Passes

The death of Thomas Scanlin, well-known and highly respected resident of Tamworth, occurred at his home on Sunday, January 9th, in his 71st year.

Deceased was born at Enterprise, the son of the late James Scanlin and Elizabeth Dewey. The greater part of his life was spent on the old Scanlin homestead at Enterprise.

Owing to ill-health, he retired from farming and moved to Tamworth, seventeen years ago.

His funeral was held in the Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, Tuesday morning, where a large congregation of relatives and friends paid tribute to the memory of the deceased.

Numerous spiritual cards and many floral pieces were received as expressions of sympathy and evidence of the high esteem felt for Mr. Scanlin throughout the community. Mr. Scanlin was a citizen always ready to assist in the promotion of anything for the betterment of the community.

Left to mourn the loss of a devoted husband, a kind father and a dear granddad are, his wife, the former Jane Evans of Moscow, one son J. J. Scanlin, his daughter-in-law and four grandchildren. (One son predeceased him some years ago.)

Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. T. D. Murphy, of Detroit, Mrs. A. H. MacHarg and Mrs. Albert Browne of Brownville, Texas.

Pall bearers were six nephews of deceased, Harold Dunn, John Dewey, Joe Losee, Hubert Dillon, John Finn and Hugh Evans.

"If is not dead, he is just away."

Church Annual

The annual meeting of Christ Church, Tamworth was held at the rectory. Rev. Mr. Ware presided. Reports of the different organizations told of a very successful year's work. One of the major accomplishments was the erection of a double garage on the rectory property. Wardens elected were Herb. Close and and Thomas Carroll.

Y.P.U. Social

In St. Andrew's Hall, on Monday evening, January 10th, the members of Y.P.U. held a box social. After a short devotional period conducted by the President, Marguerite Gilmour and the usual business, the social leader, Mrs. Seaton, took charge. Games were played and the boxes auctioned. Mr. B. Long capably filled the role of auctioneer. The pretty boxes, gay in color and filled with choice things to eat, sold quickly and for various prices. The highest priced box packed by Miss K. Cornell, brought four dollars, and the genial auctioneer was the lucky bidder. Coffee was served and a jolly time was enjoyed. Proceeds of the evening were $17.60.

HEAVY BOMBING OF GERMAN-HELD EUROPE CONTINUES DAILY

Allies Extend Holdings South of Rome

TUESDAY —

United States troops succeeded in crossing the Rapido River again and established a firm bridgehead. Cassino was abandoned by the Nazis, but Allies were unable to occupy it because of artillery fire on the town by the Germans. No news was available concerning the progress of the new invasion, south of Rome.

• • •

A vital railway junction controlling lines to Latvia and Estonia, in the Leningrad area, fell to the Russians Wednesday.

• • •

For the fourth consecutive day long forces of Allied planes battered German installations on the southern coast of France.

• • •

Army and navy planes throughout the Marshall Islands made seven raids, early this week.

• • •

Argentina, the last South American country to join the Allies, broke diplomatic relations with Germany and Japan, on Wednesday.

• • •

FRIDAY —

Allied forces fought and won the most important battle since landing south of Rome, five days ago. Nazi counter-attacks against the Fifth Army's line were practically halted after the Battle.

• • •

Two more important railroad junctions were recaptured by the Russians who had reached a point within 40 miles of the Esthonian border.

• • •

Allied bombers were reported to have attacked the Marseilles area of Southern France and R.C.A.F. airmen were over Northern France, Belgium and Holland.

• • •

Air fleets sank or damaged fourteen Japanese ships and struck at enemy bases on New Guinea.

• • •

British and Chinese troops advanced on three fronts in Burma.

• • •

SATURDAY—

Allied forces who landed at Nettuno, south of Rome, in Italy, recently were reported to have penetrated six miles inland along the Appian beachhead. A second Nazi counter-attack was beaten off.

• • •

The Leningrad - Moscow railroad is said to have been practically cleared of the enemy.

• • •

Berlin was showered with 1,500 tons of bombs on Thursday night. Many were dropped on the three cities.

• • •

The Russian Army advancing from the Leningrad sector advanced 7 to 9 miles within 15 miles of the Estonian border. In the Ukraine the Russians made new breaks in the German defences south of the middle Dnieper area.

• • •

Allied troops in the beachhead south of Rome, extended their holdings considerably and beat off a new counter-attack, near a town ten miles northeast of Casterna.

• • •

In a Nazi raid on London on Saturday night, 26 people were killed and 17 were injured. Property damage was extensive.

• • •

Japanese bases in the Marshall Islands were subjected to heavy raids during the week end by United States navy and land-based bombers.

• • •

TUESDAY —

The Russian Army was within eight miles of the Estonian border. The Nazis were said to be abandoning arms and equipment in their hurried retreat.

• • •

There was little action reported in Italy, where bad weather had again slowed up general activity. The Allies pulsed, another counter-attack near Cisterna and United States troops reached nearer Cassino.

• • •

More attacks were made by United States planes on the Marshall Islands, evidently in preparation for ground invasion.

• • •

PERMIT RECEIVED OPENING THEATRE IN DESERONTO

A permit has finally been received by Mayor Wessman for the opening of the Theatre in Deseronto, just as soon as repairs can be made.

Men started to work on Monday, January 24th, and it will take some time to make the necessary changes.

The building itself is in good shape but it will have to be made soundproof and the entrance changed.

No Hasty Marriages For Canadians Overseas

London, Ont., (CP.) — Hasty marriages overseas are prevented by the extreme care taken by the Canadian Army officials in England, Maj. Walter T. Steven, former chaplain with the Royal Canadian Artillery overseas, said. Letters of recommendation for the bride, blood tests for both the man and woman, investigation of the girl by the padre or some other officer where possible consent of the commanding officer, and finally consent of the brigade commander all are required. After this, there is a compulsory two ? month period of waiting.

The vast majority of girls are enthusiastic about coming back to Canada after the war, Maj. Steven said, and conversely, a large number of Canadians wish to remain in England. Maj. Steven said he believed most of the marriages would establish successful and happy homes.

Maj. Steven lauded English hospitality and said Canadian sons-in-law were almost invariably well received by English families.

SIX PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM DESERONTO GAOL

Chief Noel Langton, of Deseronto, received word Tuesday afternoon that a party of four men and two girls were parked in a car on the boundary road near the highway and were trying to get coupons from cars passing by in order to get gas.

Investigating Chief Langton asked for their ownership card which they could not produce. The passengers of the car were ordered out of the car into another and taken to the Deseronto gaol.

It was later discovered that it was a stolen car and while the Chief and Provincial Officer Morden were making some investigations, the six broke out of jail and got out of town going out the west end of Thomas Street into the Reserve where after an exciting chase five were arrested and taken to Belleville gaol.

It is thought it was the same party that tried to break in Mack's Service Station the previous night. Most of those arrested are from Toronto.

The car was stolen from Newtonville and was the second stolen by them.

The first tunnel in Great Britain was opened on May 3rd, 1830. It is under Tyler Hill on the Canterbury and Whitstable Line, now the Southern Railway. Britain's longest main line tunnel is the Severn, 4 miles and 628 yards. London Transport can claim the world's longest underground tunnel; it runs from East Finchley to Morden via the Bank, 17½ miles.

DOUBLE VALUE FOR 'D' COUPON

Ottawa, (C.P.) — The Prices Board last week announced that "D" preference ration coupons will be worth twice as much for most items when the next pair become valid February 3rd, and gave as the reason for the change the current improved supply situation of some items.

In addition to doubling amounts of preserves, honey and molasses, the Board said provision is being made for quantity purchases of maple syrup during the spring production season.

Although the "D" coupon values generally increase, the alternative of one-half pound of sugar in place of preserves remains the same the announcement said.

Under the revised schedule the coupon value for canned fruit increases from 1 0to 20 fluid ounces; jam, jelly, marmalade maple butter and honey butter from six to 12-fluid ounces; molasses from 20 fluid ounces (one pint) to 40 fluid ounces (one quart).

From February 3rd until May 31st maple syrup may be purchased on the basis of one coupon for 40 fluid ounces. At the end of that time the coupon will return to the 24-ounce value.

Board officers said that about two-thirds of the 1943 honey crop had been sold when rationing of this produce was begun. To bring conditions as near as possible to normal and give producers adequate time to obtain proper containers, the coupon value of comb honey has been changed from one standard section (one pound) to two sections (two pounds) and for extracted honey from 12 fluid ounces (one pound) to 24 fluid ounces (two pounds).

The coupon value of corn, cane or any blended table syrup, has been increased from 14 to 15 ounces. Cranberry sauce remains at a coupon value of 12 fluid ounces.

Feed Dealers Must Supply Customers

Some farmers have been complaining that they have not been getting their fair share of the supplies available of fertiliser mixtures with potash content, potash being in somewhat short supply these days.

Grant Peart, fertilizer administrator for the Prices Board, has taken action to clarify this situation by issuing a directive to all fertilizer dealers which requires them to see that their usual customers are properly supplied before new customers are taken on.

Dealers are not permitted to supply customers with mixtures containing potash to a greater extent than 73 per cent. of the potash they got in fertilizers they bought in 1943.

If a fertilizer dealer is a farmer himself, he must not retain for his own farming operations any more than 73 per cent of what he used in 1943. In other words, he must see that his customers are properly supplied as well as himself, according to what is available.

Dealers may take on new customers only if additional supplies are available after the old customers are looked after.

MEMBERS HEAR EXCELLENT REPORTS RED CROSS ANNUAL

Miss Herrington Re-elected President

Excellent reports on the year's work of the Napanee Red Cross were given at the annual meeting held at the Red Cross rooms on Wednesday evening of last week. The president, Miss Lenore Herrington, presided. The carefully prepared reports given by the different officers and heads of committees showed evidence of the faithful efforts of a tremendous amount of work done by the units in the county and the Napanee unit.

The report of the secretary, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, gave a general review of the activities of the society. During 1943 eleven regular meetings of the executive and two special meetings were held and the work rooms were open every day, Thursdays and Saturdays throughout the year.

Mrs. Herbert Daly, the treasurer, presented the financial statement which showed total receipts of $20,020.14, and disbursements of $22,284.40. Cash on hand at January 1st 1943 was $4,753.99 and at December 31st, 1943, was $2,069.73. The county grant was $11,000.00. The membership campaign brought in $5,731.27. Red Cross Units and Women's Institutes in the County contributed $1,379.81 and the Napanee Finance Committee raised $997.35.

Miss Herrington in her address said that the society might well be proud of its achievements in 1943 but there is still much more that can be done she stated. She expressed appreciation of the splendid cooperation given by the many units throughout the county and thanked all who had assisted in the work in any way.

The report for the work room was given by Mrs. Lilburn Cowling, who listed the different articles given out to organizations and units, made by the workers and returned to the society in Napanee. Among the articles received were 760 quilts. The Selby unit completed the most work, turning in 236 articles, as well as 66 quilts. Marlbank unit again turned in the largest number of quilts, 73.

Mrs. T. D. Sneath, head of the work room stated that during the year eight additional and two special quotas had been completed and over 2,000 yards of materials had been used. She urged more workers to offer their services and commended those who had faithfully worked during the year. In the sewing department there were 17 who could be considered regular daily workers.

Mrs. F. B. Mills, secretary of the wool department, said that in 1943 501 pounds of wool had been used. Included in the articles made were 244 sweaters and 261 pairs of gloves for men, and 61 sweaters for women.

Mrs. C. I. Maybee stated that the surgical dressings committee had sent in 20,090 pieces to headquarters in addition to keeping the Blood Donors Clinic supplied with gauze wipers and cotton balls.

Mrs. H. J. Beattie, head of the packing committee said that about 4,500 articles had been sent to headquarters by the Napanee branch in 1943.

Mrs. E. I. Boyle, convener of the social committee, reported a total of $221.57 raised by means of the Saturday afternoon teas, 36 of which were held in the year, with 72 women assisting.

Mrs. W. H. Duffett, reporting for the finance committee stated a total of $1,541.84 was raised by various means during the year. The receipts from the garden party were $316.70 and from the card parties $188.73. The amount raised by the women's committee in the membership drive was $946.25.

Mrs. Victor Cowling told of the formation and conduct of the Home Nursing Course of which she was the head. She was assisted by Mrs. Percy Asselstine, Mrs. Lloyd Cowle, Miss Richmond and Miss Laura Vine. The 33 women taking the course met once each week for lectures and demonstrations.

Mr. Russell Hunter, chairman of the Blood Donors Clinic, paid a tribute to all the workers and others who had contributed in any way to the success of the clinic. During 1942 671 donors gave blood. The clinic started with four beds and at the close of the year eight beds were in use. The average attendance at the clinics was 72.3.

Mrs. W. S. Wilson, chairman of the campaign committee, spoke briefly about the coming campaign, and stated the County Council would again make a contribution toward the society's funds.

Miss Herrington read the report of the Junior Red Cross, which is operated in the Napanee Public schools. It has a membership of 600 and monthly meetings are held. During 1943 the Junior Red Cross collected salvage and cash totalling $18.40.

The following officers were elected for 1944:

GRACE CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING

With Rev. C. D. McLellan, the minister of the church, presiding, members of the congregation of Grace United Church met in the dining hall of Trinity Church on Monday evening to hear reports from the various departments of the church, for the year 1943.

All organizations reported excellent results for the year's activity. Mr. McLellan, speaking for the Session said that 22 new members had been added to the church membership roll and at the end of the year there was a total of 783 members, an increase of ten over the previous year. Mr. McLellan expressed his gratitude and that of the Church Board to the members of the building committee, the officers of the organization and the many active workers in the church for their efforts during 1943.

The statement of the treasurer, O. S. Reddick, showed that all obligations had been met and that there was a small balance on hand at the end of the year. Riverson Pringle the treasurer of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, reported a total of $1,070.00 had been subscribed by the members.

W. F. Barlett, chairman of the Building Committee, gave a statement of progress in the church reconstruction and F. B. Elliott the treasurer of the fund expressed gratification at the progress to the appeal. Announcement was made that the church would probably be re-opened about the end of April.

Reports for the Sunday School were given by the following: Treasurer, Whit Smith; Secretary, Percy Rose; Cradle Roll, Mrs. Percy Vine; Helping Hand Class, Fred Stafford; C. G. I. T. Mrs. P. B Elliott; Girls' Club, Mrs. Gordon Grimm.

The report of the secretary and treasurer of the W. A was given by Mrs. Harris Vine and showed a total of $1,589.00 had been raised by the organization in the year.

In the absence of the president, Miss Mary McGaw, Mrs. S. Booth reviewed the work of the W.M.S. and the treasurer, Mrs. Percy Vine reported that $200 secrets had been in $370.00 to the branch treasury.

The report of the Young People's Union was read by Miss Dorothy Reddick. Miss Letha Scott spoke about the choir. Mr. Ted Middleton for the Mr. and Mrs. Club. Dr. C. D. McLellan for the Women Worshippers League and W. F. Barrett for the Enlisted Members' Committee.

Mr. F. A. Hall was elected a member of the Board of Stewards and no changes were made in the Elders.

Appreciation was expressed by F. B Elliott and S. Booth and was endorsed by the members of the congregation. Thanks to Lewis extended thanks to Mrs. C. D. McLellan for her interest and efforts during the year.

Mrs. R. S. Wales expressed the appreciation of the congregation to the members of the Building Committee for their work.

The total amount raised by all departments of the church, including the fund for building, was about $12,000.00.

After the close of the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the Women's Association.

SPEED BUSINESS OF COMMONS

Ottawa, (CP.) — The House of Commons yesterday approved establishment of a committee on revision of Commons rules of order, and Prime Minister Mackenzie King said it is the government's intention to have the committee's proposals made effective as soon as possible after they are submitted.

Mr King was replying to Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House Leader, who said steps to simplify, accelerate and expedite House business should be taken before the end of the session.

Hon. R. B. Hanson (P.C. York-Sunbury) expressed support for the resolutions setting up the rules committee but opposed any major revision of rules or any interference with freedom of speech.

E.G. Hansell, N.D. Macleod) said a more complete democratic form of parliamentary procedure should be brought in. Parliament was a "people's Parliament" only in theory. When votes were taken in Parliament it did not matter much what attitude had been taken by members of smaller groups.

The Government seems to be the boss of the people's representatives." Mr. Hansell said.

The society proposes to carry on the Field Crop Competition as in former years.

CONSERVATIVES CHOOSE GEORGE J. TUSTIN TO CONTEST RIDING

Large Attendance at Convention Last Wednesday

George J. Tustin, M.P., was chosen Conservative candidate for the riding of Prince Edward-Lennox, for the next Federal election, at the convention of the Progressive Conservative Association, held in Napanee last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Horace Colliver, Picton, was the other nominee. Mr. Tustin received 291 votes and Mr. Colliver, 128.

Mr. Tustin has been the member for Prince Edward-Lennox since 1935 and during that time has taken an active part in the work of Parliament and has had the interests of his constituents very much at heart.

The convention held last week was one of the largest in many years. The Town Hall was packed to the doors with accredited delegates from every polling division in the riding.

Others who were nominated but withdrew before the vote was taken were D. W. Young, T. D. Creighton, Jas de C Hepburn, Jack K. Welsh, Earl Onderdonk, Thos. W. Kinney Arthur Meloed, J. M. Simpson, Dr. A. C. Tummon, W. S. Wilson, John A. Maher, Lindley Calman, Frank Crecan, J. M. Hartwick, and Mrs. Ross Bush.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Please tell me why I have to surrender "D" coupons for a can of unsweetened pineapple.

A. The rationing of preserves and canned fruits applies to those unsweetened as well as to those sweetened. The object of rationing unsweetened canned fruits is to assure their equitable distribution in view of a limited supply.

Q. Why is there no tinned salmon in our local stores?

A. Every effort is being made to secure as adequate distribution as possible of the stock of tinned salmon which has been released for civilian consumption since rationing. Allocations ought to reach your stores any day now.

Q. The house I occupy as a woman had never been previously rented. The present rental was set by the Local Rentals Committee some months ago and is at least $5 per month more than any house in the district yet has fewer advantages. Why is this?

A. If you feel that the decision of the Local Rentals Committee discriminates against you, you may request the Rentals Administrator to re-open that decision and give reconsideration to the matter.

Q. Is there no rule against storekeepers keeping goods under their counters for their best customers?

A. There is no such rule but the merchant who thinks ahead will not, we believe adopt this practice too extensively. Instead, he will endeavor to make as equitable a distribution as possible of his goods amongst his customers.

Q. Where can I get a copy of the booklet, "Remake - Wrinkles"?

A. It is obtainable without charge on application to the Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa.

Q. I occasionally slaughter for the sale of meat to some of my farm neighbours. Am I obliged to stamp the carcasses or cuts so sold?

A. No. The stamping of meat regulations do not apply to such sales.

Q. Are sales of used clothing by dealers subject to ceiling prices?

A. Most decidedly. Specific ceiling have been in effect for many months and full information concerning them may be obtained at any office of the Prices Board.

"Honest" should submit his or her grievances to the nearest office of the Oil Controller. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has no jurisdiction over the rationing of gasoline.

LORD HALIFAX ON EMPIRE

Lord Halifax has been much in the limelight these past few days. He gave an address in Toronto which has had wide repercussions all across Canada, and will give rise to a great many more discussions than those already heard. In the main, the address by Lord Halifax follows fairly closely that given by General Smuts a few weeks ago. The argument of both addresses is simply this. After the war Great Britain will emerge with a greatly enhanced prestige. But Great Britain will come through much poorer than she entered the struggle. Indeed, she will be comparatively weaker than both the United States and Russia. So far, most people are ready to admit that this will be so. The point of difference emerges when Premier Smuts and Lord Halifax point out that if Great Britain is to hold her end up in the post-war world, the Empire must be strengthened in some way. Each suggests that the most natural way to strengthen the Empire is to form a closer relationship between the component parts of the Empire or Commonwealth. With all the Dominions and Colonies bound closely together in an organic way with Great Britain, it is argued the Commonwealth would be in a strong position to face the future.

There is something very interesting in the fact that these two addresses should have followed the same lines. It would appear as though it is a trial balloon to see which way the wind is blowing. In Canada, the wind is not all in one direction. There is the fear that, if carried out, the suggestion would merely succeed in reestablishing the balance of power practice. That is a rather ominous outlook. Surely the mess we are now in, which in large measure is due to the operation of the balance of power policy, is evidence enough of the failure of the theory. We dare not go back to that unless we are prepared to admit that war is essential, and will once again claim another generation.

Not only so, but the whole trend of the British Commonwealth has been towards autonomy within the Empire—a group of autonomous self - governing peoples. That's the meaning of the Statute of Westminster. That is the trend of events. To implement in action the suggestions made by these leaders, would mean a complete reversal in Canadian external policy. Just how that could be accomplished it is hard to see. It is very doubtful, too, whether public opinion would support such a radical change.

AN EAR TO THE GROUND

The Liberal Party has had its ear to the ground. It has heard a few things in recent months, and is adjusting its programme in the light of what it has heard. It heard about an election in Ontario. There the electorate all but handed the control of affairs to an untried group making its first real bid for popular support in the Provincial House. The Progressive Conservatives secured a narrow majority undoubtedly because of the wisdom and political sagacity of Colonel Drew. Not satisfied with the Old Party rallying cry, he went to the country on his famous twenty-two points. These represented a radical departure from former platforms, and were an effort to meet the demands of a progressively-minded people, who are tired of the old lines.

Mr. King heard that. Mr. King, like Colonel Drew, knows that the old party slogans have no appeal to the modern voter. The electorate now having made a great contribution to what it believes is to be a new order, will be satisfied with nothing short of far-reaching changes. Mr. Bracken, on assuming the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party, made a survey of the present situation. Like Colonel Drew, he too, was ready to frame a radical platform of social welfare. He received the services of Dr. Charlotte Whitton, one of the best informed social workers in Canada, to survey the situation and to make recommendations. Her report was issued a few weeks ago. Mr. King must have been reading that document for, in the legislation foreshadowed in the Speech From the Throne, many of the reforms which Miss Whitton suggests are promised. This is a nice piece of political activity. The Liberal Party takes most of the ideas of Miss Whitton, and before Mr. Bracken has a chance to go to the country on a platform based on these, embodies them in its program for the current session. It puts the Progressive Conservative Party in the position now where it will be difficult not to support the proposed legislation.

So far as the Man on the Street is concerned, he is not interested in the politics of it. He does not care to whom the credit shall go, nor what party is responsible. What he is interested in, is the legislation itself. He wants protection, he wants care for himself and family in sickness, security for his old age, and for his children should he be prematurely taken from them. It is an evidence of the trend of public opinion that all the political parties should thus be moved to such lengths in meeting this public demand.

A programme such as now proposed at Ottawa, envisioned in the Whitton report, and urged by the C. C. F., would have seemed Utopian in the extreme even a few years ago. To have hoped during 1930-1935 that within ten years all the political parties would favor such legislation as that now proposed, would have been almost too much even for the perennial optimist. Well, there it is! It is all part of the plan to see that, as far as possible in the years ahead, there shall be no return to the dark days of the depression, when millions went hungry, when children were undernourished, when there was widespread unemployment.

If this can be prevented we are all for it!

JAPANESE ATROCITIES

Remembering the disillusionment following the First War, when many of the atrocity stories were either disproved or unproved, we discounted many of those which we heard in the early days of World War Two. But evidence accumulates that, in spite of every allowance that can be made for war passions, the enemy states have pursued a definite policy of cruel barbarity. The slaughter, by modern and devilish methods of millions of Polish people, the murder of countless Russians, constitutes a dark cloud on the history of the German nation. The rape of Nanking, when the capital of China fell to the Japanese, and subsequent brutal treatment of prisoners of war by the Nipponese is one of the most awesome and diabolical records that the world possesses.

The fully authenticated stories recently released by those who were eye-witnesses, have inflamed public opinion in the Allied Countries in a way nothing, since Pearl Harbour, has done. The story that 7,700 of the 22,300 American prisoners of war have been starved, beaten, tortured, and murdered, is a gruesome account of the manner in which the Japanese use their prisoners. Even making great allowance for exaggerations, there is enough truth in them to stir the anger of every decent citizen. These revelations merely go to show what would have happened to the world, if the people who are our enemies should have succeeded in their vain, mad ambition to conquer the world. Some day there will be a reckoning, when those responsible in all these nations, will be brought to the bar of justice. It is for the prevention of that catastrophe that our own boys are now making the supreme sacrifice.

INCREASING WAR TEMPO

The devastating attacks which the United Nations are making against the enemy, beggar description. Correspondents have no adjectives left that can possibly convey the horror, the destruction, the loss of life and property which has been dealt the Germans during the past few weeks. Day after day, night after night, the bombing of German cities goes on. The Germans now admit that half the great city of Berlin is in ruins. The United Nations are determined to wipe this great nerve centre of Nazi War effort completely out of existence. Methodically and steadily, they go about this job whenever the weather permits. Apart from the material loss and the loss of life, the effect on the morale of the German people must be incalculable. They were promised that not a single bomb would ever drop on German soil and now they are seeing their great centres wiped out. No human group can stand that punishment indefinitely. Nerves will crack and the minds of men and women cease to function normally. Gradually, the German will-to-war is being broken. Were is not for the Gestapo it is altogether likely that there would have been an uprising against the rulers long before this.

In addition to this, the situation in other sectors is not so encouraging to the Germans. On the Eastern front, the Russians continue to steam-roller the vaunted German armies. Leningrad has been relieved of a siege which held it for twenty-seven months. The Russian armies are only a few miles from Esthonia, about the distance between Napanee and Odessa. A great pincer trap is closing in on two hundred thousand Germans, unless they are able to extricate themselves. As a matter of fact the Germans have shown themselves adept at getting out of traps and will probably ges out of this one, as well, but with great loss of prestige, to say nothing of their loss of men and materials.

Hitler in his anniversary speech, did little to alleviate the anxiety of the German people. There is now none of the flamboyant, extravagant hysterical mouthings of former years. He holds out no hope for a victory. He merely urges the people to hold on. He tries his trick, which so often served him in good stead, that of trying to divide the enemy, to set the United States and Great Britain against Russia and Russia against the other two. But the United Nations have learned Hitler's methods. They know his plan, his technique and his schemes. They will not be deceived. There is little hope, little encouragement for the Germans, in Hitler's address.

From every quarter to which the German people may look for hope they are doomed to disappointment. The handwriting is on the wall. It may be long or it may be short, but in due time the enemy will be brought to defeat. And the Germans, at long last, may discover that crime does not pay.

A LETTER FROM AFRICA

The following letter was recently received by Rev. and Mrs. Schamehorn from their son.

WO Schamehorn, G.R.
No. 550 Squadron, R.A.F.
Br. North African Forces.

September 24th, 1943.

My dear father and mother:

During the past fifteen months I think I have written home approximately fifty or sixty times. What I have had to write about I don't know but my greatest hope, as I sit here adding another to the long list of letters I have already sent is that I have never said anything that might in any way cause you added worry or give you reason to believe that I have ever for one moment forgotten the bringing up you gave me or the principles and ideals in which you taught me to believe.

I well remember the day, over two years ago when I left you on Bay Street in Toronto. You said something to me which I shall never forget. "Today you are a boy. The next time I see you, you will be a man." Well Dad I have yet to know whether or not you are right. If being a man is knowing all there is to know, then I still have a long way to go. Service life has taught me a lot of things, how to appreciate my friends, my home, my parents my country and all the many things my country has to offer. If I never learn more than that then my years of service overseas will not be without some benefit.

You dad, have been everything in the world a boy could wish for in a father. You have taught me the many many essential things that so many fathers neglect to teach their sons. At the very thought of you I almost burst with pride just to think that I am the son of such a man. You are doing a great work dad. Keep it up!

And you mother, have been the grandest, sweetest mother in the world. You have been kinder to me than any one ever deserved. I wish it were possible to repay you for the smallest fraction of the many things you have done for me. Among the many memories that I have I think one of the greatest is that I may some day be worthy of my mother.

This may sound like a lot of sentimental rubbish but I assure you it isn't meant to be. I am sorry I had to wait until I was five thousand miles from home before I told you. Perhaps the reason is that I was afraid of being called a super-sentimentalist or perhaps it is just that I never realized some things before.

I don't know how many days, weeks or months or even years, will pass before I'll see home again, but I know that it and when I ever do, I will see a lot of things in an entirely different light.

I'm afraid I haven't much to tell you in the way of news. Life goes on as usual. There are only three crews on the squadron now who are nearer the end of their tour than we are, so we can now consider ourselves one of the senior crews on the squadron and prepared for anything. That is still no reason to worry. Things are not nearly as lively out here now as they were; and I am very confident that come "Nickamus" I will be ready for a few months rest. I got another parcel from you a few days ago dated February 5th. It was shaken badly but I managed to salvage most of the contents. I think it had been nearly all over the world. Anyhow it was none the less appreciated. Thanks a million!

Will close now and try to get some sleep. Best regards to Harry, Florence and Granny, and Lois when you see them.

All my love
GARNET.

Two-Timing Franco Finds His Policies Put Him On Spot

By DeWitt Mackenzie

Spanish General Franco's policy of playing both ends against the middle in his relations with Hitler and the Allies, has landed him in the same jam with Britain, thus adding to his many problems which are complicating his increasingly difficult fight to maintain his dictatorship.

This time Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, has indicted Spain on two counts. He told the House of Commons that Sir Samuel Hoare, Ambassador to Spain, has been instructed to make further strong representations over the fact that Spanish volunteers still are fighting with the Nazis against Russia. Britain calls a halt to Spain's support of the Italian Government's request for release of all Italians in Spanish ports.

Mr. Eden made no effort to conceal his Government's annoyance with the Spanish support of the Nazis. However, this only adds one more to the long string of Allied grievances against Franco's attitude.

Franco, world - shrewd dictator that he is, sees his difficulties. He seems to believe he can't make up his mind whether his bread is spread with Nazi or with Allied butter. He must admit declining his exact position. Like Klaus Mowes in the play, he wants to keep in the good graces of both Germany and the Allies so that after the war and yet be keen at his heart but he can't guess which way the wind will blow from the winners.

To General Franco's credit, it must be said that he has acted a daily balancing act. But he acted a daily balancing act. But he acted a daily balancing act. But he

HYDRO Electricity The Way

• The familiar Hydro towers, striding across the countryside, are symbolic of a great public enterprise that has contributed much to the development of Ontario. Along the transmission lines, carried by these towers, flows the power that lightens the way in many thousands of homes, industries and farms.

Hydro power is accessible. It reaches out across the miles to far off city, town or farm . . . ready to serve at the flip or a switch.

Hydro power is flexible. It turns the wheels of our factories, mills and mines. It weaves our cloth, grinds our grain, milks our cows, pumps our water. It lifts our elevators, washes our clothes, refrigerates and cooks our food. It lights our homes, runs our radios. Day and night it serves our needs, in hundreds of different ways.

Hydro power is dependable. Well-equipped emergency crews and repair equipment stand by day and night ready to keep power flowing at all times.

Hydro power is economical. Through the years it is one factor, essential to our everyday living, that has been consistently reduced in price.

Hydro serves the people in thousands of ways. It brings them comfort, ease and convenience. Yet, Hydro's contribution to the welfare of the people, up to now, is but a preview of the promise which the electrical world holds for tomorrow. Since war began, Hydro power has been, and will be, available wherever and whenever it is required by Ontario's war industries. When peace comes, electricity supplied by Hydro will perform services that are certain to contribute much toward creating new and finer standards of living. This indispensible element, in our everyday life, lightens the way in everything we do.

NEWBURGH W. I.

The January meeting of Newburgh W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Walker with the new president in the chair. Among other items of business, a motion was made and carried, to send $5.00 to the War Charities Fund. Reports of standing committees included the war work report by Mrs. George Walker, as follows, for two months: 7 pairs 26-inch seaman's sox, 7 pairs 18-inch socks, 15 turtle-neck sweaters, 2 pairs short sox 23 pairs men's gloves, 9 quilts. This was followed by a discussion of the war.

Mrs. Dean Vandervoort convener of Home Economics, prepared a most comprehensive paper, stressing woman's responsibility in the home and many hints on the care of clothing. In her absence they were read by Mrs. Harry Baldwin, Mrs. Doris Wilson and Mrs. Acton Robinson. Mrs. Wilson contributed a piano selection which was much enjoyed. Mrs. McLeod read Edgar Guest's poem, "Home."

NEWBURGH W. C. T. U.

An interesting meeting of Newburgh W. C. T. U. was held at the parsonage on Wednesday. The devotional period conducted by Mrs. Herrington consisted of a hymn, Bible reading and prayers for all governing bodies, that they may guide the nations to lasting peace. Mrs. Jos. Hall, secretary read the minutes. The roll call was answered by "sentence sermons." Fees were received from two new members. In a brief talk on peace and international leadership Miss Cameron said the way to establish lasting peace was to lay the foundation of peace in the minds of the children. Rev. H. B. Herrington, continuing the subject raised the discussion of world organization. Mrs. Bruce Finlay sang a solo.

The meeting closed with a hymn. Mrs. Herrington served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

MORVEN W. M. S.

The first regular meeting for the year 1941 was held at the home of Mrs. George Fralick with an attendance of twelve members and visitors. Mrs. George Fralick, president, presided and opened the meeting with "Thoughts for the New Year" followed with a hymn, and prayer. A reading was given by Mrs. Charles Craig. A scripture reading and explanation was read by Mrs. William Haverall. The roll was called and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Watch tower heralds were appointed and several other officers. President Mrs. Geo. Fralick, 1st Vice-President, Mrs. E. Land, 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Geo. Chatlin, Treasurer, Mrs. S. A. Winters, Secretary, Mrs. R. Hill, Corr. Secretary, Mrs. E. Lake, Temperance Secretary, Mrs. Claude Crate, Supply Secretary, Mrs. Percy Lake, Missionary Monthly Sec., Mrs. W. Hunter, Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Berna Mote, Mrs. Percy Lake, Mission-Peace Secretary, Mrs. Haverall, Strangers' Secretary, Mrs. William Mote, Press Secretary, Mrs. R. H. Ethel Band Mrs. C. Vanslyck-Greening, Mrs. William Haverall, Auditor Mrs. William Ball, Associate Auditors, Mrs. Merry Yorke.

A vote of appreciation was extended to the hostess.

MORVEN W. A.

The January meeting of Morven W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Fralick, with an attendance of twelve members and visitors present. Mrs. William Ball had charge of the meeting. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by prayer by Mrs. Ball. Mrs. Geo. Clark read the scripture lesson. Mrs. Frank Lake gave a reading. The regular report of the treasurer was given with total receipts for 1943 $102.25. Mrs. William Haverall and Mrs. William Ball were appointed joint presidents for 1944. Secretary Mrs. Richard Hill; treasurer Mrs. William Mote. Several ladies are to take charge of the programme during the different months. Mrs. Richard Hill read the W.A. creed. A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. J. B. Hawley. The offering was received.

Mrs. Fralick served coffee and cookies. A vote of appreciation was extended the hostess for her kind hospitality.

TRINITY W. M. S.

The January meeting of Trinity Woman's Missionary Society was held in the schoolroom January 17, with the president, Mrs. Geo. Switzer, presiding and conducting the opening exercises. After the regular business, annual reports were received from the various departments and formally adopted. All reports showed the society to be in a very flourishing condition. A letter was read by Mrs. Corkill requesting the society to adopt Miss Miranda Brown and her work as a special object of prayer and interest.

The devotional part of the service was conducted by Mrs. Baughan, Miss Rook, Miss B. Baughan and Miss Gandier, who gave a short talk on the subject, "The Bible for All Canadian Children." She regretted the indifference to the Bible in so many homes and the appalling ignorance of it shown by so many young people and children. She appreciated greatly, however, the renewed interest in this matter, in the fact that the clergymen of the town were conducting weekly lessons in Bible study in the schools.

Miss Alma Thompson led the discussion of the Study Book on the subject "The Joy of Work Well Done," which dealt with conditions among farmers and industrialists in Asia and Africa, where all working conditions are most primitive. The missionaries have tried to teach that manual labour is both dignified and important. Students have been sent from China to take technical training in America and have been a great help in introducing improved methods of working when they returned to their own country. A commission had been appointed to study conditions in Africa and make recommendations.

Mrs. Chidley made the prayer of dedication when the offering was received and the meeting closed with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer.

The Late Alex. T. Rose

The funeral of the late Alex. Thompson Rose was conducted by the Rev. G. M. Chidley at the Wartman Funeral Home on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Rose, who was in his 85th year had been in failing health for some time and his death occurred on Friday, January 28, in Kingston General Hospital, where he had been a patient for about three weeks.

Mr. Rose had been a resident of Napanee for about fifty years and was well known and well liked by a large circle of friends, many of whom attended his funeral on Sunday afternoon. He was born near Selby and was a son of the late William Rose and Ann Thompson. Until he became a young man he lived on his father's farm and then, for a few years, he homesteaded in Western Canada. Later he returned to the East and for several years worked in Tamworth in the drug store operated by his brother, Daniel Rose. He married Mattie Depew, daughter of the late Rev. Mr. Depew and some time later moved to Napanee where he had since resided. For many years he was employed at the Robinson Co. store and for a short time was in the grocery business with the late Cephas Spencer. For some years he had been retired.

Mr. Rose was a member of Trinity Church which he attended regularly as long as his health permitted. He was also a member of the Oddfellows' lodge in which he had taken an active part.

Mr. Rose was predeceased by his wife, many years ago, and leaves one son, Depew Rose, who lives at Flin Flon, Manitoba. He was also predeceased by two brothers, Daniel and Sidney and two sisters Mrs. George Robinson and Mrs. John Maines.

Following the Church service on Sunday the members of the Oddfellows' Order conducted the funeral service of the Order and Mr. Rose's body was placed in Riverside Cemetery vault to await burial in the spring.

WEDDING BELLS

WALSH - O'CONNOR

A pretty but quiet wedding took place on Tuesday morning, January 18th at 9 o'clock, at St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church in Toronto, when the Rev. Father J. T. Egan united in marriage Eileen Mary O'Connor, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. James O'Connor, to Edward Fenton Walsh, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Teresa Walsh and the late Mr. Walsh, Detroit.

Given in marriage by her cousin, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white satin with sweetheart neckline. Her embroidered net veil was edged with lace and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Her maid-of-honour, Miss Clare Rawlins wore a floor-length gown of mauve net over taffeta and carried a nosegay of pink and blue carnations. Her bridesmaid, Miss Peggy Bogart, wore a floor-length gown of mauve taffeta. She carried a nosegay of pink and blue carnations.

The groom was attended by Nicholas Smith and Melvin Sutherland R.C.A.F.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received the guests, wearing a turquoise blue crepe dress and hat and a corsage of pink roses and asters. Assisting her was the groom's mother wearing an airforce blue dress and hat and a corsage of sky blue carnations.

After the reception the bride and groom left for Windsor and Detroit. The bride travelled in a pale blue crepe dress and topped it with a dark brown fitted muskrat coat and brown accessories.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Walsh of Detroit Pte. and Mrs. Jennerett of Brantford and Miss Helen C'Connor of Belleville.

CLOSE - FRIZZELL

With Rev. Seaton officiating the marriage took place at Shannonbank United Church at 7:00 o'clock Saturday evening, January 29th 1944, of Miriam Aletha, third daughter of Mr and Mrs. Hora Frizzell and Donald Stewart, youngest son of Mr. Stewart Close and the late Mr. Close of Croydon. The church was decorated with potted plants.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of turquoise blue silk sheer, with a shirred waist - line, full sleeves and smocked yoke of blue silk embroidery. Her shoulder veil was pale blue and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaid was Miss Helen Frizzell ,sister of the bride. She chose a dress of powder blue silk crepe with matching hat and shoulder length veil. She wore a corsage of deep pink carnations.

Mr. Garnet Brown was best man. The ushers were: Mr. Dick Marlin and Mr. Gerald Frizzell, brother of the bride. Mrs. Archie Meeks, aunt of the bride, played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Frizzell received in a wine chiffon velvet dress. The groom's mother assisted, wearing black crepe. For travelling, the bride wore a two-piece frock of navy blue, with white trimming, navy coat and hat with navy accessories.

MR. AND MRS. B. PENNELL RECEIVE WORD OF DAUGHTER'S DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Pennell received word on Friday of last week of the death at Van Nuys, California, of their, youngest daughter, Mrs. S. N. McDonald, formerly Anna Marguerite Pennell.

Mrs. McDonald had not been well for some time but her death, which followed an operation a few days before, was sudden and unexpected by her parents. Her sister, Mrs. E. A. Swenson of Prescott, Arizona, was with her at the time of her death.

Mrs. McDonald, who was in her 38th year, was born at Napanee, but until she was about 16 years of age lived with her parents at Colborne. Twenty-two years ago the family moved to Napanee and two years later Mrs. McDonald and her sister Hazel, left for Waukegan, Illinois, where they entered a hospital as nurses in training and graduted three years later. From Waukegan they went to Prescott, Arizona, where they were engaged in hospital work. After her marriage five years ago Mrs. McDonald went to California where she had since lived. Her husband is at present in the United States Navy and was able to obtain leave to be with his wife before her death.

During their short residence in Napanee, Mrs. McDonald and her sister, Mrs. Swenson, made many friends. They were members of Trinity United Church and were actively engaged in young people's work and were members of the choir.

Mrs. McDonald's funeral service was held last Friday at Van Nuys, where burial was made.

Besides her husband she leaves her parents in Napanee, one sister, Mrs. Swenson in Arizona, an aunt, Miss Margaret McCallum, Napanee and an aunt, Mrs. Dafoe, in Montreal.

In Loving Memory

LAKE — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Morley G. Lake who passed away two years ago today, January 31st 1942.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one we loved
From memory pass away.
Sadly missed by ever remembered by

HARTIN — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Hartin, who passed away, (Mother) January 29, 1942, (Father) February 5, 1943.

From our happy home and circle
God has taken two we loved.
They were borne away from sin and sorrow,
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss them
None but aching hearts can tell;
Lost on earth, but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.

From Waukegan they went to Prescott, Arizona, where they were engaged in hospital work. After her marriage five years ago Mrs. McDonald went to California where she had since lived. Her husband is at present in the United States Navy and was able to obtain leave to be with his wife before her death.

During their short residence in Napanee, Mrs. McDonald and her sister, Mrs. Swenson, made many friends. They were members of Trinity United Church and were actively engaged in young people's work and were members of the choir.

Mrs. McDonald's funeral service was held last Friday at Van Nuys, where burial was made.

Besides her husband she leaves her parents in Napanee, one sister, Mrs. Swenson in Arizona, an aunt, Miss Margaret McCallum, Napanee and an aunt, Mrs. Dafoe, in Montreal.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends neighbours and relatives for all kindnesses and floral tributes sent us in our recent loss of a loving wife and mother.

In Loving Memory

LAKE — In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Morley G. Lake who passed away two years ago today, January 31st 1942.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one we loved
From memory pass away.
Sadly missed by ever remembered by
MOTHER and DAD.
Brother, WILFRED, and Sister-in-law, HELEN

HARTIN — In loving memory of our dear parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Hartin, who passed away, (Mother) January 29, 1942, (Father) February 5, 1943.

From our happy home and circle
God has taken two we loved.
They were borne away from sin and sorrow,
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss them
None but aching hearts can tell;
Lost on earth, but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.
Sadly missed by

All Glycerine Controls Removed

Ottawa, (C.P.) Munitions Minister Howe, last night, announced that all chemical control restrictions on the use of glycerine have been removed.

It is understood that an adequate quantity of glycerine for war purposes now is available.

The human body is able to get along on three pounds of food and four pounds of water, but it needs 34 pounds of air daily.

Have you Thought About
BRAY LEGHORNS

LOOKING over the Canadian poultry situation, we sometimes wonder whether White Leghorns are "getting the break" they deserve. They're thrifty, they live well, and they certainly shell out the eggs. Since they're smaller and naturally more active than most heavier breeds, you can put more Leghorns into a given space than the bigger birds. Some of our biggest markets give a preference to white eggs — some even pay premiums for them. And we know poultry authorities who claim you can raise Leghorns cheaper and get more eggs for your feed.

YES — WE HAVE 'EM

From all this you may gather that we have White Leghorn Chicks to sell. That's right — we have! Mind you, we're not knocking other breeds—we produce a lot of chicks of other breeds, too. But with eggs in such strong demand for home and overseas, and this new floor price firmly underneath the egg market, we feel this old reliable egg manufacturer, the White Leghorn, deserves more attention than it has been getting recently.

COCKERELS, TOO

Many people turn up their noses at White Leghorn cockerels — But White Leghorn cockerels are no lemons for broilers and fryers. Mrs. Anderson, R. 1, Cayuga, Ont., writes: "I fried two for dinner today, one two pounds each" at 7 weeks. Well, her they're real eating, too. So if you have the room, take your Leghorn hen-reared, and treat you to some fried chicken.

The Late Walter Metcalfe

Walter Edgerton Metcalfe, a well-known resident of Napanee, died early Tuesday morning, February 1st, at his home, West Street. Mr. Metcalfe had been in failing health for some years and about four years ago suffered a stroke, which had been since followed by several more attacks.

Mr. Metcalfe was an employee of The Collard Furniture Shops for about forty years and because of ill-health had to give up working about nine years ago. He was greatly interested all his life in poultry, and was one of the organizers of the Napanee Poultry Association, in which he had held various offices. He was a member of the Foresters Order and of Grace United Church.

He was born seventy-two years ago at Deaton of English parents. When a small boy his family moved to Georgetown where he served his apprenticeship in the furniture trade. For a short time he worked in a furniture factory in Elora and came to Napanee 48 years ago.

He was married 44 years ago to Lucy Gartley, who survives. He also leaves three children. Edith M. Williams in Kitchener, and Walter and Marjorie Mrs. Casseen in Detroit. Another son, Gordon, died in infancy.

His funeral will be held from the Wartman Funeral Home, Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock, with Rev. C. D. McLellan, minister of Grace Church, in charge. Interment will be made in the spring in the Metcalfe family plot at Georgetown.

Order Certified Seed Potatoes Now

Certified seed potatoes are being withheld from export to meet the requirements of Canadian growers, but the Plant Protection Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture points out, demands for these potatoes from other countries are very strong. Supplies not needed for planting in Canada should be released for export in March before the season in the U. S. A. is too far advanced for planting. This means that orders for certified seed potatoes should be placed without delay while supplies are still available.

The planting of certified seed potatoes for table stock will give a heavier yield from each acre planted to such seed. Seed potato growers are reminded that fields entered for certification in 1944 must be planted with either "Foundation" or "Foundation A" seed.

The local District Inspector Seed Potato Certification, Plant Protection Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has a list of growers having "Certified", "Foundation" or "Foundation A" seed potatoes for sale.

TROOPS RECEIVING SERVICE RIBBONS

With supplies of the first general service ribbon of this war to be awarded Canadian troops now available, thousands of soldiers and airmen in the district, including men who have served overseas, have now put up their first war ribbons.

Awarded to all ranks who have volunteered for overseas service, who have at least 18 months service to their credit, the ribbon is of blue with red and green stripes, the green being on the outside.

In the case of men who have served overseas, a small maple leaf in silver is worn in the centre of the ribbon.

HUN ESCAPES MINIMIZED

Reported "escapes" of prisoners of war from farms, camps and other places where they are employed are not regarded as serious by the Labor Department — certainly not to the extent that might put a stop to this man-power auxiliary. Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, today deprecated "alarmist" stories about the number of prisoners who have "wandered away from farms and camps." He said that maybe eight or ten were missing but they would come back or be rounded up.

"Sometimes," he said, "some of these men get fed up and wander off but they nearly always return. We had the case in Riding Mountain Park in Manitoba where 40 went for a Sunday hike and didn't come back. It was thought that this was an organized break but it was found that these men simply got lost.

"The use of prisoners has been very satisfactory and there is no suggestion that these incidents will put a stop to their use."

VITAMINS ARE FACTS

Hello Homemakers! Within recent years the word "vitamin" has assumed a new and vital significance in the lives of people who had previously given it little, if any, thought. Today, the great majority of active and intelligent homemakers realize that it is associated with both "a sound mind" and "a sound body."

While vitamins cannot be seen tasted or measured by weight, they can be measured chemically. They are primarily food substances which, in small quantities are essential to a regular and healthy way of life—a way of life we are now seeking to maintain.

Scientific research has unfolded a very enlightening story in the matter of vitamins. To-day, we know that people who take the foods which do not supply adequate amounts, even of one vitamin, may find that they are not up to par when on the job, and that there is a lowering of resistance to disease. In the case of children vitamin deficiency will also cause their growth to be retarded.

Official food rules have been carefully planned in such a way as to assure a balanced diet. By observing these simple rules every day, people can enjoy a variety of food which will provide all the vitamins that build and maintain strong, healthy bodies. Ignoring these basic foods means ignoring the laws of nature.

To renew acquaintances with the various members of the vitamin family we point out the prominence given by the air force in their diet to prevent night blindness or "dim-sight". This vitamin A is found in leafy green and yellow vegetables, apricots, liver, fish liver oils and butter.

Vitamin B-1, which assists in preventing such distresses as pink eye and indigestion, is at the same time, given the appetite a lift is known as the "morale" vitamin. It is found in whole-grain cereals such as wheat germ cracked wheat, rye buckwheat, oatmeal and the flour which has been enriched by these grains. Dried peas and beans and lean meat are not so rich in vitamin B-1.

It is highly important to recognize the value of which a germ which can be served in the morning cup of coffee, on top of cereals or in quick bread mixtures.

In the next Mixing Bowl article vitamins C and D will be discussed.

RECIPES

Chocolate Cereal Pudding

Two cups cooked cereal, one-quarter cup wheat germ, three tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons corn syrup, half-cup milk, one-quarter cup cherries (candied), three tablespoons cocoa.

Mix ingredients and cook in a greased baking pan set in a pan with a little hot water in it. Bake until the mixture is set, in electric oven at 350 degrees.

Rice Muffins

Three-quarters cup cooked rice, three-quarters cup flour, half-teaspoon salt, three teaspoons of baking powder, one tablespoon of sugar, one egg, one tablespoon of fat, three-quarters cup milk.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients; beat eggs and add cooked rice which has been well drained and mashed. Add melted shortening and milk. Fold in dry ingredients.

The batter is stiffer than ordinary muffins and may be dropped from a spoon on a greased sheet. Bake in electric oven 25-30 minutes. Note: Any thick left-over cereal may be used.

Economical Johnny Cake

One and one-half cups of flour, one and one-half cups cornmeal, four teaspoons baking powder, three-quarters cup of milk, one and one-half tablespoons sugar, three tablespoons fat, melted, three-quarters teaspoon of salt, three -quarters cup of water.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine milk, water and fat. Combine the liquid with the dry ingredients. Pour into a shallow pan and bake in electric oven, twenty minutes, 425 deg.

Apple sauce Cake

One cup sugar, one-third cup fat, one cup applesauce, two cups of flour, half-cup raisins, one teaspoon soda, half-teaspoon cinnamon half-teaspoon cloves, one-quarter teaspoon salt one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg.

Sift together soda, spices, salt and flour. Cream the fat, add sugar, applesauce, dry ingredients and raisins. Bake in moderate electric oven. This may be cooked in muffin tins or cup cake tins.

TAKE A TIP:

1. Make flour paste to use in fastening down a piece of oil-cloth instead of tacking it on. When this is done it cannot wrinkle or crack when being washed. Waxing the cloth will add to its wear, too, but do not spread bread on it to butter or you may have wax-flavoured sandwiches.

2. Open your home canned products carefully, not to damage the jar tops or rubber rings. Wash the jars and rubbers thoroughly in soapy water and rinse twice in hot water. When thoroughly dry, put the rubber rings in the jars and put on the tops, then place on the cool storage shelf again.

SUGGESTION BOX

Mrs. C. A. says: Make a bottle brush from a stiff wire about ten inches long; bend it about half an inch from the end. Cut pieces of soft string or rags two and one-half inches wide; fold and tie bunches of six strands to the wire about half an inch apart. You will find it convenient to clean vases, cocktail shakers and other things.

Mrs. J. D. says: Sew old rubber rings, which cannot be used again, on the under side of your mats to keep them from slipping.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her care of The Napanee Beaver. Send in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

Your last letter sent me into transports of glee. What a naughty thumbnail sketch! Your landlady, of course, would throw you out into the street if she saw that unkind cartoon of a lady of ample proportions, are dily pocketing the rent. By the way, it is many a long day since I have had such a long, newsy letter from you. Can you be turning over a new leaf with the New Year? But bopjards don't change their spots, do they? However, I will believe that the age of miracles is upon us if the postman brings another fat letter next week. In the meantime I am from Missouri!

Playing the roving reporter is very much to my liking and during the past few months, I have covered every town in the district where the C.W.A.C. are stationed. Oh what a beautiful job! Now the time has come when I must settle down to the more humdrum routine of a stationery life, and ignore my gypsy blood. However, I have always had a healthy curiosity about the inner workings of the various branches of Headquarters, Kingston so now I can indulge my thirst for information.

For instance, Central Registry, which keeps all the files has always baffled me. I know how files that are needed are drawn and, when the officers are finished with them, how they "P.A." them (that is, mark the file jackets in order that they may be "put away") but there is more to it than that. I now find that in the same way, if an officer wants a file brought to his attention at a later date, he can mark that file "B.F." and automatically it is brought forward at the given date. The darn thing practically thinks for you. Central Registry is a large office, employing a number of civil servants in addition to army personnel. At almost any hour of the day, it is a hive of industry. The Army Post Office sends all mail to Central Registry for distribution and the various departments pick up their mail, files routed to some particular office for action, etc.

Another Headquarters department which I would like to understand more fully is the Records Office. My old friend, Sergt. Eileen O'Connor, of Port Hope, tells me that "Records" has a card index which contains information concerning every individual in the Canadian Army who has served at any time in Military District 3. Those cards are opened from Part II Orders which each unit forwards to the Records Office. All of which has made me come to the conclusion that Records exist mainly for the purpose of "plotting the finger" on army personnel. That is not a pleasant thought, is it Babs, either, for I find that the finger print experts who identify us on our Army Identification Cards, operate through Records.

While I hope to go a-roving again now of these days, I have had a great many privileges extended to me since I came to M.D. No. 3 and I am happy to settle down and hang away at my trade typewriter with a will. A great deal of government money has been poured into the C.W.A.C. and it is only right that the public should have an accurate picture of the organization of the Corps which, of course reflects the way in which the people's money has been spent. I like to think of my job as accounting to the public on their investment in the Canadian Women's Army Corps. If I did not think of it in that way, I might find myself impatient over writing an account of the way that the Trenton W.D.'s trimmed the Kingston C.W.A.C. at basketball and be clamouring for more essential work. However, that unimportant little match between the two services is a tiny link in the chain. It tells, by inference that there is goodwill between the women in the services and also that healthy recreational games are a part of the social programme.

Time marches on! I had no idea that I had lingered so long over this letter. I must tear myself away and pay attention to my official duties. To-night, I am that forgotten woman, the Orderly Sergeant of the Day. Up at the crack of dawn and on duty long after most law - abiding C.W.A.C. are cosily tucked into their double deckers. Wish me luck!

Cheerio.

NEWBURGH

Newburgh, Jan. 31. — Mr. Dean Vandervoort moved last week to his new home, which he had been renovating.

The Adult Bible Class took charge of the opening exercises of the United Church Sunday School last Sunday.

Mrs. Donovan, who has been visiting Mrs. J. Moore for the last several months, has returned to her home at Tamworth.

Mrs. M. Donohue returned on Saturday from the Kingston Hospital, after a week's treatment.

At the United Church service Rev. H. B. Herrington gave an address on "Home". The choir sang two beautiful choruses. After the close of the service the long Board was held. Mr. Don Holmes, of Napanee, gave two selections on his trombone, which were much enjoyed.

Miss Maud Welbanks was the guest of Mrs. George Finlay, Strathcona, on Friday last.

Mr. George Walker, Simkins Bros., and Vandervoort's have been putting in their supply of ice.

Mrs. L. H Palmer returned home to Shelburne, Vermont, on Monday, and her mother, Mrs. J. Moore, has gone with her to stay a few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wartman, of Kingston, were the Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Dean Vandervoort, and Mr. Vandervoort.

Mr. Fred Black moved last week to the residence which he purchased from Mr. F. Frost, which Mr. Dean Vandervoort vacated last week.

ODESSA

Odessa, Jan. 31. — The Princess Chapter of Eastern Star held a very successful social evening of euchre in the rooms of the Oddfellows' Lodge on Thursday. Prizes were as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. Earl Buck; second, Mrs. Edgar Thompson. Gents, first, Harold Robson; second, Joe Lawder. A travelling prize was won by Mrs. Barry, of Westcrock.

The Women's Association of the United Church met on Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Albert Dawson, with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. Mary Vandewater, presided. Group Leaders appointed were Mrs. Joe Vroeman, Mrs. W. J. Smiley and Mrs. J. L. Clark.

Word was received here on Thursday of the death of Mrs. John Morrison, in Toronto. The deceased was an old resident of the village until a few years ago, when she went to Toronto to reside with her daughter, Mrs. C. Foster, and son Frank. Another daughter, Mrs. John Graham, resides in Watertown, N.Y. Interment took place on Saturday in Wilton cemetery.

Mr. Stanley Sproule, Jr., cut his hand very badly while splitting wood at his home. He was taken to the office of Dr. E. W. Huxable, who found it necessary to take eight stitches to close the wound.

Mr. Earl Babcock is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Dougald Mr. Dupe, at Croydon. Mr. Babcock met with an accident in breaking his ankle while at his daughter's.

Mrs. Edith Peters, of Wilton, spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Stuart Simmons, and Mr. Simmons.

WILTON

Wilton Jan. 31. — Mrs. Byard Lee is spending some time in Kingston at the home of her son, Mr. Earl Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Simmons spent Sunday last with relatives in Kingston.

The condition of Mrs. Emma Babcock remains much the same at time of writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Grant and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Grant's parent, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawson, Fourth Line.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Blake Switzer in the death of her father, Mr. Geerr Bell. The death occurred in his late home in Ernestown on Thursday.

Mr. Claude Babcock has returned to his teaching duties at Lisgow, Ont., after having been here due to the illness and death of his father the late A. W. Babcock.

The first meeting of the Women's Institute for 1944 was held at the home of Mrs. Archie Simmons on Tuesday evening, January 25th, with a good attendance, the President in the chair. Two cushions, three pair of mittens, and one pair of women's socks sent in to the Red Cross. There was no report of work sent in to the Navy or Army. The program followed: Current Events, Mrs. George Emberley; Readings, "H.R.H., W. I. Post War Work", Mrs. D. Simmons; "If Everyone", Mrs. Arthur Simmons; "The Amazing Russians", Mrs. Forsythe; "Home Career Made Happy", Mrs. M. Perry; "Daily Dozen", Mrs. C. Ackerman. The meeting closed with the National Anthem. A "Floral Romance" contest was held, the dainty prize being won by Mrs. M. Perry. The Wilton W. I. received an invitation from Odessa W. I. to attend their February meeting, when they will hold their 18th birthday anniversary. Refreshments were served at the close, and the social time much enjoyed. Mrs. Arthur Simmons invited the W. I. to her home for the February meeting.

Seed Potatoes
Should be ordered
AT ONCE

PLACE YOUR ORDER NOW, while supplies are still available. Seed potatoes are being withheld from export to meet the requirements of Canadian growers, but demands from outside Canada are very strong and seed needed for planting in Canada should be released for export in March before the season in the U.S.A. is too far advanced for planting.

ORDER "CERTIFIED" for Table Stock Potatoes. Larger crops are needed in 1944. Obtain a heavier yield from each acre by planting Canadian Certified Seed Potatoes.

ORDER "FOUNDATION" and "FOUNDATION A" for Certified Seed Production. All fields entered for certification in 1944 must be planted with either "Foundation" or "Foundation A" seed potatoes.

DISTRICT INSPECTOR FOR ONTARIO—Seed Potato Certification, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

For lists of growers having "Certified", "Foundation A", or "Foundation" potatoes for sale, apply to the District Inspector, Seed Potato Certification, or to the Plant Protection Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

BETHEL

Bethel, Jan. 28.—Official word was received on Monday, January 24th, by Mrs. Jack Beattie that her son, Gordon, had been killed in action in Italy on December 31st. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Beattie, her son, Bruce, and his daughter, Mrs. Gerald Peters.

Mr. Charlie Lee, a much respected resident of this neighborhood, who has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Justus Gilligan, and Mr. Gilligan, for several years past, has taken to his bed and is rapidly weakening. No hope is held for his recovery. Mr. Lee, if living, will be 98 years old on the 26th of February, and has been very active for his years.

Several of our ladies attended another Red Cross quilting at Mrs. N. Boyce's on Colebrook, on Thursday, and enjoyed a pot luck dinner. They finished two quilts.

The thaw at present is delaying work in the swamps, although the farmers have certainly improved their time during the past favorable weather and many loads of wood have been cut and hauled out on to hard land, so there should be no scarcity of fuel in this community next year.

STELLA

Stella, Jan. 28. — The fishermen at Long Point filled their ice houses last week. They struck a good time to fill.

Word has just been received that Private Fred Wemp has been killed in action in Italy. He is the first Island boy to lose his life.

Gus. Richards is confined to the Kingston General Hospital with flu.

The death of Wm. J. Beaubien occurred on Sunday last in the Kingston General Hospital. He was removed to the hospital on Thursday for treatment. Mr. Beaubien was 78 years of age. In his younger days he sailed on the Upper Lakes for a number of years, and later he had the mail contract between Stella, Emerald and Bath, and recently between Stella and Millhaven. He was an excellent man to handle a boat and was the first on the Island to place a gasoline engine in his boat. The late Mr. Beaubien leaves to mourn, his wife and one daughter, Mrs. A. Babcock, of Bath, one son, Max, of Stella, and one brother, George, of the Island. His funeral took place from his late residence on Tuesday last and was quite largely attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. K. Kirk. The pall bearers were Gordon Tugwell, Alex. Glenn, A. G. Cole, Ray Smith, Robt. Smith, Frank Beaubien. The remains were placed in the family plot in Glenwood Cemetery.

SILLSVILLE

Sillsville, Jan. 31. — A kitchen shower was held on Sill view Hall on Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawley (nee Gladys Lloyd), who were recently married. An orchestra provided music for dancing, and lunch was provided.

Guests at a dinner party given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hurck-Hawley, included Mr. and Mrs. Morley Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sharpe, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Windover.

Miss Margaret McLean, of Kingston, spent Wednesday afternoon at her home here.

Miss Phyllis Hughes, of Queen's University, was a guest at her home over the week end.

The Y. P. S. held their regular meeting at the home of Miss Moira McLean last Friday evening.

Mrs. D. W. Young was hostess to the War Workers' gathering on Tuesday afternoon, February 1st.

ADOLPHUSTOWN

Adolphustown, Jan. 31. — Many friends and relatives attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Reynolds, which was held in St. Alban's Church on Wednesday afternoon last. Rev. Mr. Secker conducted the service and burial took place in the adjoining cemetery.

Mr. Earl Gallagher, of Detroit, Mich., is home for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gallagher.

In England, on January 22nd, to Pilot Officer James A. Heathcote and Mrs. Heathcote, a daughter.

Mr. Leslie Reynolds, who has been seriously ill for the last week, is improving slowly.

Nine tables were in play at the euchre in the Town Hall on Friday evening, and the prize winners were Mrs. Albert Wilson, Mrs. Jack Lewis, Mr. Bert Magee and Mr. Archie Heathcote.

Rev. and Mrs. Secker entertained the Women's Auxiliary at their annual meeting on Thursday afternoon. The officers appointed were: Hon. President, Mrs. Secker; President, Mrs. Hugh Instant; Vice President, Mrs. Alex. Allen; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Fred Wilson, and Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. Fred Gallagher.

Conway - Sandhurst

Conway - Sandhurst, Jan. 31. — The delightful January weather still continues, and many farmers have now completed the cutting of their supply of fuel. In some cases tracks are being used to draw in from the fields, and this is very unusual. The ploughing, however, has been too severe for hauling with horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ruttan and family left Conway last week to reside in Kingston.

Mr. F. C. Hoodspoon had the misfortune to fall on the ice and injure his knee. We are hoping for a speedy recovery from the painful accident.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ackerman, of Sandhurst, entertained a number of friends at a dinner party one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Neilson Reddick and Mrs. G. Reddick, of Kingston, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sills.

The W. A. of Conway United Church met on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. P. B. Wright, Conway.

We are glad to report that the condition of Mrs. H. Punchard, who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Bartlett, is improving.

Miss Peggy Ham, of Kingston, and Mrs. Maurice Young and Jane, of Sandhurst, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ham, Conway.

EMPEY HILL

Empey Hill, Jan. 31 — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kimmerly returned home on Monday, after visiting relatives in Clayton and Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Abbott, also Ralph and Billy, were supper guests at the Tucker home on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. E. Price spent Tuesday with Mrs. Bruce Kimmerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vanalstine had tea with Mr. and Mrs. Elias Stafford recently.

Rev. W. R. Merrick and Mrs. Merrick were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Husband on Wednesday.

M.A.C. Wallace Husband, of Vancouver, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Husband, Mr. Stan. Husband, of Harrowsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Husband, Frankie and Tommie were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Husband.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stafford had dinner on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stafford.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Winter entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Abbott and Billie, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Winter on Sunday evening.

Miss L. Hudgins is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kimmerly's.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert and Shirley spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. Bell and family.

Miss Doris Brown, of Napanee, was the week end guest of Miss Bernice Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Denison and Ted visited Mr. and Mrs. F. Hutchinson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Winter entertained Mr. and Mrs. V. Price and Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jackson and Merley, and Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Russell and Bobby, at supper on Friday evening.

Sunday visitors at the McMath home were Mr. J. McMath, of Belleville; Mrs. A. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Pinney and boys, of Napanee.

The Junior Sewing Club met on Saturday evening at Mrs. R. Tucker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig and children, and Mrs. Arthur Breen, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. Hutchinson on Thursday.

Mrs. Hazel Hartman spent Friday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shane spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Alva Shane, Desoronto. They were accompanied by Mrs. Percy Histed, who visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. Hagen.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. J. Hall and family, who have received word that her son, Gordon Allen, 20 years of age, was killed in action in Italy on December 31st. A memorial service is to be held in the United Church on February 13, at 2.30 p.m. Though many of our young men from this vicinity have volunteered for active duty, this is the first casualty, and the entire community sympathizes with the family in the loss of so fine a young man.

HAWLEY

Hawley, Jan. 31. — Mr. H. Gilbert, a well known and esteemed citizen, passed away at his home on Tuesday. The deceased had spent all his life in this neighborhood and for the last few years had been in failing health. The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from his late residence. Surviving are his wife, two sons, Charlie and Walter, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Asselstine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O'Connor and Dennis were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Pretts on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parks and sons were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ackerman on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Huyck entertained Mr. and Mrs. W. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Brummell, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pretts, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pretts, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Pretts at a turkey dinner and bridge on Thursday evening.

Barbara Kimmerly Weds Flying-Officer Donald Snelgrove

An interesting ceremony of last Wednesday evening, February 2nd, in Trinity Church, was the marriage of Miss Barbara Louise Kimmerly, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Kimmerly, Napanee, to Flying-Officer Donald Young Snelgrove, R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. A. E. Snelgrove and the late Mr. Snelgrove, St. Thomas.

Rev. G. Murray Chidley officiated. Mrs. J. E. Madden played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Harold Denison and violinist Corpl. N. L. Skitch, of the R.C.A.F. contributed two solos.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a graceful gown of white satin, with a slight train. Her veil, edged with scallops and caught with seed pearls, fell from a Queen Anne halo studded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of Dream roses and white-mots and bouvardia.

Two other attendants, Mrs. W. E. Sills, London, Ont., and Miss Eleanor Paul, Napanee, wore dresses of carnation pink crepe similarly styled to that of the matron-of-honour. Their headdresses were of matching pink mallite, and they carried nosegays of pink and white sweet peas and baby's breath, tied with streamers caught with bouvardia.

Mr. Malcolm McLaws St. Thomas, attended the groom and the ushers were Arthur D. Kimmerly, brother of the bride and W/O. Robert McLean, R.C.A.F., Goderich.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Bridge Street. Mrs. Kimmerly, wearing a two-piece frock of sea-foam blue, trimmed with silver sequins, black accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses, received her guests. She was assisted by Mrs. E. E. Snelgrove, mother of the groom, who wore dusty rose with black accessories and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Amos Kimmerly, grandmother of the bride, was gowned in powder blue and wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Snelgrove left on a short trip to Montreal. They will reside at Lucan, Ont., where the groom is stationed. The bride travelled in a suit of lime green gabardine, with muskrat top coat, and brown accessories.

TOWN COUNCIL SETS TAX RATE TWO MILLS HIGHER

Rate to be 51 Mills for 1944

The tax rate for the Town of Napanee for 1944 was set at Fifty-One Mills (51) at a meeting of the Town Council held on Monday evening. The rate is two mills higher than that of 1942, which was 49 mills.

In a detailed review of the town's finances, the treasurer M. P. Graham stated there were two reasons which could be given for the necessity to raise the tax rate. The first reason was that during 1943 committees had over expended their appropriation by $4,500. Expenditures on the Disposal Plant had been $500 more than estimated. Repairs to the swing bridge, which were unforseen at the first of the year, cost $500; insurance premiums were $337 more than expected; repairs to main were $375 more than estimated and expenditures on the streets were $2,540 more than the appropriation. The extra expenditure on streets included the cost of removal of the heavy fall of snow last year and the work on the water course on West street.

The second reason for the necessity to raise the tax rate, is that the Department of Municipal Affairs in Toronto, is insisting upon the municipality creating a special reserve fund equal to two mills on the tax rate, to provide for uncollected and uncollectable taxes. Had it not been for the department's demand for the special two mill levy, the tax rate for 1944 could have been left at 49 mills, the same as 1943.

The Treasurer and the Clerk, W. A. Grange, recently spent two days in Toronto with officials of the Department of Municipal Affairs, discussing the town's finances and receiving instructions on a new system of municipal budgeting being introduced by the department. The Department assisted town officials in working out a tentative estimate for 1944 which looked at first as if it would be necessary to increase the tax rate by three mills. The estimates were brought back to Napanee and later were reduced to Toronto for the approval of the Department. On the advice of the Department, the estimated expenditure was revised so as to necessitate an increase in the rate of only two mills.

The estimated revenue from all sources for 1944 was placed at $36-342.07 aside from taxes. The estimated total expenditure is $128,132.74 leaving the sum of $91,790.67 to be raised by taxation.

The tax rate of 51 mills which was approved by the Council, is made up as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| General | 12.29 mills |
| Relief | 1.30 mills |
| Public Schools | 8.03 mills |
| Collegiate | 8.96 mills |
| Debenture Int. and Prem. | 9.86 mills |
| Garbage Collection | 1.35 mills |
| County Rate | 9.21 mills |
| Total | 51.00 mills |

The grant to the Victorian Order of Nurses was cut $200, from $600 in 1943 to $300 for 1944. The grant to the Public Library will be $700 for 1944 instead of the usual $1,000. It was made clear that no other grants for any purpose can be made by the Council in 1944, and any proposed over expenditure by committees of the Council must first be approved by the Council as a whole and then by the Department of Municipal Affairs in Toronto.

The Treasurer, speaking about the town's tax situation, stated that in 1943, 93½% of the current tax roll was collected. At the end of 1943 the total of uncollected taxes was $13,000, compared with $17,000 at the end of 1942. All uncollected taxes for years previous to 1943 totalled $7,000. During the month of January 1944 about $2,000 was paid in on tax arrears.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Reeve Daly, chairman of Finance, presented the Treasurer's statement of receipts and expenditures for the month of January. Among the items of receipts were: Taxes, $884.24; Rents, $47.00; Licenses, $23.60; Fines and Fees, $117.79; Streets, $14.30; Grants and Subsidies, $116.18; Sundry, $186.85. Among the items of expenditure were: Town Property, $60.41; Printing and Postage, $41.67; Fire and Water $117.81; Police $280.32; Street Lighting $312.70; Streets, $9.-76; Charity, $127.75; Direct Relief, $2698; Sanitation and Waste Removal, $183.08.

Councillor Johnson, reporting for the Social Welfare Committee, stated there were five heads of families on relief in the town in January, with 18 dependents. In addition, seven single persons were on the relief roll. The amount of relief to be paid by the town was $220.83 for the month.

The report of the Chief of Police for the month of January was presented by Councillor Robson and was as follows: Complaints received and investigated 6; accidents investigated 3; doors found unfastened 16; gas pumps found unlocked 2; summons served 18; arrests 8. During the month of January, the following convictions were obtained in court for the town: two charges under the Criminal Code and two charges under the Liquor Control Act.

OTHER BUSINESS

Applications were made by B. Pigeon and P. Killorin for renewal of pool room licenses and the requests were referred to the Police Committee to report.

A request from the committee for admission for the Blind to hold a tag day in Napanee was referred to the Police Committee, with power to act.

A report on the results of the campaign to secure clothing for the citizens of Napanee's adopted Russian town "Ahtirka" was given by Reeve Daly, and revealed that a large quantity of useful clothing had been collected and forwarded. The campaign will still be carried on, and Reeve Daly extended thanks to the I. O. D. E. for handling the details and looking after the collection and packing.

Major Hall extended the congratulations of the Council to Reeve Daly on his election to the position of Warden of the County of Lennox and Addington.

CAPT. W. W. EXLEY WOUNDED IN ITALY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Exley received word on Monday that their son, Captain Walter W. Exley had been wounded on January 30th while in action in Italy. A telegram was received by Mrs. Exley, Captain Exley's wife, who lives in Kingston. It stated that extent of injuries were not determined and that Captain Exley was in hospital.

Captain Exley has been overseas for four years with the exception of the period from March 16, 1942 to December 19, 1942 which he spent in special work in Canada. He returned overseas in December 1942 and went to Italy with his regiment, the Hastings and Prince Edward, in October 1943. He went into action on December 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Exley's younger son, Lieut. Douglas Exley and their son-in-law, Major Gilbert Howitt, are also in Italy.

Stolen Car Recovered

One evening last week Mr. J. A. Reeve's car was stolen from in front of his office on John Street, where he had left it running for a moment while he went into the office. Later in the week the car was found near Belleville where it had apparently been abandoned. No harm was done to the car and some valuable articles left in the car were not disturbed.

Apparently the person who appropriated the car merely wanted a lift as far as Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jackson, of Colborne, opened their home Friday evening, January 28th for a reception in honor of Gunner Wellesley Coulter, who recently returned to Napanee after two and a half years' service overseas with the Canadian Army.

A large number of friends and relatives were present and entertainment included cards and dancing. Music for dancing was supplied by Mrs. Norman Jackson and Garnet Wagar.

During the evening Gunner Coulter was presented with a purse of money and an address was read by Cecil King of Moscow.

Following the presentation lunch was served by young women of the vicinity. Guests were present from Moscow, Enterprise, Roslin, Marlbank Napanee and Shannonville.

Annual Congregational Meeting of Selby United Church

The Annual Congregational Meeting of Selby United Church was held in the Sunday School room Thursday evening, January 27th, 1944 with an attendance of 100, when the members of the W.M.S. served a pot-luck supper. Rev. W. R. Merrick presided over the meeting which was opened with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed by prayer. The congregational secretary Vivian Henderson, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were adopted.

The report of the Y. P. U. was given by the secretary, who stated a balance on hand of $36.69 after having contributed $25.00 to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. Maurice McLeod reported for the Sunday school. There are 237 on the roll, 184 was the record attendance and 51 sessions of the school were held during the year. The president of the W. M. S. Mrs. Ira Lake reported that the society had 47 annual members and 7 life members. $320.00 was sent to the Presbyterial Treasurer besides engaging a bale of clothing valued at $45.00. The Mission Band report was read by Olive Irwin who stated they had 28 members. They sent $32.44 to the Presbyterial Treasurer besides donating a Save War Savings Certificate to the W.M.S. The report of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund was given by W. A. Prissen who reported that there had been an increase of $10.08 over the previous year's contribution.

Muriel Irwin, in the absence of Miss Lucille Hendrick, reported that $44.00 had been forwarded to the Upper Canada Bible Society. The report of the W.C.T.U. given by Mrs. A. Prissen, showed a successful year.

Mrs. Jas. Henderson, president of Selby Red Cross, reported that the society had made 20 quilts and 350 articles of knitting and sewing during the year besides sending six Christmas boxes to our boys overseas. In the Pastor's report Rev. Merrick stated that during the year there had been six baptisms, 11 marriages and 4 funerals. At this time, silent prayer was offered in tribute to the deceased member.

On behalf of the congregation, Percy Hudgins tendered an expression of appreciation to Rev. and Mrs. Merrick for their faithful services during the year.

The singing of the National Anthem followed by prayer, closed the meeting.

Holders Urged To Retain No. 3 Books

In view of the fact that the fifteen cent rate on books will end on March 31st, it is urged that all those who have No. 3 ration books are to become valid for the purchase of canning sugar next summer. Holders who wish to make such purchases at that time are advised by the Rationing Administration to retain possession of these books, even after the new No. 4 books have been issued, for they fail to do so they will be unable to qualify for the purchase of canning sugar.

Canned Grapefruit Juice To Reappear

It is expected that quite large stocks of canned grapefruit juice will become available for civilian consumption in Canada in a few weeks time. These stocks have been acquired by the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation in order to provide a source of vitamin "C" which is not readily obtainable because of a shortage of other canned fruits.

Personnel discharged from the forces after November 1st, 1943, are entitled to a clothing allowance of $65 as part of their discharge grant.

the following Napanee citizens each paid a fine of $2.00, plus costs of one dollar for breach of the radio act: J. A. Davis, Robert Gage, D. F. Perry, Melvin Lowry, Fred Card, Ezra Cadman, Ernest Marshall and Patrick Hanley.

Surgeon Lieut. M. D. Hill, Outremont, Que., paid $25.00 fine and costs for speeding on the highway.

Mrs. Julia McCaw, Picton, paid $10 fine and costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence.

A charge of driving while intoxicated laid against Angus deHeup, Picton was withdrawn, but on a second charge of careless driving, Mr. DeHeup was convicted and ordered to pay a $10.00 fine and costs of the court.

Frank Thompson Napanee, for being intoxicated in a public place paid $10.00 plus costs. Mr. Thompson was also found guilty of making threats of personal injury to Eva Leeming and was ordered to pay the costs of the court and to keep the peace for

A GREAT CANADIAN

John MacNicol, M.P., Progressive-Conservative member from Davenport riding, Ontario, is a great Canadian. There is nothing provincial or parochial about his approach to the problems of the day. He is one of the few men who spends all his time between sessions travelling across Canada, studying its problems first hand When he speaks he is listened to because he has gone to the root of the matter about which he speaks. This past summer, he travelled through Northern Saskatchewan, studying the courses of waterpower for manufacturing purposes and for irrigation. He gave an address recently in the House of Commons, in which he urged that a vast scheme of irrigation be undertaken, so as to cure to some extent the periodic drought conditions on the prairies and to establish power facilities. He made a good case, and there should be no hesitancy on the part of the government in going further into this question, so that the plan outlined, if feasible, should be undertaken as a post-war project as soon as the need arises.

Of course, there are some difficulties in the way, as Mr. Robert Fair (Battle River) pointed out in his comments in the House, on February 4th. He said, among other things: "I want him (Mr. John MacNicol) to know that I am in accord with the speech he made but for different reasons. He told us that it (development of waterpower) would benefit the West. With that I agree. But there is one thing he did not tell us, and that is when we have all this production where are the markets to come from ? He did not tell us that. At the present time, with the few farmers we have at work to-day we have produced far more, in some lines, than the country can take care of. I was thinking over the project suggested by the Hon. Member for Davenport and came to the conclusion that there is still a lot of good cream on the milk in the Prairies. Perhaps some Hon. Members wonder what I mean by this. If you wake up with me at five o'clock in the morning you will find that the farmer is awakened by the singing of an alarm-clock manufactured in Ontario. He grabs his milkpails, also made in Ontario, and goes out to the barn. Then before proceeding to milk the cows, he takes hold of a fork which is also manufactured in Ontario. Then he milks his cows and takes the milk to the milk house and there proceeds to separate it in a separator manufactured in Ontario. He then comes to breakfast and nine times out of ten the breakfast food is manufactured in Ontario. After that he goes out and cranks up an American-made tractor, fills it up with American fuel in a lot of cases. He then goes out and hitches on to his machinery for the day's work and you usually find, with few exceptions, that the machinery has been manufactured in Ontario. We could go on with this process right through the day until bedtime arrives, and we find the poor farmer goes to bed, which bed was manufactured in Ontario, and sleeps under blankets made in exactly the same Province. Notwithstanding all that, I am in favour of the irrigation project mentioned by the Hon. Member for Davenport."

There we have the complication. We can well imagine that Mr. MacNicol will not be very popular in certain sections of Ontario if he continues to press for manufacturing in the Prairie Provinces. But knowing him as we do, we rather suspect that Mr. MacNicol will not be overawed by the opponents to his plan.

A WARNING

There are more men seeking employment through the selective services during the last period for which figures are available, than there were for the previously reported period. There is a slackening in certain war industries and a transference of workers from some factories to others. This is but a ripple on the surface But it is a foretaste of things to come. It is a warning to all who are now fully employed to save all they can; to practise the strictest economy — buy war saving certificates against the day of readjustment.

It is also a warning to government agencies that a day of trial is inevitable. Some day the war will end. Thousands now engaged in war production will be temporarily out of work, while the factories are turned to supplying the needs of peacetime. No matter how efficiently that will be done, there will be an inevitable period of readjustment. In many cases the speed and efficiency attained under the pressure of war will make it possible for factories to meet peacetime requirements with a staff greatly reduced from pre-war days.

Then there will be the return of the men and women from overseas. Thousands upon thousands will have to be absorbed into peacetime work. That again will not be done in a hurry.

To be sure the Government is busy with plans. Commissions are looking into the matter and are prepared to give advice to the Government. All the same, these plans so far have not become the announced policy of the Government. It is to be hoped there will be less delay than is usual in implementing commissions' reports. The minute the war is over, machinery should be set in motion to absorb labor back into peacetime activities, and to see to it that there is ample security against poverty, sickness, old age and unemployment in the transition period and throughout the whole future of our people. The workers and the men and women in the armed forces have a right to expect that, and public opinion will see that they are not deprived of the rights they have earned in these critical days.

DEFINING TERMS

A battle royal is being waged without guns, between the proponents of what is called "Free Enterprise" and those who champion some form of social control of business, or social ownership of certain public necessities. What is needed more than anything else at this stage of the game is a clarification of ideas, a definition of terms. For as they are now used, they are used very loosely — one group or individual meaning one thing and another group or individual meaning another, when identical terms are used. Of course, this procedure indulged in by both sides, is a familiar trick to make the other side appear as badly as possible.

Those who are champions of "Free Enterprise" denounce those who uphold Socialism, largely on the grounds that complete all-out public ownership is contrary to the genius of the Anglo-Saxon people. But the point is that no group, either in Canada or Great Britain, is willing to champion that sort of Socialism. Even the most radical socialists in Canada would go no farther than to suggest public ownership of certain essential enterprises. Time and time again the Socialists in Canada have made this clear.

On the other hand we ought to come to some understanding as to what is meant by "Free Enterprise." Do we mean by "free enterprise" the right of any individual or group to do as he wishes in the realm of economics or of business? If that is what we mean, then again few could be found who would dare champion such a view. A recent Gallup Poll of High School students in the United States, is revealing. A survey of 112,000 was held. Of that number 16.5 Per Cent. wanted, on graduation, to work for the Government; 26 Per Cent. wanted to own their own little business; 22 Per Cent. wanted to enter independent professions; 12 Per Cent. wanted to own farms, and 17 Per Cent to enter big business. These figures are quoted in some papers to show that the American youth favor "free enterprise." But what is meant by "free enterprise"? Of course, American and Canadian youth want independence of action; to start businesses and to own them. And if that is what is meant by "free enterprise" well and good. Let us agree on that. But "free enterprise" means something else for others. It means, for example, the right for certain groups to have monopolies; to get control of a whole line of businesses, by crushing competitors and buying them out; by restricting output and by developing cartels. If that is what is meant by "free enterprise" then we should know. But let us get this matter straight and then the issue can be debated on its merits. Away with confusion of terms — and let us be quick about it, too, for time is slipping by and we will have soon to make up our minds as to the kind of world we want to live in, after the war.

HERE'S HOPING !

Here's hoping that Franco will soon be made to realize that he can no longer hunt with hounds and run with the hares. He has been able, so far, to do just that. Under the guise of neutrality, Spain has been securing goods from America and supplying them to Germany. Franco has a debt to pay Hitler. When the Democratic Government received popular approval at the elections in Spain, it was Hitler and Mussolini who sent arms and munitions to Franco to enable him to defeat the will of the people and establish a Fascist Government. Franco has not forgotten that. He has sent supplies to Hitler, and even yet has a token Spanish force with the Germans on the Russian front.

The United Nations have put up with a great deal from this dictator. There has been, up until now, some excuse for their attitude. They had their hands full and were not anxious to add another nation to their enemies, especially when the battle for control of the Mediterranean was at stake. But it would appear that the time has come for a show-down. Public opinion, both in Great Britain and the United States is urging that action be taken to make Spain conform to the status of a neutral state. This must be done before a general western offensive begins. To have a nation situated as Spain is situated, ready to throw its influence behind the Germans when the critical moment arrives, might be serious enough, and a deterrent to the whole united effort. This seems to be well understood and may be the reason why pressure is being exerted on Spain at the present time.

LETTERS FOR SOLDIERS

BY JOHN STEINBECK

To the G. I's in the field or in barracks or in manoeuver letters are nearly the most important things that happen or don't happen. In five minutes of talk with a soldier you know whether he has heard from home or that letters do not come. It is a constant source of conversation, of worry and of gladness.

A group of men sit down together and they do not know one another, but in a very short time the wallets come out and pictures are passed about, pictures of wives and children. This is taken as a matter of course. No one is bored with it. And if a letter has been received, even a dull letter, it is usually read aloud and everyone is interested. And if the letters are worry letters the man shows it in his face and the Army doctors say that often he gets sick and doesn't even know what caused it.

The private letters are from his wife. She was a whiner. Probably always had been. She was living with his parents. Things were not going well. They were spoiling the baby and the baby had been sick. She wished she could move away but there wasn't enough money. She had not been feeling very well herself. Nothing you could put your finger on, but she was just run down. But she wasn't happy and she wanted the war to be over so he could go home and she could have the things she was used to.

He finished reading the letter and his face was filled with worry. "She's very delicate," he said. He pulled out the inevitable wallet and showed a picture of her. A spoiled, pout-mouthed little blonde, who was probably strong enough to lick two men, a complete whiner. "I wish she could go to California," he said. "I wish I could send her." He turned the letter over and there was a postscript. "I don't know how long I can keep this up," the postcript said. "I have to think a little bit of myself and after all, I'm not getting any younger."

There was the threat, the thing that was putting worry in his face. She was threatening him and he knew it, yet he was holding on to this thing and arguing with himself. He was putting in tremendous days of work and at night he had to go to bed with the picture of his wife going off with another man. She had the knife in him and she knew it. And he would get no rest and after a while his stomach would go to pieces and he would be hospitalized.

Another man brought out a little book and in it were columns of dates and check marks a year of them, a check mark for every day in the year. Every day a letter was written. It amazed him. Some times they were days arriving and he checked them against the postmarks. He had six of them in his pocket. They weren't terribly interesting letters, but one was written every day and although he was late in knowing, he knew what happened every day and there was no worry in him. He wanted desperately to go home but he felt he had not been cut off.

Another had not heard at all, no letters, no word at all. And he used all sorts of little explanations to himself. The ship that had the letters on board had been sunk. Maybe there was someone with his name who was getting his letters. Maybe the censor had taken them. He used all of those on himself. Maybe she was sick, may be she was even dead, but what he was saying all the time to himself was that almost surely she wasn't writing.

This is a great time for wives. They will never in their lives be so beautiful as they are now. Their eyes will never be so bright nor every kindness and every gentleness remembered. The way it is now they have great power now, and so many of them misuse it. So many use it to hurt and to worry. And a man in the Army hasn't time for these things in the daytime. Only when he should be sleeping can he consider the meanness of letters or think up possible reasons why there are no letters.

And a man feels trapped. If something is wrong there is nothing in the world that he can do about it. He cannot go to a sick wife, nor can he revenge himself on a creeper. He is here and helpless and one good letter can make the difference between a good soldier and a sick man. A large number of the men have only one revenge for bad treatment of this kind. When it finally gets through to them that they are being ignored and forgotten, they go out for other women. Their self-respect demands it. They are a curiously faithful crowd. For all the talk about what soldiers do they want terribly to be related to one woman. They build a sort of image of perfection that couldnt possibly have been true, and they hold on to it as long as they can, and they will only abandon it when they have to.

Good food can be given to a man, and entertainment and hard work, but nothing in the world can take the place of the letters. They are the single strings and when they are cut the morale of that man is shattered.

HITLER'S CUPBOARD OF RESERVES IS BARE

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE

With Germany undergoing a tornado of bombing from the west and her thousand-mile battle line in Russia being ripped and smashed back by the Red Army, the question naturally arises as to just how much resistance Hitler still has up his sleeve.

This takes on particular significance in view of the great assault now in progress against the Marshall Islands since that is merely a preliminary to the all-out offensive which must await the surrender of Hitler. Thus his strength is the key to the war.

"Isn't it a fact," asked a reader of this column, "that Germany's power must still be great and the proof of that, ipso facto, is the failure of the United Nations to invade Festung Europa?"

Well, we can say at once that Hitler's defensive strength still is great. His offensive strength, however, no longer is sufficient for him to seize the initiative from the Allies in any big-scale operation the way things now stand.

As for proof of Nazi strength being shown by Allied failure to invade Festung Europa it strikes me that this is putting the cart before the horse. The reason the Allies haven't invaded yet is because they only now are acquiring the necessary equipment for the job, owing to being caught unprepared at the outset of the war. Allied strength is mounting by leaps and bounds, while German striking-power is going down rapidly.

We shan't know Hitler's exact strength until we get an army of invasion ashore in Western Europe and put him under pressure from two sides. That's the only gauge by which we can measure his power. So long as France is uninvaded, the conflict might continue indefinitely.

Even after the German armies have been driven back to defence of their own frontier, they might hold out for a considerable time. Desperation gives added strength. Leningrad, with its vast population of 3,000,000 hung on for 17 months while completely surrounded by Boche and staggering from hunger.

So Hitler's fortress might produce fireworks. However, the comparison with Leningrad isn't exact for the final attack on the Reich will be spearheaded by the greatest fleet of aircraft every assembled. Thus the Nazis will be beset from without and from within. Hitler will be entirely dependent on reserve resources in his own cupboard, which is becoming Mother Hubbardish.

A recent news dispatch from Lisbon reports that the Nazi regime is reconditioning everything from goose feathers to paper bags to stretch its dwindling resources. That's not new, however, for as long ago as last July British sources in London stated that, because of Allied bombing, German industry had lost the production race essential to victory. They said the Reich definitely had passed the peak of production and was on the downgrade.

It then was cited that there was a steady fall in steel production, a narrow margin or oil, an inability to replace vital railway equipment, reduction in tank and airplane production, and other important symptoms of industrial deterioration. Last fall, Prof. Hunke, German economic leader stated that "it cannot be denied that the whole future stands under the sign of destruction." About the same time Edwin Searke, Associated Press correspondent in Stockholm, and long in Germany before America entered the war, reported that the Reich's raw material supplies had reached such a low level that the most extreme economies be practised.

Since then the Allied have raised havoc with industries and communica we can safely say th strength in resources lies his slim reserve supplies

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON, FEBRUARY 13TH, 1944

"JESUS ON THE MOUNTAIN AND IN THE VALLEY"
Lesson Text: Mark 9: 2-8, 17-27

We have lived through an age in which people "had to be shown" before they would believe. They trusted only that which they could see and feel and handle. Man had conquered the forces of nature, bent the lightning to his will harnessed the rivers and waterfalls to light his homes and turn the wheels of industry. He had learned to fly and to hold converse across limitless space with incredible speed. He became arrogant. He was the master of his faith, the captain of his soul. There was nothing in heaven or earth which he could not master. And then the crash came. The building he had so laboriously erected crumbled like a house of cards. Now men are beginning to realize that there are some powers beyond the ken of man. Beginning to see, once more, that there are invisible forces operative in the universe, that there are some inexplicable powers which cannot be seen but which are fundamental and permanent and real.

We may not be able to advance a scientific explanation of what happened on the Mount of Transfiguration. Why should we? In the face of life's ultimates all we can do is to trust. What we are witnessing today, in the air, on sea and on land, in the area of invention, would have been considered miracles to our parents. We make a grave assumption when we challenge the mysterious working of God's power on the basis of our inability to explain it scientifically. Sufficient for our purpose in this lesson is it to recognize that on the Mount of Transfiguration Jesus became so at one with God, His whole personality underwent a transformation. The law—represented by Moses and the prophets — represented by Elijah, testified to the fulfilment of God's plan in the life and person of our Lord.

Peter would fain have remained there. He would have retained the joy and ecstacy of the moment forever. But that was not to be. The mountain top experiences are ours only that they may be translated into life. Jesus needed the inspiration of the Mount. So did the dozen disciples. They were all to go through trying days; days in which their faith, courage and endurance would be tested. Jesus needed the confirmation of [illegible] which people "had to be shown" before they would believe. They trusted only that which they could see and feel and handle. Miss Iva Hart, of Napanee, spent a few days at her home here.

Mrs. Britton spent the week end in Kingston with her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McLaughlin, Wray and Flora, spent Sunday at Mr. J. H. Kimmett's. Wray is remaining for a few days.

Mrs. G. H. Brooks and Garnet are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ramsay, Newburgh.

The Pattern of Democracy

YOUR WHOLE LIFE is a thread in the democratic pattern.

You have seen the design sturdily woven out of the common aims and joys and cares of the common man and his loved ones.

You have seen it made secure by the co-operation of liberty-loving people who labour and save and fight for their own protection and peace of mind.

IN YOUR LIFETIME, too, you have seen the strong pattern of life insurance spring from the same close interweaving of individual interests for the common good.

The people have built it for the people. And the government, expressing the will of the whole people, supervises it in the common interest.

THE GREAT AIM and end of democracy is to produce equal opportunities for all.

And in life insurance this aim is realized.

Every owner of life insurance shares with every other the unfailing protection which their pooled savings provide.

By no other method can the small policyholder and the large enjoy the immediate peace of mind which comes to those who plan their own future according to their own means.

It is good citizenship to own

SELBY

Selby, Feb. 7. — The milder weather of the past few days has spoiled the roads for getting out wood.

James Remington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Remington, left on Thursday, January 20th, for Toronto, to enter the R.C.A.F., and on Monday, January 31st, Norman Jackson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, who has enlisted in the R.C.A.F., left for Manning Pool, Toronto. Our best wishes follow the boys.

Mr. Will Telford had the misfortune to sprain his wrist while operating his wood saw on Tuesday.

...Letters received from Harold Denison, who is on active service in Italy, report that they are snow on the mountains a few miles in the distance, but none on the ground at present.

Our residents were very much surprised to hear of the sudden passing of the late Mrs. George McFarland, at her home on Bridge St., Napanee, on Tuesday last. The deceased resided in our community for a number of years, and our deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

The February meeting of the W. M. S. was held in the Sunday School room on Friday afternoon, the President, Mrs. J. M. Rose, presiding.

TAMWORTH

(For Last Week)

Tamworth, Jan. 31. — Mrs. Clare Wagar entertained a number of ladies at a euchre party at her home. Six tables were in play. The prizes were won by Mr. Ed. Johnston and Mrs. Pedley. A very delicious lunch was served by the hostess and committee. A very pleasant afternoon was spent and the Red Cross was richer by six dollars.

On Wednesday, Jan. 26 friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Don. Carroll gave them a shower in Tamworth Town Hall. Nolan's orchestra provided music for dancing. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. The groom, on behalf of his bride and himself thanked everyone for their kindness. Lunch was served.

Miss Margaret Mitchell, B.A. art teacher in Tamworth Continuation School, received a letter from Miss Medhurst, supervisor of the educational section of Ontario Art Gallery, Toronto, acknowledging the receipt of pieces of art work by her grade IX pupils. The comment was most complimentary. The project was a new one, in corrugated paper, and the supervisor said the choice of color and design showed real artistic skill. The pieces are at present on exhibition, with other pupils' work, at the Art Centre.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute for January, was held at the home of Mrs. George Milligan. The president, Mrs. Easterbrooke, was in charge. After the regular opening and business, Mrs. Earl Bradshaw, convener of Historical Research took charge. She gave a very interesting talk on utensils and their origin. She mentioned that even Queen Elizabeth hadn't used forks. She also spoke on to-day's labor-saving devices in comparison to those of even our grandmothers' days, all of which made it sound as if we have things decidedly easy. She also gave some information on chalk and sponges. It was Bobbie Burns' birthday so a number of Scotch songs were sung, with Mrs. Clarke as the pianist. A paper on cancer, prepared by Miss Cameron of Newburgh was read by Mrs. S. Gilmour. Many regrets were expressed on hearing of the illness of our secretary Mrs. W. G. Richmond, and flowers were to be ordered for her. Several blocks for the afghan in the making for the Red Cross were handed in. The hostess and committee served a very delicious lunch. The National Anthem closed the evening's proceedings.

Mrs. Beckett was called to Kemptville, owing to the death of a cousin, Mrs. Fred Boggs.

A 'Flu' epidemic seems prevalent again. Mrs. Nancy McKim and little Helen Garrett, Bobby Hawley and Betty Kirkpatrick, are among those confined to bed.

A number from here attended the annual Red Cross meeting in Napanee. Mrs. F. W. Frute, president of the Tamworth Red Cross and Mrs. Marshall secretary were among those present.

A number of Masons motored to Arden on Saturday, to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Miller. Rev. A. W. Seaton was in charge.

Mrs. Ross Paul has hens worth crowing about. On Saturday she gathered three eggs that weighed twelve ounces, the largest of the three measured 9 ins. the long way and 7¾ inches in circumference. Mrs. Paul's hens are White Leghorns.

MELROSE

Melrose, Jan. 27. — The Young People's Union held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Badgley on Tuesday evening with a good attendance.

Mrs. Ed. Lazier was hostess to the Women's Institute on Thursday. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon and the afternoon was spent in quilting.

Mr. F. D. Pringle, who has been ill is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Weese were guests last week of Mrs. Sine Rawdon.

Mr. C. Haight was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lorene Lazier of the Second Line.

Miss Audrey Demille spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson, Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Badgley were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. McCabe, Hay Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Weese were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Treverton.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs: Only last week I was preparing to settle down in my little niche at Headquarters and plug on but there are now indications that I may not get very deep in my rut after all. I can see the light of a great day dawning. Yes, it is possible that I may find myself climbing aboard a train with a respirator slung over my shoulder and a tin helmet strapped to my back. You know what that means . . . a hop across the pond! Of course, I don't dare let myself believe it. I will break out in a rash and be quarantined . . . or develop a leaky heart and lose my category . . . or perhaps I will just become indispensable. However, our training teaches us that a soldier is never indispensable. He may think he is, but someone always slips into the vacant place and keeps the machinery running.

Exciting? Of course, I am but I am not going to let off any fireworks until it is a sure thing. In the meantime, keep your fingers crossed and wish me luck. I may be saying "hello" to your Dave in Piccadilly yet. The bare possibility makes we want to turn cartwheels — hardly the thing for a responsible C.W.A.C.

I have not yet given Barty a hint of what may be in store for me and truth to tell, I am afraid to let her know. She is such a militant young woman. I don't doubt that she could give me fifteen good reasons why she should go, rather than myself. First she would shell me with big words and then when my head was spinning, close in. I can see myself meekly trailing along to the O. C. and requesting that Barty be permitted to take my place . . . if, as and when. Of course, I am joking. In the first place, she would not do me out of the chance and secondly our officers are not often swayed by whims of the girls.

Incidentally, if Barty were not in the throes of another fad she would be sure to notice my abstraction but she has just discovered Shakespeare and the buskin stage. The day is past when she would merely walk into a room, she now makes an entrance in the Sarah Bernhardt manner, breathing some immortal quotation. Yesterday it was "All the World's a stage and all the men and women merely players . . ." My patience snapped and I rudely interrupted, "And all the C.W.A.C. are nuts!" It was not well received. She severely rebuked me for my "unbecoming levity" and hinted that she would enjoy seeing me stew in my own juice. Of course, that is not the way she put it. She said, "Be careful Nickey, you will live to rue squandering your intellectual heritage on trivialities." Oh, she was in rare form but we parted the best of friends. However, I must remind me to beat her with a bit stick before I sail for Blighty. Someone has to bring her back to earth!

Speaking of that, I must try keeping my own feet on the ground. I believe sincerely that while life in Canada is less spectacular, it is here that the Canadian Women's Army Corps can do its most valuable work. Here the need to replace men is greater and the girls who are slipping into army vacancies in Canada are the girls who deserve the greatest credit. So you see that I am not "kidding" myself that I am entitled to any bouquets for trying for the overseas draft. However, I have served my turn here and many girls who are junior to myself in service are in England so I feel justified in taking the opportunity, if it materializes.

So long, Red, and let's try to have a week - end together soon. I am pining to see a good hockey game and Montreal is due for some good matches soon, so why not come home with me? A C.W.A.C. friend of mine, Sergt. Marion Greenley, of Cobourg, Ont., will be coming, too. Marion does not know Montreal and is anxious to explore and where would she find better guides? We will have to watch ourselves though or before it is over, she will be guiding us around. Marion is the C.W.A.C. Pay Sergeant and bright as a silver dollar, so we will have to be on our toes.

Yours with love,

NICKEY

HAWLEY

Hawley, Feb. 7. — A very successful and well attended dance was held at the hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Maple Leaf W. I.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Treat rheumatic pains by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 703

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Storey were host and hostess to a few friends at a turkey dinner on Saturday evening.

A Chartered Bank is

ONE WHICH COMPETES WITH NINE OTHERS

for your business

These ten competing banks are:

Bank of Montreal
The Bank of Toronto
The Canadian Bank of Commerce
The Dominion Bank
Imperial Bank of Canada
The Bank of Nova Scotia
The Provincial Bank of Canada
The Royal Bank of Canada
Banque Canadienne Nationale
Barclays Bank (Canada)

A chartered bank is the custodian not only of your money on deposit but also of your secrets concerning that money.

A CHARTERED bank is an institution where the details of your bank account are kept secret.

It is called "chartered" because its permission to do business and the conditions and restrictions under which it may do business, are contained in a charter granted and kept up-to-date by parliament, the finest democratic free institution of government that man has yet devised. This charter is an Act of Parliament laying down all of the conditions which safeguard your money.

Ten competing chartered banks are the very opposite of a State Monopoly such as would come about if all the banks were rolled into one by nationalization. Under State Monopoly, if you failed to get accommodation at the one bank, you could not go to any one of nine others to seek it. You can today.

NEWBURGH

Newburgh, Feb. 7. — Mrs. H. B. Herrington and daughter, Mrs. Ralph Wellman, spent the week end in Toronto attending the funeral of the latter's father-in-law, the late Mr. Robert Washman.

Miss Alice McIlveen is visiting friends in Kingston for a few days.

Mrs. Alex. Moffatt and Lorne left on Saturday to spend a couple of months at Clinton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Ruttan entertained at tea on Friday, February 4th, Rev. H. B. Herrington, Mrs. Herrington, Mr. Frank Tompkins, Bessie Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pringle, in honor of Mr. Herrington and Frank Tompkins' birthdays.

Master Arthur Embury spent a few days last week with his cousin, Eric Embury.

Mrs. Geo. Brooks and Mr. Garnet Brooks, of Hastings Corners, are visiting a few days with Mr. Brooks' daughter, Mrs. J. H. Ramsay, while Mr. Ramsay is on a business trip to Toronto.

The February meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Ashworth on Wednesday last at 2:30 p.m., the President in charge. After an opening hymn, Mrs. Lyon gave a devotional on "The Glee Fraternity". Mrs. M. in three connected the devotional part of the meeting by reading a poem entitled "I wish I were" The Treasurer's report for 1943 was read. A letter was read from Mrs. C. Pero, asking for donations for the "Dove of Peace" Fund. Mrs. Lochhead gave an interesting account of the Lord Elgin of the Sunday Book. A hymn and the benediction closed the meeting.

Little Mis. Dorothy Embury was the guest of Marylin Moore for the week. Marylin's birthday being on February 6th.

Mrs. A. E. Mounce is a patient in the General Hospital, Kingston, for treatment.

At the United Church service Rev. H. H. Herrington gave a sermonette on "A Christian Living in the Community." The choir sang two anthems. After the close of the service the Semi Pent was held, with Mr. Garnet Brook as leader.

Mr. J. H. Ramsay is attending a few days in Toronto on business and Mr. Garnet Brooks has charge of the hardware store in his absence.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. A. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. C. Pero on Friday evening, February 4th. Quartet music, followed by a hymn, and prayer by Mrs. Herrington, served as an opening for the meeting. The Treasurer reported a substantial balance. Twenty-four members answered the roll call with the name of a favorite hymn. Executive calls were made throughout the month. It was moved by Miss Shorey, and seconded by Mrs. McLeod, that we have a social evening during the month of March in the basement of the church, with Miss Fluke, Mrs. H. Ramsay and Mrs. W. Gamon a Recreational Committee. The devotional consisted of scripture reading by Norma Grow; reading by Erma Wager; solo, Mrs. H. Ramsay. Several readings were given pertaining to the "Responsibility of the Church to the Community". The theme prayer brought this portion of the program to a close. The members of Miss Shorey's Group then served a Valentine Tea, with Miss Ruby Pero, Norma and Lorna Gerow, Erma Wagar, Miss Shorey, Miss Fluke and Mrs. Joyce helping with the serving. $3.71 was realized. Mrs. E. Hounslow and Mrs. D. McGill were authorized to inquire about sending parcels to the boys in the Armed Forces. Mrs. Gerow moved and Mrs. Gilbert second a vote of thanks to Mrs. Pero for her home, and to those who helped to make our Valentine Tea a success.

Red Cross Campaign For $10,000,000

The Canadian Red Cross will make a national appeal for $10,000,000 in voluntary contributions throughout Canada, starting on February 28th.

In previous appeals the people of Canada have more than supported the cause and the generous response of the Canadian people in the last appeal showed their open-hearted-ness and understanding of the Red Cross work.

The Red Cross is an international organization and under the Conventions of Geneva, is required to obtain its support by voluntary subscriptions to preserve its rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed under International Law.

The national appeal in March was planned with the fullest co-operation of the Dominion Government to avoid disruption of the National War Finance Committee. And too, the American Red Cross is making its national appeal during the same month, making it a continent-wide campaign.

The largest work facing the Red Cross during the current year is supplying food parcels for Canadian, British and Empire prisoners of war in Europe and the Far East. The Society now has five packing plants in Canada, with a weekly production of 100,000 parcels. Of this amount the Canadian Red Cross donates 30,000 weekly for prisoners in Europe, the remainder being paid for by the British and Australian Red Cross Societies. Provision also has to be made for food, clothing and other supplies for Canadian prisoners in the Far East. These two objectives alone will require $5,500,000 during 1944.

The work of the Canadian Red Cross has never been greater, and the need has never been greater. This year it is hoped, will be victory year, but the work of the Red Cross does not end with the cessation of hostilities . . . it continues wherever there is human suffering.

DONATIONS MADE BY COUNTY UNITS TO NAP. RED CROSS

ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING ST. THOMAS' CHURCH, MORVEN

The annual Vestry Meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher. A large number of members were present. All obligations were met in full and each branch had a balance on hand. Mr. Harold Brandon was elected Rector's Warden. Mr. Robert Fisher, People's Warden and the Lay Delegate to the Synod is Mr. Richard Hill.

NAPANEE AND DISTRICT MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Napanee and District Ministerial Association was held in Trinity Church Monday morning with the president, the Rev. G. M. Chidley in the chair. Following a brief devotional period conducted by the president and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Rev. W. Fletcher, Yarker, the chairman, called on Rev. A. C. McCallum, who gave an interesting paper on "The Place of the Bible in the World of To-day". In his introduction, Mr. McCallum traced the growth and development of the Bible from its beginning and pointed out how much better grounded in manuscript authority the Bible is than other ancient classical writing. He further stated that the Bible, known as literature, is in itself, the richest in thought and imagination. Mr. McCallum also spoke of the English translations and thought the King James version was the most popular. The English translations were made to be read and understood by the common people. The Bible, he said, is our national heritage and everything should be done to preserve it. We will be found to be the key to everything that is worthy or great in our character." He pointed out that the Bible is the "best seller" that our great King Reading our beloved King George scarcely ever make a speech without quoting from the Bible.

Following an interesting discussion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. McCallum for his paper.

The following were present:
President — Rev. G. M. Chidley, Napanee.
Secretary — Rev. W. Fletcher, Yarker.
Rev. C. D. McLellan, Napanee, Rev. W. R. Merrick, Selby, Rev. J. Clarke and Rev. J. A. Bunt, Deseronto.

CHANGES MADE IN HOG MARKETING

Hon. James G. Gardiner has announced that following discussions concerning the marketing of hogs between the Bacon Advisory Committee, the Advisory Committee on Agriculture, the Meat Board and the Agricultural Food Board, it has been decided to make a number of changes in the system of hog marketing.

The producer under which a basic price was established for B.1 hog carcasses and prices for other grades determined by applying discounts except in the case of Grade A carcasses for which a premium was paid by the Packers, will be discontinued and hogs will be purchased on the basis of their carcass values in the various grades. Government premiums, as already announced, will be paid in the case of Grade A carcasses at $3.00 per carcass, and in the case of Grade B-1 at $2.00 per carcass. The premium of $1.00 formerly paid by the Packers on Grade A carcasses will be paid on the carcass grade value for export bacon.

The number of grades has been reduced by consolidating some of them. The grades now adopted are Grade A, Grade B1, B2 and B3 all B grades to sell at the same market price. There will be one C grade and one D Grade. E Grade has been eliminated as it represents a comparatively small number of hogs including those condemned stags ridglings and injured. These will be designated accordingly. Heavy hogs will include those that dress carcasses weighing from 186 to 195 lb and Extra Heavies will be classed on the basis of carcass weighing over 196 lb. The list of grades and weights follows:

|---|---|
| Grade A | 140 to 170 lb |
| Grade B1 | 135 to 175 lb. |
| Grade B2 | 125 to 134 lb. |
| Grade B3 | 176 to 185 lb. |
| Grade C | 120 to 185 lb. |
| Grade D | 120 to 185 lb. |
| Lights | 119 and under |
| Heavies | 186 to 195 lb. |
| Extra Heavies | 196 and over |

A temporary arrangement has been made with the packers to put the payment of Government premiums into effect on Monday, January 24. For the time being, however, the premium paid will be indicated by a stamp on the settlement forms now being used.

New settlement forms are being prepared for the new classification and it is intended that payment of premiums will be made by Government warrant which will be attached to the new form and which the producer can cash at his bank. It will require some time, however, to complete the arrangements before the new classification and method of payment can be put into effect.

Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps may now carry their belongings in a suitcase rather than a kitbag when going on leave. It will enable them to have unwrinkled pressed clothing to wear at the end of their trip.

RATION COUPON CALENDAR

SUGAR — Coupons 14-28 (inclusive) are now valid and will remain so until declared invalid. "D" coupons may also be converted into sugar coupons at one-half pound per coupon on application to Local Ration Boards.

CANNING SUGAR — Spare "F" coupons 1-10 (inclusive) in the current ration book will be valid for the purchase of canning sugar at one pound per coupon on dates to be announced.

FREEZERS — Coupons D 1 - D 13 (inclusive) are now valid at increased canning values. They remain valid until declared invalid.

BUTTER — Coupons 46-49 (inclusive) are now valid and will expire February 29. Coupons 50 and 51 will fall due February 17.

MEAT — Coupons 35-38 (inclusive) are now valid and will expire February 29. Coupons 39 will fall due February 17.

TEA OR COFFEE — Coupons 14 to 29 (inclusive) are now valid and will remain so until declared invalid. Coupons E 1 and E 2 fall due February 17.

CANNED SALMON — Valid meat coupons may now be used for the purchased of canned salmon at one coupon per one-quarter pound of canned salmon.

EVAPORATED MILK — Applications for special "G" coupons to buy evaporated milk for infant feeding or medical cases may be made to Local Ration Boards. Medical certificates are required in support of all applications for those aged two years or more. They are not needed to renew sheets of "G" coupons at the end of three months from the date of issue.

FIRST "E" COUPONS SOON TO BE USED

Starting February 17, the spare E coupons will begin to become valid for the purchase of tea or coffee by consumers. These coupons will be used only to fill the gap between that date and the time when regular tea or coffee coupons again become available through ration book No. 4. Consequently only the E coupons 1 to 6 will be so used. They will become valid in pairs on February 17, March 9 and March 30. Necessary steps will be taken to prohibit the use of these coupons when they are attached to the ration books of children under the age of twelve years who do not qualify for rations of tea or coffee.

Many large hatcheries recommend "Miracle" Chick Starter to their customers, because they want as many as possible of the purchases brought safely through the first hard weeks. Both large and small poultry raisers find that "Miracle" Chick Starter keeps the mortality rate low, often not more than 5%. And the chicks grow faster and better, too. That means earlier and larger profits.

WEDDING BELLS

HOGAN - CLEMENT

A pretty mid-winter wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gladwin Clement, Bath, when their eldest daughter, Louise, became the bride of William Walter Hogan second son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hogan, of Bay. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. Robinson of Bath, the ring being performed beneath a bell of evergreens and fern, at 8 p.m. Friday, January 14th.

The bride in marriage of her father looked charming in a floor length gown of pale pink net, with pearls over taffeta. Her finger-tip veil of the same shade was held in place with orange blossoms, and carried an arm bouquet of red and fern tied with white satin.

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Mrs. Everene Delmage (nee Hogan), who wore a blue floor length dress trimmed with sequins, and matching cap. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and fern with pink taffeta ribbon.

The best man was Sergt. Air-Gunner Jack Horan, brother of the groom. The wedding march was played by Mrs. J. Robinson, who also played "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

The bride's gift to the matron-of-honour was a set of silver salt and pepper shakers, and to the pianist, a crystal cake plate. The groom's gift to the best man was a leather bill-fold.

Following the ceremony lunch was served to about 25 guests. The bride's mother, Mrs. Clement, wore a dress of green crepe with white trimmings and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Horan wore a light blue crepe with a corsage of pink roses.

The happy couple left amid showers of confetti on a honeymoon trip to Peterborough, Toronto and points west. The bride travelled in a two-piece dress of black velvet with white lace trimmings, black coat with fox collar, and matching hat and muff.

After the wedding another ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Robinson, when four children received the rites of baptism. They were named as follows: Jean Adele Clement, Herbert Donald Clement, Marjorie Louise Walsh and Douglas William Deline.

OBITUARY

MRS. GEO. McFARLAND

The sudden death, following a heart attack of Mrs. George McFarland, occurred at her residence, Bridge St. East, on Tuesday morning, February 1st. She had not been in good health for some time, but her death was unexpected.

Mrs. McFarland, who was formerly Cora Davis, was one of a large family and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Davis. She was born in Richmond Township, about 71 years ago. Most of her life was spent in Richmond Township, where she also lived with her first husband, Ephraim Robinson, until he retired from active farming and came to Napanee about fifteen years ago. Mr. Robinson died four years ago and in September 1942, Mrs. Robinson married Mr. George McFarland, Napanee.

Mrs. McFarland was a member for many years of Selby United Church and since coming to Napanee was a member of Trinity United Church.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Albert Martin Napanee, and four sons, Davis, Humboldt Sask., Wilfred, Clayton, N.Y., Ephraim and George at Selby. She also leaves one brother, Jefferson Davis, of Richmond. One son, James, predeceased her some years ago.

Her funeral was conducted last Thursday afternoon at her late residence by Rev. G. M. Chidley, minister of Trinity United Church, who was assisted by Rev. Mr. Wilks, a former pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly in Napanee.

Interment will be made in the spring at Riverside Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. A. MacGregor, Lester Rodgers, Mark Pringle, W. J. Wiggins, George Chalk and W. Ballance.

BELLHOUSE — Entered into rest, at her late residence, 214 Collingwood St., Kingston, Ont., on Monday, February 7th, 1944, Jessie C. Swain, widow of the late William A. Bellhouse, and dearly beloved mother of Marguerita and Agnes Bellhouse. Funeral service from Hartsford & Wyatt Funeral Home, Thursday, afternoon, 2:00 o'clock.

In Loving Memory

REID — In loving memory of Pilot Officer Donald Reid, who was killed on active service February 13th, 1943.

What would we give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to us —
For deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one gone to rest.
In memory's frame we will keep it
For he was one of the best
Sadly missed by his
6t MOTHER and FATHER.

SKINNER — In memory of Mrs. Violet Skinner, who passed away on February 2nd, 1943.

She is not dead, but sleepeth—
She's just gone on before.
We know that we shall meet again
Upon that other shore.
Sadly missed by FATHER, MOTHER
BROTHERS, SISTERS,
6ap HUSBAND and SON

SCLMFS — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away February 6th, 1941.

As we loved you, so we miss you.
In our thoughts you are ever near.
Remembered longed for always
Treasured with a love sincere.

Ever remembered by
6ap WIFE and FAMILY.

YOUNG — In loving memory of Nelson Young, who passed away on February 10th, 1940.

Thoughts return to scenes long past
Years roll on, but memories last.

Ever remembered by
6ap WIFE and FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Pennell wish to thank their friends for the many expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement in the loss of their daughter, Mrs. S. N. McDonald. 6ap

BELLEVILLE EXECUTIVE OF THE W.M.S. MET IN BELLEVILLE

Belleville executive of the W.M.S. held their January meeting in the parlors of Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, on Thursday, January 27, with all vice-presidents and several secretaries in attendance. The president, Mrs. Stanley Spafford, presided over both sessions.

The morning devotional was conducted by Mrs. Cecil Macklin, based on "The Power of Intercession." She pointed out that prayerless giving will never evangelize the world and she gave an apt illustration to prove the power of prayer.

Miss Mata Mellow called the roll and read the September executive.

The five vice - presidents spoke briefly, telling of their work in the various sections in regard to the fall rallies and the itinerary of Miss Ida MacKenzie.

Mrs. Earl Denyes reported an increase in membership of 109 and nine annual and four life members.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. E. L. Fraser the treasurer, her report was not presented, but it looks as if $14,000 will be remitted to branch treasurer for Belleville Presbyterial. Her resignation was also accepted.

Reports from Mrs. Nickle, Mrs. McCreary and Mrs. Harrison were read, showing 803 subscriptions to World Friends and increases of 263 and 1223 subscriptions to Missionary Monthly, an increase of 62, also 120 study books and 74 blue books. There were five new mission bands organized—Victoria Picton, Ameliasburgh, Trenton King Street, and Newburgh.

Mrs. Wilson closed the morning session with prayer and a group of Holloway Church ladies served an excellent hot dinner.

Afternoon Session

The president based the afternoon devotional on a poem written by Dr. Nagawa.

Mrs. Way presented the refugee problem and urged all to read page 14 of January Monthly.

Mrs. Findlay reported 12 affiliated C.G.I.T. groups with 134 members and givings of $44. The rally in the fall was a success, with 100 in attendance.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen reported 846 items of missionary news published in the fifteen newspapers covering the Presbyterial. Three auxiliaries have scrap books. About twenty reports have not been received.

Mrs. Earl Bailey spoke on "Stewardship" and Miss Mae Hadley gave a list of where bales had been forwarded and read letters of thanks.

Rev. Fred Late chairman of Home Missionaries, gave a comprehensive outline of the Home Mission field in Belleville Presbytery and fully explained the war emergency which has arisen because of scarcity of ordained ministers. He complimented the W.M.S. on their fine way of raising funds and denounced shady means of raising money, which tends toward gambling.

Mrs. Osborne gave a report of her work on "Community Friendship" and said the evening auxiliaries are the encouraging feature and pointed out that the auxiliaries which have executive members in their midst give a splendid response to the various departments.

EMPEY HILL L. A. AND W.M.S.

The February meeting of Empey Hill Ladies' Aid and Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Harold and Mrs. Wilbert Winter on Tuesday evening, February 1st. Mrs. Clifford Abbott, Ladies' Aid president presided and opened the meeting with a hymn, after which Rev. W. R. Merrick offered prayer. Mrs. C. Akey read the scripture readings. The theme of the devotional period was the church visitor and Mrs. F. Hutchinson read "The Woman Visitor." The roll call was answered with a Bible verse containing the word "love". Fourteen members responded. The remainder of the programme was prepared by Mrs. Bruce Kimmerly and consisted of a reading by Irene Mowers, solo by Geraldine Mowers and a very interesting reading by Mrs Kimmerly. Mrs. B. Kimmerly conducted a Valentine contest.

Lunch was served and the collection taken was $2.75.

SWITZERVILLE - MISSION BAND

The February meeting of the Boys' Mission Band was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon with the president, Paul Craig, in charge and with seventeen members answering roll call with a verse of scripture. The meeting was opened with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer, after which Geneva Robinson read the minutes of the last meeting, which were approved. During the business period the following new members were presented with membership pins: Leonard Moore, Jack Spafford, George Gerald and Elaine Benn.

After the call to worship and response a scripture message was read by Mary Vanalstyne and a prayer read by Gerald Benn. Miss Aikenhead gave a very interesting scripture story, after which another hymn was sung and Nelson Brandon read a story. The offering was received by Leonard Moore and Donnie Vanalstyne and dedicated in song. Watch Tower items on Africa, China and India were read by Rosemary Moore, Geneva Robinson and Paul Craig, and the subjects of peace, temperance and stewardship were taken by Geneva Robinson, Barbara Robinson and Mary Vanalstyne.

After another hymn, Mrs. Wales told the story from the Study Book. Gemmy distributed copies of World Friends, and the meeting was closed with the National Anthem and the Children's Benediction.

EBENEZER W. A.

The January meeting of Ebenezer W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Scott. The president, Mrs. Hewitt opened the meeting with a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Alfred Mastin read the scripture reading. The secretary read the minutes of the December meeting and roll call was taken with eleven members and one visitor present. The treasurer gave a report of the year's work which included the making of forty-one quilts for war work. The election of officers took place with the following officers being elected for 1944: President, Mrs. Murney Scott; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. Harold Mastin; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Elwood Brown, Treasurer, Mrs. Walter Scott; Secretary, Mrs. G. R. Sexsmith; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. James Brown; Pianist, Mrs. E. Hewitt.

The hostess served a dainty lunch.

SILLSVILLE W. A.

Mrs. D. W. Young and Mrs. Harold Young were hostesses at a Pot Luck dinner held at their home on February 1st, with twenty in attendance. As this was a Red Cross meeting, the afternoon was spent at war work. One quilt was put on the frames and quilted and blocks were cut out and sewed, in strips. The first euchre of the season was held in the hall, Monday night, Jan. 31. Over seven dollars was collected for the war effort. The collection at the pot luck dinner was $4.10.

A special permit was recently issued so that non-alloy steel could be diverted from war channels to make 500,000 safety razor blades for the Canadian Army.

MARLBANK

Marlbank, Feb. 7. — The weekly meeting of the Red Cross was held on Thursday, with an attendance of ten members. The meeting was opened by the President, Bessie Allen, with all repeating the prayer, after which a two minute silence was followed by prayer by Mrs. W. Lewis, in memory of a deceased member, Mrs. H. Allen, whose loss is keenly felt in the Red Cross room. At a recent meeting two letters of thanks were read from P.O. Tom Mullenny, Camp Borden, and Pte. Jim Smith, somewhere in the Mediterranean, for boxes sent them for Christmas. The sale held in the evening brought the nice sum of $9.45. Lunch was also served at the close and a nice sum was realized.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

LUNCH BOX PARTY FOR VALENTINE'S

Hello Homemakers! A box party has many possibilities for entertaining children — and it's time to plan for their Valentine party. Have the children decorate a box or basket. Let them clip coloured pictures and paste on attractively. Each box should hold several small sandwiches, (use brown and white bread spread with egg, vegetable, cheese or jelly fillings) raw crisp carrot and turnip strips, a muffin and some cookies. Wrap each food separately in waxed paper. Place the lunch in neatly together with a serviette. The tea party will then be complete with the exception of the hot chocolate to be prepared by the hostess, who will have very few dishes to wash afterwards.

Valentine Sandwiches

24 thin slices of white bread, 1 cream cheese (three ounces), two tablespoons butter or margarine, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one small bottle Maraschino cherries.

Cut fluted rounds from the slices of bread. Cut small hearts from 12 slices. Soften cheese and butter and blend, add salt and enough liquid from cherries to make mixture of spreading consistency. Spread whole slices with cheese mixture, sprinkle centre of each with cherries minced and cover with remaining slices.

Makes twelve sandwiches.

Lacy Oatmeal Cookies

Two and one-quarter cups regular oatmeal, two and one-quarter cups light brown sugar, three tablespoons flour, half-teaspoon salt, one cup cooking fat, one egg slightly beaten, half-teaspoon of vanilla.

Combine first four ingredients. Add cooking fat and stir. Add egg and vanilla. Drop spoonfuls of batter, two inches apart on a greased cooky sheet. Bake in electric oven 325-350 deg. F. for twelve minutes. Top with Maraschino cherries cut in halves.

Raisin Muffins

Two tablespoons shortening half-cup corn syrup, one egg, one cup packaged bran, one-third cup of milk, one cup flour, half-teaspoon salt, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, half-cup raisins.

Cream shortening and corn syrup thoroughly, add egg and beat well. Stir in bran and milk, let soak five minutes. Sift flour, salt and baking powder. Add to first mixture and stir in raisins. Pour into greased tins. Bake in electric oven at 400 deg for thirty minutes.

TAKE A TIP:

1. Take precautions to serve foods providing Vitamin C in ample amounts. Due to seasonal conditions (one being the loss of the C vitamin in potatoes now so long stored), the most helpful foods are: citrus fruits, own-canned tomatoes, potatoes (cooked in the skins), raw cabbage and turnip, black currants in any form, and other fruits contribute a little. Serve also carrot curls, sticks and grated turnips in mixed salads. Cook vegetables in as little water as possible — as short a time as will make them tender — and serve at once; standing steals their Vitamin C—don't expose them to air until on the family's plates. That means covering with a tea towel if they have to stand.

2. Serve baked potatoes three times a week is a good solgan.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. C. M. asks: Recipe for Carrot Marmalade.

Answer: Carrot and Orange Marmalade—6 medium sized carrots, 3 oranges, 1 lemon juice and grated rind, sugar.

Dice carrots and cook until tender, using as little water as possible. Cut oranges and lemon into small pieces. Combine carrots and fruit and add two-thirds as much sugar as mixture. Simmer mixture until it is clear and thickened. Use electric element or Low after product begins to boil. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal.

Mrs. D. T. asks: Why do the standard ingredients for butter tarts become dry and hard.

Answer: Do not use too much egg in the mixture (small egg to one cup sugar). The tarts may have been baked at too high temperature—use 400 deg. for small tarts and small quantities, and 25 degrees more for two or three pans.

Mrs. J. R. asks: Recipe for potato stuffing for tenderloin.

Answer: Potato Stuffing — three cups mashed potatoes, one cup soft bread crumbs, half-cup melted butter, half-tea-spoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon poultry seasoning, one beaten egg, two tablespoons chopped onion. Mix above ingredients together lightly with a fork.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q I bought a jar of apple butter today for which I was required to surrender four "D" coupons. A week ago I bought a jar of the same apple butter and no coupons were taken from me. Is apple butter a rationed commodity?

A Apple butter is not rationed.

Q I have several unused meat coupons. Can they be used for the purchase of canned salmon?

A Yes, provided they possess validity. If they are not valid, they possess no more value for the purchase of canned salmon than they do for the purchase of meat.

Q My sister from Watertown, N.Y., is coming to visit me with her baby who needs evaporated milk in his diet. Will she be able to obtain ration coupons to buy it while she is here?

A Yes, she should make application to your Local Ration Board Special "G" coupons for this purpose are issued to visitors to Canada on exactly the same basis as they are issued to Canadian citizens.

Q I am thinking of buying a retail business and believe there is some regulation that must be observed in that connection. What is it?

A You must apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for a permit entitling you to enter the business in question. Please give complete particulars when making application.

Q Is it true that the butter ration is to be reduced before the winter is over?

A That depends altogether upon the state of butter supply and especially on the amount of butter that is manufactured. It has been intimated that if considerable improvement does not take place, it may be necessary to effect at least a temporary reduction in the ration.

Q I understand that some of the "P" coupons are to be used for the purchase of canning sugar next summer. Does that mean "P" coupons in the next ration book or in the book now being used?

A The "P" coupons to be used are those in the present ration book. All holders desiring canning sugar next summer should, therefore, retain their present ration books even after the No. 4 book have been posted.

Q Last year people in the township were given 15 pounds of canning sugar whereas we received only 10 pounds. Will that inequality be repeated this year?

A Happily it won't be. The allowance this year is to be 10 pounds per person regardless of where they live. Consumers may, however augment their stock of canning sugar by exchanging preserves coupons for it at the rate of one-half pound of sugar per preserves coupon.

Interesting Figures About Bell Telephone

In the past two years, 5,403 new employees have been engaged, to offset losses to the war service, resignations, etc. There were 11,915 Bell workers as of December 31, and 2,199 have enlisted for war service, of whom 22 have already given their lives.

There are 24,491 shareholders 4,584 being employees and pensioners. Over 95 per cent of the shareholders live in Canada and hold 72 per cent of outstanding stock.

Last year $891,622 was paid out in pensions and disability benefits.

Bell's wage bill last year was $21,340,257. Taxes took $13,699,000. This figure includes the refundable portion of the Excess Profits Tax $1,654,000. Dividends paid to the more than 24,000 shareholders were $6,779,189.

Although the gross revenues of $66,222,814 were 6.5 per cent. more than for 1942, the net income, due to increased wages and taxes, was $6.95 per share as compared to $8.76 in 1942.

There were 134,039 telephones installed in 1943 and 103,960 taken out, a net gain for the year of 30,699.

There were 956,113 Bell and 169,801 connecting telephones in service on December 31, and average daily long distance calls were 98,000.

GREAT ADVANCES MADE BY RUSSIANS ALONG WHOLE LINE

Situation in Italy More Favorable for Allied Armies

WEDNESDAY —

The Russians captured the city of Nikopol, which was the chief source of the Germans' supply of manganese, a vital mineral.

• • •

There was little change in the situation in Italy. The Germans deliberately bombed a hospital on the beach near Anzio, killing 27 and wounding 50.

• • •

A resistance was at an end in the Kwajalein Atoll and the United States were in complete control of the islet group which is in the heart of the Marshalls. . .

• • •

The city of Frankfurt was again heavily bombed on Tuesday.

• • •

THURSDAY —

Russian troops advanced to within eight miles of the great Ukrainian iron centre, Krivoi Rog. In the Nikopol area more towns were cleared of Nazis and the ring around the remnants of ten German divisions was being tightened.

• • •

A new drive was opened up by the Allied Army on Cassino on the main Italian front. The position of the Allied force at the bridgehead, south of Rome, showed no improvement, and a break-through by Allied forces further south would relieve the pressure on the troops at the bridgehead.

• • •

Hundreds of sorties were made by Allied planes over northern France and the invasion coast. Only one Allied plane was lost on Wednesday.

• • •

The Allies destroyed more Nazi submarines in January than in December as merchant ship tonnage sunk by enemy U-boats was amongst the lowest figures of any month since the war broke out.

• • •

In the South Pacific a heavy bombing attack was made on Rabaul, stopping the proceedings continued by the Marshalls.

• • •

FRIDAY —

Australian troops moving northwestward on the New Guinea coast, joined up with United States invasion forces near Saidor. During the five-month campaign nearly 14,000 Japs were destroyed.

• • •

The Russians advanced another six miles in the Kherson area of the Ukraine and reached points within seven miles of main Nazi defense pivot.

• • •

The German offensive against the Allied Netturno beachhead south of Rome, was reported growing in fury.

• • •

United States heavy bombers destroyed 84 German craft on Thursday during raids on the Nazi manufacturing city of Brunswick and an air base in the Netherlands.

• • •

The Chinese made further gains west of Taro, in Northern Burma.

• • •

SATURDAY —

Allied troops on the Anzio beachhead, south of Rome, were reported to have made a slight advance in fierce-hand-to-hand battles with German troops. Farther south in the Cassino area, Fifth Army forces were battling valiantly to break through and reach the road to Rome and relieve the forces on the beachhead at Anzio. . .

• • •

Russia pressed back the German forces on a 200-mile front toward the Roumanian border and an invasion of Roumanian territory may be possible in the near future.

• • •

Frankfurt was heavily bombed again on Friday. Twenty more Jap planes were shot down in raids on Rabaul, New Britain.

• • •

The United States Navy reported sinking of 12 more Jap vessels, bringing the total of United States submarine successes to 564.

• • •

Chinese troops in Northern Burma were reported to be steadily advancing and British forces in the Arakan area in Burma, were beating off heavy Japanese attacks.

• • •

MONDAY —

Allied troops in the invasion bridgehead south of Rome regained the initiative in part and were striking offensive blows again. More reinforcements have been sent up. Premier Churchill in an announcement on the situation, promised that Rome would be taken by the Allies.

• • •

Russian troops completely cleared the Germans from the east coast of Lake Peipus, which forms the frontier of Estonia and also reached a point 43 miles from the Axis pivot for all northwestern Russia.

• • •

Rabaul in New Britain, was hit for the twelfth time in fourteen days by Allied aircraft.

• • •

Large numbers of British and United States bombers again attacked targets on the French Coast on Sunday. Southern France and Western Germany were also attacked.

• • •

Finnish leaders have gone to Stockholm on what is believed to be a mission to negotiate a peace with Russia.

• • •

TUESDAY —

The Russians captured the Ukraine railway centre of Korsun, the core of resistance for the remnants of the ten trapped German divisions. On the northern front Russian troops captured several more localities on a 70-mile front between Luga and Lake Peipus in their drive toward Pskov.

• • •

Very little change in the situation in Italy was reported.

• • •

• • •

Daylight attacks on Western Europe continued with particular force against invasion targets.

• • •

British forces were reported cutting their way out of 4 Japanese trap in the jungles of Burma.

PREMIER DREW APPOINTS NOTED EDUCATIONIST

Toronto, Feb. 10. — Premier Drew last week announced appointment of Dr. J. G. Althouse of Ailsa Craig, Ont. noted edu-ationist, to the new post of chief director of education for the province.

The Premier's announcement said that a sweeping reorganization of the administration of the Department of Education following a thorough study of the requirements of that department constitutes a major step in the Government's program "to put fresh vigor into the provincial school system."

His statement added that Dr. Althouse enjoys the confidence of Ontario educationists, he is well and favorably known throughout the whole Dominion and his excellent articles on Canadian edu ation command respect abroad."

Since 1934 Dr. Althouse has been dean of the Ontario College of Education at the University of Toronto . . .

He will be assisted in his new post by two superintendents of education, Dr. V. K. Greer in the elementary field and A. G. Hooper in the secondary field.

GRACE CH. W. A. VALENTINE TEA

Mrs. F. A. Correll convened a very successful Valentine Tea held Friday afternoon, February 11th by Grace United Church Women's Association, in the parsonage. Mrs. C. D. McLellan received the guests assisted by W. A. president, Mrs. Wilfrid Smith, vice-president Mrs. A. Primple and treasurer Mrs. H. Vine. Little Joan Huffman and Ann Vine were coor attendants.

In the dining - room a beautiful "bleeding heart" table centre designed by Miss Dorothy Scott, was flanked by four tall white tapers set in red crepe paper cups and bunches of very red hearts. A similar design was carried out on the buffet. Spring bouquets of tulips were very attractive in the other rooms. During the afternoon four ladies poured tea. Mrs. H. M. Wagar, Mrs. W. Sills, Mrs. R. S. Williams and Mrs. A. Lewis Tea assistants were Mrs. F. Huffman, Mrs. Ted Middleton, Miss M. Morrison Mrs. P. Vine, Mrs. A. Vallieau, Mrs. E. Gibbard, Mrs. G. Johnson Mrs. A. Loucks, Mrs. W. Hart, Mrs. W. F. Barrett and Mrs. C. Read. Other assistants were Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. S. Booth, Mrs. E. Black and Mrs. W. Hassell.

Many colourful aprons were on sale in charge of Miss E. VanAslytne, Mrs. A. MacGregor, Mrs. F. B. Elliott and Mrs. H. Armstrong. Home baking and house plants were sold by Mrs. N. Hart, Mrs. J. Cragg, Mrs. G. Sills and Mrs. J. Vankoughnet. A distinct novelty was the sale of personal valentines, which had been made by Mrs. C. D. McLellan, Miss Hazel VanAslytne and Mrs. D. Winter. Valentine taggers were Miss Marion Vine and Miss Joan Sattler.

Mrs. J. Fraken, assisted by Miss C. Fraken, was treasurer of the tea, and reported that the gratifying sum of over $160 had been realized and would be applied to the W. A. Organ Fund.

The rubber treads of the bogie wheels and the pads of tanks used to be discarded before the Army instituted a program of restoration. Now, wheels and pads can be recapped and returned to service with a minimum of delay and cost.

Reduction in Training Time And Units To Be Announced

Ottawa, Feb. 10. (C.P.) — A policy of streamlining has been adopted by the Canadian Reserve Army, cutting training from 40 to 30 days, reducing the number of full-time personnel and dropping units unable to maintain "satisfactory strength" it was announced last week.

Defence Headquarters said that while the necessity for the Reserve Army remains unchanged it is possible "in view of the improvement in the military situation and the increased efficiency that has been achieved" to decrease the intensity of training during 1944.

Thirty-Day Training

The new 30-day training period—similar to that in peacetime — will be made up of fifteen days summer camp and fifteen days training in local headquarters.

Reduction in the number of full-time personnel is made possible, the announcement said, by the fact that training of part-time officers and non-commissioned officers has reached a stage where they are "sufficiently qualified" to instruct units without assistance. While no statement was made as to the future of the full-time personnel, it was indicated in Army circles that they would be absorbed into the Active Army.

Meanhile, provision has been made in the new policy for further intensive training of officers and non-commissioned officers and specialists.

While no general change in the structure of the reserves is said to be contemplated, it is proposed that some measure of "streamlining" be made to ensure that all units maintain a "satisfactory standard" of efficiency. Units unable to make this grade will remain inactive until the end of the war.

Definite Data

It is not known immediately what reductions will be made in the numbers of administrative and training staffs, nor what units will be subject to "streamlining" developments or become dormant. This will be decided only after the situation in each district has been assessed by the District Officer Commanding and his recommendations submitted to Defence headquarters.

Meanwhile, the role of the reserves is summarized as follows:

1. To maintain throughout the country continued interest in the Canadian Army and its activities and to set an example to all citizens of preparedness at all times.

2. To provide a continuing flow of re-inforcements for the Active Army by training young men of pre-enlistment age.

3. To back up the civil authority responsible for the enforcement of law and order if required.

4. As a trained reserve to support the active forces available for the defence of Canada if the military situation should deteriorate.

5. As a basis for expansion of the Active Army should the necessity arise.

Recruits Supplied

The announcement said that during 1943 the Reserve Army furnished 7,000 reinforcements for the Active Army.

"While happily the Reserve Army has not been called upon to fight in defence of Canadian soil it has contributed in no small measure to the expansion and efficiency of the Active Army," the statement said, adding:

During the year 1943 alone more than 7,000 reinforcements for the Active Army were obtained from the ranks of Reserve units.

"It has presented to the people of Canada an example of preparedness to meet any situation and in the event future conditions were unforeseeable and has helped to maintain and increase public interest in the part the Army has played in the war in the many communities across the country where reserve units have carried out their training.

"The enthusiasm and self-sacrifice of its members, many of whom are fully engaged in other forms of war effort, have been an inspiration in the prosecution of the war."

Guilty of Five Charges Remanded for Sentence

Eno. P. Delben, a member of the Active Army, who gave his home address as Port Arthur appeared before Magistrate Garvin in Police Court on Monday and pleaded guilty to five charges, namely, theft of a motor truck, theft of a quantity of meat, stealing a quantity of linen from a driver's permit, stealing gasoline at Marysville, dangerous driving in the city of Kingston and smashing a hydro pole in the city of Kingston. He was remanded in custody until Thursday for sentence awaiting reply from Ottawa as to his previous record.

Delben was arrested by Highway Traffic Officer Morden and Provincial Officer Taylor and was lodged in gaol in Napanee. He admitted stealing the truck at the Union Station in Toronto, but when asked by the Magistrate why he did so, said he did not know. He also said he had no special destination in mind when he started away with the truck.

V

The British Empire Medal has been awarded Pte. Mary Lillian Quinlan, C.W.A.C. at Red Deer, for her life-saving heroism during a truck crash, when she bandaged and helped six injured companions and brought help when injured herself.

I.O.D.E. MEMBERS MARK FOUNDERS' DAY AT DINNER MEETING

Splendid Addresses Given by Regent and Guests

A thoroughly delightful evening was enjoyed on February 10th, when members of the I.O.D.E. Chapter and Alice L. Harshaw Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of Empire gathered at the Superior Restaurant for a dinner held in commemoration of Founders Day. At the guest-table sat Mrs. D. E. Hall, Regent of U. E. L. Chapter, Mrs. Mervyn Owen, Regent of Alice L. Harshaw Chapter, Mayor D. R. Hall, Rev. and Mrs. McLellan, Warden and Mrs. John Geale Daly, Mrs. Boucher, Mrs. McGall of Kingston, and Mr. Russell Walker of Toronto, and Hon. Vice-Regent of the U. E. L. Chapter Mrs. K. Powell and members of the executive.

Grace was said by Rev. Mr. McClellan Red, white and blue streamers and crests of the Order, decorated the tables. Halfway through dinner "God Save the King" was sung and a toast was given to His Majesty, King George. For a short while Mrs. Reid played the piano and a pleasant interlude of community singing was led by Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mrs. Hall welcomed guests and members and introduced Mrs. McGall, Regent of Municipal Chapter of Kingston, who spoke on the Celebration of Founders Day of the I. O. D. E. inaugurated by Margaret Poulson Murray, who was born in Paisley, Scotland.

Margaret Poulson Murray was the first secretary of the Y.W.C.A. She was a pioneer in the South African Grave Association and to this day this work is being carried on by the I. O. D. E. Women were interested and keen to improve conditions but were handicapped by lack of organized effort, until a united organization, unhampered by religious, political or politics, was formed, and the first chapter of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire was inaugurated on February 12th, 1900 at Fredericton, N.B., with 37 members. Margaret Poulson Murray's picture has hung in the Queen's Building in Ottawa since her death in 1927. Members of the I. O. D. E. erected a monument at Bloemfontein for the Canadian soldiers who fell in the South African war, and a large sum of money was raised for British soldiers in the Great War. Bursaries are subscribed, which entitle a student from each of the provinces to a scholarship at university. The cost of the upkeep of Preventoria is borne by the I.O.D.E. The building and upkeep of St. Helena School in Montreal, Protestant Girls' Orphanage, who founded the school. There are I.O.D.E. chapters in Bermuda, the Bahamas and Daughters of the Empire in U. S. A. An outstanding effort is the rehabilitation of ex-service men who offered their lives that the Empire should be unperishable.

U. E. L. CHAPTER FOUNDED IN 1910

Mrs. Hall, thanked Mrs. McGall and then gave a short account of the U. E. L. Chapter which was formed on November 8th, 1910, in the Historical Hall. Mayor T. W. Simpson, M.D., was chairman, with 25 members signing the roll. Some of the original members of the Chapter were present at the dinner, among them being Mrs. J. H. Madden First Vice-Regent, Miss Edna Richardson Treasurer, Miss Dora Carney Mrs. P. E. Rosing and Mrs. Craig. Years ago many patriotic days were celebrated, January 22nd being Violet Day for Queen Victoria and Trafalgar Day, and King George's birthday Paardeburg and Victoria days. Prizes for essays were given in the Public Schools and Collegiate and are still given. A room was furnished and maintained in the Sir Oliver Mowat Memorial Hospital, Kingston. Mrs. Deroche a former Regent, organized the dental clinic. The members stood ready for service in the Great War and Mrs. Hall thanked the members for their loyal support today in our united effort. She gratefully acknowledging the continued support and encouragement given her by her husband through all her experiences. Mrs. Hall introduced Mrs. Mervyn Owen, Regent of the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter, who gave a short account of the first year of the new chapter.

The Chapter, named to honour Mrs. Harshaw, was formed on January 8th, 1943, with ten members, which number has grown to 48. Their motto: "Service for Survival," was chosen by Dr. D. R. Hall. Dr. Hall amused the members because he said he considered himself a member of the I.O.D.E. since there is a box for clothes for Polish relief in the front hall of his home and one for Chinese relief in the back hall and sausage piled in his garage. He said the Town Council was in need of help from the I.O.D.E. in any project the town is asked to undertake. Most recent is the adoption of the Russian town "Ahtirka." People should not indulge in wishful thinking that the war is practically over; more prepared war planning must be done yet than post-war planning. Mayor Hall closed with the inspiring words that he is justly proud to be Mayor of a town where women are so energetic on the home front.

WARDEN DALY SPEAKS

Mr. John Geale Daly gave a short speech in his inimitable manner, expressing his appreciation of a delightful evening and praising the work of the Order. He said "giving help to the people of Ahtirka is akin to the brotherhood of man." He extended good wishes to the Chapter in pursuing the work of the I.O.D.E.

MRS. BOUCHER'S ADDRESS

Mrs. Hall thanked Mr. Daly and announced that the Ahtirka project is managed by Mrs. Clarence Reid and Mrs. Fred Carter and committee. The room in the Campbell House block is open on Friday afternoons at present, to receive good warm clothing and household effects for shipment to Russia. Mrs. Hall then introduced Mrs. D. W. Boucher who laughingly said that she is such an enthusiastic gardener that she has to say something about gardens in all her speeches and named her talk "A Garden on Your Time" and advised people to plant, along with potatoes, carrots and turnips more unusual vegetables, such as chives, green peppers and okra. She rhapsodized about some chives growing in her kitchen window, taken from her garden during the January thaw, making us envious and serving to remind us of our poor anaemic parsley plant in our kitchen window, declining daily into a sickly yellow. Mrs. Boucher gave out a pamphlet "Garden Notes" listing flowers which are easy to grow and which will give in profusion. She sternly admonished us to cultivate well and not be like the old farmer when asked "if pigs were as profitable as vegetables," he said "no, but you don't have to hoe them." Mrs. Boucher advised growing a succession of crops to use all available space. One could appreciate her feeling of exultation from possessing the fruits (or vegetables) of one's own labour. She advised small fruit bushes in a wartime garden, raspberries, gooseberries and strawberries and informed us that raspberries should be pruned after fruition each year. Currants and gooseberries will bear fruit three and four years. Each year prune only lightly leaving some old wood and some new. Mrs. Boucher stressed making time count during the 24 hours of each day. She said she is a busy woman and plans her days on a time schedule, while working on the Board of Education, the Dependents Allowance Board and as chairman of the Board of Health, by budgeting her time she can spend hours with her family and in her beloved garden. More women should take part in the democratic way of life exercising their right to vote and taking part in municipal affairs. In good reading she suggested a worthwhile book "Dawn of an Ampler Life" by Charlotte Whitton C.B.E. dealing with maternity work, death train, dealing with maternity work, death train, benefits, old age pensions and other subjects now before the government.

Mrs. K. Powell thanked the speakers individually and Mrs. E. Gibbard and her committee who convened the occasion, and the evening closed with the singing of "O Canada."

REV. C. D. McLELLAN MAKES URGENT APPEAL FOR CHINESE RELIEF

Collection to be Taken in Churches Next Sunday

Sunday morning at the joint service in Trinity Church, Mr. McLellan made a strong appeal on behalf of the starving people of China and India. Preaching from the text "Give ye them to eat" he pointed out that when the question arose as to what to do with the hungry crowd of people who had been following Jesus for some days, he turned to his disciples and said "Give ye them to eat." The need was very real, and the means to satisfy that hungry was at hand. Mr. McLellan spoke of the great need in India where 50,000,000 people are suffering the ravages of famine due partly to the war against Japan, especially the loss of Singapore and Burma. China, the province of Honan is most seriously affected, although the neighboring territories are also suffering severely. The missionaries are doing all they can, stretching their meagre resources to feed as many extra mouths as possible. One missionary writes about Honan. "In January, 1943, I began making gruel in my own kitchen for the extremely needy ones. The number increased until one morning I gave it to 168 before breakfast. To prevent the town age girls, who were attending our classes from being sold to the parlor life, I gave 24 of them gruel each morning at 10 o'clock and in the afternoon gave to 30 country women. To do this I sold almost everything of any value that I possessed and ate two meals a day." The missionaries have been doing what they could with their limited resources, what should we be doing? asked the speaker.

In closing, Mr. McLellan told of a meeting of seven who was found wandering in the city and taken by a missionary to a relief camp. His parents had died of starvation and he had tried to look after his little brother but had lost him. There are thousands like this lad, but most of them are still wandering funds are so limited no provision can be made for them.

All Protestant churches are joining in this effort to raise funds for the starving people of China and India. Envelopes were handed out to the congregation and will be collected next Sunday. It is suggested that all Christian people give through their own church. Give that they may live.

On Sunday evening, Lee Yut, who regularly attends the services in Trinity Church, placed contributions for Chinese relief from the ten local Chinese on the collection plate.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR RECENTLY COMPLETED BY L. & A. FIRE INS. CO.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers Held Last Satu.day

A year of splendid progress was reported to the policy holders of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company at the annual meeting held at the Napanee Town Hall on Saturday afternoon, February 12th. The president, Mr. Albert Hartman, Odessa, presided and in addition to the presentation of the financial report, other business in connection with the company, was transacted.

The President, Mr. Albert Hartman, addressed a meeting expressing appreciation of the efforts of the policyholders in assisting to prevent fire losses during the year and satisfaction at the splendid year's business just completed.

Mr. George T. Walters, the secretary-treasurer spoke of the efforts of the Mutual Fire Underwriters Association of Ontario to collect $100 - 000.00 from members of the association for a fund to be known as the "British Aid Fund" and to be distributed among rural victims of bombing in Britain. On January 21, 1944 the total sum of $79,930.97 had been collected and forwarded to England. The Directors of the Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance recommended that the sum of $800 from the surplus in 1943, be voted as a contribution to the British Aid Fund, and the policyholders agreed that the grant be made.

Magistrate's Court

In the Magistrate's Court Monday Harold Alexander Vanslyke paid a fine and costs totalling $15.50 for being intoxicated and creating disturbance in the vicinity of the post office. Vanslyke was ordered to pay $10.00 and costs or serve ten days in gaol.

Howard Haskett was fined $ 5.00 for careless driving and $ 5.00 for speeding.

Cyril McFarlane 18 Napanee 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McFarlane pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of several muskrat skins and one mink skin and muskrat houses and placing traps therein. On the first charge he was fined $5 for each skin, on January 21, 1944 plus the cost of the court and on the second charge the penalty was $10 plus costs making a total of $30.00.

Mrs. W. J. McFarlane mother of Cyril McFarlane pleaded guilty through her counsel, J. A. Regan to obstructing a police officer in giving false information in order to shield her son's offence. The Magistrate remanded Mrs. McFarlane until called upon.

Fred Rose, Napanee was found guilty in Napanee Police Court on Monday of selling liquor and having liquor in his possession without a permit and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 plus costs or go to jail two months.

VALENTINE PARTY AT ANGLICAN CHURCH

The Valentine Party held Monday evening in the school room of St. Mary Magdalene Church arranged by the Girls' Auxiliary Guild, was well attended by members of the organization and their friends are also much appreciated by all who were present.

Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C. was chairman and an address of welcome was given by Mrs. D. C. Macnaughton president of the Guild.

The programme consisted of a quiz in charge of K. B. Hall in which the players met opposed the professional men, a spelling match conducted by W. K. Herrington, both of which were composed of men of one team and women in the other, a singing contest led by Mervyn Owen and W. S. Wilson.

Following the programme light refreshments were served from a table decorated with red candles, heart and cupids. Prizes were awarded by Archdeacon Dumbrille.

The business men who took part in the quiz were Messrs. Chas. Walters, W. S. Wilson, Harold McGregor, Ronald LeMaistre, Mervyn Owen. The professional men were Messrs. J. E. Pollard, P. K. Ketchabaw, C. W. Buchanan, Albert Hall and Dr. J. M. Galbraith. Archdeacon Dumbrille was timekeeper and scorer and out of twenty questions the professional men had a score of 14 to the business men's 10.

Teams for the spelling match were captained by Mrs. D. R. Hall and C. A. Walters and the men's team won. Miss Hilda McGreer won the prize as the best speller in both groups and K. B. Ham won the men's prize.

In the singing contest the group led by Mervyn Owen was judged the winner.

MAIL ORDER BUYING OF MAPLE PRODUCTS

As many producers are in the habit of filling orders for maple syrup by mail, the Ration Administration has adopted a special course which they are to follow under such circumstances. Rather than send loose coupons through the mail, the Ration Administration has arranged that customers of this description shall be issued with vouchers in exchange for coupons. Each voucher will state the number of gallons of maple syrup for which it is good. The voucher received by the producer will then be forwarded to the Ration Administration in the same way that coupons are handled. If a producer receives a voucher for a greater amount of syrup than he is prepared to ship, he will have to return the voucher as he is not allowed to send loose coupons through the mails.

A RAY OF HOPE

The Worldover Newspress publishes a report from London, in the form of a Ten Point Manifesto, which has been issued from within Germany, by Germans of different political stripes. The manifesto was received by means undisclosed and has been published by "Allies Inside Germany" and "Free German League of Culture in Great Britain." It is an interesting document and shows that there are those in Germany, who are seeking for a better world, and are working for the establishment of the rule of the people, there. The presence of a group, in Germany, on which the future may be built is a hopeful sign. It is encouraging to know that not all Germans are slaves to Hitlerism.

The ten points are as follows:

1 Immediate suspension of hostilities. Recall of German army to Germany and renunciation of all conquests.
2 Overthrow of the Hitler Government and formation of a National Democratic Peace Government.
3 Arrest and punishment of those responsible for the war and confiscation of their property.
4 Liberation of the arrested and convicted clergymen, deputies, party and Trade Union leaders and their imprisonment by the Hitler Government for political activities. Abolition of concentration camps and of the humiliating race laws.
5 Freedom of speech, press and assembly. Freedom of religion and opinion. Freedom of political, economic and cultural organizations.
6 Abolition of all economic laws enforced by the Hitler Government to the detriment of the people. Restoration of full economic freedom on the land and among the small traders, protection of the small and medium enterprise in agriculture, trade and industry. Fair and just distribution of the tax burden. State aid for industries producing consumer goods and for the export trade. State protection of legally acquired property.
7 The right to work, just wages, 8-hour day, the right of holidays for all workers and employees. Restoration of the former rights of the civil servants. Equal educational facilities for the young.
8 Adequate support for war victims and their relatives from funds accrued from the confiscation of property of war criminals and war profiteers.
9 Foreign policy based on international collaboration with all people and all states. Recognition of the independence of all nations.
10 Convocation of a national assembly on the basis of equal and direct suffrage by secret ballot in order to work out a democratic constitution and material guarantees of law and order. — Worldover Press.

GETTING ON

Premier Drew is getting on, well. He is gradually, one by one, implementing his twenty-two point programme. The announcement that the whole educational system is to be overhauled, is good news. It gives the public confidence, too, in the integrity of the Premier, and his determination to proceed with his programme, in spite of the fact that he does not have a clear majority over the Liberals and the C. C. F. in the new House. The Premier has chosen men for the task of remodelling the system who are tried and trained educationalists. Nobody has raised the question as to their political affiliations, so that there must be general concensus of opinion that they were chosen purely on their merit. This will meet with the whole-hearted approval of the electorate.

The educational system of the Province for many year was untouched, and moved along quite traditional lines. But of recent years the hard crust of traditional pedagogical methods, was broken, and new methods introduced. The Prime Minister who, in addition to being Premier is Minister of Education, plans to push the reforms to new levels, and to make the educational system modern, up-to-date, and abreast of the times. We have seen a whole nation transformed in one generation, through education. Ontario dare not ignore this great historic fact in planning for the future. The new move of the Premier gives great promise.

SOCIALISM

It is interesting to observe how definitely and generally the use of the word "Socialism" is coming into practice. Not so many years ago the person who mentioned the word "socialism" did so in a whisper, while most people avoided the use of it as they would poison. But the war has changed many things, and among them it has all but abolished the fear that people had of anything which smacked of socialism. Now we find men discussing socialism who, a few years ago, ignored it. Even men in positions of trust and responsibility do not shy away from the implication of socialism. Premier Drew, speaking in London on Saturday, said: "Some people think the Socialists discovered public ownership. The most successful public ownership project of any is the Hydro, which was largely conceived and developed by the late Sir Adam Beck, a Conservative. The C. N. R. is another project that came into being under a Conservative Government." Of course they did. Nobody can underestimate the savings to the people of Ontario as a result of this great Hydro-Electric System. Of course, a few years ago, nearly everybody was knocking the C. N. R. It was run until then, not making money. Other powerful interests seemed to be able to keep the C. N. R. from doing all that it might have done. But the war has changed that, too. It is now shown that the C. N. R. can be run as efficiently as the privately-owned lines and can make money when there is business to be done.

There are lots of other successful public ownership projects of which the country may well be proud. The Toronto Transportation System, and the Post Office, are examples. After all, public ownership has proved itself wherever it has had a fair chance to develop apart from partical political influence. Colonel Drew is perfectly right when he says no group invented public ownership. It came about when men of vision—public-spirited men—set out on a crusade to secure for all the people what a few desired to own for personal gain.

Premier Drew is not ashamed to admit that Conservatives had a share in inaugurating public ownership. This statement of his at London, will give encouragement to forward-looking people of all parties or no party, for it holds promise of the Premier's plan to extend public ownership.

JUSTICE — MAYBE?

The Montreal Gazette, on February 11th, carried a little news item which is a strange commentary on our sense of justice.

The article is as follows:

"Queen Novinski, 3838 St. Lawrence Boulevard, wanted to read The Gazette so badly yesterday morning that he completely ignored the fact that he didn't have the necessary nickel. He did what he thought was the next best thing—he swiped two packages of The Gazette in passageways on Milton Street and Park Avenue.

"Now Novinski will do his reading behind the bars — Judge Edmond Tellier having sentenced him to six months in jail at hard labor for the theft of 62 newspapers.

"A suspicious Constable, Aime Hetu, could not get a satisfactory explanation from Novinski when he spoke up with him at St. Catherine and Mansfield streets and the arrest followed.

"The man does not seem to have had a previous record. His only crime was that he took 62 newspapers which, at three cents each, would amount to $1.86. For that minor crime —if crime it be — a man was given six months hard labor. It seems strange in this day and generation, that such a sentence could be handed out for so small a theft. It is reminiscent of the days when they hanged a man for stealing a loaf of bread.

"The Gazette" bastion of wealth in Montreal, added insult to injury by attempted humor with which it reported the event. "The Gazette" would have stood better in the public eye if it could have pleaded for a second chance for the man who took $1.85 worth of newspapers.

RELIEF AND THE BLOCKADE

Many generous - hearted people both British and American are anxious that there should be a special and closely - controlled relaxation of the blockade to relieve distress in Belgium. They appreciate that the blockade is an important weapon in our war against Germany but they consider that it should be possible so to control the distribution of relief goods that the Nazis would draw no benefit.

Unfortunately it is extremely unlikely that this would be the case. While it might well be possible to ensure that the actual imported goods themselves would not be seized by the Germans, the whole of occupied Europe has now been organized into so closely an integrated economic unit that there are many ways in which the Germans could draw indirect benefit from such imports. They are at present taking food out of some occupied countries, and at the same time sending food into others in order to maintain there the labor force required for their own needs. A very small adjustment in their food distribution would very easily nullify the benefit derived by any particular area from food imported in through the blockade.

In this connection the experience of the last war should be remembered, when the Spanish-Dutch Commission took over the work of Herbert Hoover's Belgian Relief Commission on the entry of the United States into the war. Numerous instances came to light where the Germans had evaded the undertakings which they had given in connection with the relief supplies brought in by the commission. Albert Henry secretary-general of the Belgian National Committee for Assistance and Food Surplies, which operated in Belgium during the last war, writes in his book "Le Revitaillement de la Belgique Pendant l'Occupation Allemande":—

"Often the Comte Hispano-Neederlandais averlained that German authorities, both civil and military, disregarded instructions which the Governor-General assented he had given. Requisitionings of essential foodstuffs such as butter, eggs, milk, meat and potatoes for the occupation troops of German officials were so frequent that they could not be designed as individual and occasional, this is that in the event he cannot refer you to an opening in the line you may wish to follow he may find a spot for you in the secondary line.

Well, everything's going smoothly and it's not long a great deal of time. The man fills out an identification card, hands it to you, and you're told that you must keep it on you at all times. You're told not to lose it, as a substitute will be issued at a charge of $5.00. You're told that you must keep it on you at all times. You're told not to lose it, as a substitute will be issued at a charge of $5.00. You're told that you must keep it on you at all times.

This card has a number on it. It's known as the applicant's number, and should you ever go to the selective service at some future time, the first thing you'd be asked is for the number of your identification card.

Next you're supplied with an insurance book, if you haven't already got one, and then a permit is made out for you. This permit opens the way for you to accept the job to which you're referred.

You must take this permit with you to your new employer, who will fill it out and return it to the selective service. You may be sent to a job in another province, but the same procedure has to be followed regarding the signing and returning of the permit.

Well, you thank the man for his help, glance at your watch — and that's when you get a surprise! You learn that you've only been in the building for about 25 minutes. You can't help but mention this fact to the man, saying that it puzzles you somewhat.

And you add that you had always been made to believe it would take at least four or five hours before you could receive any attention.

The man will launch and tell you that Leyton Robinson the manager had members of the staff check during the first two weeks in December, just to see how long it took a person from the time he entered the place before he was able to leave.

This was the result of the two-week analysis:

The average length of time a man spent in the selective service office when applying for a job or a transfer to another was just 19.08 minutes. It took only an average of 11.3 minutes to deal with each woman's request.

You glance around the office again, make your way toward the door feeling pretty good about it all, and decide it wasn't such a bad experience at that.

Certainly it wasn't anything like you had been made to believe it would be!

Despite this, non-perishable food stores are being built up to send to the occupied countries as soon as they are freed. In the meantime the Allies are sending great quantities of food to Russia, which needs it more than eastern Europe.

The blockade is an operation of war, and like bombing and scorched earth policies, it has to be judged, not on sentimental grounds, but purely as a warlike operation. Adequate relief can only be provided when countries are liberated and our whole effort should be concentrated on the means to achieve that liberation at the earliest possible moment by weakening the enemy's resistance in every way, and on plans to make relief really effective when liberation has been achieved.

VANSITTART ON POST-WAR GERMANY

BY WAVERLEY ROOT

I do not happen to have read the book by Lord Vansittart, formerly Britain's Permanent Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, on the post-war treatment of Germany which caused a considerable torrent of indignation in liberal circles as too draconian in its proposals; but if it went no farther than his 12-point program just published in a magazine, I cannot say that I find it in principle more severe than is necessary. A good deal would depend on the spirit in which Lord Vansittart's twelve points were applied. A good deal would depend also on the willingness of the Allies, after the war is over, to insist on some surveillance operation on Germany which might cause populations of other countries to wonder whether similar if minor operations at home might not be healthful also.

That is one factor which is generally ignored in post-war plans. It is not enough to set down on paper a course which seems sage. It is also necessary to ask whether it is likely that the persons who must enforce that course are going to be willing to do so. There are certain measures which applied to Germany would reduce the danger of her becoming a menace to the peace of the world; but there are influential elements in the Allied countries which would not favor taking those measures, because they would risk creating agitation for similar measures in their own nations. It is not quite a case of plucking the beam out of one's own eye before operating on the mote in one's neighbor's. There can be no doubt that it is Germany which suffers from the beam, and the Allies which have only the mote to complain about. But a good argument can be put up for the theory that if German vision is to be improved by removing the beam, then other countries will need more than ever to get rid of their motes.

If all this sounds rather general we may resort to Lord Vansittart's axe for a specific example. He says, and I agree with him completely, "The Junkers must be expropriated and their estates subdivided into small holdings." There was never any economic justification for these bloated and bankrupt enormities, any effort to bolster them up has always led to a waste of political capital which reached their height under the republic.

Now if Germany existed in a vacuum and if nothing done there could have any effect on any other country, there would no doubt be no objection to this program. But Germany is not alone in having an agrarian problem. The same abuses exist in certain other countries. Big landowners in other countries will object to a policy in Germany whose example may threaten their own interests, and some of them have close relationships with influential circles in the Allied countries.

Hungary, for instance, is also a country where great estates still exist, operated by more or less feudal methods. Since there is a movement in the Allied camp itself in little opposition to agrarian reform there. The problem gets a little touchier in Poland, though Russia seems likely to solve that out of hand at least for eastern Poland, where big estates are common — an issue which has not been emphasized in the border dispute. But when we reach Spain, we tread on more delicate ground.

One of the reasons for the Right-ist reaction in the legal government, which culminated in the Franco revolution, was the republican program of agrarian reform, which put the great landowners behind the revolutionists. It is true that the need for this reform in Spain was so obvious that Franco, before his victory was complete, was obliged to announce projects of his own much resembling those that had caused the estate-holders to back his movement. But since his triumph, the promised reforms have not been consummated.

Now the big landholders of Spain are precisely the men who have the best contacts with Washington and London. Representatives of thirds, like the Duke of Alba Spanish Ambassador to London, whose influence in England is great, are sure to apply pressure whenever they may wield it against an agrarian policy in Germany which might spread to Spain. Similarly, there might be opposition from sources within Allied countries to any other measures which might smack of expropriation of private property, as an attempt to break up the European industrial empire established by Herman Goering.

Germany herself has her unofficial procurators in the United States, whose efforts will also be directed against the application of severe penalties to the Reich. They may not like Hitler, but Germany is their country, and they do not want to see it suffer for the sins of the Nazis, whatever they may think about them. "There are many active emigrants," Vansittart writes, "who are apt to mislead the public with their anti-Nazism, but not anti-militarism. They are losing ground here (in England), but in the United States an election year is not likely to diminish their activities. They are already represented in the academic network of America."

This latter statement I know to be exact. There are a number of German professors in American universities who, because they are not Nazis, are allowed to lecture on international politics, and do so from a pronouncedly German nationalist viewpoint. Every year hundreds of students leave their classes indoctrinated with their viewpoint; and students who specialize in international affairs are very likely to turn up in diplomacy or related activities.

Such influences have to be taken into account when we consider how Germany is to be handled after the war. Plans for strict control of the conquered country are not worth the paper they are written on if the will to apply them is sapped among the victors. The makers of these programs must take into account not only what needs to be done, but also what it is going to be possible to persuade the victors to do after the heat of the conflict has died down. There are persons within our gates, many of them in high places, who consider Germany as a military enemy, but are politically and economically in sympathy with the elements which have made her aggressive, and will oppose any effort to render them harmless because the example might rebound against them. Unless we can pluck out the mote at home, it is futile to attempt to pluck out the beam in Germany.

AXIS ARMS WEAKEN PROPAGANDISTS STILL POTENT

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Argentina's action in severing relations with Germany and Japan is a happy development for the United Nations, since it is a step in the direction of closing the dangerous breach in the anti-Axis front of the Western Hemisphere.

The next vital step is for all the nations of North and South America to join hands in a ruthless house-cleaning of subversive interests which are in the employ of Hitler and his gang. Should the great nations of Argentina feel able to effect full cooperation in this work it will achieve the success which thus far has eluded the Allies in their efforts to extirpate the Hitlerism and Japanese agents in this hemisphere.

From the military standpoint things go well for the Allies in all theatres of war but while the enemy's striking-power at arms is visibly deteriorating, he is mounting his present and insidious moves to create international political crises which are a grave menace to the security of the United Nations.

The evil Hitlerite propagandists are busy trying to cause dissension among the Allies, especially among Russia, Britain and America, upon whose amicable co-operation depends the winning of this war and the peace to follow. His agents are, for example, using the trials of every country in an effort to create internal disorganization and thereby hamper war effort.

All this is a part of Der Fuehrer's general strategy of fighting defensive actions both military and political in the hope that time will produce some upheaval which will give him the victory that is denied his armies. Frustration of the war on his last desperate chance of salvaging something from the wreckage he has created.

One of the fields to which the Axis has been devoting much energy is South America. The Hitlerian purpose is to establish bases which will give him material help in his war against the forces of civilization and ensure the disunity of the Western Hemisphere and thus weaken the power of the Allies to make war.

There is still a large element in the German and Italian colonies, not only are inspired to help the Axis cause, but offer up to Hitler anything is now a crime.

One of the latest Western Hemisphere countries seems to have failed in permitting the establishment which is a menace to the United States. The United States, the Bolivian coup d'etat, General universal, undermine the Allied cause in this hemisphere.

One of the most important things in connection with this matter is the solidarity of the United States and Britain on the question of Argentina. This is a school which is in danger of Britain and the United States. These two great powers, together on policy, Western Hemisphere, would be overwhelming. American trade would be restored.

This is an argument on sound reasoning which Britain and the United States cannot differ in principle. Fascism must be destroyed in Argentina and the Axis countries. Only then will the Axis countries look them in other parts.

Thus these outlined steps are sound and constructive building on solid foundations which will disappear in the wake of the war. It is not difficult to enumerate those things in which we have faith, trust, innocence affection and those other qualities of unspoiled personality. A poor White in the South was once asked what he thought of the Negroes. He answered, "I never knew it was better a Nigger till I was sixteen." Of course no children have no color bar, no race prejudices. There is no anti-semitism in the make up of the child. The Kingdom of God will consist of men whose deep passion is to be of service to others, and who possess all those childlike qualities which endear them to our hearts.

BRITAIN'S FAMOUS SMITHS MAKE DISCOVERY

Cast-iron with the electricity comparable steel is now being made Sondheu. It is amazing to and though it is expensive since it first reached production, users of the new been kept quiet.

After the war the new will give us better and cheaper, both in peace and the marvellous new p material will mean less great comfort in millions of lower costs in thousands.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, FEBRUARY 20TH, 1944

"JESUS TEACHES TRUE GREATNESS"

Lesson Text: Mark 9: 33-39; 10: 13-16, 42-45

Today we are watching with increasing interest and concern the actions of great leaders. President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill President Stalin, Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-Shek, General Eisenhower, General Montgomery and a score of others. The extreme demands of a total war have ruined many reputations, while they have brought to the top some who were quite a long way down the ladder when hostilities began. There are different standards by which we estimate the value of leaders. They may be good organizers, may be able to stimulate confidence, may be men of great intellectual gifts and of wise judgment.

In Great Britain and in Canada as well as in the other parts of the Commonwealth, we call the elected leader the Prime Minister—the first minister. That is not a mere accident that we use that designation. It arose out of a deep conviction on the part of the British people that the head of a nation was elected to serve the people. He is not a dictator, he is a servant, the first and most important servant of the people in the state.

The idea that the leader of a nation, not primarily a soldier, a sailor or a successful business man, but a servant of the people, has a Christian background. Jesus heard some of His disciples arguing among themselves as to who was to be the greatest when Jesus came to His Kingdom. Jesus did not reprimand them for their interest in their own future. He simply got the twelve of them together and gave them a vivid object lesson. He took hold of a little child that was playing nearby and told them that he who would be great must be a servant, must receive little children as though they were Christ Himself; that is they must receive the little child and do something for him instead of assuming that the little child must be at the beck and call of everybody. That must have been quite a jolt to the old traditional Jewish adult, who assumed that children and women were to be kept in their place.

This matter of service as a peculiarly Christian virtue should receive more attention than perhaps it has even yet received. To be has been a phenomenal service clubs in recent years. Rotary International "service" while other business aims to serve. Yet to or less a formality. Many in the case of business bid for bigger and better Christian virtue of service all ulterior motives. Service should not let their left hand what their right hand is doing. Should be the left hand's reward the Christian interpretation was what Jesus taught.

The next passage in the lesson is an interesting one and has its implications. The disciples had some man performing miracles in the name of Jesus. They forbade him because he was not one of their circles. Jesus rebuked them and said, "There is no man who shall do a mighty deed in My Name and be able quickly to speak evil of Me." Just so! There are many who do not like the methods of other people, churches, or the way he conducts a meeting. But who knows? Who has made us judge over another's religious experience or practice? It is a good thing that there are more than one into the Kingdom. There are many and various experiences." Jesus acknowledged that. "They that are not against Me are with Me."

Once again Jesus underlined the childlike qualities of the Christian. The disciples did not want to be bothered with the children that followed Christ, and tried to "shoo" them off. But Jesus said that the citizens of His Kingdom must have childlike qualities in order to qualify. It is not difficult to enumerate those childlike qualities in which we have faith, trust, innocence affection and those other qualities of unspoiled personality. A poor White in the South was once asked what he thought of the Negroes. He answered, "I never knew it was better a Nigger till I was sixteen." Of course no children have no color bar, no race prejudices. There is no anti-semitism in the make up of the child. The Kingdom of God will consist of men whose deep passion is to be of service to others, and who possess all those childlike qualities which endear them to our hearts.

— QUICK MARCH — TO GET NEW JOB

This article was taken from The Regina Leader-Post of December 27th, 1943.

• • •

You walk into the national selective service office on Eleventh Avenue bright and early some morning, bent on getting yourself a job or transferring to a better one; and you start feeling uncomfortable just as soon as you get inside the door.

You've heard people say that it takes half a day or more before you can get anyone to wait on you.

Well, you decide to give it a try—you figure it has to be dodo sooner or later anyway—and you cone up to the man at the information counter. And you wait a minute or two—with some misgivings—while he talks to those ahead of you, for you've been told that members of all selective service staffs are not courteous and likes to tell you off.

You feel that you don't want to be told off, for after all you're not trying to get a better job or, perhaps, as the case may be, get work for the first time.

Well, you have to wait a minute or two while the official attends to the fellow ahead of you. Then he smiles at you, tells you to sit down, and starts asking questions.

For a moment or two you think it's the census taker after you again, for he asks you a lot of things. Where were you born? How old are you? What are your educational qualifications? Any dependents? Have you served in the armed forces? Are you a British subject?

You may not like to answer some of these questions but you do, for the man tells you in a nice way that the application simply shows for what job you are best qualified.

You not only have to tell him where you have been working, if at all but what you are capable of doing. And you have to mention a secondary occupation. The reason for your person at all times.

This card has a number on it. It's known as the applicant's number, and should you ever go to the selective service at some future time, the first thing you'd be asked is for the number of your identification card.

Next you're supplied with an insurance book, if you haven't already got one, and then a permit is made out for you. This permit opens the way for you to accept the job to which you're referred.

You must take this permit with you to your new employer, who will fill it out and return it to the selective service. You may be sent to a job in another province, but the same procedure has to be followed regarding the signing and returning of the permit.

Well, you thank the man for his help, glance at your watch — and that's when you get a surprise! You learn that you've only been in the building for about 25 minutes. You can't help but mention this fact to the man, saying that it puzzles you

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Is there a ceiling price on tinned pork and beans?

A. Yes. Each dealer has his own ceiling represented by the maximum price that he charged for the same article during the base period in 1941. . . .

Q. The other day in a chain grocery I noticed a shop assistant distributing a scarce commodity amongst fellow employees before the limited supply was placed on the shelves for the customers. Is that permissible?

A. There is no regulation forbidding this practice, but it was most indiscreet and heedless of the manager to sanction it, if he did.

Q. Our milkman in this village has refused to provide us with milk and I know of other instances in which he has done likewise. What can we do about it?

A. The Ontario Milk Control Board which administers milk regulations advises that there is no authority under the Milk Control Act to force a distributor to give service to any particular customer, but if there are complaints about the service he does give it will consider the location of another distributors license for the same market.

Q. My landlord wants me to vacate these premises, occupied under a monthly lease, in order to occupy them himself. Can he do that under the present regulations? If so, how much notice am I entitled to receive?

A. Six months' notice is required with a sworn form being completed in triplicate and filed with the Rentals Appraiser's office and this form must be handed to the tenant. The notice to vacate cannot fall due before September 30 and the following April 30.

Q. Is there any danger of potatoes becoming scarce this season as they were a year ago?

A. The Prices Board has not discussed control over the distribution of potatoes in order to avert such a situation. Carload lots of potatoes are being diverted to areas in which there is a deficiency and it is hoped that by this means extreme shortages may not occur.

Q. I am interested in the formation of the Prices Board Bureaus. Are they going to be permanent or temporary?

A. They are temporary, as they are engaged on the work that you are referring. These bureaus do not require renewal under ordinary circumstances.

Q. My husband is a diabetic. Is there any way we can get extra extra rations of butter and meat?

A. Yes, provided the surrender of sugar coupons not required because of diabetes is made to the Rationing Administration for such rations. The application must be accompanied by a doctor's certificate by duly licensed medical practitioner identifying his disease and indicating the extra rations in excess amounts that are required by him.

WHAT THE RUSSIANS ARE SAYING

BY MAURICE HINDUS

The farther the war moves from Moscow the more people in the capital are discussing problems of the post-war world. For several weeks I have been listening to these private unofficial discussions and want to set forth the main thoughts and trends they disclose.

First, the people here are acutely conscious of the major part Russia has played in this war. Russia, they always emphasize, is doing most of the fighting, suffering the heaviest casualties and enduring the severest devastation. They are disappointed because they had expected the Allies to synchronize the assault on Western Europe with the winter offensive of the Red Army, but Stalin's presence at the Teheran conference has given them the greatest assurance that such an assault will materialize and be gigantic in nature.

I have several invitations from Muscovites to visit them for a real celebration on the day when what they regard as the second front opens. No doubt it will be one of the happiest days for the people here. They are convinced that once the western offensive begins the war will not last long, not beyond some months.

Every one I have talked to not only wants but hopes and expects the war will be carried into German territory. "It must not stop before," is the most frequent expression I hear. Mother "X" of Pskov who ran away with her two children when the Germans were approaching the city, and whose oldest child, a boy of 12, was killed while on his way to the village, said: "German mothers must know, as we know, what it means to abandon their homes and run with children over fields and country roads in search of shelter. Only I am sure our aviators won't machine-gun them and their children as their aviators machine-gunned us and our children."

Having suffered as much as they have, the one thing the people here want above everything else is a world without chaos, a world of order and peace, so that human beings can start living again as human beings.

For this reason, as a college professor expressed himself, the Russians here feel the peace conference must achieve three basic results. First, the German military war machine must be annihilated, whereas it exists and must never be permitted to lift its head.

Second, as the facts in Allied opinion polls in recent years show and experience to hold rule or ignorance. Fascism in whatever form Russia must face no time in making the country known for Fascism every one here believes is the foremost peace-making agency directed against Germany and the Soviet Union.

Third, Germany must be made to pay for the damage she has done. Russia, they say, will be content with whatever it can get. Further, the civilian population, these include not only the heads of the German Government and the Nazi party but multitudes from machine-tools and locomotives down to cockroaches and potatoes on the rank and file, are only secondarily guilty. The brunt of the punishment and material retribution of war must obviously fall on the armed forces and the responsible leaders of the country.

One of the causes of the special commission investigating German atrocities is to make up a list of such Germans as will be arrested and tried immediately following the surrender of the armies.

The Russians, however, do not stop at men on the list and comparatively few. They demand a very reckoning for those German industrialists, financiers and shopkeepers who have helped Adolf Hitler to rise to power, who maintained him in power and who have lost and will lose their fortunes, their factories and their businesses only by empowering armies and governments to themselves either outright or Nazi regime or by some legal device perfidious that betrayed them.

Both Germans the Russians hold as guilty as Hitler himself. Particularly do Muscovites want a reckoning with German industrialists, shopkeepers and others who have been seeking to establish themselves in the Ukraine. White Russia and other Soviet lands, whether already liberated or still under German occupation.

"The parasites" said a middle-aged foreman of a textile factory, "must learn what it means to enslave the exploitation of Russia to steal our factories and our lands."

Equally bitter are Muscovites toward those Germans who have been rounding up civilians in occupied territories for work in Germany. The universal sentiment here is that not one of the Germans must escape punishment.

HOLLYWOOD Is Here

By HYE BOSSIN

An old love never dies, it seems. Ben Hecht, who wrote "Claudia," wanted Elaine Ferguson to star in the early days of the screen to appear in a new production. Miss Ferguson's mama objected to her farm and she refused to leave it. She got excited when she read the script and now she is again a favorite of the show public. . . Paramount's Canadian Newsreel has given many a thrill. You are sitting in a theatre when suddenly you see Bing Crosby and hear the voice of your son or brother. . . . There are regular reports that "Meet the Navy," the RCN show, will be made into a motion picture. The company may appear on Broadway and assign the profits to U.S.A. service relief, a nice gesture. . . . Plot thickens around now have Canadian backgrounds. Sonja Henie's "Wintertime" has a Quebec locale and Errol Flynn's "Northern Pursuit" deals with Nazis in the North who want to fly over Ontario and bomb the Welland Canal. . . . After the success of "Stage Door Canteen" movie people decided to give the Hollywood Canteen the same treatment.

Greer Garson didn't start anything when she married Richard Ney, younger by ten years. . . Mary Pickford, Ginger Rogers, Norma Shearer and Eleanor Powell married younger men. . . Hollywood nickname for a toupee—a dome dollie. . . There is no doubt that Television will move right into home and theatre as soon as the war is over. . . Three men are preparing for it. . . Dorothy Lamour will wear a fur-lined sarong in "The Road to Utopia," which has an Alaska setting. The other Utopians, as usual, will be Hope and Crosby. . . Sophie Tucker, the famed blues singer of other days, will sing two old songs and a new one in "Sensations of 1944". . . Cecil B. DeMille's "The Sign of the Cross" will be reissued with a special prologue. Claudette Colbert, Fredric March, Charles Laughton and Elissa Landi appeared in the original version. . . Walter Huston, the Canadian star, owns a 7,500-acre ranch in California.

Joseph Calleia, the movie villain, was born in Malta and left there to study engineering in England. From that he jumped to acting, touring this continent in 1918 as a Scottish comedian, kilts and all. The public didn't like him that way and he was soon conducting a street car for a living." He returned to the stage as a singer and in 1935 entered the movies. . . Joan Blondell, wife of Dick Powell, went to New York to act on the stage and took their two children with her. So Dick spends his evenings running home movies of nine-year-old Norman and five-year-old Ellen. . . Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins are still maintaining the feud that started in "Old Maid." Their latest film together is "Old Acquaintance." During the filming of "Old Maid" someone asked Bette Davis how it felt to work with such a fine actress. "I don't know," she shrugged. "Why don't you ask Miss Hopkins?" . . . Wallace Beery has been taking movies of daughter Carol Ann since she was nine months old. He'll make them into a film called "From Gingham to Grease Paint."

MORVEN W. A.
The members of the W. A. were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Craig, Napanee, for the regular meeting, February 10th, with an attendance of 38 members and visitors. The programme was in charge of Mrs. R. Hill, convener for the month, who used as her theme, Demonstrating the way of Christ in Friendship. The meeting opened with the reading of two verses of a hymn singing the hymn, and prayer. The scripture reading was read by Mrs. George Clark. Readings and explanations of the theme were given by Mrs. William Raycraft, Mrs. Carl Vanbrocke and Mrs. Percy Hall; Mrs. C. D. McLellan gave a very interesting review of "Book of Small." Vocal duet, Jean Praillie and Mrs. A. Winters, and Mrs. Albert Lewis gave a paper, which was followed with greetings from the Grace Ch. Association by Mrs. McLellan, in the agsence of the president, Mrs. W. Smith. A hymn was followed with the usual business items in charge of the president, Mrs. Raycraft, who expressed thanks to those who assisted with the programme and welcomed the many guests who were also present. A dainty lunch was served with Mrs. McLellan pouring tea and refreshments were served by Morven W. A. members. A hearty vote of appreciation was given the hostess for her cordial invitation.

John W. Hambly Died Tuesday

Mr. John W. Hambly, one of the best-known men of Napanee, died in the hospital at Kingston on Tuesday afternoon, after a lengthy illness. For the past ten days he had been seriously ill with pneumonia, which was the cause of his death.

Mr. Hambly was born in North Fredericksburgh and was one of a family of nine children of Samuel and Margaret Hambly. He was in his 86th year and until he was well over 80 years of age had been in remarkably good health.

Until about 35 years ago, Mr. Hambly farmed in North Fredericksburgh, after which he came to Napanee where for several years he was in the undertaking business with Dr. E. Ming. He retired from active business in 1923.

Since coming to Napanee Mr. Hambly has been actively identified with Grace United Church, where he was an elder and for many years was treasurer of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. He was a member of Union Lodge, A.F. & A.M. Napanee, which he attended regularly and in which he took a real interest. Mr. Hambly was a man of very pleasant personality and had innumerable friends throughout the whole town and countryside.

Mr. Hambly's wife, Ida Huffman died in 1925 and he is survived by two daughters, Miss Olive Hambly at home and Vivian, Mrs. Karl Hollis, Toronto. He also leaves two granddaughters, Miss Audrey and Miss Karlyn Hollis, Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. Milford Dunn, Napanee.

His funeral will be conducted by Rev. C. D. McLellan at his residence, Centre Street, on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. and interment will be in Riverside Cemetery.

NAPANEE W. I.
The monthly meeting of the Napanee Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the agricultural office with the president, Mrs. James Haggerty presiding. The meeting opened with the singing of the Institute prayer for peace and the salute to the flag. The treasurer, Mrs. Katherine Powell presented the financial report which showed a substantial balance on hand. An appeal was made from the National Women's Emergency Fund and it was decided to have a social function in the near future, the proceeds of which will be given to the fund. Final arrangements were made for the short course to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and a door prize will be given on the three days. The door prizes are being donated by Mrs. Russell Long, Mrs. John Jaynes and Mrs. E. J. Boyle. It was decided to have a euchre on the afternoon of Friday, February 25th and the conveners are Mrs. Merno Grange, Mrs. Ethel Daynes. The prizes will be donated by Mrs. M. B. Luffman, Mrs. James Mazer and Mrs. Earl Loucks. The sum of $8 was donated to the Russian relief. In the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Fred Richards, the programme was conveyed by Mrs. John Jaynes and consisted of a reading by Mrs. Frances Nicholson; a solo by Mrs. P. B. Elliott, a paper by Mrs. Alma Akenbrack and two recitations by Jerry Robbins. A vote of thanks was tendered those taking part in the programme by Mrs. John Jaynes and Mrs. M. B. Luffman. The roll call was "How to Prevent Accidents in the Home" and met with a splendid response. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

GLIDER BOMBS AND THE INVASION

BY DON WHITEHEAD

Associated Press War Correspondent

When the great invasion of the European Continent begins, one of the big responsibilities of the Allied air forces will be to prevent any concentrated use by the Germans of rocket-propelled glider bombs.

There is no breach of security involved in saying that this new aerial weapon of the Nazis is a potent threat against shipping. The Germans know it and the Allies know it.

An invasion fleet at anchor is like a flock of sitting ducks unless air cover can intercept the control plane from which the gliders are directed by radio.

Anti - aircraft fire is only partly effective against the small - winged projectiles, because they sweep down on their targets swiftly and are difficult to hit. It is usually only a lucky hit when one is stopped by ack-ack fire.

The Germans used glider bombs against the invasion fleet at Salerno and again at Anzio during the Fifth Army's behind-the-lines thrust. Censorship prevented disclosure of the full effectiveness of this weapon until Prime Minister Churchill announced its use at Salerno. Again at Anzio correspondents with the landing forces were forbidden to say the Germans were using rocket bombs against shipping. A directive said no mention was to be made of the glider projectiles.

Since then these restrictions have been lifted. Now the correspondents may tell something in detail of what the rocket bombs are like, and how the Germans used them.

From descriptions pieced together by several eyewitnesses who have watched these winged weapons attack, it is learned the bomb is about 20 to 30 feet long, with tail fins acting as a stabilizer and rudder. It has a wingspread of some 15 feet and in flight it looks like a small plane.

Apparently it is armor - piercing. At Salerno one of them that hit a ship penetrated thick steel decklates and exploded in the craft's interior.

The bomb is attached to the belly of a twin-engined Heinkel bomber, which is equipped as a control plane. When some distance from the target, the bomber plane's pilot releases the glider and drops the flaps on his plane's wings to slow his own speed, until the bomb shoots ahead into the pilot's vision.

From the time of its release the glider apparently is controlled visually and directed by radio. The pilot can make a sharp turn to swoop in on its target from the side if necessary.

Except when the control plane is in trouble from fighter attack or ack-ack or the glider is hit by antiaircraft, the bomb appeared to observers to be under excellent control at all times.

This does not mean the rocket bombs always score a hit. They don't. Many of them fall harmlessly into the sea, either because the pilot loses control at the last minute, or because they overshoot the target.

Whether the enemy can muster a large fleet of rocket-bomb gliders for use against an invasion is not known, but it is logical to assume — and the Allied air forces must go on the assumption — that the Germans can concentrate large numbers against an invasion armada. And the air forces must be prepared to protect shipping from this type of attack.

Witnesses tell of a red-and-green glow at the tail of the glider when the rocket is in flight. This apparently is caused by the propelling charge.

POLAND'S TRANSITION WILL BE HARDEST

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

In discussions which I have had with leading figures of each government-in-exile, their Prime Ministers, Ambassadors and such have ruled out any generalizations about the war's aftermath in Europe.

"From the European viewpoint, the one basic weakness in the Washington policymakers' approach to our troubled world is generalization," a Scandinavian Ambassador summed up to me. "In an operational sense, there is no Europe as such any more. Europe is a conglomeration of twenty-six races, containing ten additional countries and some 6800 more miles of borders to defend than before the last war. It will only confuse matters to talk as though there were a prompt common denominator for European freedom, prosperity and fitness for self-government."

There are now six governments in exile in London and two in Cairo. In London I interviewed leaders of each of the six — Belgium Norway, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Poland, Czechoslovakia, — to obtain a round-up of the facts.

At the Belgian Embassy I visited the distinguished statesman of the last World War and this, who now is Ambassador here—Baron de Cartier de Marchienne. He impressed upon me the fact that the presence of the King within Belgium, captive of the Germans, is a great boon to the souls of the distressed Belgian people who feel that Leopold is suffering on the spot with them.

"This is an important psychological and governmental factor," Baron de Marchienne explained. "It will immediately assist the transition to normalcy from a political standpoint, post-de Belgium. Although only four Ministers escaped to maintain the exile Government the peacetime resumption of orderly affairs within Belgium should be the easiest of anywhere."

As for Leopold himself, the last person known to have visited him in confinement is Prince Charles of Sweden, whose sister Astrid married Leopold and was Queen of Belgium when killed in an automobile accident. Prince Charles (Carl Gustaf Oscar Frederick Christian) told me that Leopold remains confined in the Palais de Laeken near Brussels.

Charles said the 42-year-old prematurely-grey monarch is melancholy and resigned but not angry over the earlier Allied blasts regarding his army's defeat as that was later officially cleared from the London and Paris and he lives only for the liberation of his people. The German repeatedly have offered Leopold peace-time advantages if he would collaborate but Charles told me that Leopold said he would be confined in Laeken to the last day of his life in preference to performing a single act of collaboration. And in fact, he never has spoken directly or personally to any of the numerous German leaders since the hour he entered confinement.

In Norway, next to Belgium, there should be the easiest orderly resumption of government — and far easier than Belgium in economic respects. The Norwegian Government-in-exile is extremely well off financially. Norway's largest income always has been from shipping, and as the third or fourth largest maritime nation in Europe Norway has not lost ships to the United Nations Charter. Also chartered them to Great Britain and to the United States at full emergency rates. Furthermore, Norway collects in London and Washington full insurance for every Norwegian vessel sunk in Allied service.

This totals are untold millions credited to the exile government month after month throughout the war to give Norway a vast accumulation for her own use the day the United Nations liberate her from her German enemy.

The Netherlands is not so affluent as Norway, but Dutch diplomats tell me that their country also will have an easy transition to peace through its long beloved Queen and the natural characteristics of the people. The severity of the German occupation in Holland is midway between that of Denmark and Belgium, but is growing worse since the heavier raids over Germany.

Dutch farmers now are being exiled to Poland to make way for Germans bombed out of Berlin, Munster Hanover and Bremen. It is a fact the Germans, for home morale purposes, now are announcing that as many Germans as possible will be given free plots of land, houses and equipment — which have been confiscated from the Dutch — to offset their own homestead losses. Therefore, German city dwellers currently are moving to Holland in droves.

The remaining two foreign governments in the British capital, those of Poland and Czechoslovakia, are especially striking examples of why European generalizations are fruitless. Apart from the present Russian-Polish crisis, Polish leaders in London want the United Nations to guarantee compensation from Germany in Vilna and the Lwow District as well as all East Prussia to the Oder River and in Silesia as far as Breslau.

Leading Poles categorically denied the sensational rumors from Moscow that the London Polish Government would declare war on Russia over the border situation as soon as the Germans were driven out. But they did show me—in great vexation, and as a typical friction-making item in the transcription dated Moscow, Jan. 6th, printed in the Wolna Polaska organ of the Soviet - subsidized counter - government organization known as Union of Polish Patriots in Russia, wherein it continued to demand a Sovietized Poland as through the Teheran Conference had not taken place and the Atlantic Charter did not exist.

As for Czechoslovakia, I find that Benes returns to London from Moscow with the Kremlin treaty in his pocket —and with his entire government, along with Britain's Ambassador Philip Nichols, at Paddington Station to greet him — implies further isolation of the Poles.

Yet, no more valiant fight against the Germans has been made by any of the six exile governments here than by the fliers and soldiers of Poland. There is a deep and saddening irony in the fact that Russian nationalism and the limited resistance of Anglo - American coalition politics have put Polish heroism at a tragic discount in war of survival.

EUROPE'S FOOD OUTLOOK

Although the food situation still is critical, prospects of a need for feeding Europe for years after the end of the war are diminishing rapidly. The American Institute of Food Distribution says.

"If the war ends by next April," says the non-profit research agency, "Europe will be able to establish a sound foundation for harvests in the fall of 1944, but if hostilities drag on through next summer, our emergency food shipments will continue until the autumn of 1945."

Describing European crops as "pretty good last year," the Institute says:

Land in Europe is there to cultivate immediately after cessation of hostilities and the job of the United States will be to assist needy countries by making emergency food shipments, helping obtain orderly distribution and providing fertilizer, seeds, insecticides, draught animals and farm machinery.

Greatly improved ocean transport facilities since the defeat of U-boats has been one important factor in bettering the European food situation.

The Food Institute's report was slightly more optimistic than one made by a United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Committee on November 25 which said Europe might be expected to feed herself at prewar levels in the second crop year after the war.

Denmark and the Netherlands are the best situated of all European countries except Germany.

In the Balkans, Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania have fair supplies with farmers better off than city dwellers because they have gardens and other foodstuffs from which to draw.

Yugoslavia food shortage because of poor distribution.

Greece still is in ruin. The 15,000 tons each month from Canada and countries is "only a bucket." Peasants in those in cities are in starvation with the second to the winter of 1942 as 2,000 persons die.

Sabotage at Oslo

A terrific explosion in the harbor last December 19 in main ammunition ship in the first German-controlled leases the Nazi authorities state that the explosion accidental.

However, now this story to be changing. This is the German Gestapo Chief Standartenfuehrer Siver Fellin ed in an interview with the the possibility of sabotage some most probable and the available evidence is extremely closely.

It is reported to Norwegia grims in London that the buildings were damaged in the filled area of Oslo harbor age was greatest in Munkedamsveien and 44the main thoroughfare downtown Oslo. Several business were seriously damaged. Window breaks all over the city and in cities outside the city.

At least 22 Norwegians in the blast and 250 injured and repair work knave been the shortage of material now glass, pipes, etc., are ed for German offices.

quickly stop bleeding in wounds.

A sixth is the "isohemagglutinins" which define the different types of blood, and is in use in military typing.

All these are only part of the story but they are all that can be told now. The work is one of the most brilliant chemical achievements of the war. It has new post-war civilian values.

Already isolated from the plasma are hormones and other proteins which have potentially many likely human medical uses.

Dr. Cohn directed the work of fractionating plasma, which was done co-operatively at Harvard and a number of other universities part of it with aid of the United States Navy. All was paid for by war funds.

The life - saving use of plasma is to draw water from a man's tissues back into his blood. A wounded man loses quickly much of the liquid of his blood, which leaks into his tissues. The result is shock and quick death. The albumin which forms about 60 per cent of the plasma is the main substance that draws back the tissue water, doing so by osmotic pressure.

The military forces already have 200,000 units of this albumin, each good for one transfusion. One hundred cubic centimeters of albumin does the shock-preventive work of 500 cubic centimeters of plasma.

The measles remedy comes from a fraction that forms about 10 per cent of the total plasma. Presumably this fraction carries the antidotes for many other diseases than measles, but to date no way has been found to make it effective against any other disease.

The new plastic is made of man's own natural blood proteins, hence is safe to lay inside the human body in large sheets. The wound can be closed. After six months the plastic is absorbed by the body. By that time the work of the temporary lining is presumably accomplished.

OBITUARIES

THE LATE SILAS YOUNG

Silas Young, aged 86 years, died in Napanee on February 5th, after an illness of two weeks. He was a former employee of the Grand Trunk and C. N. Railways and was one of the men who assisted in building the "YY" west of the town.

He is survived by his son, Silas Edmond in Hamilton, and another son in Detroit. His funeral was conducted at the Wartman Funeral Home on Sunday, February 6th, with Rev. Rabble in charge. Interment will be in the spring.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Nelson Woodcock E. Scott, Harvey Hicks and Henry Storms, Earl Clark and John Switzer.

VALUABLE WORK FOR COUNTY DONE BY C. A. S. SUPT.

No real indication of the valuable work done by the Children's Aid Society of Lennox and Addington can be found in the statistical report presented each month by the Superintendent, Mr. W. F. Barrett, but it does show at least that the cases of many neglected children, and wards of the society, come under review in numerous visits to homes and office interviews. Without the intervention of the Society many children would suffer and juvenile delinquency would assume proportions much greater than is the case at present.

Mr. Barrett in his report at the society's regular monthly meeting, on Thursday evening of last week, told of the deplorable condition of a family of nine children whose mother was ill, which was brought to his attention. The children and the mother lived in a tiny shack in the northern part of the county, where because of illness and other factors the mother was totally unable to give proper care to the family. Sanitary conditions were extremely bad and with no other person able to give the children attention, it was found necessary for the Children's Aid Society to step in and take charge after the mother had been removed to the hospital in Kingston. Three of the children were also in need of medical assistance and were hospitalized for a few days. Temporary homes were found for the members of the family later and they were placed under the care of the society by a court order.

The situation in the above cited case is not peculiar to the rural section of the county. Right in Napanee living conditions in some homes are equally bad in some instances.

One of the problems facing the Superintendent is to find a home were children, when they are first taken charge of by the society, can be kept for a few days until they have been made ready for placement in boarding or free homes. Mr. Barrett made an urgent plea for members of the society to assist him in finding such a home. Efforts have been made but so far without success has been secured. Any assistance which can be given by readers of this article would be appreciated by Mr. Barrett and suitable remuneration would be given for the use of a home in the county as a temporary shelter.

Another problem which continually faces the superintendent is that of delinquency on the part of wards of the society. At almost every meeting Mr. Barrett reports a case which has given him considerable trouble and at the last meeting he reported the case of a girl of about 14 who was quite incorrigible and had to be committed to an industrial school.

At the end of January there were 61 open cases under investigation, an increase of two over the previous month. Children in care at the end of January totalled 102, one less than at the first of January.

Work of the Soldiers' Dependents' Allowance Board and the Board of Trustees, required sixteen visits by the Superintendent in January and twelve official interviews.

The above type of work requires a great deal of the superintendent's time but Mr. Barrett's opinion is that it is of value to the community because of the children involved.

Great-West Life Reports Excellent Year

Elsewhere in this issue appears an advertisement showing some of the highlights from the 42nd Annual Statement of The Great-West Life Assurance Company, published by F. B. Elliott, C.L.U., who represents the Company in Napanee.

During 1943 still larger numbers of people turned to the Company for protection and security. 90,000 men and women purchased new life insurance and annuities during the year, totalling over $101,000,000. Total insurance in force reached $759,000,000 and assests now amount to over $290,000,000. The Company in 1943 invested over $20,000,000 in war bonds nearly 5 per cent. more than the total premium income.

More than 230 of the Company's employees and representatives are now serving the United Nations in practically every theatre of war.

V. O. N. TREASURER'S REPORT FOR 1943 GIVEN AT MEETING

The regular meeting of the V. O. N. took place in the Legion Room, on February 14th. Mr. T. Hunt, presided. Mrs. S. Phippen, the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, followed by Mrs. Medd the treasurer, who gave her monthly report, as well as her annual report, which had not been presented at the annual meeting.

Mrs. Hunt, the president, also read her annual report which had not been read at the annual meeting. Mrs. Hunt read a letter from the Town Council, stating the annual grant to the V.O.N. would be reduced this year from $500.00 to $300.00.

Mrs. George Paul, convener of finance, thanked her committee and all those taking part in the recent membership drive. Special mention was made of Mrs. Ashley's splendid work and the amount collected by her in the business section of town. Mrs. Paul was thanked for her splendid work in organizing the membership campaign, and she in turn thanked Mrs. Challies for her help and co-operation.

The next meeting, Tuesday, March 13th, will be an open meeting and all members are invited to be present. A special invitation is extended to all our new members, and tea will be served at the close of the meeting.

It is expected a special speaker will be present to address this open meeting.

Miss Morrison, V.O.N. nurse stated in her report, that January had been a very busy month, 154 visits had been made and 4 Well Baby Clinics held.

Following is the Annual Report of the treasurer:

Killed Christmas Day Canadian Writes Prayer

BY GREGORY CLARK

With the Canadians in Italy, February 2nd. — In the tunic pocket of Major Alex. Campbell of Perth, Ont., who was killed on special patrol outside Ortona Christmas Day, was found the following poem which he wrote September 23rd during the campaign in Italy. Copies of the poem are now treasured souvenirs in possession of many officers and men of the Hastings and Prince Edwards who looked upon Campbell as a man without fear of anything and to whom this poem of supplication to God for courage makes his memory all the dearer.

In Sicily, Campbell was credited with deeds of exceptional daring and gallantry and was credited with killing with a Bren gun, 23 Germans whom he trapped in a convoy. He was killed, Christmas Day, only a few hours after his return to the regiment from many weeks' hospitalization.

A patrol was ordered out on the fringe of Ortona and Major Campbell insisted on taking it himself by reason of the perilous nature of the job. Campbell's father, an officer of the Royal Canadian Regiment, was killed on or near Christmas Day, 1917, when the author of this prayer was a small boy.

"PRAYER BEFORE BATTLE"

When 'neath the rumble of the guns
I lead my men against the Huns.
It's then I feel so all alone and weak and scared.
And oft I wonder how I dared
Accept the task of leading men.

I wonder, worry, fret, and then—I pray:

Oh God, Who promised oft
To humble men to lend an ear,
Now in my troubled state of mind,
Draw near, oh God draw near.

Make me more willing to obey;
Help me to merit my command;
And if this be my fatal day,
Reach out, oh God, Thy helping hand
And lead me down that deep, dark vale.

MORE TOMATO JUICE WILL BE RELEASED

More canned tomato juice is to be available to consumers during February and March, it is announced by the Prices Board. Wholesalers are being permitted to increase their allocations during those months by 10 per cent. and sales permitted by retailers during the same period have also been stepped up from 15 to 20 per cent. of their total quotas. This increase, of course, must result in a proportionately reduced quantity available for distribution after April 1st, but it will provide consumers with additional tomato juice during a period when other foods with similar vitamin values are not as plentiful as in the early summer months.

These men of mine must never know
How much afraid I really am,
Help me to lead them in the fight,
So they will say, "He was a man."

NEW ORDER LIBERALIZES REHABILITATION

Ottawa — Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Pensions Minister, announced Thursday, a number of changes in the post-discharge reestablishment order broadening the scope of legislation which provides funds for vocational training and completion of education for members of the armed forces.

Principal changes remove the restriction that vocational training and completion of education must be carried on in Canada. Many thousands of discharged personnel, who lost the rights to benefits under the order because they entered war industry are made eligible once more for the grants.

Under the changes for university education, discharged personnel may enter any university or college of educational standards approved by the Minister. Provision is made that in the case of vocational training and completion of education the Minister may approve the payment of grants to persons residing elsewhere than in Canada in special cases where training outside the Dominion is deemed advisable.

"At the outset of the war many fine American boys, for instance, came to Canada to enlist in our Navy, our Army and our Air Force," Mr. Mackenzie said. "We were glad to avail ourselves of their services at that time. We have a moral responsibility, even though they are citizens of another country, to assist in their rehabilitation the same as we do for Canadian service personnel. These amendments make that possible."

Fourteen of the nineteen moving pictures acclaimed the best of 1943 have been made available for showing in Chege for the Canadian Army. The five others are unavailable in sizes used by Army projectors.

Allied Sea Losses Reach New Low

London (CP) — The Allies destroyed more German submarines in January than in December", the Anglo-American statement said this week, while merchant ship losses sunk by enemy U-boats was among the lowest monthly losses in the whole war.

The statement, issued on the authority of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt, said the higher toll of Nazi undersea craft was exacted despite diminished opportunities to attack them.

The statement said:

"The year 1944 has opened with a very satisfactory first month for the Allies in their continued campaign against the U-boat.

"In spite of the limited opportunities to attack U-boats owing to the extreme caution now exercised by them, more were destroyed in January than in December. This has been accomplished by unrelenting offensive action of our surface and air forces.

"The amount of merchant shipping tonnage sunk by U-boats during January, 1944, is among the lowest monthly figures for the whole year.

"The German claims that submarines are ignored as they are grossly exaggerated and issued purely for propaganda purposes."

Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps who have completed eighteen months' service may now wear the green, scarlet and royal blue ribbon of the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal.

COOKERY METHODS OF TURNIP

Hello Homemakers! The truth about turnips has given prominence to this vegetable which keeps us well provided during the entire winter. There are two types of turnip—white and yellow (rutabaga). The white turnip is milder flavoured but not as high in food value as the yellow. When the yellow turnip is overcooked it turns dark is watery and generally unpalatable.

As a Canadian product turnips provide an ample amount of Vitamin C when served raw — combining the fact that splinters of chilled raw turnip are delicious. They also contain valuable minerals, provided they are properly cooked, i.e., barely enough water to cover — and the drained-off juices are used in the soup pot. And they are an energy food to serve with meat, fish or eggs.

A few extra hints;

1. Combine grated turnip with diced celery, chopped lettuce, cubed apple and salad dressing.
2. Cut turnip into very small pieces to cook. Cook only until tender.
3. Cubed cooked turnip, white sauce (made of part turnip liquid and milk) and cooked sausages make an appetizing dish.
4. When mashing turnips the method is to add half-teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon of flour, one-quarter cup top milk and mash thoroughly. Add a pinch of nutmeg for another variety.
5. Because of the pronounced flavor of yellow turnip we like to mash it and combine with an equal amount of mashed potato.

Scalloped Turnip With Cheese

One yellow turnip, salt, pepper, flour, half-cup grated old cheese, one cup milk, one cup bread crumbs.

Pare and slice turnip very thin. Cut into quarters. Arrange slices in greased baking dish. Sprinkle each layer with salt, pepper, a little flour and grated cheese. Add milk to come up at least half the depth of the dish. Top with buttered crumbs. Cover and bake in electric oven at 350 deg. for one and one-quarter hours. Just before serving remove cover to allow crumbs to brown.

Baked Turnip Puff

Three cups cooked mashed turnip, one cup soft bread crumbs, two teaspoons sugar, salt, pepper, nutmeg, two eggs, beaten half-cup milk, one tablespoon of butter.

Combine turnip, bread crumbs. Add sugar salt, pepper and nutmeg. Stir in eggs and milk and pour into greased baking dish. Dot with butter and bake in electric oven at 350 deg. for 25 minutes.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. A. H. S. suggests this recipe for Pumpkin Pie and states her baking the pie-paste shell for three minutes before adding the filling.

Two-thirds cup brown sugar, two tablespoons butter, one-quarter teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon salt, one and one-quarter cups cooked and strained or canned pumpkin, two egg yolks, one and one-quarter cups scalded milk; two egg whites.

Add sugar, butter, spices and salt to the pumpkin. Add egg yolks slightly beaten. Add milk and mix thoroughly. Fold in stiffly beaten whites and pour filling into 9-inch pie plate lined with pastry pre-cooked three minutes. Bake in electric oven at 450 deg. for ten minutes. Reduce heat and bake for forty minutes in oven of 375 deg. F.

Mrs. K.B. asks: Why does chocolate and oil cause harden in a refrigerator?

Answer: Chocolate and cheese harden in the electric refrigerator but they soften at room temperature. Cheese is fat does not drain off as it does when stored on the kitchen shelf. Chocolate should be thoroughly wrapped in wax paper as the chocolate may turn grey and the aroma of cheese may penetrate other foods.

Mrs. J. M asks: In what proportions do you substitute honey for molasses?

Answer: Less sugar is required when substituting honey for ordinary molasses. A one-quarter tea spoon of soda is sufficient for one cup of honey.

LETTERS FROM NICKEY

THE STORY OF LIFE IN THE C.W.A.C.

Dear Babs:

This is my swan song! The next group of khaki-clad girls who set foot in old England, will include your happy friend, Nickey. Isn't it thrilling? I have to pinch myself to be sure that I am not dreaming. As a matter of fact, I have been ever since I knew that I was elected. I can see myself going at the top of to be a Cook's Tour; I will have a job to do, the important job of replacing a man in an army orderly room.

Friends of mine with the C.W.A.C. in England have been very fortunate in seeing the country and so I am very hopeful. Most of them have been up to Scotland for one or more leaves and report that they have been treated royally. Pte. Mary Ferguson of Belleville, Ont., is one of the lucky girls who have spent leave in Scotland.

Overseas, one week's leave is granted every three months, so this makes it possible to rove around and explore. Many of the girls have been invited into English country homes for week-ends and are enthusiastic converts to the English way of life. They assure me that stories about English hauteur and reserve are bunk.

From all I hear the life of a C. W.A.C. overseas is very comfortable, so I am not expecting to experience many spartan rigours. In London, C.W.A.C. live in a luxurious mansion with central heating and open fireplaces. In the recreation room there are deep lounges, writing desks and game tables, just as we have here. The girls are too busy with their work and recreational activities to be homesick. Actually, living in barracks is like belonging to a big, gay friendly family.

They have a weekly movie night and a film is shown in the recreation room and at other times, parties, dances and concerts are arranged between the women of the A.T.S., the WRENS and the WAAFS. C. W. A. C. repay individual hospitality extended to them by entertaining their friends in the "Mess" room. Here will usually be found several Canadian lads on leave, enjoying the opportunity of a chat with Canadian girls again.

There always seems to be something "cooking" and that is not just a figure of speech, either. C.W.A.C. cooks prepare plenty of good, wholesome food for everyone and the girls tuck in with a will. They are thriving, some have gained many a pound since leaving Canada. Though there is a shortage of candies overseas, C. W.A.C. can obtain three chocolate bars a week from their canteen, so you can see for yourself that it is not likely that I will be facing acute privation.

I have always thought of our issue clothing as being very complete but I find that further articles will be issued to us before going overseas. These will include nylon toothbrushes, warm bedroom slippers and heavy flannel pyjamas.

So another chapter in my service in the C.W.A.C. is closing. I put it away reluctantly though I am looking forward eagerly to proving my mettle in the British Isles. There is always a sadness about "farewell" and I have made many good friends in Military District No. 3. There are good-bye's to be said to my family, too, and that is not easy. I hate to say Bibs, to make a good break keeping the home fires burning until Victory dawns and all of us come marching home. Strange, isn't it, to think of men and women in uniform marching together in that Victory Parade!

Ever your friend,
NICKEY.

A BARGAIN IN BREAD

Supposing you went to the grocer's tomorrow and saw a sign over the bread display that read

SPECIAL TODAY
Extra Vitamin B1 Calcium and Iron
— FREE WITH EACH LOAF! —

could you resist a bargain like that? Yet that very bargain is offered, though not advertised, every day in every store where whole grain bread is sold alongside white. The same bargain can be picked up among the cereals too, for whole grain cereals provide those same extra food elements.

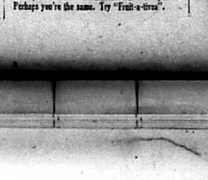
Canadians are being urged to eat more bread. If we are to do so we should make sure it is bread rich in vitamins. Such is real whole wheat bread.

Adult daily requirement of Thiamin or Vitamin B1 is placed at a minimum of 500 International Units. Generous use of real whole wheat bread helps secure this essential as it is the richest bread source of B1. A single slice of it yields 30 I.U. while a slice of refined white bread yields only one sixth the vitamin potency — 5 I.U.

Recent surveys show the average Canadian diet low in calcium content — yet in respect to calcium, the use of whole wheat bread can step up the family's supply of this important mineral by six per cent. which may make the difference between an adequate daily supply and a diet below par in this respect.

Moreover whole wheat bread has more protein, fat and iron than has white bread or enriched bread.

Don't forget what a great deal more you get for your money when you buy whole wheat bread!



MR. W. G. MILLER says every man should keep his liver active. He was tired, listless, nerves on edge, and no ambition to work or play. "Fruit-a-tives", liver tablets made him feel fit a new person. Perhaps you're the same. Try "Fruit-a-tives".

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

In order that reports of organizations may be printed the week following the dates on which the meetings are held, we find it necessary to request that all copy be in our office not later than Saturday morning. We ask for the co-operation of the reporters, so that we may continue to be of service. — Editor.

MOUNT PLEASANT PIONEER W. I.

The Mount Pleasant Pioneer Women's Institute branch met at the home of Mrs. Fred Henderson for the February meeting, with the president, Mrs. A. Sexsmith, in charge, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. C. Nugent. There were fourteen members and one visitor present. The meeting opened with singing the ode and repeating the prayer for peace, after which the roll call was answered by reading clippings which had been distributed by the hostess. A pleasing report of the pot luck supper held in the Institute Hall on January 6th, with Mrs. J. Doyle as the convener, was presented and several messages of appreciation were received from shut-ins to whom the Institute had sent greeting cards at Christmas time. Plans were made for a party to be held in the hall in the near future. After the business items had been discussed Mrs. Henderson convener of the meeting, took charge and gave an interesting and instructive paper on the topic for the day "Canadian Industries." An item of special interest was a letter read by Mrs. Henderson, which she had received from one of the local boys, Gnr. Earl Oliver, now serving with the Canadian Army in Italy. A bean guessing contest was conducted, the winner being Mrs. G. Stapley. During the afternoon two quilts were quilted. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which lunch was served.

SELBY MISSION BAND

The monthly meeting of the Selby Mission Band was held on January 29th at the home of the Leader, Mrs. Dorland McCutcheon.

The meeting was opened by repeating the members' purpose, followed with the response by the President, Jane Telford.

A hymn was sung, followed with prayer by Olive Irwin.

Each member responded to the roll call with a verse from the Bible beginning with the letter "L".

The minutes were read by the Secretary, Frances Robinson. The scripture was read by Muriel Irwin, after which the offering was taken by Helen Fitzpatrick.

A temperance reading was given by Florence McFarlane, Dorcas McCutcheon and Marie Price sang. The Watch Tower was responded to by Gertrude Robinson on "India", Marie Price on "Africa", Nina Brenton on "China", and Mildred Gordon on "Canada".

A story was read from the Mission Band Story Book by Frances Robinson.

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn, after which the Mizpah Benediction was repeated.

A treat was provided by the Leader, after which games were played.

HAYBURN W. A.

The January meeting of Hayburn W. A. was held at the home of Mrs Herb. Lowst, with eight in attendance.

The devotional period was conducted by the President, Mrs. Percy Hawley, and consisted of a hymn and reading, responsively, Psalm 750, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

The roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

Mrs. Henry Lowst expressed her appreciation for the letter of sympathy sent her.

Mrs. Evelena Lowst gave a reading entitled "The Old Arm Chair". Mrs. Ray Garrison also read a very interesting article on "Home Management."

A pot luck supper was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hawley, which proved to be a very successful affair, the receipts for the supper were $21.85.

The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah Benediction after which the hostess served a dainty lunch.

MOSCOW RED CROSS UNIT

The annual meeting of Moscow Red Cross Unit, was held on the evening of January 22nd, 1944, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bell, for the transaction of general business and election of officers.

The following reports were submitted:

Sewing — 46 large quilts, one crib quilt.

Knitting — 8 pairs seamen's socks, one turtle neck sweater 1 lady's sleeveless cardigan 1 lady's long-sleeveled cardigan; 2 pairs lady's gloves, 1 aero cap, 1 scarf.

Blood Donors for 1943 — 52.

Financial report: Receipts for 1943 $299.13; expenditures, $79.61; cash in bank, $145.64; cash on hand $13.88.

Mrs. A. E. Huffman conducted the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Miss Ella Evans; 1st Vice-President Mrs. Donald Huffman; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Edgar Drew; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. Hattie Boulton; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. M. I. Huffman; Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Bell; Buyer, Mrs. A. C. Baker.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

NAPANEE W.C.T.U.

In the yearly programme of Napanee W.C.T.U., the very important subject of Christian Citizenship has a prominent place. Recently, at a meeting devoted to this study, the following points were taken by Mrs. F. Hooper who is our county superintendent of press and international relations. Mrs. Hooper chose a Bible reading from the first chapter of 1st Corinthians, where the writer gives to the Corinthians and also to us some of the essentials of Christian citizenship. She said the very important thing was that we should take Jesus Christ as our example and follow His teaching—Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God. His challenge to us to-day is that we walk worthy of the calling wherewith we have been called. If we have proved that the home, the church and the school are the corner stones of character, then as Christian citizens let us guard well these sacred institutions.

Following this Bible study, a paper on Christian citizenship prepared by Miss Mellow, was read. She tells us that a Christian citizen is one who believes that citizens, like brothers are children of God and therefore all must be brothers, irrespective of race, creed, class or colour. If obedience means making it difficult to practice Christian virtues, then he should by ballot, or otherwise, endeavour to [illegible] lunch and a collection was gathered for by Dean

TRINITY W. A.

The February meeting of the Women's Association took place in the Primary Room of the church February 7th, with the president, Mrs. R. L. Miller in the chair. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by prayer. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. G. M. Chidley, which consisted of reading responsively the 708th Psalm, a very interesting message and prayer. Mrs. T. M. Asselstine gave the secretary's report and Mrs. C. McConnell, the treasurer's report, and the business part of the meeting was conducted in the usual manner. Miss L. Candler gave a short talk on temperance.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and repeating the 17th verse of the 90th Psalm.

Large Quantity Wood Along Roadside Near Northbrook

Northbrook, Feb. 14. — The dwindling issue of gas coupons is evidenced by less cars and more horses and many hitch-hikers.

With many long piles of cordwood along our byroads we will have no fear of a shortage for at least a year. Owing to the price ceiling truckers are unable to market the wood after paying the high wages necessary for cutting.

Mrs. Dan. Mack recently celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday at the home of Mrs. Joshua Lloyd, with whom she resides. Mrs. Mack spends most of her time knitting.

Mr. James Clark, veteran of the Boer War and recently elected president of the War Veterans and Service Men's Club is already promoting plans for a Community Hall in Northbrook. With his inspiration all will surely assist to attain a much needed asset.

Only sixteen from these parts were in a position to answer the call for blood donors at Tweed, Friday. All men and many women are employed during the week days and are awaiting a clinic operating on Sunday. Many of the donors and assistants were evidently of Irish descent with Rev. Father Meagher of Stoco Church, Rev. C. McEwen of Standard Church, Harlowe, Rev. McQuaid, Tweed and Rev. P. McNulty of Cloyne helping at the clinic.

Pte. Herb. Armstrong of Kingston, is home on his first leave.

Capt. H. H. Thompson of Ferry Command, Dorval, was pleased to have Mr. Hugh Wilson and Mr. Douglas Altenbrack as callers while attending Lumbermen's Convention in Montreal.

Lumbermen Sowers and Disney spent the week surveying new tracts of timber for the Mill Valley Lumber Company.

Mrs. Charles Lambert of Toronto, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bott for the week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Baker, a son, Mrs. Baker was formerly Miss Tresa Atkins.

Convalescing in Kingston Hospital are Miss Agnes Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Snider; Miss Jean Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson. Mr. George Lloyd and Mrs. William Stuffles.

Sergt. S. G. Both and Pte. Harold Cox, both of R.C.A.F., spent the week end with their families.

Mr. James Vojan is convalescing from flu, and says no one else will have it as he got it all.

Mrs. J. L. Lloyd is with her sister, Mrs. R. Moon, at MacTier, while Mrs. Moon is in very poor health.

Mr. George Wood is gaining slowly from a stroke.

Rev. McNulty had his first letter from his son, George, who is in Italy with the 48th Highlanders, and is still "tops."

Letters from Keith Jackson of the 48th Highlanders, Italy, show he is yet in the fray. Keith was our first boy to enlist. Also in Italy is our prize marksman, Claude Wood, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wood.

Mrs. Bert Rattan and infant, of Kingston, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thompson.

Former Croydon Man Died in Toronto at Christie St. Hospital

Croydon, Feb. 14. — The remains of the late Earle Teskey of Christie Street Hospital in Toronto, were brought to his mother's home Sunday morning. His wife accompanied the body. Earle was one of the first to enlist with the R.C.A.F., as meteorologist. He was stationed at Halifax. Following an operation Earle was a patient for several months in Halifax until about four months ago when he was removed to Christie St. Hospital, Toronto. His funeral was held Monday, February 14th, at the Anglican Church at Tamworth. His wife and mother and sisters and brothers have the sympathy of the community.

Mrs. Christine Close spent a few days in Kingston the guest of Mrs. D. M. Paul and Mrs. Jack Jeffs, Alfred Street.

Mrs. Borden Benn and daughters, of Trenton, are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Benn's mother, Mrs. Edna Teskey.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hughes.

Miss Ames Nolan and nephew, Mr. Charlie Dwyer left today to visit the latter's parents at Rochester, N.Y.

The C. P. R. has an extra gang camped at Currie Crossing repairing the tracks.

Mr. W. B. Close has a cow which gave birth to twin calves.

Miss Mary Bumhower has returned home after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Walter Lloyd.

Mr. Gerald Prizzell and sister, Miss Helen, were Sunday tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don. Close.

Impressive Memorial Service at Camden East

Camden East, Feb. 14. — A large number gathered at St. Luke's Church on Thursday afternoon for the funeral service of an old and respected resident in the person of Mrs. John Robinson. Mrs. Robinson had not been in the best of health for the past few months but no one thought the end so near. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were with their youngest daughter, Mrs. Claude Hinch, Kingston, when Mrs. Robinson passed away. Many beautiful flowers covered the casket. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Canon Spencer. Burial was made in the family plot. Left to mourn the loss of a dear wife and mother are her aged husband, two daughters, Mrs. Harold Huff and Mrs. Claude Hinch; three sons, Dr. Gabriel Robson of Toronto, James of Switzerville and George at the home farm as well as several grandchildren. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

A very impressive Memorial Service was conducted by Rev. Fletcher in the United Church, on Sunday afternoon, for the late Pte. Gordon Allen, who gave his life for his country, in Italy on December 31st, 1943. The pulpit had a Union Jack at half-mast and a beautiful wreath in memory of Gordon, who was only twenty years of age. In October, 1942 he volunteered and was accepted. He went to England in June, 1943, with an infantry group and was sent to Italy early in December. The church was crowded with sorrowing relatives and sympathizing friends. Left to mourn his loss are his mother, Mrs. Jack Beattie, and his step-father Mr. Beattie; one sister, Mrs. Gerald Peters of Switzerville; three brothers, Bruce, Roy and Ross of Bethel St.

GREAT-WEST LIFE Policyholders BUILD SOUNDLY IN 1943

Policyholders in the Great-West Life shared a notable year in 1943. By their thrift and prudence they made remarkable headway in spite of the many strains of wartime and the unusual demands on their incomes.

1. Their increased savings added more than $13,000,000 to the funds which the Company is holding for them. Over $200,000,000 is now held in trust for 231,000 policyholders.
2. They were joined by 24,500 new policyholders who, along with former policyholders, added $101,000,000 of new protection for themselves and their dependents.
3. They now own policies totalling $759,000,000—an average of $3,286 for each policyholder.
4. They bought $29,000,000 of Victory Bonds and U.S. War Bonds through their Company during the one year—representing $123,000 for each policyholder.

To many policyholders, 1943 brought death, retirement or unexpected emergencies, but through their foresight they had provided for these contingencies. Beneficiaries whose homes were saddened during the year received $4,573,000, while living policyholders received $9,189,000—a total of $13,762,000.

A complete report, showing the strong position of the Company, is available. It gives striking evidence of how men and women in Canada and the United States are making financial provision for their own future security.

Rags Necessary Where War Wheels Are Turning

"Any rags today?" No it isn't just the junkman. It's your country calling! Rags are needed where the wheels of war are turning in the factories for wrapping delicately milled parts and cleaning machinery in the airdromes for use as airplane wipers, in army workshops and aboard Canadian ships to archer.

At first it seems incredible that a country must import rags yet the Dominion before the war used to be a considerable importer. This was on top of the 50 000 000 or so pounds collected each year in Canada itself. But while the imports of rags required to swell the total have been drastically reduced, the need for them has increased a hundredfold.

That is one reason why Canadians everywhere are being urgently asked to look through their dresser drawers and cupboards to search out cast off articles, especially old cotton shirts and underwear cotton aprons and dresses, cotton sheets and curtains and any other cotton article reasonably large in size.

Rags salvaged will serve to "keep 'em flying" in the munitions plants and other industries of this country.

Plenty of Seed Available For Potato Growers

Potato growers who are planning their 1944 production will be pleased to know that a very satisfactory supply of good seed is still available, particularly of the late varieties, says R. E. Goodin, Potato Fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Although buyers have been active, resulting in a heavy movement of seed potatoes in the fall. Much good seed was put in winter storage, mostly because labour shortages interfered with grading operations on farms. A recent survey has revealed that approximately 118,000 bushels of Foundation, Foundation A and certified seed potatoes remain on Ontario farms as at January 1st. Updated lists, giving names of growers, varieties etc. have been prepared and are now available at offices of local agricultural representatives. Dominion Seed Potato Certification Service, O.A.C., Guelph or the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The quality of Ontario seed potatoes from the 1943 crop is exceptionally good in most cases and buyers have been well pleased with purchases. Many growers have already made sure of satisfactory supplies by securing seed early.

Considering that potato growers have been requested to increase production by five per cent in 1944, also the fact that heavy losses were experienced from Bacterial Ring Rot in 1943 growers would be well advised to provide for the first requisite in profitable potato production by using only seed which is known to be satisfactory.

TEMPERANCE VOTE ASKED

Toronto. — The Ontario Temperance Federation, which ended its annual convention in Toronto on Wednesday, February 10 voted to ask the Ontario Government to conduct a provincial referendum on the question of abolishing beverage rooms in hotels.

The convention also passed a resolution asking the Federal Government to appoint a Royal Commission to investigate all aspects of the liquor problem, especially whether the Federal Government should take over the manufacture, sale and import of alcoholic beverages.

Speaker at the final session was Dr. E. M. Howse, of Winnipeg, who said that it must be recognized that conditions for national prohibition "are not present today in Canada or the United States." Temperance advocates should not aim toward national prohibition. The hopes of temperance, he said, lay in eliminating abuses in the proper manner.

Samuel Carter, of Guelph, was elected honorary president, with Rev. E. S. Bishop of Toronto, as president.

RED CROSS ACTIVE AT TAMWORTH

W. A. Meeting

Tamworth, Feb. 10. — The regular meeting of the W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. A. Deshane, with a large crowd in attendance. The President conducted the opening and business of the meeting. The W. A. are framing an "Honor Roll", soon to be placed in the church. A short talk on "How drinking is held largely responsible for the increase in venereal disease" was given by Mrs. H. Millar, Temperance Secretary. In a short address Mrs. Huffman expressed the regrets of the Society in losing Mrs. Reveille, a very energetic worker of the W. A., and Mrs. Millar presented her with a pair of towels. Rev. Mr. Sexton also spoke to Mrs. Reveille, voicing his regret at her leaving, and wishing her happiness in her home in Kingston. Mrs. Reveille replied with thanks, and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" was sung. The devotional part of the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sexton. Her study for the day was "Hannah", another great woman of the Old Testament. Lunch was served and a pleasant time enjoyed by all.

Report of Tamworth Red Cross for January

Sewing: 10 sheets, 4 quilts, 1 pair pants.

Knitting: 1 long sleeve sweater, 1 pair seaman's stockings.

Money received: Euchres $53.00, donations $31.00, teas $4.91.

Warden Draws Lucky Ticket

The Red Cross held a dance and euchre in the Town Hall on Wednesday, February 9th. A large crowd was in attendance, with 19 tables in play. At 10:30 p.m. the score was taken, Mr Peter McDonald and Mrs. Kelly winning the prizes. Dancing was then enjoyed, the music being furnished by Nolan's orchestra. During the intermission, the President, Mrs. F. W. Froste, called Reeve Milligan and J. McDonald to the platform. Reeve Milligan thoroughly mixed the tickets, then J. McDonald drew for the lucky ticket, and the name drawn was Warden Daly, of Napanee, giving him the pig, donated by Mr. Beckett, of the Tamworth Creamery, to the Red Cross. Lunch was served and dancing continued. On Thursday morning Warden Daly was telephoned his luck by Reeve Milligan. He expressed great surprise, it being his first lucky ticket from all he has bought. He very generously gave the pig back to the Red Cross and it will be auctioned at a later date. The proceeds of the sale of tickets and evening's dance and euchre, with expenses deducted, netted the Red Cross $181.00. Mr. J. McDonald was the best salesman, selling the greatest number of tickets.

A large crowd of the Y. P. U. members motored to Selby on Friday, February 4th, and enjoyed the hospitality of the Y. P. U. of the church there.

20 Months' Sentence Given Soldier In Napanee Court

Eno Belben, a member of the Canadian Army at Camp Borden, was sentenced in Napanee Public Court last Thursday afternoon, by Magistrate Garvin to serve twenty months in the Ontario Reformatory, after pleading guilty a few days before to five charges laid against him by Provincial Police.

Delben stole a truck loadde with meat at the Union Station, Toronto, and gave Traffic Officer J. A. Morden of Napanee, a wild chase for several miles until he was finally stopped in the city of Kingston, after striking and damaging a Hydro pole.

Magistrate Garvin said that some consideration was being shown Delben for having pleaded guilty to the five charges and electing for summary trial, and also because he has no previous criminal record.

For theft of the truck he was sentenced to serve twelve months for theft of gasoline from Marysville, two months, for driving dangerously, three months, for doing damage to a Hydro pole in Kingston three months, all to run consecutively.

For dangerous driving in the city of Kingston, a sentence of three months was imposed to run concurrently with the above sentences.

Judgment Reserved In Pooke Action For Damages

Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice J. Keillar Mackay in the session of the Supreme Court of Ontario held in Napanee last week, in the action for damages brought by W. J. Pooke, Odessa, on behalf of his son, Jack Pooke, against Kyle Motor School Section No. 13 (Odessa).

Some months ago, the boy, Jack Pooke, a pupil of Odessa School, while playing in the school yard fell into a hole in the grounds and sustained a compound fracture of one of his legs.

Fourteen witnesses were heard and the Court made a visit to the school grounds during the hearing of the case, which lasted several days.

RED CROSS NAMES COMMITTEE HEADS FOR CAMPAIGN

Canvas for Members Starts Next Week

The County of Lennox and Addington is being organized for a Red Cross Membership Drive for 1944. The campaign will start on Monday, February 28th, and will last for three weeks.

Committees are being set up in each district to canvass all residents and employers are co-operating in connection with the canvass of their employees.

In the country each Rural School Section will have an official Red Cross canvasser, who will call on everyone in that section. If in any sections unfavorable weather may make the road condition bad for travelling, the time will be extended to permit of a complete canvass being made.

EIGHT DIVORCES GRANTED IN NAP. LAST WEEK

Eight divorce cases were heard in Napanee last week by Mr. Justice Keillar Mackay, who presided at the Spring Assize of the Supreme Court. Five of the cases were transferred to Napanee from Kingston and three concerned people in the County of Lennox and Addington. In all cases the plaintiffs were granted divorces.

In the action brought by Mrs. Dorland Windover against her husband, Dorland Windover and the co-respondent, Marjorie McIlwaine, a divorce was granted and custody of the child was given Mrs. Windover with an allowance of $20.00 per month until the child is 16 years of age.

In the action brought by Mrs. Marvin L. Beebe, Napanee, against her husband who resides in Kingston, a divorce was granted with custody of the two daughters, and alimony of $50.00 per month.

A decree nisi was granted Mrs. Elizabeth Milsap, Moscow, in action for divorce from her husband Lyall Milsap, with costs of the action to the plaintiff but no alimony.

SERGT. G. S. BLACK WOUNDED IN ITALY

Word was received on Friday afternoon, February 11th that Sergt. Jack S. Black had been wounded in Italy and was in the hospital. The telegram, which came from Ottawa to Mrs. Black, did not state the nature or extent of Sergt Black's wounds, but said that more details would be sent later.

Sergt. Black, who was one of the best known young men of the town, was an employee of The Express Printing Office, when he enlisted in the summer of 1940 with the Fifth Light Anti - Aircraft Battery. He trained six months in Kingston and six months at Petawawa before going overseas in September, 1941. From that time until November, 1943 when he went to Italy, he trained in England.

Jack, while living in Napanee, was an active member of Grace United Church, was greatly interested in sports and in 1947 was Master of Union Lodge No. 9 A.F.& A.M.

His wife and two children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Black, reside in Napanee.

Subscribers Take Notice!

A few weeks ago we gave notice that all Subscriptions to "The Beaver" in arrears must be brought up-to-date and paid in advance or we would be forced to discontinue sending the paper.

In the interval a great many subscriptions have been paid, but there are still a number outstanding. New Government regulations and shortage of paper make it necessary for us to adhere to our plan of discontinuing subscriptions in arrears.

Before doing so we are giving this FINAL WARNING. We wish we could be as lenient as we have in the past, but we find that impossible.

If your paper has not been paid in advance and you wish to continue to receive it PLEASE MAKE PAYMENT PROMPTLY. Arrears not paid within a reasonable time will be placed for collection with our Collection Agency.

NAPANEE SCOUTS MARK SCOUT WEEK BY ENTERTAINMENT

Boys Give Demonstration and Present Program

All across Canada this week, Scouting goes on parade to honour the late Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, founder of the Boy Scout Movement. Baden-Powell, famed defender of Mafeking in the Boer War, founded the Boy Scouts in 1908, to "promote good citizenship in the rising generation." He was knighted in 1909 and became a baron twenty years later. Baden-Powell passed away in 1941 at the age of 83.

Ever since his death Boy Scout Week has been observed to honour the Founder and to promote the interests of scouting. The First Napanee Troop, under direction of Scoutmaster Werk Poole celebrated Boy Scout Week by holding its annual concert on Tuesday evening. The concert was held in the Collegiate Auditorium, with a large audience present. The address of welcome was given by Rev C. D. McLellan, chairman of the Citizens' Committee. Mr. McLellan thanked the School Board for allowing the Scouts to use the auditorium and expressed gratification at the capacity audience showing the interest of the citizens in the Scout movement. Assistant Cub Master Donald Elliott introduced the Cub Pack and led the Cubs in their "Grand Howl", followed by an amusing skit by the Beaver Patrol directed by John Simpson and called "Off the Track". Those taking part were Bob Hall Bill Roblin, Ron Sladden, Jack Blakely, and Don Hogarth. Demonstrations were given of some of the Tenderfoot tests—Tom Huffman gave the Scout Law and Promise, Jack Dale explained the formation of the Union Jack, Myron Mills and Mike Fisher demonstrated knots.

The next item was a skit directed by Garry Smith and Jack Boyle entitled "What the Hell". It was a hilarious comedy depicting Hitler's reactions to the important news events of the last few years. Hitler was played by Garry Smith, Hirohito by Don. Pettit, Mussolini by Fred Lobb, Goebbels by Tom Tate, Himmler by Gerald Marshell, Goering by Jack Doyle, Tojo by Gale Smith and the Devil by Mike Fisher. Also taking part were Bob Eray, John Daly, Bob Madden, Pat Breault, Doug Clarke, Jerry Barrett and Tom Huffman.

Following this an investiture ceremony was held at which Bill Maston was invested by Scout Master Werk Poole and became a member of the Great World Brotherhood of Scouts. Gordon McLellan and Garry Smith were presented with King's Scout badges. King's Scout rank is the ultimate goal for which all Scouts strive, and to attain that rank is a great honour for any Scout.

The Whippoorwill Patrol, under the direction of P. L. Gerald Creighton, presented a comical skit called "Ringworm Circus". Cast was Gerald Creighton, Don Moore, Tom Tate, M. Amadeo, Bill Wiseman and Bruce Fretts.

A First Aid demonstration, explained by T. L. Gordon McLellan, followed. The skit, P.L. Aan Llatt, Harold Babcock Bill Roffey and Bruce Joynt showed treatments for fractures; Bill Vine, Ernie Tack and Murray Thorpe explained the functions of the principal organs of the body; Murray Hogarth and Bill Maston demonstrated artificial respiration; Gerald Marshall gave an exhibition of Semaphore Signalling.

Jack Boyle and Garry Smith directed another skit entitled "Ozark Mountain Boys." Those taking part were Mike Fisher, Tom Tate Gerald Marshall and Myron Mills. Don Elliott led some Scouts and Cubs in a sing-song around a campfire.

A feature of the evening was the entertaining and witty "Information Squeeze" presented by the Scoutmaster and some of the Scouts. It was a hilarious "radio" programme modelled after the famous program "Information Please." The final item was a one-act play, "The Eleventh Scout Law" directed by Werk Poole. The cast included Bill Roblin, Jack Boyle, Murray Hogarth, Alan Elliott, Gerald Creighton, Gordon McLellan and Jack Simpson.

The programme closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

GERMAN CITIES HEAVILY BOMBED DURING PAST WEEK

Severe Loss of Planes by R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.

WEDNESDAY —

The Anzio beachhead, south of Rome, was quiet because the Germans withheld attacks since they were under continual bombing by the Allied Air Force.

The Russian Northern Army was reported pushing on toward Pskov in the Ukraine Russian troops were annihilating the 50,000 trapped Nazis.

Russian peace terms were said to be in the hands of the Finnish delegation in Stockholm.

The Allied Air Forces made another furious assault against German fortifications in Northern France.

The Allies took possession of Green Islands off the Northern tip of Bougainville in the Solomons which completes the conquest of the whole of the Solomon Islands.

THURSDAY —

The R. A. F. and R.C.A.F. dropped the greatest weight of bombs ever dropped on a single target, well over 2,000 tons, on Berlin, on Tuesday night, 45 planes were lost, including 4 Canadian.

Allied forces were reported closing in on the Benedictine Monastery on Mount Cassino. Warships shelled the German lines around Anzio beachhead.

The Russians continued their drive on Pskov in the north and gained about fifteen miles.

An authoritative newspaper in Helsinki implied that Finland is prepared to accept peace terms from Russia.

FRIDAY —

About 800 United States soldiers were lost and an equal number were injured in the recent sinking of a troopship by enemy action. The ship sank in European waters.

Russia completely liquidated the remnants of a German force of 10,000 men in the Korsun area. In the north the Reds continued their drive toward Pskov and a new offensive was launched by the Russians against Vitebsk.

Fighting on the Anzio beachhead was said to be the heaviest to date and in the Battle of Mount Cassino the Germans were fighting bitterly to retain their footing.

Allied armies under the six Japanese ships near Nassau Islands in the Bismarck Archipelago.

Finlands peace terms were reported being studied in Moscow.

SATURDAY —

German troops on the Italian Anzio front were said to be attacking repeatedly but were being thrown back after each attack.

There appeared to be a general withdrawal of German forces from the Northern front in Russia following the capture on Friday of Staraya Russa. The Russians continued to advance toward Pskov.

The United States Navy made an attack on the heavily attacked Japanese naval base at Truk. This opened up the way for much more far-reaching action against the Japs.

In Burma the Japs were reported to have been beaten on two fronts after heavy battles.

A fair Japanese convoy off New Hanover was hit by United States bombers and fifteen of the ships were sunk.

MONDAY —

R. C. A. F. and R. A. F. bombers dropped 2,000 tons of explosives on Leipzig on Saturday night but ice a record number of planes, 79 in adding 18 Canadian aircraft.

Russian forces converging on the Baltic airbase Pskov from three directions captured 114 localities on Sunday.

Allied line made an advance of a mile and a half on Anzio beachhead in a three counter-attack. The object of the fighting was declared to be to straighten the Allies position and the beachhead was considered much more secure at any time.

Admiral Nimitz claimed that the United States attack on the Japanese naval base at Truk cost the Japs 19 ships and 201 planes.

United States destroyers were able for the first time, early Friday, to shell the Japanese base at Rabaul in New Britain and Kavieng in New Ireland.

TUESDAY —

The Russian Army broke into the Ukraine city of Kirvoi Rog, rich iron or ore in the Dnieper bend in a major offensive which may crush Axis resistance west of the Ukrainian Big River line protecting the approaches to Rumania. Further progress was made by the Russians further north in the Smolensk drive on Pskov, traffic key to the Baltic States.

The Allies on the Anzio beachhead south of Rome, not only repulsed fifteen enemy attacks, but successfully counter-attacked.

In the South Pacific Allied aircraft smashed another Jap convoy off Rabaul, sinking ships and bringing down 26 enemy planes.

Two aircraft factories at Brunswick and at least 50 major airdrome and other targets were bombed in Germany by a large force of Allie planes.

Magistrate's Court

In the Magistrate's Court in Napanee on Monday afternoon, Ross Young Millhaven, pleaded guilty to failing to supply adequate shelter for one sow and one young pig and paid a fine and costs totalling $34.80. Constable Taylor in giving evidence in the case stated that following a complaint he and Constable Mordey went to Young's farm which is situated on the bay shore near Millhaven. There they found the sow and pig in an open pen subject to the full effects of the weather. At the time the investigation was made Constable Taylor said the two animals were covered with about an inch of ice, which had apparently coated them the day previous during a heavy snow and ice storm. Other animals on the premises were also provided housing but had found shelter behind a straw stack in the barnyard.

E. H. Jackson, Napanee, pleaded guilty to careless driving and paid a fine of $10.00 and costs.

M. B. Jolson, whose car was involved in an accident with a transport at the intersection of West and Dundas Streets, a short time ago, pleaded guilty to careless driving and paid a fine and costs amounting to $8.00.

THE RUSSIAN NORTH

The drive of the Russian Armies in the Northern sector of their far-flung line has been so rapid, and so devastating that the enemy must be staggering under the blow. For three years the Germans held a line around Leningrad, from which, day after day, they bombarded the one-time capital of Russia. For three years the Germans were at work consolidating that line, and preparing it against counter-attack, until it was considered by them, to be impregnable. Then the inevitable happened. Just as the Germans were preparing to strike out from this line, for Leningrad, the Russians themselves struck first. In less than a month the threat has been removed from Leningrad; hundreds of towns and villages have been won back, the Baltic States are threatened, and Finland is trying to get out from under as quickly and as gracefully as possible.

The Russian armies are now closing in on Pskov, a strategic centre. When this is captured the Germans will be forced to retreat at a rapid pace. The Baltic States will then come into the picture, and the Russians will no doubt force their exit from the war. We who live so far away from the scene of these actions, are apt to think of the towns and cities in the Russian theatre as quite out of our modern life. They are only names— unpronounceable names — to most of us.

Of all the ancient Russian cities, that of Pskov—which will be much in the news in the next few weeks, is one of the most interesting. It is an old city, founded in the Eleventh Century, in the hey-day of early Russian commercial prosperity. It is situated on the Veluki River. It is a walled city and possesses many beautiful architectural remains of the Fifteenth Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries.

It has an interesting history. During the sedition period 1611 and in the middle of the Eighteenth Century, Pskov was ruled by the common people. The landlords, merchants and nobility either fled or perished in the city. In 1917 there were active military movements in the city. For a time Pskov was the centre of a counter-revolutionary movement against the Bolshevik regime. In 1919 it was captured by the Red Army and became a strong Russian city.

It possesses a beautiful Kremlin. The city has a lovely old Twelfth Century monastery with ancient frescoes, typical of that era.

While we regret the destruction of ancient landmarks in Italy, it must not be forgotten that in Russia hundreds of ancient cities with their irreplaceable buildings, have been destroyed. When the Germans leave Pskov, if they are true to the pattern followed in other cities they have evacuated, they will demolish as much as possible of this venerated city. This war, whether in Italy or Russia, in Britain or in Germany, is robbing posterity of some of the most priceless historical buildings. In a total war there is no way out.

GOVERNMENTS IN EXILE

The governments in exile are not going to have their own way when this present world conflagration dies down, or is put out. Naturally it has been necessary to have somebody, some responsible group of men who would represent in the councils of the United Nations the nations that have been overrun by the invader. But, as the days pass and lengthen into years, these men who are living in London may quite conceivably fail to reflect public opinion in the countries from which they come. Five years is a long time. For almost five years the men and women in the Occupied Countries have been face to face with war. They have known hunger, persecution and the crushing spiritual effect of living under the heel of the invader. In that time, mental attitudes are bound to change and political opinions to become modified. It is impossible, even for the best informed, to appreciate these changes. It is not at all unlikely that when peace is made and when rulers are to be chosen, the people who have lived through the occupation will demand that those of their own number shall be given the positions of trust and responsibility.

Signs of this are not wanting. Monday's paper carried dispatches to the effect that King Peter of Yugoslavia was in danger — that an attempt had been made on his life. King Peter is the hereditary ruler of the country. Since the war he has spent most of his time in London, more recently in Cairo. He has his own Minister of Militia in Yugoslavia. But the popular feeling in that country has produced a "Tito", who has become so strong that the official head of the regular army organization hardly counts. The movement seems to represent the people, while the King and his followers represent the select group. If the successes which have attended the efforts of Tito continue, it is not difficult to see that in any postwar situation he and not the government-in-exile, will represent the nation.

What is true of Yugoslavia is true of Poland. The old guard in London are not suffering as those in Poland suffer. They may be quite anxious to keep their old borders irrespective of what is taking place within Poland itself. In the meantime, Russia is forcing the issue. She is in the driver's seat. Naturally, she will demand what she feels is her just due. The Government-in-Exile will have to face this situation realistically. While they are haggling and debating, Russia is busy influencing other Polish leaders, who have been taken as prisoners-of-war. These men will be listened to by the common people much more carefully than those who, having been in London going on five years, still think in terms of the old order.

As it looks to us, the future of the governments-in-exile is none too rosy.

GETTING READY

The Muskoka Tourist Development Association held a meeting at Bracebridge, on Saturday night. At this meeting Premier Drew was present. The newspaper report from Bracebridge, says:

"Premier George Drew told the association that a provincial conference of various tourist resort owners and others interested would be held in Toronto, April 14 and 15, to work out plans. He said that the government could and would invite tourists to visit across the border in wartime but said that there was every reason why steps should be taken to prepare for post-war years.

"So long as we are entrusted with the responsibility of government, I can say definitely that the moment the war ends and travel restrictions are removed, it is our intention to conduct a vigorous campaign in the United States to bring tourists to Canada," he said.

"The Premier also told of an increased appropriation for advertising planned by the government and said that the Toronto conference in April would explore various means of stimulating the flow of visitors."

Here is something in which our county should be interested. Our representative should be at that meeting in Toronto, for we have some of the most interesting and attractive districts in Ontario, to which tourists could be attracted in great numbers, were we as well known as some other tourist areas.

V

ONE QUESTION SETTLED

Premier Drew faced the House with one knotty problem settled. It was quite a difficult thing to know just where to seat Mr. St Clair Gordon. Now the liquor controller has resigned and the position of his seat in the House will be an embarrassment to nobody.

The House opened under unusual circumstances—a new Prime Minister, a new Government, and a new position. Since taking over the reins of power, Colonel Drew has won the confidence of a great many people who were reserving judgment. For a change we have been treated to the sight of a Premier beginning at once to implement his election pledges. There are many more of the twenty-two points of the election platform to be tackled, but the Premier has shown that he intends to keep faith with his electorate.

The C. C. F. is claiming that the Government Leader took over a good deal of their platform, and that the policies which are being enacted by the Government were suggested by them. The average man is not concerned as to who makes the suggestion. What he is interested in is seeing things done. We are living in a day of changes. The conditions under which most of us have been brought up are drastically altered. These conditions make unusual demands of governments. Matters which even a few years ago might have been considered quite outside their ken, now become a major concern. Who first suggested that these changes in policy to meet the new situation doesn't really matter. What matters, and matters supremely is that the new conditions be met frankly, sympathetically, firmly and intelligently. This the New Government appears to be doing, and in so far as it does, this will merit the support of the electorate.

To be sure, with so large a group of advanced social and political students on the opposition benches we may naturally expect that the Government will be kept on its toes. The C. C. F. will undoubtedly support the Government in its advanced labor legislation and its educational reforms and other progressive programmes. On these their attitude must be one of support and constructive advice. They will, no doubt, press for even more advanced social legislation than that forecast by the Premier. This will be all to the good. Nothing but good to the community as a whole, can come of having a progressive government spurred on to ever greater lengths of social legislation by a vigorous and alert opposition.

A PATTERN FOR PEACE IN FAR EAST

BY WILFRID FLEISHER

The decisions reached by Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Cairo are leaking out piecemeal and provide an idea of some of the military moves ahead and a pattern for peace in the Far East.

The Cairo communique itself revealed that the conference had dealt with "future military operations against Japan" as well as with peace plans. It disclosed nothing about the military plans, but it pledged to strip Japan of her conquests of the past fifty years and put her back in her own islands. It promised to return Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores to China and to give Korea eventual independence.

Since the Cairo conference there have been several hints about impending military moves. Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, disclosed that a tremendous offensive against Japan is planned for 1944, and that the United Nations will begin shifting their power from the Atlantic to the Pacific even before the final defeat of Germany. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, in his New Year address to his people, said the coming year "will see the beginning of the decisive struggle on land, sea and air for control of the United Nations will exert the war to Japan's home islands and to all the seas surrounding them."

From these two statements it appears certain that a great offensive will be launched against Japan this year and that the war will be brought to the Japanese homeland. It would appear, too, that the momentum which, however slow it is, is evident in the opening of a "second front" in Europe is considered by the Allies the most urgent military necessity with continued priority over the war in Asia. Recent dispatches from New Delhi headquarters of Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief in southeast Asia, have indicated that the Burma campaign is likely to wait upon developments in Europe. Indications point, therefore, to the great offensive in Asia taking place in the latter part of the year.

There is more information concerning the peace plans considered at Cairo. Supplementing the Cairo communique, the United States Army and Navy Journal" made known recently that all leaders who participated in the Cairo-Teheran conferences had agreed that the United States should acquire the Japanese mandated islands after the war. This means that the United States is to become the main policeman in the Far East by controlling the hundreds of island bases that enabled Japan to embark upon her present war of conquest in the Pacific.

China indicated her willingness to permit the United States to establish a naval base on Formosa, but was not disposed to let Russia and Britain share in it. It may be that the United States will lease the base from China since the Cairo communique pledged that the territory of Formosa would revert to China from which it was seized by Japan in the Sino-Japanese war of 1895.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in his New Year's address, said agreements were reached at Cairo and Teheran on "a common war strategy in Europe and Asia and on the punishment of war criminals in the East and West."

One important problem at Cairo, he said, concerned Japan's form of government after the war. "When President Roosevelt asked my views," he declared, "I frankly replied that it is my opinion that all the Japanese militarist must be wiped out and the Japanese political system must be purged of every vestige of aggressive elements. As to what form of government Japan should adopt, the question can better be left to the awakened and repentent Japanese people to decide for themselves. If the Japanese should rise in a revolution to punish their warmongers and to overthrow their militarist government we should respect their spontaneous will and allow them to choose their own form of government. President Roosevelt fully approved my idea. This opinion of ours is entirely based on the spirit and joint declaration of the United Nations in 1942."

Still unannounced are decisions on the disposition of Hong-Kong, the future of Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies. Whether these issues came up at Cairo has not been divulged.

He Found the Foreign Office a "Bore"

BY SYDNEY BRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Foreign Office's "brilliant young man" has become the German's "notorious Maj. William Jones," who is, as Anthony Eden described him in the House of Commons, "the honorable and gallant member for Lancaster."

The man who is all these things is 32-year-old, six-foot-five Brigadier Fitzroy Hew Royle Maclean, dubbed by Eden as leader of the British military mission to Tito's Yugoslav Partisans.

Maclean found the Foreign Office "a bore" when war broke out so he became a soldier. As a soldier he's had a hair-raising career that reads like Buck Rogers fiction. Yet to the man-in-the-street he was practically a total stranger when Eden, in the parliamentary language that forbids identifying a member by name, revealed him as Tito's adviser.

Only a few knew other than Maclean, the member for Lancaster and weren't much wiser when they heard the name Maclean. He had won a by-election in 1941 and hadn't been in his seat often.

But early this year the lanky young M.P. in army uniform said to an official of the House:

"Look here if anyone wants to get hold of me in the next few months —I don't suppose anyone will bother, but if they do—you might say they can reach me through Barclays Bank in Piccadilly."

Maclean hasn't been in London since. But not long afterwards British army officers were reported arriving Tito as members of his headquarters staff and occasionally leaving a raiding or hit-and-run party.

The Germans really began to fume about these British officers last summer and put a price on the head of the "notorious Maj. William Jones" whom they blamed for their October defeats by the Partisans. They said Jones had been dropped by parachute into Yugoslavia.

Officially it was said only that the Jones' nom-de-guerre hid the identity of a British officer with a brilliant record in North Africa, but London friends identified Maclean as the officer. The parachuting into Tito's stronghold fitted into his character.

When he left the Foreign Office he joined a highland regiment as a private. He qualified as a paratrooper, rose rapidly through the ranks to his commission, then to a captaincy and was made a brigadier before beginning his Yugoslav mission.

In North Africa he led a volunteer British and French force which set off into the desert and was not heard of again for several weeks. Suddenly the mystery column announced, 150 miles behind Rommel, rear in a daring raid on the Nazi general's supplies at Benghazi. A few weeks later Maclean was back at British headquarters. The French gave him the Croix-de-guerre.

ONE OF GERMANY'S PROBLEMS

BY EDWIN SHANKE

Keeping up war production is one of the greatest Nazi problems as Germany prepares to resist invasion.

Destruction by Allied air raids, the need to shift scattered factories to new location, dwindling raw materials and worker absenteeism all contribute to a reduction in output.

Minister Minister Albert Speer and Labor Front Leader Robert Ley constantly hound workers to speed up.

In a New Year's message, Speer warned:

"No one may declare himself satisfied with an 8 or 12 hours of work in a factory. In these decisive months everyone must fulfill in duty to the uttermost."

Ley—travellers say he is becoming more hated — recently declared that because "maintenance of the Germanic peak must be the objective," aid raids no longer could be accepted as an excuse for absenteeism.

In such devastated industrial cities as Hamburg, workers prevented from leaving are obliged to live in primitive quarters and even eat and sleep in factories to keep production moving.

To guard the health of workers, many of whom are short of food, 750,000,000 vitamin tablets are reported being distributed this winter. Several foreign workers are receiving them.

Lack of a steady supply of raw materials possibly forms the weakest link in the German production chain.

A reliable source quoted an important German officer in a high command as saying:

"It's plain that we can't win this war because our opponents have more quarters and ever and sleep in factories to keep production moving.

Report on Nazi Morale

BY LUDWIG POPPER
B. U. P. Staff Correspondent

Draft-dodging, stealing, and food shortages are spreading in Germany, but a home front collapse in the near future cannot be expected unless Allied air raids and Nazi military defeats increase greatly, it is felt in Zurich on the basis of the most reliable and direct information from the Reich.

Against the possibility of an internal break-up there is a terrible fear among the people taht a collapse would bring complete destruction. The Germans are even more interested in the precarious food situation than in the continuing reverses of the Wehrmacht.

Although 60 per cent of the populace definitely is tired of the war, there is no sign anywhere of a subversive movement of any importance according to reports from the German-Swiss frontier.

The food situation is described as "catastrophic" in the large cities battered by the Allied air fleets. It has led to a tremendously booming black market and excessive thieveries and looting. Even the most drastic punishments inflicted by the Gestapo under the whiplash of Heinrich Himmler have lost their effectiveness in curbing these developments.

Frightened by the slaughter on the eastern front, increasing numbers of Germans are attempting to avoid military service by fleeing to neutral territory.

Despite the worst efforts of the Nazi secret police and Joseph Goebbels propagandists, a gloomy whisper ing campaign continues to spread the cracks of disaffection.

Although recent military developments and the spiteful tone of Adolf Hitler's last speech on the anniversary of the Nazi rise to power are reported to have impressed the German people, there is nothing to indicate that these are breaking the resistance power of the home front.

The determination to keep on fighting continues in a big majority of the people and especially within the army. And Adolf Hitler still has the troops believing that they yet will defeat Great Britains and they are convinced that he may salvage the situation in the east by reaching an agreement with Soviet Russia.

Reports from inside Germany say that the will for resistance is very evident in Southern Germany, which has not yet felt the full force of Allied bombers — but that is rapidly decreasing as one travels northward, where bombings have a considerable psychological effect and in the region which is the main objective among Red Army. The will to continue the fight is reported especially weak in Austria and parts of Bavaria where a feeling of complete indifference has set in among the German population.

Thousands of Boxes Packed by Red Cross For Prisoners of War

"Real life savers in the very essence of the word" is the way one preacher of war in Germany recently described the weekly Red Cross food parcel. And according to reports this man speaks for all repatriated prisoners and letters from hundreds of other bear this out.

"What's in the parcels?" you ask. Each parcel contains: whole milk powder, butter, jam or marmalade, plain biscuits, cheese, corned beef, salmon, raisins, sardines, sugar tea or coffee, chocolate salt, pepper, soap. These foods were selected by a committee of experts and represent a per diem allowance of 2,000 calories to supplement the ration issued to the prisoners.

Up to the present time 7,000,000 parcels have been packed and shipped to the Prisoners of War Relief Committee in Geneva for distribution. The burden of expense has been shared by Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Canada although the packing of these food parcels has been undertaken by the Dominion. It is estimated that the cost of each parcel including packing and shipping is about $27. Many of the workers connected with the Red Cross is not paid for as they are volunteers who pack the parcels, receive them from the factory, check the contents, repack and label the parcels and search for lost parcels. Empty tins are collected by friends, all of remuneration is given to the Red Cross.

Canada has 19 packing houses or depots, one in Toronto, one in Windsor, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver. In most of these depots the work is done by women volunteers

ALL NAZI TRICKS NOT GOOD ENOUGH TO HALT BOMBERS

BY ALAN RANDAL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Germans are wracking their brains to find the answer to Britain's heavy bomber assault on the great Reich centres of munitions and supply. So far they haven't discovered the answer but they've been ingenious beyond imagination.

Months ago men who specialize in writing about the air war suggested that sooner or later the Germans would come up with the answer, that Bomber Command's work should be done with all possible dispatch while the Germans still groped about for the antidote.

Meantime, of course, Bomber Command has just gone ahead as rapidly as possible blasting first one centre and then another.

One of Bomber Command's high authorities asked recently whether he thought the Germans might find the answer to the heavy bomber assault, replied that it was conceivable the Germans might do just that. Then he added: "By what time we'll probably have something new for them to work on."

That's how it is with Bomber Command — tactics are always changing.

And at the same time that is how it is with the German defences which have been transferred almost entirely to the west to meet the aerial assault from Britain with the greatest possible number of night fighters. One authority recently suggested the German night fighter strength may have been reduced on the Russian and Italian fronts to little more than a handful of planes in order to give increased resistance in the west.

The variety of the enemy's methods at defence was well illustrated during two recent raids on Brunswick. And at the same time, the enemy,—by calling into use every kind of explosive, projectile, bomb and rocket has acknowledged numerical inferiority in the air.

Our bombers must now fly through a barrage of rocket-fired bombs, aerial anti-aircraft fire, fighter-dropped flare paths, webs of wire chaser bombs and much increased anti-aircraft fire.

But the attacks struck at the Achille's heel of every war-weary German—his home and his stomach.

The Germans are not starving but what they eat doesn't leave them satisfied. After the recent raids it has become increasingly difficult to obtain supplies of bread and potatoes, the German staples.

Within the last while meat has become difficult to obtain in Northern Germany, and margarine and other butter substitutes also are scarce. Distribution is becoming spotty.

The difficulties of evacuating and disposing of the homeless and providing for essential workmen have been magnified. Eastern and Southern Germany and Austria are packed with homeless evacuees. As many as possible are being sent to the occupied countries, but poor transport and food supplies complicate such moves.

SUDETEN GERMANS SINGING A NEW TUNE

Residents of home-rocked Berlin, Frankfurt and Hamburg attend the only Germans who are beginning to sense the "marked face" theory.

A Czech Press Bureau release based on evidence obtained from young war prisoners who were forced into the German army and later captured by the British on the Mediterranean front, described Gestapo chief Karl Hermann Frank, of Czechoslovakia as "extremely disliked."

The prisoners report that Sudeten Germans in battle-dress, which is the term part of the Bohemian Protectorate that has been incorporated into the Reich now are accusing Czechs around them they "have nothing in common with Nazism and realize how favourably they were situated in the republic." In this way, Czech prisoners say, they hope to be saved from any kind of retaliation.

The account also relates some details of "everyday living under the German protectorate," based on the their evidence by Czech war prisoners.

In the town of Brunn, high school students saw their campus turned into slaughter grounds drills when Nazi storm troopers carry out public executions in the school courtyard.

In Czech prison camps, stuffed men gravel in the mud for a crust of bread — 30,000 Czech prisoners huddle in the rain in a small open courtyard with no shelter but the rags of their own clothing.

In communities throughout the Sudeten area mothers watch their sons shanghied into the German army, their daughters compelled to serve in the German armed press.

In major Czech towns where the Gestapo has seized most of the wireless sets, the underground press published leaflets containing plans for organized opposition as transmitted by wireless from London.

The Nazis have exploited this method of distribution by circulating false pamphlets and arresting those who do not surrender them.

GOEBBELS HAS QUITE A JOB

BY EDWIN SHANKE

Associated Press Staff Writer

Ever since the beginning of mass air raids on Germany, Paul Goebbels has followed the line that each bomb only hardens German morale a little more.

This constant harping suggests a Nazi hope of trying to induce the Allies to ease the raids on the theory that they are having an adverse effect.

But situations such as these are certainly not morale builders.

1. The serving of 760,000 soup kitchen meals daily after the heavy December raids on Berlin.

2. Thousands of buildings without roofs or windows to keep out the winter cold.

3. The scattering of families in order to escape the hell of the industrial cities, with an estimated 5,000,000 homeless.

Information from those who have travelled in Germany and from various other sources all leads to the conclusion that a German collapse is inevitable for two reasons:

1. German leadership in the long run will not be able to manage the problem of evacuation and provide for the increasing number of homeless.

2. Inability to transport foodstuffs.

Until the heavy bomber raids began it did not seem as though the German home front ever could crack.

BITTER BATTLES STILL TO COME

BY DeWITT MACKENZIE

Field Marshal Karl Von Runstedt, commander of German forces in Western Europe and one of the outstanding soldiers of our time, manages to convey the impression of a great faith in Germany's destiny in his quiet statement that he is prepared for the coming Allied invasion and awaits it calmly.

There was no guttural Hitlerian shouting as the Marshal told simply how the Nazi anti-invasion defences include large-scale ground mining arrangements for flooding big areas and "anti-tank obstacles and walls of more diversified than in the Maginot Line." The German reserves, he said, are so grouped that they can launch quick counter-attacks.

Maybe von Runstedt is bluffing when he says there will be "no withdrawal in my field of operations." However, I see no reason to doubt his sincerity. He hasn't outlined any defensive measures which are at all unlikely, for even the widespread flooding was used extensively in western Europe in the last war.

He means business. We should be asking for trouble if we didn't recognize this and realize that the invasion easily may produce a conflict which will far exceed in violence anything this or any other war has seen.

However, von Rundstedt seems to have stretched a vital point when he said that Hitler's Atlantic Wall can't be outflanked by invasion.

It's outflanked already before the invasion has started. It's outflanked by the vast underground army of Frenchmen and men of other nationalities of the occupied zone who are all set and waiting for the invasion day.

That's the Allied "secret weapon" and it may prove to be the most destructive in our armory. The units of this army will be everywhere behind the Germans, in their midst on their flanks.

In France alone the underground army runs into many millions who are organized and are kept in touch with the Fighting French leaders in Algiers by wireless men. These leaders carry on ordinary occupations in the daytime and perform their patriotic tasks under cloak of night. They plan and train for the future. They carry out sabotage against the enemy. Its dangerous work, a fact which Nazi firing-squads proclaim grimly each dawn.

There's another force in France, better organized and more formidable than anything of the sort the Nazis have encountered. This is separate from the civilian underground army and is composed of former officers and men of the disbanded French army — one of the world's most powerful fighting machines.

These trained soldiers don't engage in the ordinary sabotage, but are being kept under cover for the invasion day. One of their big jobs will be to seize and hold strategic points for the invading forces — an invaluable service which may turn the scales.

DORLAND

Dorland, Feb. 19 — Winter seems to have really settled down at last. It is quite like old times for the Christmas roads to be bordered by snow for days. The thermometers all took a swift drop last night, some registering as low as 20 degrees below zero.

Mrs. Russel Cousins presided at a meeting of the Women's Association, held at the home of Mrs. H. John last Wednesday afternoon. Plans were get under way for a social function to be held in March, instead of the regular meeting.

Mrs. Cicely Ballard's burial, which was injured when she fell on the icy walk in Napanee some weeks ago, is not improving as her friends would like to see.

Quite a number are taking advantage of the snow to haul logs to Mr. Harold Mercer's, where McFarlane's saw mill will operate.

2ND TYENDINAGA

2nd Tyendinaga, Feb. 21 — A Township snow plow was called out last week for the first this winter to clear our roads of the first real snow storm of the winter.

Mr. Murney Whiteman spent a few days last week with his brother in Marlbank.

Mr. Lorne Lazier is on the sick list.

Mrs. Anna Kimmett received word last week that her grandson, Major Harry A. Gorman, V.C., attached to the U.S.A. Army Medical Corps, arrived safely overseas.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter King (nee Doris Kimmerly), a ton at the Campbell Nursing Home, Napanee. Congratulations.

Opl. Geo. Brown, stationed at I.T.S., Belleville, spent the past week end at the Whiteman home.

Mrs. Elma Starr, of Belleville, spent the week end with her mother here.

Miss Gwen Kimmett spent the week end with her father, Mr. C. H. Kimmett, Roblin.

Trinity Women's Evening Auxiliary Valentine Tea

The Women's Auxiliary of Trinity United Church held its annual Valentine Tea in the Sunday School Room, February 16th. Miss S. Shorey, President ,received the guests, assisted by Mrs. J. D. Mayhew and Miss E. Parks.

The Tea table was very attractive with lace cloth, large silver service at each end, and red table centre flanked by four tall red tapers. White table covers and red candles in silver holders decorated the small tables.

During the afternoon four ladies poured tea, Miss D. Casey, Miss B. Hawley, Mrs. W. A. Ashley and Mrs. E. J. Corkill. The tea assistants were the members of the Auxiliary, Mrs. W. Hodgston and Mrs. R. Loyst were in charge of the cooked food table.

Miss R. Graham and Miss C. Fellows reported that a very gratifying sum had been realized.

Former Hawley Resident Passes

Word was received in Bath Thursday afternoon announcing the death in Brantford, of a former well known and respected resident of Hawley, in the person of Mrs. Norman R. Garrison, in her 73rd year. She was the daughter of the late James Meyers and Agnes Green and was born in Lennox County, where she resided until twenty-three years ago, when she moved to Brantford. Mrs. Garrison was a member of Wellington Street Church, Brantford, also a member of the choir, and took an active part in all church work.

Those left to mourn her loss are her husband, Norman R. Garrison, and one daughter, Mrs. Ford Papple, of Brantford Ontario, also a granddaughter, Mrs. Hugh Martin of Toronto, and one grandson, James Papple of Brantford; two sisters, Mrs. Sam Parks and Mrs. Arthur Galt of Bath, Ontario.

The funeral service was held on Sunday, February 13th, from the Beckett Funeral Parlors and interment was made in the Farrington Burial Grounds, Brantford. Rev. M. J. Aikens of Wellington St. Baptist Church, and Rev. F. R. Hendershott, of Wesley United Church, officiated and the service was largely attended by many friends and relatives from Napanee, Kingston, Kitchener and Windsor, Ontario. A profusion of floral tributes testified to the esteem in which Mrs. Garrison was held.

ANNUAL MEETING ALICE L. HARSHAW I. O. D. E. CHAPTER

The annual meeting of the Alice L.Harshaw Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held Friday evening, February 18th, in the Historical Hall, with the Regent, Mrs. M. Owen, presiding.

Very gratifying reports were presented for the year's work. The following articles were completed and turned in: 87 pairs socks, 4 sweaters, 2 scarves, 10 caps 5 baby sweaters 5 bonnets, 5 bootees, 1 pair mitts, 10 nightties and 35 diapers.

The secretary, Mrs. J. F. Cook gave a resume of the activities of the Chapter, during the year.

The Regent, in her report, expressed her appreciation of the co-operation she had received from the officers and members, and also extended special thanks to the U.E.L. Chapter for its kindness in so generously providing wool and materials for war work.

During the year two successful dances were sponsored by the Chapter, and the Navy League Tag Day was convened with most gratifying results.

The Chapter filled 17 ditty bags, and sent two barrels of apples and $10 worth of cigarettes to the officers and crew of the H.M.C.S. "Napanee" Also four national appeals were met with a donation of $5.00 to each.

During January, the Alice L. Harshaw Chapter and the U.E.L. Chapter worked together for the Chapter and Libraries campaign, which is continuing.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

Hon. Regent—Mrs. D. R. Hall.
Regent—Mrs. M. Owen.
1st Vice-Regent—Miss Jean Gilbard.
2nd Vice-Regent—Miss Lois Campbell.
Secretary— Miss Ruth Graham.
Educational Secretary—Mrs. Arthur Valleau.
Echoes Secretary — Miss Muriel Hunt.
Standard Bearer — Miss Isobel Sutherland.

RUSSIA'S MEDICAL SERVICES EXPAND DESPITE WAR

BY G. A. MITEREV
Commissar of Health, U.S.S.R.

The past period of the war shows that in spite of the great number and great character of wounds received by our men in battle, results obtained through medical treatment have returned more Soviet service men to the ranks than in all previous wars.

Hospitals coming under the supervision of the People's Commissariat of Health and the chief medical corps administration of the Red army return to the ranks more than 70 per cent of all wounded.

The period likewise shows that the mortality rate in both the hospitals under the People's Commissariat and the Army administration was several times less than during the war of 1914-17. In hospitals of the People's Commissariat ,the figures stood, in fact, at just a little over one per cent.

Successes obtained by Soviet medical workers in the treatment of wounded has made it possible to lower the mortality among men suffering from wounds in the thorax, in the region of the spinal cord and face and maxillary wounds three times.

In the Great War, more than sixty per cent of those wounded in the limbs had to have their arms or legs amputated. Now this figure has been reduced to one-third, and thus tens of many tens of thousands of our fighting men have been saved.

During the last war, such dread complications as tetanus gave an 80 per cent mortality while gangrene in the majority of cases led either to death or amputation. At present, the application of specific serums, both as prophylactics and in the treatment of wounds, has made possible an almost complete elimination of tetanus and a radical reduction in complications arising from gangrene poisoning.

During the Great War, a tremendous number of wounded died from loss of blood. Now however, thanks to methods of blood transfusion elaborated by Soviet scientists, and establishment of a broad network of institutes and stations for blood transfusion, which have given to the front more than 800 tons of blood, we have been able to save the lives of many tens and hundreds of thousands of officers and men of our glorious Red Army.

An extensive network of specialized hospitals has been set up during the war to facilitate the restoration of functions of the limbs, save the sight of our men, restord hearing and, through plastic surgery, smooth away facial mutilations.

The population of our country has been of tremendous help in carrying out the work in the hospitals. The Soviet people have given up their blood and their leisure to the wounded, and surrounded them with the greatest solicitude.

Most direct accomplishment in past years was always the spread of epidemics in a mass among the army and among the civilian population. During this war, however, despite the gigantic scope of hostilities and exceptionally difficult circumstances arising out of the evacuation of inhabitants and troop movements, there have been no epidemics in our country.

The war confronted us with one extremely responsible task — the organization of medical aid to invalids of the war. And we may say that in the majority of cases, men who have suffered for their country Live maintained their working ability and may be employed either at their former trades or for other work in the most varied branches of our national economy.

It has been possible to carry out these tasks successfully because in our country a great deal of attention was given to training medical workers, both before and during the war. Prior to the war, there were 130 000 doctors and half a million junior medical workers in the army. Since the start of the war, over 53.000 doctors and about 100.000 junior medical workers have been trained.

Contrary to custom in the last war the medical service is catering to the civilian population and to children in particular. Such service in fact, has been increased in the republics in the east, and in the eastern regions of the U.S.S.R.

It is particularly gratifying to dwell on the broad scope of solicitude shown by the state during the war in preserving the health of our children. Suffice it to say that thanks to measures effected by our Government, the death rate among children has decreased 23 per cent during 1943, as compared with 1940.

As before, the Stalinst solicitude of the Government for people's health is vividly reflected in the new fiscal year. The new budget for health protection measures shows an increase of 24 per cent. in 1944—from 8.400.000.000 rubles in 1943 to 10.- 400 000 000 rubles. From a total increment of 2.000.000.000 rubles, 1.400.- 000.000 is to be utilized for a restgration of health protection in districts liberated from the invader, and 600.000.000 rubles for an extension and improvement in the medical service to the population in national republics.

— CAIRO — Is It Glamorous Or Not?

BY RUSSELL HILL

The writer of this article has represented The Montreal Star and the New York Herald Tribune in various foreign posts. For three years he has been Cairo correspondent.

Cairo is one of the places that has been most glamorized by this war. It has acquired glamor in the eyes of almost every one who hasn't been there. At the same time it has been acquiring lots of money from all the people who have been there. It would not be unfair to say that Cairo as a city is one of our greatest war profiteers.

The reason is that for the last four years hundreds of thousands of men from the armies of all the United Nation's have been stationed there or passing through there. They have wanted a place to stay, something to eat,, clothing entertainment various kinds of services, souvenirs to send home. All these things the wily Cairenes have been able and willing to supply at a price—their price.

Cairo first began to get its glamor way back around June 10, 1940, when Marshal Graziani launched his grandiose invasion of Egypt's Western Desert. At first Cairo was just scared. While the handful of gallant Englishmen, who were to form the nucleus of the famous Eighth Army, were holding off the invading Fascists with a few dozen light tanks—a few score of guns and an awful lot of sheer bluff and nerve, Cairo was experiencing its first "flap."

A flap is what happens when the official communiques say everything is under control in such a way that everybody knows it isn't, and when the leading citizens call on the rest of the population to remain calm and stand firm tothe last, and at the same time start packing their bags, burning their papers and trying to get tickets to Palestine, Upper Egypt or South Africa.

As soon as the flap is over they start coming back from Palestine, Upper Egypt and South Africa, and more than 800 tons of blood, because Cairo is so hot in the summer time. By winter the flap was over and Cairo was beginning to enjoy being a war capital. G.H.Q. was starting its colossal expansion but it was still possible to walk into Shepherd's Hotel or the Continental and ask for a room without being treated like a man trying to sell brushes in the middle of a depression.

Glamor was added by the dusty warriors in khaki shorts who came in from the desert or "the blue," as it was usually referred to, with tales of amazing victories by small British forces against Italian armies which fell over as soon as they were punched. Most people in Cairo had a very vague idea of what things were like out "in the blue" but they thought it must be very terrifying and very romantic.

Wavell's glamorous campaign was followed by another that Rommel made his alarmingly rapid advance back to the Egyptian frontier. The Greek and Cretan evacuations weren't so glamorous but the summer brought victory—of a kind—in Syria, stabilization of the desert front and the things which really saved Cairo: The German invasion of Russia.

It might be well to explain here that Cairo is composed of two distinct cities: The European city and the native city. All the newly arrived officers tried to crowd into the former, which was mainly on the Island of Gezira in the middle of the Nile, in Garden City, where G.H.Q. was established, and in a small district in the centre of town where you have the big hotels, the restaurants, the smart shops and the banks. The officers would stay in the hotels until they could find apartments, their social life centred around the Turf Club, (bridge, billiards, drinking), the Gezira Sporting Club, (golf, tennis, riding, swimming, drinking) and cabarets (dancing, drinking).

The tens of thousands of enlisted men, even in the best hotels and restaurants out of bounds to them and stayed for the most part in barracks. There was a long list of establishments that were in bounds to them and out of bounds to officers, and they had their own clubs and could use most of the recreational facilities of the Gezira Sporting Club. On the whole, they had a social life of their own and there was practically no mixing between officers and men.

But officers and men agreed in taking "a poor view" of the natives. They saw the dirt, the wretchedness, the ignorance, the diseased condition of the Egyptians and had little inclination even to attempt to understand the Oriental way of life and outlook on life. The most enlightened considered native Cairo as a kind of comic-opera background to the grotesque drama of the African war.

This attitude was encouraged to some extent by the local British-language and French-language newspapers, with their stories of odd Egyptian murders, divorce cases, thefts and swindles. It was hard to take seriously a country where a man could divorce his wife by the simple expedient of repeating three times in the presence of a witness the simple words "I divorce you." Since Egyptians are very excitable, it was usually just a question of time before a man got mad and told his wife she was divorced.

Cairo also experienced its worst flap when Rommel made his advance to El Alamein. For about a week the place was practically deserted. A lot of the people who left were not permitted to return this time. And yet by late summer the place was as crowded and gay as ever. Paradoxically, Montgomery's subse quent offensive and advance across the desert was bad news for Cairo.

The stock market fell, and with every Allied victory it fell further. The end of the Tunisian campaign, the invasion of Sicily, the bombing of Rome ,the capitulation of Italy encouraged the belief that the war would soon be over and shook the Cairo business community to the core. Yet, the military and civil establishments in Cairo were so overgrown that even after the war had moved on. Cairo seemed to stay as full as ever. For one thing, it had become an important political centre with the arrival of the Greek and Yugoslav Governments, which occupied spacious villas on the outskirts of the town.

Yet, it was all too apparent that Cairo was losing its importance as a military centre. There was no longer a front, and that took away lots of the glamor. The Pyramids Conference in November was a kind of last fling for Cairo. For a few weeks it was an important news centre again and buzzed with activity. Now it has been finally forced to concede to Algiers the position of unofficial capital of the Mediterranean. What Cairo does retain is its geographical position as a crossroad of world airways. The routes from Europe, Africa and Asia cross there, and in the post-war world Cairo will, no doubt, continue to be an important air junction. It will also do its best to induce the world to come and admire its glamour.

Canadian Women In Country's Service

Since war began in September, 1939, the women of Canada have put their shoulders to the task of victory with energy and determination. Almost 40,000 have donned uniforms of the services to release men for action. One of every four women employed in making war munitions in Canada is a woman. On the farms in business and industry, in increased governmental staffs and in the many organized voluntary services women have stepped into the breach caused by shortages in manpower.

Youngest of the three women's services, the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service has grown since its inauguration in June, 1942, and its first training class of August, 1942, to a total enlistment of more than 4,546 by the end of 1943. Canadian Wrens are serving at more than 100 naval bases, including Washington Newfoundland and the United Kingdom.

The W.R.C.N.S. program for 1944 includes the recruiting of 1,000 reinforcements in the domestic categories; the administering of educational courses for Wrens so they may leave the service with a broad knowledge of affairs and a sense of responsibility as citizens of the post-war world; plans for the rehabilitation of members of the service, and the adjustment of the Wrens themselves to the navy and their jobs.

During 1943 the first two drafts of Wrens arrived in the United Kingdom, the second one a short time before Christmas. Representing every province in Canada, its nineteen members were posted for duty chiefly in the mail fleet office.

Every week large drafts went to H.M.C.S. Conestaga at Galt Ontario, for their basic training, after which they received additional courses or were posted directly to their new duties with the Royal Canadian Navy in Canada, Washington, Newfoundland or the United Kingdom.

A Wren officer is captain of a training ship and—difficult though to achieve that distinction; another officer graduated from an accounting course is in command of male officers; a Wren is doing medical research for the navy in a guarded laboratory; Wren dietetics officers supervise the food eaten by naval personnel ashore or afloat; a Wren officer instructs seamen cooks at the naval cooking school at H.M.C.S. Cornwallis at Deep Brook, Nova Scotia; a Wren checked all the shipping through the Welland Canal during the navigation season.

The Canadian Women's Army Corps, which was established in August, 1941, and commenced training on September 1st, 1941, reached a peak enlistment of 16,200 by December, 1943.

Because of the ever increasing number of C.W.A.C. personnel employed in the various army directorates at national defence headquarters in Ottawa ,a new barracks recently opened. Known as 48 Company, it is the fourth to be opened in the capital city.

In December, 1943, a further draft of C.W.A.C. members arrived overseas to take over duties as cooks, laundresses, mess orderlies clerks, and stenographers in the United Kingdom.

By the end of 1943 C. W. A. C. members were working at more than 30 trades, including general clerks, stenographers, cooks, transport drivers, draughtswomen and postal clerks. Others are attending courses taking instruction as wireless operators at the Canadian Signals Training Centre, Barriefield, Ontario; a detachment of 24 "Cwacs" in the Atlantic command operated the kinetheodolite ,a new instrument to record anti-aircraft gunfire and to determine errors in aim.

Members of the C.W.A.C. are taking an active interest in post-war planning, and at the officers' training centre at Ste. Anne de Bellevue Quebec, time for postwar discussions has been allotted in the training schedule.

The first women's service organized in this war to release men for active duties, the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) was established July 2nd, 1941, and became integrated with the R.C.A.F. in February, 1942. It was also the first service to send a contingent overseas. By the close of 1943 enlistments totalled more than 16,300.

During the year women entered many new phases of ground staff work. These included the trades of wireless operator radio telephone operator, aero-engine mechanic, airframe mechanic, aircraft detection and aircraft recognition. Airwomen photographers went on station duty; parachute packers at coastal stations learned the work of packing rubber dinghies for sea rescue work; and 6 few women highly qualified for such duty became instructors in wireless and aircraft recognition for both men and women of the service. Others were commissioned as officers in signals, accounts, equipment and educational branches; one was commissioned in the provost branch; and a group of the first operations room clerks who went overseas in 1942 returned to work as officers at operational units in Canada.

In 1942 an initial group of clerical airwomen was posted to overseas headquarters. In January, 1943 cooks, transport drivers, office workers telephone operators and hospital assistants began going overseas in drafts to work in the R.C.A.F. "front line" on stations of the Canadian bomber group. Further drafts sailed almost monthly and later groups included airwomen to work in the signals branch as wireless operators and teleprinters. Officers and a group of photographic interpretation, learning to "read"the results of raids over enemy territory from the photographs brought back by bomber crews.

The ranks of the division in Newfoundland were greatly increased, and a draft went on active service in an outpost station on the Pacific coast.

Women doctors and qualified social workers were stationed in each Canadian command to care for the health and morale of the division. Rehabilitation problems already are being given consideration by officers of the Women's Division in collaboration with R.C.A.F. officers.

By December 2,616 Canadian women were enlisted in nursing services uniforms. There were 2,071 in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, 199 in the Royal Canadian Navy nursing service and 336 in the Royal Canadian Air Force. These include nursing sisters physiotherapy aides occupational therapists, dietitians and home sisters. Their work has taken them into every field where men are training and fighting.

There are 39 women doctors in the armed services, four in the navy, 23 in the army and 12 in the air force.

The war emergency training programme of the Dominion Department of Labour was set up in July, 1940, to augment the number of trained persons equipped to serve in industry. By December, 1943, more than 44,472 women had enrolled for training in both full-time and part-time classes of the industrial schools and plant schools.

Through the women's voluntary services division of the Department of National War Service, many women have found a place where they may serve for the common victory while continuing to care for their own homes. The voluntary service centres in various districts in Canada serve as manning pools for volunteers. Organizations doing voluntary work may apply to them for help.

Clerical work issuing of ration books, salvage, war savings stamps drives, Victory garden surveys, hospital work, day nursery supervision and home hospitality are some of the projects carried on by members of the women's voluntary services on the home front.

Under the Dominion - provincial equal-cost agreement which was drawn up in July, 1942, 22 day nurseries were opening, 19 in Ontario and six in Quebec. An agreement between the Dominion and the province of Alberta is covering the establishment of nurseries in Alberta was signed.

IS IT A RECORD?

Mr. G. M. Taylor, Woodstock, sent a cheque this week for renewal of his subscription to "The Beaver" and with it he enclosed this note:

"This cheque makes us continuous subscribers to The Beaver, for seventy years."

Mr Taylor undoubtedly means that the paper has been going to his and his father's home for the seventy years mentioned.

Frequently we have been told by subscribers that "The Beaver" has been taken by two or three generations of their families.

Roxy Hawley, held a Mother and Daughter Supper Meeting, with an attendance of approximately forty-five.

The tables were attractive with red and white candles and colorful Valentines and a delicious meal was enjoyed. Those in charge of the supper plans were Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Douglas, assisted by the girls and leaders.

The supper was followed by a sing-song, accompanied by Mrs. Pringle, games and charades in which all took part.

Then all gathered in the Sunday School Room for the more formal part of the programme.

Mrs. Elliott welcomed the Mothers and gave a brief explanation of the organization and aims of the Canadian Girls in Training movement. This was responded to by Mrs. Douglas, who voiced the appreciation of the Mothers for the work attempted by C.G.I.T. and expressed their thanks for the evening's entertainment.

The girls, with Miss Roxy Hawley then presented their playette prepared for the occasion, "The Waking Church", which depicted the contrast between the life of our Canadian girls and European girls of today, closing with a challenge to the church.

The program concluded with an offering ceremony when the Annual contribution to the Ontario Girls' Work Board was received and dedicated by the Presidents Mary Barrett and Sylvia Dale, their mothers and leaders.

Swedish Ships At War

When after the invasion of Norway and Denmark, in the spring of 1940, Germany declared a blockade of Swedish ports, a little more than 1,000,000 tons of Swedish shipping was outside the blockaded waters. Of this tonnage, about 600 000 tons subsequently was chartered to the United Nations. However, of this amount, less than a third still was afloat in the early part of last year, most of the ships having been lost in convoy service to Great Britain.

The Swedish tonnage lost so far, including some 50,000 tons seized by the German Prize Court is more than twice that sunk in the World War, and it represents more than one-third of the Swedish merchant marine at the beginning of the present war.

According to the Swedish Royal Board of Trade, the net decrease in Swedish ships was 166 since the beginning of the war of which 77 per cent were more than 20 years old. On the strength of the same authority, under favorable circumstances, Swedish shipping can be expected to recover its pre-war status in 1945.

ROTARY MEMBERS HEAR ADDRESS ON RUSSIA

Members of the Napanee Rotary Club, at their regular luncheon meeting on Tuesday, heard a very enlightening address on "Russia", given by Dr. Gleb Krotkov, Professor of Biology at Queen's University.

Dr. Krotov, who has been at Queen's for the past 13 years, was born at Moscow, Russia, attended school at Dniepropetrovsk, and later graduated from Prague University in Czechoslovakia.

The speaker dealt with the historical background of Russia and traced the development of present day Russia from the time of the revolution following the first Great War. He spoke of the tremendous secret preparations made for the present war, unknown to the world, in industries established back of the Urals. He ascribed the amazing success of the Russian armies to the intense love of country felt by the citizens of Russia.

In speaking of the future, Dr. Krotkov said he considered there has been a decided swing to the right in the policies of the Russian Government, and that, with the changing attitude in Canada toward many soviet problems, there could be a basis of cooperation between the two countries after the war.

The meeting was presided over by W. A. Grange, the convener of the committee on International Relations. D. R. Bell extended the thanks of the Club to the speaker. Among the guests were Mrs. D. R. Hall, Regent of the I.O.D.E., and Mrs. Fred Carter and Mrs. Clarence Reid, who are in charge of the collection of comforts for Napanee's adopted Russian town, Ahtirka.

E. Jin, member of the Rotary Club donated a working tool, which will be sent to Ahtirka.

R. WESSMAN ADDRESSES LIONS CLUB

At the regular meeting of Napanee Lions Club on Monday last Lion Rec. Wessman, of Deseronto was the principal speaker and chose as his subject "Norway" his native country.

Lion Wessman was introduced by Perry Asselstine and was thanked for his instructive address by Lloyd Cooke.

Mr. Wessman briefly synopsized the country previous to the outbreak of war and expressed it with Canada in regard to the seasons and the general climate.

The principal industries of Norway are shipping, farming and fishing. Norway's fleet previous to the war was third only to Great Britain and the United States. The farms are run on a co-operative basis with most of the product controlled by the government.

Mr. Wessman pointed out that Norway's fleet has played a big part in the transport of materials of war to the various fighting fronts and said that though the country was now completely overrun by the Germans the time is coming for a showdown in which Norwegians will play an important part.

Following the address President Everson Humphrey called upon Capt. Andy Egan, who is home from overseas, and who needed no introduction to the club. Capt. Egan is a member of the local club and in his excellent talk, recited the life of the average soldier. Capt. Egan spoke very interestingly in regard to the trials and morale of the troops.

EARL PYBUS ELECTED HEAD FREDERICTON ELKS

Earl Pybus a former resident of Napanee, now residing in Fredericton, N.B. was recently elected Exalted Ruler of the Fredericton Elks Lodge No. 274.

Earl Pybus is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pybus Newburgh Road, Napanee. He was born in Napanee and resided here until thirteen years of age, attending the Ward School. After leaving school he was employed by The Jackson Press as messenger boy. In less than a year he took a position with Stevens Limited in the Housefurnishings Department, where he remained two years then accepting a similar position with the D. A. Shaw Company, and continuing on after the D. A. Shaw's store was taken over by Mr. R. G. Travers, in which position he remained for several years.

Earl had many friends in Kingston and the surrounding district, who will be pleased to hear of his steady advancement, since leaving Kingston. He has been with the Zeller Co. as assistant manager and has assisted in the opening of new stores in Brantford Sarnia, Halifax, N.S., St. John's N.B., and Fredericton, N.B., and at present he resides in Fredericton, New Brunaswick.

The greater part of Eastern Ontario falls into No. 5 meat price zone under Prices Board regulations.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME
She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—fever in blood. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headaches, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared.

V.O.N. PRESIDENT'S REPORT FOR 1943

As President of the local Branch of the V. O. N. in Napanee it is my happy privilege and honor to present to you the following report for the year 1943:

I hope you will bear with me if I repeat anything which has already been given in the other reports.

The Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada was organized in 1897, nearly 50 years ago, by Lady Aberdeen, in commemoration of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. It is a national public health organization, with headquarters in Ottawa. At the present time there are 98 branches throughout the Dominion. Financed on a voluntary basis, its primary object is to provide nursing care for the sick in their own homes. Patients are charged for each visit, and no patient is refused care because of inability to pay.

Miss Dawson from the Central Board, Ottawa, visited our branch in the spring and again in the fall, and was well pleased with the work of the Nurse and also the branch.

Miss Squires of the Provincial Department of Health, Toronto visited our branch in the fall.

In pertaining to the year's work first was the membership drive which was a decided success, and I wish to thank Mrs. Tayler and her excellent committee who so well organized the drive.

Our social evening was a success both socially and financially.

Next the annual tag day. Financial results show clearly the enthusiasm of the Board members.

We had some very eloquent speakers at meetings during the year, which gave us food for thought.

We were all very sorry to see Mrs. Dockey but pleased to know she has a much better position.

We were very fortunate to secure Mrs. Morrison, of Kingston, to take Miss Dockey's place. She is a graduate of the Nobel Davy Hospital, Kingston, and also a graduate of Toronto College. Holds a Sanitary Public Health Course at the University of Western Ontario, London. Before she joined the V.O.N.

To all officers and members of the local branch of the Victorian Order be it officials and unofficial helpers and citizens, striving for the betterment of our community, I thank you for your support, and hope it may continue.

Respectfully submitted,
KATHLEEN C. HUNT
President

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Pte. Howard Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Perry, Napanee, arrived in Napanee last Wednesday on furlough from overseas where he has been with the Canadian Army for the past two and a half years. After spending a short leave in Napanee he will report for duty in Canada for the duration of his furlough.

Mrs. Russell Waggat has received word that her cousin, Martin Cowe, Jr., has returned after a year overseas. Martin is wounded and is in a Philadelphia hospital.

O. H. A. TO MAKE AWARD TO C. W. BUCHANAN

Mr. C. W. Buchanan, County Representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, leaves to-day (Wednesday) for Toronto, to attend the annual meeting of the Ontario Horticultural Association which is being held on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Mr. Buchanan is to be presented with the O. H. A. diploma for effective horticultural endeavour, an honor which his many friends in the county will consider is well deserved.

Mr. Buchanan has been instrumental in the movement to beautify rural school grounds in the county and was mainly responsible for the cleaning up of the old Anglican Cemetery in Napanee and landscaping the grounds around St. Mary Magdalene's Church. At present he is interested in improving the grounds around the Masonic Temple.

RED CROSS NEWS

TREAT GLADIOLUS CORMS FOR THRIPS

Experiments carried out in Ottawa over a number of years, as well as in other parts of Canada, have shown conclusively that the gladiolus thrips can be controlled successfully by dusting corms when they come from storage cellar in the spring and before they are planted. Dusting can be practiced in spite of a clean crop of bloom provided the corms are not planted into clean ground during the summer from heads infested with thrips. The thrips overwinter in the form of minute eggs in the tissues of the corm, spring emergence of small immature nymphs at this time when succulent growth is available for use in numbers. Dusting with W.G. Material, Dust No. 1 Entomological Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, available from experimental farms, costing about 10c per pound, and the experimental plots at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has given excellent results in eliminating thrips from corms. The thrips emerge from the corms in the spring and feed on the young leaves of the plant. Dusting is done in a tight box or bag, the corms to be treated being placed in small amounts at a time with enough material to coat them lightly. It is the corms and not the plants that should be treated with naphthalene. Unless this should be done at least a month before corms are to be planted, the fumes will be absorbed by the roots and the plants will be injured. Naphthalene is absolutely unsuitable for use in connection with W.G. Material Dust No. 1. Entomologists in the Department of Agriculture recommend that corms be stored at a low temperature as much as possible, preferably not above 40 degrees Fahrenheit during the winter months and not above 50 degrees Fahrenheit at other times. Corms may be kept in cold storage at temperatures for shorter periods of time but will also give complete control. Care should be taken to see that storage temperatures do not drop below 32 degrees Fahrenheit as the corms are very susceptible to and easily discolored by frost.

VENGEANCE

Vengeance Committee, Inc. formed in occupied Europe to wreak vengeance on Germans deserting civilians, every district and every village will meet its own Committee of Vengeance. These duels, fairly conducted to the Belgian code duello, are open to the country's citizens as well as to the enemy. When duelling rages, only the patriots intend to escape alive; traitors who try to escape die many.

A MAIN COURSE WITHOUT MEAT

How is the "meat situation" at your house? We must not forget that rationing and shortages can never be used as an excuse for failing to measure up to the family's food requirements.

Meals are built about main course dishes — the vegetables and dessert are planned to round out a meal which takes its character from the main course. We have come to think that the meat must be the item of central interest — and for a very good reason, too. Foods of this type belong in any well-balanced menu as they provide an important part of the protein needed by everyone, every day.

Proteins are needed for the growth and repair of the human body. Proteins are not all alike, and in general, protein made from animal sources is more efficient than that from vegetables—milk protein has all the essential parts. The vegetables richest in protein are dried peas and beans. If you can combine these excellent foods with milk, you will have achieved a protein dish that will worthily substitute for the meat of the main course.

Here's a recipe the family will enjoy eating and that you can serve with satisfaction:

BAKED LIMAS

Two and a half cups dried lima beans, one cup diced celery, two tablespoons chopped onion, five tablespoons chopped green pepper, two diced hard-cooked eggs (if possible), 2 cups milk three tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, one and a half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper.

Wash beans, cover with cold water, and let stand overnight. Add salt, cook till tender and drain. Cook celery in small amount of boiling water till tender. Cook the onion and green pepper in the butter till tender but not browned. Blend in the flour, salt, and pepper and gradually add the milk. Cook, stirring constantly till the mixture is thickened and smooth. Add the beans, celery and eggs. Turn into a greased dish and bake for half-hour in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) Will serve 8.

FROM PORRIDGE POT TO COOKIE JAR

Newly tested in Canada's Kitchen in the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture these cookies get their distinctive flavour from the use of cooked cracked wheat cereal.

CRACKED WHEAT COOKIES

Two tablespoons mild - flavoured fat half-cup sugar, one egg, one cup cooked, cracked wheat cereal (not too thin), one cup raisins, three-quarters cup sifted all-purpose flour to one cup Graham flour, tablespoons pastry flour, half-teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, half-teaspoon of baking soda.

Cream fat, add sugar and cream well together. Add beaten egg, cooked cracked wheat and raisins. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture, stir well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet, about two inches apart. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 deg. F. for 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Makes two dozen cookies.

POLES TO WEAR CRUSADER CROSS

The Polish Army in the Middle East which will one day attack Hitler's South European fortress, will go into battle wearing the cross of the crusaders on their field caps together with the traditional Polish eagle and Army-badge. The permission to wear the crusaders' cross was given to the troops by General Sosnkowski. The Polish Commander-in-Chief has at the request of Father Borkowski of the Salvatora Franciscan Convent in Jerusalem. The Padre stressed the fact that the onslaught of the Polish troops in the invasion of German occupied Europe will be tantamount to a Holy Crusade. The crusaders' cross is the emblem of Jerusalem. It is a big cross with four miniature crosses embossed between its arms across the centre of which appears the word "Jerusalem."

MONTHS OF TERROR

In the four months from October, 1943, to January 28, 1944, the Germans have publicly executed 1,007 Poles in Warsaw. In addition on January 13, 600 more persons perished in the Warsaw ghetto.

During the same time the Germans killed more than 5 000 Poles in other parts of Poland. These gruesome statistics show how freely the Germans are shedding the blood of a nation that refused to surrender. The Germans never will understand the Polish mentality. They imagine that by terror they can succeed in breaking the Polish spirit." They do not realize that the greater the terror, the greater will be the revenge.

SHOO AWAY WASH-DAY BLUES

Hello Homemakers! Clothes were once subjected to such brutal treatment on wash-day that only the sturdiest fabrics escaped the ragbag for very long. Today, homemakers are trying extra precautions with wartime fabrics—this is indicated by the frequent questions asked of The Mixing Bowl. The information on these problems may "shoo away wash-day blues" for others who have been in the same quandary.

What are the proper water temperatures for washing different fabrics? White cotton and linens can stand the hottest water—right up to boiling; colored cottons and linens are the next hardiest in the fabric family woollens and rayons are the babes of the family and should be handled in water of the same temperature as you would bathe your baby — never should they be washed in anything but lukewarm water.

How long do you soak wartime fabrics? Many people make the mistake of soaking their clothes overnight. Twenty minutes is long enough for white cottons and linens. Never leave clothes soaking in dirty water. If you are side-tracked from the job, wring the clothes and resoak in fresh water. Colored fabrics should not be soaked.

Do soaps make a difference today? Decidedly. Rayons, woollens and silks last longer if washed with a mild, neutral soap. Stronger soaps may be used for the general family wash of cottons and linens.

How much soap is needed to do a family wash? Use enough soap but do not be wasteful. A standing suds of two inches is ideal use a measuring cup to find out how much soap is needed, then use the right amount each time to be economical.

Why use water softeners? Gray and dingy clothes may broadcast the need for a water softener. The mineral salts of hard water unite with soap to form curds dirt particles combine with these curds, and these get caught in the fibres. Soap can soften water if you use enough of it, but this method is expensive and unless the rinsing is thorough and the water is hot it is not successful. Better use a water softener.

How many clothes make a load? The manufacturers say 6 to 8 lb. dry clothes make a safe load. For example 2 sheets, 4 pillow cases and 3 bath towels. Overloading not only puts a strain on the washing machine but keeps it from producing perfect results. A safe guide is never put in more clothes than will circulate freely.

Do you advocate rinsing in the machine? Use the electric washing machine if you have one, then rinse it five minutes for the first rinse and two or three minutes for the second rinse. An extra rinse is necessary if the washer is not used.

When and how do you use a bleach? Sunshine will bleach clothes these problems may "shoo away dried out-of-doors. White cottons and linens may occasionally need to be bleached with chemicals in winter time. Mix the bleach with the first rinse water according to directions. Rinse the clothes at least twice after the bleach is used. Silks and rayons should not be bleached as it weakens the fibres.

Will an artificial bleach affect my washing machine? Yes, certain artificial bleaches may have a tendency to pit the surface of the enamel tub. This in time would roughen the surface. Tubs with rust spots showing should not be used for bleaching, either.

What would you do about new fabrics? Read labels carefully. Soak materials in cool salt water for a few minutes—half-cup salt per pail of water. Wash new colored articles separately and as quickly as possible. Dry in breeze.

TAKE A TIP!:

1. Test the safety release on the wringer before you start.

2. Some wringers indicate the pressure for silks and woollens and some for cottons and linens — use the wringer wisely. For wringers without this gauge it is well to make sure that the rollers are not screwed too tightly. A wringer that is too tight may tear the fabric and may lock the rollers and even strip the gears.

3. In order to save the rubber rollers, the pressure should be released as soon as the wringing process has been finished.

4. Remember that oil ruins rubber; take care therefore, not to spill oil on the rubber parts of the machine.

5. Keep the drums clear of lint which accumulates easily. Hose cotton lint should be well drained and kept clean.

6. Wipe the machine off thoroughly, then dry each time.

CAN. RED CROSS URGENTLY NEEDS $10,000,000

The Canadian Red Cross National Appeal for $10,000,000 opens on February 28th when the people of Canada will be asked to contribute just as much as they possibly can to make that objective a certainty.

Coming into the fifth year of a world-wide war, with more Allied countries desperately in need of supplies and comforts of all kinds, The Canadian Red Cross is stepping up production in every department to meet requirements as they come in.

This year there are more prisoners of war. $3,500,000 must be spent on food parcels alone with an additional $1,000,000 for parcels for Allied Red Cross Societies.

Dried blood serum is growing in importance with the advance of our armed forces, and $750,000 will be required to keep this vital service functioning at top speed, as it must.

Hospital supplies and comforts for the Forces require $3,300,000.

With a growing feeling that the war may be coming to a close there is an ever greater need for concentration on Red Cross supplies. The people are occupied countries have been stripped of their possessions. They have literally nothing. With the ending of hostilities Canadian Red Cross will be faced with an extension of her active war services.

Peacetime commitments have been kept up, with regard to nursing and first aid outpost hospitals and public health. To meet any eventuality, Canadian Red Cross must stand prepared.

There has never been a time in the history of Canadian Red Cross when there was a greater need for the all-out support from loyal Canadians. Last year the objective was reached and passed.

This year the need is greater. Canadian Red Cross is the living link between Canadians at home and kin overseas. Keep mercy on the march!

ARMY PAY CHANGES BEING CONSIDERED

Ottawa (CP) — Two changes in the pay and allowances regulations for the Army are under consideration, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Defence Minister, told the House of Commons, last Thursday.

One is some adjustment of financial penalties on soldiers who go absent without leave and later return to duty. The other concerns the case of a soldier's mother who has a husband earning a very small income but is otherwise without income.

In the first instance under the present regulation, the dependents' allowances for relatives of a soldier who goes A.W.L. continue for a period of three months and they continue to receive the pay he assigns them. When he is apprehended or comes back to duty, he is required to pay back to the Government that part of his pay which went to his dependents while he was away, although he himself draws no pay for the period.

Some members termed this a hardship, since it meant that for several months after returning to duty the soldier gets little cash. Mr. Ralston said some representations on the point were under consideration.

The present regulations allow payment of an allowance of $25 a month to a soldier's mother if she is in need providing he also assigns some of his pay. If the mother has a husband however, she may not qualify unless he is fully incapacitated and unable to support her. The Minister said a proposal now under consideration would make the definition of incapacity "less restrictive" so that earning of a small income by the husband would not bar a woman from receiving the allowance.

The discussion took place on the Army estimates and ranged over a wide field with several hours devoted to various angles in pay and allowance regulations.

Some members contended that families should not be made to suffer because of the crimes of soldiers and that allowances should not be stopped when soldiers desert.

Mr. Ralston said he could not see that argument. The basic idea of allowances was the good of the service, to relieve soldiers from worry about their families at home. If they were still relieved of worry and knew their families would be taken care of when they went A.W.L. there would not be much deterrent to that offence.

"If the provision were that a man could demand [illegible] and the dependents allowance would be kept on, I wish to be frank and say that the situation would not be satisfactory."

VICTORIA W. I.

While a storm raged on the outside all was comfortable and cosy inside at the home of Mrs. E. M. Young where the members of Victoria Women's Institute met for their February meeting. The roads were bad but this did not deter the members from attending the meeting in the usual way. With the ice and the crowd All were glad to welcome the secretary back to her duties after an illness of several months. The roll call was answered by every member by giving their favorite flower. Communications and all business were disposed of. The convener, Mrs. Frank McFarlane, and Industries took charge of the program on this topic. Mrs. A. M. Graham gave current events. Mrs. June McFarlane debuted her talents with an instrumental number. The convener presented Queer Questions with tricky answers and Mrs. Kerr with a keen mind was declared the winner and received a prize. Mrs. H. Windover contributed a reading. June McFarlane rendered a pleasing selection of old favourites, on the piano. A paper on the Dehydration of Eggs was ably presented by Mrs. H. Edgar, who pointed out the expansion of this industry and its far reaching results. Mrs. Frank McFarlane conducted a contest. Mrs. Graham winning the prize. The singing of the National Anthem brought another meeting to a close. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

Mr. Austin Fraser Honored by Church At Odessa

Odessa, Feb. 21 — A Mother and Daughter banquet was held in the Hall of G. I. T. Group No. 2 of Odessa Section of the Dominion Council after the regular Dominion Day. G. I. T. was last year in charge of Mrs. Ross Reid and Miss Elsie Vanderwater, and certain members of the G. I. T. Decorations were in the G. I. T. colors, blue and white. On the table were white burning tapers, blue and white paper napkins and favors in miniature. The President, Miss Faye Thompson, presided at supper. by the meeting. Kay Jill Geary, Burnett responding. The toast to the King was given by Mr. Ed. Burnett. Mr. John Rogers proposed the toast to the church. She spoke of the work done each year for the church. The response was given by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth, who stressed the value and need of Church work. Mrs. Clark Bowes led in community singing. An interesting play of a C. G. I. T. meeting welcoming girls from across the sea. A musical number was given by five members, Flora Peters, Nayreen Babcock, Betty Jone, Faye Thompson and Verna Mae Babcock. Mrs. Thompson, one of the leaders, led in an impressive dedicatory service, when the girls placed their offering on the plate as they came in single file to the table. The offering will be sent to the Ontario Girls' Work Board. Mrs. Charles Huff, one of the leaders, was accompanist for the evening.

A Valentine tea was held on Thursday evening in the diningrooms of the United Church, with a good attendance. The affair was sponsored by the group of the Women's Association, led by Mrs. Joe Vrooman. During the evening a presentation was made to Mr. Austin M. Fraser, who has been Treasurer of the United Church for a long period of time. Mr. Rob. McFarlane read the address and Mr. John Rogers made the presentation of a Waterman pen and pencil set. Mr. Fraser made a suitable reply.

A very successful euchre and dance was held by the congregation of St. Mary's Church on Friday evening in the Municipal Hall.

Mrs. Hilton Frink, of Napanee, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Burley.

Mrs. John Lawlor spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Rashotte, at Cornwall.

Mrs. Charles Dewey, of Camden

MORE BOOKS FOR THE SERVICES

The I.O.D.E. Chapters have received instructions to keep the campaign open for "More Books For The Services." Types of books wanted are books of adventure, detective stories, Western stories, current fiction and non-fiction by well-known authors, and some classics. There are special requests for books by John Buchan, Eric Night, Thorne Smith "Topper" and H. V. Morton.

The following books are urgently wanted.

"The Flying Yorkshireman" by Eric Knight.

"I Saw Two Englands," by H. V. Morton.

"Sick Heart River," by John Buchan.

"Wuthering Heights," by Emily Bronte.

Anyone having books to give, please phone Mrs. C. McLellan, Camps Libraries Convener, or leave books at headquarters, Campbell House Block, any Friday afternoon.

The demand for books for camps and ships is constant, and good books are greatly appreciated by the young men and women in the services. You are urged to sacrifice some of your best books for them. Do YOUR part as they are doing theirs. Give and give again.

Until May 31st, the D preserves coupon is gobd for 40 fluid ounces of maple syrup. From June 1st its coupon value drops to 24 ounces.

Ration books of consumers who die must be surrendered to the Ration Administration or to the undertaker in charge.

WHERE RELATIONSHIP MAY BE A BOON OR A BANE IN WARTIME

War is nothing new in New Guinea. The natives there may consider the bombs and guns of the Australians Americans and Japs something of a novelty, but the general idea of subduing the other fellow has long been almost a part of their everyday life.

Native wars in the interior plateau region, which is outside white man's government control, are fierce and frequent for here some two or three hundred thousand woolly-haired, dark skinned natives still use stone axes and settle their arguments with arrows and lances.

In effect, the native population is divided into many small "countries." Two or more "countries" become allied against each other when disputes arise leading to war, so that armies up to one thousand men may be involved.

In peacetime, people of these different "countries" dance and feast together, and intermarry. This leads to complications when war comes, making certain tribes necessary. A man is expected to fight against his brother-in-law, but first cousins are given neutrality. In spite of rules for fighting native wars, records indicate taht half the deaths of both men and women are due to war.

Certainly war is nothing new in New Guinea!—C.N.

YESUVIUS

Letters from the Italian front tell of the awe and wonder with which our soldiers, after a ten-mile stretch from Naples, climb the 4,000 feet to the summit of Vesuvius, the unsleeping volcano. From the crater steams a deadly visible vapor, yet on the sides of the mountain grape vines flourish.

This modern combination of peaceful plenty with Nature's own abiding violence makes credible the astonishing fact that until the first recorded eruption Vesuvius was not known to be a volcano. It was thickly forested on its summit was a temple to Venus and another to Hercules, and the area was the centre of a great population.

But on an August day in A.D. 79 the top of the mountain was suddenly blown off, the sky was darkened Pompeii was buried in white-hot ash, and Herculaneum overwhelmed by torrents of boiling mud. Inhabitants of the surrounding towns and villages thought the end of the world had come.

But Nature repairs her ravages, and with the buried cities out of sight and out of mind, people, forgetting what had happened, returned to sites about the mountain, so that when the next great eruption occurred, nearly four centuries later, 12,600 lives were destroyed. Still there was no lava-flow such as issues from other volcanoes. The first known flow of Vesuvian lava came in a year memorable for England—1066, year of the Conquest.

There have been many eruptions since then, but still the vines creep back and, nourished by the very lava, yield their increase to bedeck the outer wall of a furnace that never burns out, a peril that might start afresh at any moment.

Gallon containers are being made available for the normal marketing of maple syrup, this year.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Will it be necessary for me this year, as last, to count the number of my jelly jars and estimate my requirements of canning sugar?

A. No, all such mathematical calculations are out this year. Every consumer will be allowed ten pounds of canning sugar by use of the first ten spare F coupons becoming valid on dates to be announced.

Q. As a "war bride" newly-arrived in Canada, how should I go about getting a ration book?

A. Please apply to your Local Ration Board which will deal with your request.

Q. I was asked to pay $3.50 a quarter-cord for mixed deadwood with a further 50c for delivery a short distance. Is that price according to the ceiling?

A. No, your supplier is trying to overcharge you for this wood, the price being definitely above the ceiling fixed for your area. Moreover, delivery is included in the maximum selling-price authorized under the Fuelwood Order.

Q. How can I tell if imported fresh fruits and vegetables are being sold at retail under ceiling prices?

A. These prices are obtainable at your office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and retailers are, moreover, required to display the size or weight and price of the article sold.

Q. Do I still need to turn in a used metal tube when I buy tooth paste?

A. No, that order has been rescinded on account of the small amount of tin now being incorporated in new tubes. Consumers are asked however, to continue to turn in their old tubes wherever possible so that their tin content may be recovered.

Q. When there seems to be such a surplus of meat in this country, why is its rationing continued?

A. Such rationing is continued for the reason that it was originally imposed — to make any surplus available for consumption in the United Kingdom. At the moment, there is a temporary transportation difficulty which is leading to some congestion here. Should it happen that any type or grade of meat cannot be taken by the United Kingdom, consideration will be given to ensure that any surplus in such types or grades shall be made available for domestic consumption.

Q. Are any meat coupons good for the purchase of canned salmon?

A. No, only those which have validity at the time of purchase.

Q. Can I throw away my No. 3 ration book when the No. 4 book is issued?

A. Not if you wish to become eligible for canning sugar next summer, as the first 10 spare F coupons in the No. 3 book are to be used for that purpose.

GRACE CHURCH W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Grace United Church was held in the Sunday school room of Trinity Church on Monday afternoon and in the absence of Miss Mata Mellow, president, Mrs. W. J. Winter presided. In the absence of Mrs. Arthur Valleau, recording secretary, her duties were taken by Mrs. Clarence Denison. Mrs. Percy Vine, treasurer, presented her report which showed a balance on hand. Miss Emma VanAlstyne, temperance secretary gave a short reading. Mrs. Clarence Denison, corresponding secretary, read letters from the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. S. Booth's group had charge of the worship period and those assisting were Miss Emma VanAlstyne, Mrs. W. F. Barrett and Mrs. H. W. Vine. The offering was dedicated by Miss Emma VanAlstyne. The study book chapter was presented by Miss Hazel VanAlstyne and the meeting was brought to a close with the Mizpah benediction.

COOKING CLASS AT NAPANEE BRANCH WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A very interesting cooking class, conducted by Miss Rorke of the Department of Agriculture in Toronto, was held under the auspices of the Napanee Branch of the Women's Institute, the past week. Mrs. Haggerty, president of the branch, introduced Miss Rorke. The first day was given over to Meat Cookery and Meat Substitutes, the second day to Vegetables, and the last day to Deserts.

The demonstrations were well attended, with an average attendance of 34. Miss Rorke demonstrated several dishes, which were very economical and in keeping with war time.

The door prizes were won by Mrs. Campnay, Mrs. H. Seymour and Mrs. E. I. Boyle.

Mrs. Boyle, on behalf of the Institute presented Miss Rorke with a personal gift, which was suitably acknowledged.

DESMOND Y. P. U.

On the evening of February 14th, the Desmond Young People's Union held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keech. The president, Ethelbert Ramsay, opened the meeting with a call to worship and use of a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The roll call read by the secretary, Alvin Drew, was answered by 28 members. The meeting was then handed over to the convener, Mary Purcell, who opened her part with a hymn. Readings were given by Miss Purcell, Norris Drew and Mrs. Frank Switzer. Fred Switzer led in Bible discussion and a hymn. A piano solo was given by Janet Huffman, after which Mary Purcell read a newspaper "The Desmond Daily News. A piano duet was given by Mary Purcell and Mrs. Howard Bell.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction and the National Anthem. Recreation and lunch were enjoyed by all.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On Friday evening, February 11th, sixty-five friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Windover to spend a social evening with them and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Denison before they left for their new homes in Napanee. Mr. Jim Kennelly read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Windover and Mr. and Mrs. Denison:

We your friends and neighbours have gathered here tonight, for a social evening before your departure for your new homes. Your place in the church and community will be hard to fill. In time of trouble you have been among the first ones to come to our aid and were willing to stand by us through it all. In our community enterprises such as the Red Cross and our social activities, your efforts have been untiring and we always found your homes open and a welcome awaiting us. We are pleased to know that although you are leaving our immediate neighborhood you will all be near enough that contact with us will not be completely severed. We ask you to accept these gifts as a token of the esteem in which you are held and as a reminder of your friends in the community.

In closing we all join in wishing you the best of everything and the happiest of lives in the new sphere which you have chosen and while you make new friends, may you not forget your old friends of Selby.

(Signed) on behalf of the community: Frank Gray, E. A. McQuaig, Arthur McLeod, Fred Jackson, Stanley Sexsmith, Jim Kennelly.

To Mr. and Mrs. Windover were presented a beautiful bedroom chair, a bridge lamp and a pair of pictures; to Mr. and Mrs. Denison, each a chair and a mirror, and to Harold and Betty a chair. The Red Cross and Institute also presented Mrs. Windover with a Silex Coffee Maker.

DARWIN'S MISTAKE

Three monKeys sat in a tree,
Discussing things as monKeys do to be.
Said one to the others, "Now look at you two.
There's a certain thing we should be true;
That man descended from monKeys we know!"
The very idea is a shocker!
No monKey ever deserted his monK
Starved her babies and refused to work
For a meal!
And you've never seen a monK in a bunK
To leave her home with the children alone
Or pass them on the street with a snub
From one
Till they scarcely know whether monK or mother;
And another thing you'll never see
A monK build a fence 'round a cemetery
Except
And let the cocoanuts go to waste
Forbidding all other monKeys to taste
Why if I'd put a fence 'round the cocoanut tree
Starvation would force you to set me free from me!
Here's another thing a monK won't do
Go out at night and get drunK
Or use a gun or rights of way
To take some other monK's life away
Yes, man descended, the ones we see
But brother, he didn't descend from me!

ncerning questions pertaining to Mr. Drew made the following ment: "The Minister of Labor bmit several measures for the vement of labour relations and general working conditions about the Province. One of is a bill which will limit the of work to forty-eight hours e and assure an annual holiday week with pay to commercial industrial employees. Extensive dments to the Factory Shop Office Building Act will greatly provisions for the safety, and welfare of employees, and the hours of employment for young girls and women. Sup- on of the conditions of employ- for young people in certain places other than factories will pro- vide an additional check on child labour and juvenile delinquency. The Workmen's Compensation Act will be broadened to afford protection to those suffering from various types of industrial diseases. The field of oc- cupations covered by the provisions of this Act will be widened.

Reviewing the highway problem and plans covering Hydro, Mr. Drew stated: "The Department of High- ways has completed extensive sur- veys throughout the whole Province and has completed plans for a four- year postwar programme which can be started at any time. The scope of these plans may be judged by the fact that they will involve a total of 27,000,000 man days for their com- pletion. Current expenditures have been curtailed and the work during the coming season will consist main- ly of maintenance. Capital expendi- ture will be confined to the surface- ing of roads serving military camps, airports and war industries, and to the completion of some bridges on which work has already been start- ed.

"Since the beginning of the pre- sent year, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission has brought into effect a comprehensive revision of the charges for rural service and has adopted a uniform rate for all areas of the Province formerly served by 120 rural power districts. The amal- gamation of these 120 districts into one district with one rate marks the greatest single step forward in rural power distribution since its inaugu- ration. Under the new schedule pro- vincial grants-in-aid will be of the most benefit to farmers in sparsely settled areas where the installation or electrical service is most costly. Of a total of 135,000 rural customers, 97 per cent. will benefit in varying degrees, depending upon the extent of their use of electricity. The total saving to rural customers affected by this re-adjustment will be more than half a million dollars.

"Legislation will be introduced to amend the Power District Service Charge Act so that the Hydro-Elec- tric Power Commission will be pro- tected by the Government against any loss which may result from the combination of the service charge to farmers and the reduction of service charge to industrial customers.

With the consent of the co-operat- ing Hydro-Electric Municipalities the three Southern Ontario systems, namely Southern Georgian Bay, Niagara and Eastern Ontario will be amalgamat- ed into one system to be called the Southern Ontario System. The re- sulting economies will permit a re- duction in power charges. With the consent of the municipalities the cost of power to municipalities will be limited to a maximum of $39.00 per horse power within this system.

MEAT RATIONING TEMPORARILY LIFTED

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced on Tuesday night that meat rationing and the ban on serving meat in public eating paces on Tues- days, were lifted temporarily.

Ration holders were advised to retain their meat coupons because they may be required again when the present sur- plus of meats is ended.

L. & A. AGR. SOCIETY POT LUCK SUPPER ENTERTAINMENT

The members of the Lennox Agri- cultural Society and their wives held a "Pot Luck Supper" and entertain- ment last Friday evening at the ban- quet hall of Argyll Lodge No. 212 I.O.O.F. at which Mr. R. C. Banbury, Brighton, Agricultural Representative for Northumberland County, was the guest speaker.

About 100 people attended the sup- per and enjoyed the splendid enter- tainment which followed. Mr. Ban- bury gave an address based on Kip- ling's poems on "The Land", who was both scholarly and interesting.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. F. H. Henderson, District Represent- ative to the Ontario Fair Board, and thanks were expressed to Mr. Ban- bury by Mr. Herbert Aylsworth.

In the absence of Mayor Dr. R. Hall, his wife extended a welcome to the guests and Reeve Daly also spoke briefly. Mr. L. H. McCaul, president of the Lennox Agricultural Society, presided as chairman for the evening.

Musical entertainment included community singing led by Walter Blakely and vocal solos by Corporal Harvard of the L.F.S. at Downsview, Mr. C. W. Buchanan, the County Representative of the Department of Agriculture was unable to be pre- sent because of his attendance in Toronto as a guest of honor at the annual dinner of the Ontario Horti- cultural Association at which he was presented with a diploma for valued services in the interests of horticult- ure.

SERIOUS FIRE LOSS IN BUSINESS BLOCK ON MARKET SQ., NAPANEE

Damage Estimated at Nearly $100,000

A fire, which caused damage esti- mated at $100,000 and turned eight families seven businesses and one church out of their quarters, broke out about 1:30 a.m. last Sunday, in Francis Bakery on the north side of the Market Square in Napanee.

The buildings which are construct- ed of brick and extend about half- way across the eastern section of the north side of the Market Square, were badly damaged by fire and water. The contents of the Francis Bakery, store and dwelling were completely destroyed but occupants of the other premises were able to remove most of their possessions and in some cases everything was saved.

The fire broke out about 1:30 a.m. somewhere at the rear of the ovens in the Francis Bakery and was first noticed by Mrs. Francis, who had retired a short time before. Mrs. Francis immediately called the fire brigade, but before she could do any- thing else her apartment was so filled with smoke she could not re- main in it. Mrs. Francis, when she left her bedroom, took a hand bag in which was a large sum of money, but while going down the stairs she dropped the bag and it was appar- ently burned with everything else. A cash box containing another large sum of money was salvaged later, but the money was charred beyond redemption.

For some time after the outbreak of the fire it was believed it could be confined to the Francis premises, but gradually it spread through the roof and was soon out of control. Five streams of water were played on the blaze but the Napanee fire- men were unable to handle the situ- ation alone and a call was put in to the Belleville Brigade, which re- sponded with some mechanized equip- ment and several firemen. At 8.30 in the morning the fire was under control, but during the whole of Sunday, smoke continued to issue from the wrecked buildings.

The contents of the buildings which were removed were taken to the Town Hall and the Armouries. The Red Cross rooms were opened and mem- bers of the Society were prepared to give assistance to the families which had been turned out of their homes. Mr. Jack Anderson offered the Gib- bard Recreation rooms as a shelter for the families.

The business places burned out were: Burkitt's Radio Service; Fran- cis Bakery Vine's Electric Shop, No- lan's Cameras Supply, Mower's Barber Shop, Matt. Taylor's office, and Lee Jue's Laundry. The apartments were occupied by John Burkitt and his aunt Miss Sanderson, Mrs. E. Plaine and children, Mr. Ronald Galt, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Francis, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Francis, Mrs. R. B. Allen, Mrs. Katherine Powell and Lee Jue. The Pentecostal Mission, of which Mr. Rabbie is the pastor, occupied the ground floor of Mrs. Allen's property.

Owners of the properties are: W. W. McCabe, A. J. Francis, Percy Vine, Mrs. R. B. Allen, W. B. Nolan, and Miss Helen Grange.

Arrangements are already being made by some of the property own- ers to put their buildings back into usable condition.

The Bread was informed that no plans had yet been made for the re- building of the Francis Bakery but at the present time bread is being supplied by several bakeries in the district. Francis Bakery has large contracts for airports and military camps in the district, and the bread now which is the largest of its kind in Eastern Ontario, supplies bread for a large area of the country for hundreds miles around Napanee. Over fifty men were employed by the Francis Bakery alone.

The Town Council of Napanee is soliciting cash donations and donations of furniture and clothing to assist some of the families which were burned out.

H. A. Carscallen Died at Enterprise After Short Illness

H. Allan Carscallen, a well-known resident of the village of Enterprise died Monday morning, February 28, after a few days illness. He was pro- minent in every community enter- prise in the village and was very active in the United Church, where he had been choirleader for a num- ber of years. He was secretary of Victoria Lodge A.F. & A.M. of Enter- ville and was a past district deputy grandmaster of Frontenac Masonic district.

Mr. Carscalen is survived by his wife and one son, Douglas, a student at Queen's University and a graduate of the Napanee Collegiate.

His funeral is being conducted this afternoon (Wednesday), under Ma- sonic auspices.

Ambrose Way, Thos. S. Howes Stew- art Stinson.

Canvassers for the Village of Bath and the Township of Amherst Island will be announced later.

ALL GIBBARD GIRLS BACK ON THE JOB

On Thursday of last week a small group of girls from the Gibbard plant appeared on the streets about 10.30 in the morning. A reporter of The Beaver interviewed the Manageress of the Company on Monday for parti- culars. The Company advised that all they had about seventy girl workers—with a local staff of 236.

The first intimation the Company had of any disaffection was when a small group of the girls met in the Recreation Room Wednesday after- noon, asking for an increase in wages. It was explained to them that wages were frozen by Government order, and consequently the Company could do nothing in the matter. The girls went back to their places of work, and on Thursday morning at 10.30 without notice, sixteen girls left the plant. Saturday morning they came in for their pay and were spoken to by the local National Selective Ser- vice Officer and the Management. The Company offered to accept any notices, but the girls, without ex- ception decided that they would prefer to go back to work.

It was then mentioned that the Gibbard plant was one of the few furniture factories left in Canada which was doing war work and that Ottawa had recently asked it to step up production, and the war work alone now on hand will keep the plant busy for many months to come.

Social Evening at Trinity United Church

Another in the series of monthly social evenings for the members of the congregation of Trinity United Church was held last Monday evening in the dining hall of the church. The programme was arranged by the members of the church official board with Russel F. Hunter convener and Harry Skitch in charge of refresh- ments.

Most of those in attendance were divided into groups for games and the prizes were won by Mrs. Allan Cowle and Mr. Fred H. Henderson. Others played billiards, croquinole and chinese checkers and the winners were Harry Skitch, Mrs. E. J. Pol- and and George Cowle.

Following the games refreshments were served. Mrs. T. S. Moore ex- pressed thanks to the programme and refreshment committee for the entertainment.

PROMINENT CITIZEN W. H. HUNTER DIES

Mr. W. H. Hunter died early Wed- nesday morning after a six months' illness at his home on John Street, after an illness of about a week. He had been in fail- ing health for some time and his death was caused by pneumonia.

Mr. Hunter was one of the best known men in Napanee where he had lived the greater part of his life. He was born nearly 87 years ago at Violet in Ernestown and was a son of William Hunter and Susan Allen. When about eighteen years of age he came to Napanee and some years later married Emma Seeley McNish. For a short time after his marriage he operated hotels in Odessa and Kingston, and returned to Napanee fifty-five years ago at which time he took over the old Royal Hotel, now the Richelieu Hotel, and ope- rated it until 29 years ago. After leaving the hotel business he es- tablished a milk delivery business and in connection with it operated a large and up-to-date farm just north of the town.

Mr. Hunter was a man of very kindly disposition and had a genial personality which won for him many friends who will regret to hear of his death.

He was predeceased by his wife some years ago and is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dan. Morgan, Los Angeles, California; Mrs. T. J. Anderson, Napanee, and Mrs. Hawley Steacy, Napanee; one step-daughter, Mrs. Pedersen Nebraska; and one son, William, in Napanee. He is also survived by one brother, John, in Deseronto, and was predeceased by two sisters, Mrs. Manly Snider, and Mrs. Wesley Storms.

His funeral will be conducted at his late residence on Friday afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. G. M. Chid- ley, minister of Trinity United Ch., and will be under auspices of the Masonic Lodge, of which he had been a member for many years.

"Your mother55 said the sergeant to the very awkward recruit, "is rather upset because you left home to become a soldier?"

"Yes, sir, she is," replied the awk- ward one.

"Well, just write and tell her not to fret any more," continued the sergeant, "Unless the war lasts fifty years you'll never be a soldier!"

Letter Received From Capt. Exley Wounded in Italy

Mrs. W. W. Exley, Kingston re- ceived a letter on Monday, February 28, from her husband, Capt. W. W. Exley who was wounded in Italy on January 30th. The letter, which was dated February 4th, stated that Capt. Exley had been wounded by shrap- nel in the right knee, the back of the left leg and in his hips and that at the time of writing his right leg was paralyzed and in a caste. Just how permanent the paralysis of the leg is could not be said at the pre- sent time.

Capt. Exley said that he would likely be invalided to England.

Captain Exley is the older son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Exley, Napanee, and is with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

START PLANS FOR DISTRIBUTION OF NEW RATION BOOKS

Initial preparations for the distri- bution of the new No. 4 consumer ra- tion books to the public are now well under way throughout Eastern Ontario, where responsibility for this cam- paign is again being assumed by the Local Ration Boards which form such an integral part of Canada's consum- er rationing system.

The distribution is to take place during the week beginning March 26 with the actual rates varying in different communities. It is, accord- ingly important that consumers should watch for newspaper advertis- ing relating to local distributions and double up in this case as it has been decided that no late applica- tions for new ration books will be entertained. Consumers who do not obtain their new books by applying to a distribution centre on one of the dates announced in their com- munity will not be able to get them until April 17th.

As in earlier campaigns distribu- tion is to be effected by means of centres opened strategically in differ- ent cities, towns villages and town- ships. These will be directed by dis- tribution chiefs under whom a corps of volunteer helpers will assist. In some cases the centres will be situat- ed [illegible] abouts of these centres will be adver- tised well in advance of the open- ing of the distribution campaign.

Details of the distribution will dif- fer only slightly from those of pre- vious campaigns. The red card towards the back of the No. 3 book (labelled RR-99) is to be employed for the actual application. It is not to be detached from the book when it is presented at the distribution centre and the clerk in charge of that relating to the county must be competent to fill the signature of the book-holder being also given.

No issue of the No. 4 book will be made to any consumer unless the No. 3 book is presented. This is essen- tially important on this occasion be- cause certain of the "E" coupons are now being used for tea or coffee and the valid sheet of "E" coupons must be removed from the No. 3 book of a child under 12 years of age before a No. 4 book can be issued.

Consumers are further urged to bear in mind that even after their No. 4 book has been issued to them they will be required to keep the No. 3 book, because the first 10 of the "F" coupons contained in it are to become valid at a later date for the purchase of sugar for home canning.

Additional details of the rather complicated campaign will be made available by the Ration Commis- sioner. In the meantime, Local Ration Boards will welcome volunteers to assist in the distribution and applica- tions to that end should be made to local secretaries.

ALLIES AGAIN SEIZE OFFENSIVE IN ITALY IN PAST FEW DAYS

BUTTER RATION TO BE REDUCED IN MARCH

Ottawa (CP) — The Prices Boar announced last week, a temporary reduction will be made in Canada butter ration in March by postpon- ing the dates upon which two butte ration coupons become valid.

Board officials said the reductio per person for March will amount to eight ounces, effected by post- poning the dates of coupons 54 an 55, which normally would become valid March 16 to March 23 an March 30 respectively. Thereafte usual butter ration coupons wi become valid at the end of eac week. Announcement was made in past years that no butter would be [illegible] ounces of butter.

The announcement said the reduc- tion in the ration, resulting from de- creased production in November, De- cember and January, will mean a saving of 3,000,000 pounds equivalen to one week's normal allowance.

Production during November, Dec- ember and January was about 9,400, 000 pounds below that of the corre- sponding period a year ago. The Board said an important factor in th decline was the 1943-44 winter subsi- dy payments which diverted milk from butter production to cheese pro- duction.

Butter quotas to hotels, restaurant and other eating places will be re- duced along with the household ra- tion.

Subscribers Take Notice !

A few weeks ago we gave notice that all Subscriptions to "The Beaver" in arrears must be brought up-to-date and paid in advance or we would be forced to discontinue sending the paper.

In the interval a great many subscriptions have been paid, but there are still a number outstanding. New Govern- ment regulations and shortage of paper make it necessary for us to adhere to our plan of discontinuing subscriptions in arrears.

Before doing so we are giving this FINAL WARNING. We wish we could be as lenient as we have in the past, but we find that impossible.

If your paper has not been paid in advance and you wish to continue to receive it PLEASE MAKE PAY- MENT PROMPTLY. Arrears not paid within a reason- able time will be placed for collection with our Collection Agency.

THAT THEY MAY LIVE!

A few weeks ago we had the privilege of hearing a number of men and women who had spent anywhere from a year to two years in Japanese internment camps, tell of their experiences. They spoke of their mental and their physical suffering. All looked worn and haggard; all had lost weight. They spoke with choking voices as they described their feelings on getting back to Canada. One and all paid enthusiastic tribute to the way their trip back home had been lightened by the generosity and thoughtfulness of the Red Cross. Each port they touched at, the men and the Red Cross workers, who had met their needs and were ready with [illegible] sorts. One man said, "We are Red Cross shoes; we are Red Cross socks and the suit I wear is a Red Cross." This is only one of the services which the Red Cross is rendering to those whose [illegible] has been interfered with by the war.

Other services are equally [illegible] perhaps no group of people suffer more than prisoners of war. In Germany, [illegible] wire, carefully guarded, those of our [illegible] men who have been captured by the enemy or who have bailed out of their bombers or fighters over enemy country, are dependent on the boxes they receive from the Red Cross. We have seen many letters from prisoners of war. They all tell that the food they receive in German ration is incapable of [illegible]. They look forward with the eagerness of children to the boxes which come to them from Canada. Week after week, devoted women meet in a central packing room and [illegible] pack these boxes on a chain system which is as efficient as that used in any large scale production establishment.

Then, too, the Red Cross organizes the Blood Clinics. Thousands of wounded, who in other wars would have died, have had their lives saved by the blood of voluntary donors.

These are but some of the most important services the Red Cross renders. To provide materials necessary to help money is needed. The Red Cross is appealing for [illegible] estimates that at least $10,000,000 will be required for this year's work. We in this country have done our share in every phase of the war effort. We will be generous when the canvasser calls — GIVE THAT THEY MAY LIVE!

FIRE — A POOR MASTER

The truth of part of the old proverb "fire is a good servant but a poor master" was well borne out in the results of the disastrous fire which destroyed a large business block on the Market Square in Napanee, early last Sunday morning. In a few hours nearly a dozen and a half homes and business places were made uninhabitable and a tremendous loss of property and equipment resulted. In spite of all that firemen and volunteer workers could do, eight homes were broken up, seven businesses and one church were put out of commission, at least temporarily.

In these days when materials and equipment for rebuilding and restocking business and for refurnishing homes are so difficult to secure, the loss is more than usually severe. Even if adequate insurance were carried, many things cannot be replaced under wartime conditions. The housing situation creates another problem, for there is scarcely an apartment or dwelling available for rent. Of course, no one was allowed to suffer for lack of shelter, but eventually places to establish new homes will have to be sought and will be difficult to find. At least temporarily, over fifty people have been thrown out of work, but undoubtedly new positions will soon be found, because of the present shortage of labour.

A great many expressions of sympathy have been heard for the town's unfortunate citizens, in which we join, but an opportunity to show sympathy in a practical way is being afforded in the Town Council's appeal for cash donations and clothing and household furniture for some who lost heavily in the fire. An announcement in another column of this issue tells where and how help can be given and we heartily recommend the effort being made by the town's officials, to anyone who can assist.

A DIFFICULT SITUATION

The Finnish people are in a difficult situation. They are like the man riding the tiger—he is afraid of what will happen if he stays on and more afraid to dismount. Finland, having gone to war with Russia, is afraid of what will happen—indeed is now happening — if she keeps going, and more afraid of what the consequences will be if she sues for peace. As the Russian armies roll relentlessly on towards Latvia the day of decision for Finland draws nearer. The beautiful city of Helsinki is now being bombed relentlessly by Russia. This is a hard blow to Finland. It is a small state and has few large cities. Since Finland got her freedom from Russia following the First Great War, the people have won the admiration of the Democracies for the way they worked and paid their debt. They worked hard to make Helsinki a city worthy of their toil and ambitions. Many new modern buildings have been erected and the appearance of the city has been improved and modernized. The railroad station, which reports say has been bombed, was one of the most modern in all Europe. The [illegible] which they had put so much thought [illegible] destroyed, is a severe blow to the Finnish pride and ambitions. They would like to put a stop to it and the only way of doing this is [illegible] of the war. The Finns have [illegible] the Russians.

One man said, "the shoes I stand in are Red Cross shoes; my socks are Red Cross socks and the suit I wear is a Red Cross suit." This is only one of the services which the Red Cross is rendering to those whose normal life has been interfered with by the war.

Other services are equally important. Perhaps no group of people suffer more than our prisoners of war. They look forward with the eagerness of children to the boxes which come to them from Canada. Week after week, devoted women meet in a central packing room and voluntarily pack these boxes on a chain system which is as efficient as that used in any large scale production establishment.

Then, too, the Red Cross organizes the Blood Clinics. Thousands of wounded, who in other wars would have died, have had their lives saved by the blood of voluntary donors.

These are but some of the most important services the Red Cross renders. To provide materials, necessary help, money is needed. The Red Cross is appealing for money. It estimates that at least $10,000,000 will be required for this year's work. We in this country have done our share in every phase of the war effort. We will be generous when the canvasser calls — GIVE THAT THEY MAY LIVE!

FIRE — A POOR MASTER

The truth of part of the old proverb: "Fire is a good servant but a poor master" was well borne out in the results of the disastrous fire which destroyed a large business block on the Market Square in Napanee, early last Sunday morning. In a few hours nearly a dozen and a half homes and business places were made uninhabitable and a tremendous loss of property and equipment resulted. In spite of all that firemen and volunteer workers could do, eight homes were broken up, seven businesses and one church were put out of commission, at least temporarily.

In those days when materials and equipment for rebuilding and restocking businesses and for refurnishing homes are so difficult to secure, the loss is more than usually severe. Even if adequate insurance were carried, many things cannot be replaced under wartime conditions. The housing situation creates another problem, for there is scarcely an apartment or dwelling available for rent. Of course, no one was allowed to suffer for lack of shelter, but eventually places to establish new homes will have to be sought and will be difficult to find. At least temporarily, over fifty people have been thrown out of work, but undoubtedly new positions will soon be found, because of the present shortage of labour.

—A great many expressions of sympathy have been heard for the town's unfortunate citizens, in which we join, but an opportunity to show sympathy in a practical way is being afforded in the Town Council's appeal for cash donations and clothing and household furniture for some who lost heavily in the fire. An announcement in another column of this issue tells where and how help can be given and we heartily recommend the effort being made by the town's officials, to anyone who can assist.

A DIFFICULT SITUATION

The Finnish people are in a difficult situation. They are like the man riding the tiger—he is afraid of what will happen if he stays on and more afraid to dismount. Finland, having gone to war with Russia, is afraid of what will happen—indeed is now happening — if she keeps going, and more afraid of what the consequences will be if she sues for peace. As the Russian armies roll relentlessly on towards Latvia the day of decision for Finland draws nearer. The beautiful city of Helsinki is now being bombed relentlessly by Russia. This is a hard blow to Finland. It is a small state and has few large cities. Since Finland got her freedom from Russia following the First Great War, the people have won the admiration of the Democracies for the way they worked and paid their debt. They worked hard to make Helsinki a city worthy of their toil and ambitions. Many new modern buildings have been erected and the appearance of the city has been improved and modernized. The railroad station, which reports say has been bombed, was one of the most artistic in all Europe. To see places on which they had put so much thought and money, destroyed, is a sore blow to the Finnish pride and ambitions. They would like to put a stop to it and the only way of doing this is by getting out of the war. The Finns have no love for the Russians and yet they seem already they would be willing to make some terms with the U. S. S. R.

To make peace with Russia, however, might not improve the situation. Germany regards this of Finland withdrawing from the war that Germany will carry it on in Finland just as she is doing in Italy. In that event—and assuming that Germany can do what she threatens—Finland will see her country-side ravished and her cities destroyed.

There is one ray of hope and that is in the diminishing strength of Germany and the threat of another invasion from the West. No matter how much Germany might want to carry on the war on Finnish territory, it is doubtful whether she would be able to do so. As it is Germany is having a difficult time in Russia in spite of her strength. It is doubtful if Germany, just now, would want to keep her lines of communication strung out another theatre. But it will be a long time before Finland can emerge from her present plight, perhaps before the realties of the situation will be fully realized. Finland is doing nothing which would seem to justify with much greater damage than if she could make terms.

ARGENTINA AGAIN

Argentina has the habit of popping into the news at most unusual times, and with a suddenness that is breathtaking. We in Canada have not paid as much attention to Latin America as we ought to have done, or as its importance would justify. Certainly we know more about foreign politics in Europe than what takes place in South America. Somehow or other we go on the assumption that the nations in Latin America are outside world politics. But no nation is, to-day, outside world politics. What any nation does is the concern of every other nation.

Argentina, just at this critical juncture in world history, will bear watching. Of all the nations in the Americas which are united against the totalitarian states, Argentina stands out alone—a hot bed of intrigue and a centre of Fascist organization on this continent. It is hard for outsiders to keep up with what takes place there. For over a year now there has been one coup after another, until the nation now seems to be in the hands of two rival parties which will not bother fighting it out at the polls, but give every indication of doing so by means of force.

Some of the leaders, those who have, in the recent coup, seized power, are known to be sympathetic with the Fascist nations. Indeed, Argentina has been the centre of German and Japanese espionage ever since the war started. The leaders who now have control are Fascist-minded. They are not only sympathetic to the present governments in the totalitarian countries, but they are themselves through going enemies of the Democratic system. The New York Times suggests that the political development in Argentina has closely followed that of Japan, and that the militarist group in Argentina is seeking to establish a Latin-American co-prosperity sphere. This, if accomplished, would, the Times points out, divide the Americas into two rival spheres, which is what Hitler always aimed at.

This is a serious situation, more serious than perhaps we are apt to admit. And yet there is nothing that the United States or the rest of the American nations can do about it, save to watch the internal struggle go on, in the hopes that the decline of Hitler's prestige and the growing power of the United Nations over Japan will somewhat cool the ardour of the ambitious militarists in Argentina.

Before getting into the meat of the thing, let me add that these allowances except in out-of-work bracket are to stand on their own feet to a great extent to preserve their own self-respect and independence and in view of their services to the country the State has some responsibility for their rehabilitation. That is one weighting that right here is of course, is the answer to problems which have been mainly battering people.

I had heard of the Canadian Veterans Rehabilitation Plan, but did not know much about it. Buried most other people wouldn't either so I struck off to see E.B. Reid, superintendent of publicity for the Department of Pensions and National Health and got from him a clear picture of just what is being planned for the men and women returning to civil life. What you think of it is your own business. What I propose to do is lay the facts before you for easy comprehension.

The whole very important Plan had to be a blueprint first, but some of it is at work already. Apparently they tackled the problem with the keynote idea that the "job" is the vital thing and the answer to the job is "skill." You know, of course, that the men and women have been guaranteed a return to their civilian jobs if they exist, and if they were bona fide employees of the company before enlisting. Let us go back not much more than half a century ago and see how the neglected and ill-treated child was faring at the hands of comfortably placed well-fed citizens whose own children were enjoying every care and protection! How much thought was given to these little waifs—girls and boys—who used to run the streets night and day selling newspapers in Canadian cities at the tender age of ten and even younger? What laws protected children against brutal, drunken, depraved parents? What shelter was to be found for children with actually no homes at all, good or bad?

Do you know that in Canada, the United States and England the movement for the protection for animals actually preceded the movement for the protection of children?

The first was a good woman in New York—a Mrs. Wheeler—who one day about the year 1870 heard of a poor woman afflicted with consumption of tuberculosis in a tenement and visited her. But when she sat by her bedside the dying woman said: "It is too late to do anything for me—see what you can do for that poor little fellow across the hall whose drunken parents beat him so unmercifully!"

Mrs. Wheeler went across the hall and found a child [illegible] battered so [illegible] and unkempt that she went out all over New York City to enlist aid in bringing the parents to justice. She visited churches, lawyers, police courts, only to discover that no law existed there under which such a movement could be started with any hope of success in the bringing of cruelty to children to justice. Finally she went to the President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and this gentleman, who was also a lawyer, became deeply interested and [illegible] them they decided to attempt to [illegible] a charge of "cruelty to a human animal"?

They secured a conviction and this [illegible] aroused public interest and sympathy and thus was initiated the movement for laws and institutions to protect children [illegible] the United States.

In the next article we will be told of how a group of humane people of Scotland, in connection with Toronto children and [illegible] a common banner for protection of animals; and what a [illegible] as an offer was made to have a Winnipeg animal protector not only extend its interest to [illegible] and ill-treated children but who one had thought to protect.

The colonizing venture was conceived on a grand scale like all Nazi plans. A Netherlands East Company was organized under Meinoud Rost van Tonningen, Dutch Nazi counterpart of Dr. Schacht.

Recruiting, however, was slow. Dutch Nazis numbered only a few thousand, and even they seemed more interested in staying at home than in pioneering. A few Dutchmen who did apply found to their dismay that they were drafted for home labor in Germany.

Radio appeals promised a life of luxury. Each Dutch farmer was to be would control 25,000 acres and that he would be expected to behave splendidly and elaborately and also be a rent-man, in every respect. Each leader must [illegible] that a master and that whenever he goes at a farm, there is somebody who comes to attention to hold his horse. On the 25,000 acres some 10,000 people usually live, of whom about 3,000 work for the master. These people are absolutely subordinate.

Even these promises of slave owning failed to lure the colonists. Some did go. Underground papers say the number was not more than 15,000 and those who did go found only grief. German soldiers seemed to get the best land. Over-zealous Dutch farmers there was one German "district farmer." Harvests, instead of going to Holland, as promised, went to Germany. There was no pay.

Some colonists found that the land assigned them had already been won back by the Red Army. Others found themselves stranded between battle lines. Still others were forced to do road work or were pressed into the German army.

A few tried to make their way back to Holland, and were machine-gunned by the Germans. Then in January, as the Red armies advanced into the Ukraine, it was announced that some 600 officials "temporarily unemployed" were being shifted from Netherlands Eastland to new posts in Holland and Denmark.

They started home in four trainloads. Russian air forces attacked them, wrecking three out of the four. Only one trainload got back to Holland to tell the story.

e corner stations on the Bay Charge held a united Lent- at Gretna United Church ening, at which there was a fairly representative attendance Joint choirs of Bethany and Gretna led the singing and also sang an anthem entitled "Father Lead Me." Mrs. W. B. Nixon, of Bay Bay, pre- sided at the organ. The Rev. A. C. McCallum conducted the service and was assisted by Mr. W. C. Jones who read the scripture lesson. Mr. Mc- Callum gave a devotional talk on "The Gospel of Christ." He spoke of the gospel as the report of certain significant events concerning the life, ministry, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. He said, the story of redeeming love proclaimed by the Saints and Apostles all down the centuries, this gospel" he said, was, by its nature and message, ap- plicable to every condition in life, and is absolutely essential for to- day."

The next Lenten service will be held at Bethany on Friday evening March 10. Full announcement next Sunday. Plan to attend!

OBITUARIES

MISS ELLA YEOMANS

The residents of Newburgh were shocked on Wednesday morning when it was learned that Miss Ella Yeo- mans had passed away. Miss Yeo- mans was living alone and neighbors, with her nephew Willard Embury, soon noticed that they were not seeing her around as usual and inquiry referred an entrance to her home and found that she had passed away some time during the night.

Miss Yeomans was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Yeomans of Wesley. She was seventy-three years of age and one of a large fam- ily. She had spent her lifetime in the vicinity of Newburgh and had lived, for a number of years, in the village. She leaves to mourn her loss one sister, Mrs. Sarah Embury, of Wesley, and a number of nephews and nieces. She was a member of the United Church and was seldom absent from the Sabbath school or church services. She was also a faithful member of the woman's mis- sionary society and the Women's Aa- ociety. Few if any took such a keen interest in all the different branches of church work. Miss Yeomans was for several years reporter for The Napanee Beaver.

Her funeral was held in the United Church on Friday afternoon and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. E. Herrington, who gave a comforting message to the bereaved friends. Mr. E. Hounsdow sang a solo. The pall- bearers were six of her nephews.

The remains were placed in the N wburgh vault to await interment in t.

WEDDING BELLS

PLATT - DENYON

A quiet but pretty wedding was cel- ebrated by Rev. Wellington F. Bell at St. Alban's Anglican Church Rec- tory, Adolphustown, at eight o'clock on Tuesday evening, February 22nd, 1944, when Pearl Beatrice Denyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Deni- son, Napanee, became the bride of Private Albert Platt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Platt, Sillsville.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a floor-length gown of powder blue velveteen with cut on peplum, fine for rayon, a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length veil, fastened with a blue bow, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and fern.

Miss Ruth Denyon, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in a floor-length gown of pink velveteen with fern.

Private Platt was supported by Pte. Ernest Whalen of Deseronto.

The gifts to the attendants were a gold filled bracelet to the brides- maid and a Morocco billfold to the groomsman.

Following the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty lunch- eon was served. Later the happy couple left on a short honeymoon in Ottawa and Montreal and points east.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Hayburn.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Red Cross rooms were open all day Sunday for the benefit of the fire victims.

Captain Andrew Egan who has just returned from England, will speak next Saturday in the Red Cross rooms at 3:30 in the afternoon.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN A. ROBINSON

Funeral of the late Mrs. John A. Robinson, eighty years of age, Cam- den East, was held on Thursday aft- ernoon, February 10th, from the re- sidence of her daughter Mrs. Claude Hinch, 505 Frontenac St., Kingston. A short service conducted by Rev. S. E. Harrington was held at her daugh- ter's residence. A funeral service was conducted by Canon R. W. Spencer in St. Luke's Church, Camden East.

Death occurred at the residence of her daughter, on Tuesday morn- ing where she had been visiting for the previous week; she was only ill a few days before she passed away. Mrs. Robinson was born in County Sligo, Ireland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connor. She received her education at Belfast and came to Canada while in her youth and had lived on the Robinson home- stead at Camden East, for forty-five years. Surviving are her husband, three sons, Dr. G. A. Robinson, of Toronto, James of Centreville, and George at Camden East; two daughter- Mrs. Harold Bell, of Yarker Ont., and Mrs. Carrie Hauch of Kings on Hillberry. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John's Doxie, John Con- ner, Percy Doxie, Charlie O'Connor, Wesley Robinson and Jerry Connor. There were many floral tri- bute which signified the high es- te in which she was held.

THE LATE MRS. R. W. ASSELSTINE

Mr. R. W. Asselstine, a well- known resident of Napanee, died in the Napanee District Hospital on Tuesday, February 22nd, 1944, at the age of 70 years. Mr. A. was born in Ox- ford County, and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Asselstine. He was married in 1900 to Miss Ida Bell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, Napanee. Mrs. Asselstine predeceased her husband on Sept. 1st, 1943. Mr. Asselstine was a member of the Napanee Lodge No. 38, A.F. & A.M. and for many years was a member of the Napanee Lodge No. 38, I.O.O.F. He was also a member of the Napanee Encampment. He was a member of the Napanee Lodge No. 38, I.O.O.F. He was also a member of the Napanee Encampment. He was a member of the Napanee Lodge No. 38, I.O.O.F. He was also a member of the Napanee Encampment.

Mr. Asselstine is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Wendell Burns and Marian of Napanee, two sons, Jack of Windsor and Aubrey of Marlbank, and one sister, Mrs. Co- phus Bell, Enterprise.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. T. R. Young, John Kimmett, W. G. Burg, M. S. McKenzie, Geo. Jordan, and J. Y. Ferguson. Flower bearers were Bernice Bell, Mona McIlquham, Edna Benn, Katherine Bell, Yvonne York and Monica Taylor.

In Loving Memory

COX—In loving memory of Marg- aret Cox, who passed away one year ago March 4th, 1943.

One year has passed and still we miss her;
Never shall her memory fade.
Loving thoughts will always linger
Round the grave where she is laid.

Ever remembered by
Daughter, HAZEL.
Son-in-law, PERCY.
and Grandson, DONALD.

THOMPSON — In loving memory of our dear father, George Thomp- son, who departed this life February 22nd, 1941.

Those, whom we love, go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
There is a link death cannot sever
Love's memories live forever.

Magistrate's Court

In the Magistrate's Court on Mon- day afternoon Constable Cooper pre- sented Fred Smith, who was charged with having in his possession a quan- tity of liquor for the purpose of sale, without having a permit. Smith pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $100 and costs, or three months in default.

Irwin Brown pleaded guilty to ap- plying for and obtaining a liquor per- mit while under the age of 21, was fined $10 by the Magistrate and was remanded indefinitely.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and help cause backache, backache often follow. If you want deep well, try Doddi Kidney Pills—for half a century the famous remedy. 69

NAZIS STILL MAKING OUTRIGHT GESTURES TO 'ALLIED POWERS

BY JAMES M. LONG

Associated Press Staff Writer

Germany has been making— and continues to make— outright bids for peace, but these have failed so far short of the Allies' unconditional surrender stand that Hitler's Nazi party and Germany's Junkers generals have been drawn closer together by mutual desperation as a result.

This outgrowth of Germany's increasingly grim outlook at the approach to a final Allied onslaught was emphasized by pronouncements of two war leaders of the Allied "Big Three" — Prime Minister Churchill on Tuesday and Premier Stalin on Wednesday.

It has long been known that the reported peace bids, both by official Nazis and the unofficial Junkers clique, have been of such substantial than mere rumors. However this indirect approach to the Allies with the bulk of Europe still in its clutches, has been with terms still favorable to the Reich's escape from military ruin.

"Hitlerite diplomats," Stalin said in an order of the day on the 26th anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, "have been rushing from one neutral to another trying to establish contacts for Hitlerite elements hitting on separate peace, sometimes with our state, sometimes with our Allies."

But such moves, he asserted, are "doomed to failure."

That statement fits in with reports recurrent for months, of thinly-veiled Nazi diplomatic feelers for peace, first in Turkey and more recently in Portugal. Russia is reported to have been approached through Bulgaria, with which the Soviet is still maintain diplomatic relations. Stockholm has been the centre of the latest diplomatic manoeuvring, in which Finland was reported attempting to squirm out of an unhealthy alliance with the Germans against Russia.

Mounting anxiety is apparently brought Hitler and the old-line Nazi-despising Prussian generals to a mutual footing in this situation, and cognizance of this was taken by Mr. Churchill in his report on the war to the House of Commons.

"Hitler and his police are still in full control," he said, "and the Nazi party and generals have decided to hang together."

The recent German propaganda line that an invasion of Europe by the Allies will prove a bloodbath which will heavily shake both British and American home fronts seems to suggest Berlin's last hope—a bitter last ditch stand to make the cost of a clean-up so terrific the Allies might be willing to ease their terms.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Fish dishes are the order of the day during Lent.

There are many ways in which fish can be prepared and served to provide an appetizing table offering. It's not necessary to go in for sautéing and deep-frying all the time. Besides, frying requires plenty of fat and we should remember that fats have a fighting job to do in this war.

To get away from frying methods and off the beaten track as it were, here's something we tried in the Hydro kitchen the other day. We purchased four fish fillets and a can of condensed celery soup. The fish fillets were coated with half the can of soup. Next, we patted them with finely crushed cornflakes and placed them in a lightly greased casserole. Those were baked in a preheated electric oven for 25 minutes. They were delicious, served with the rest of the cream celery soup. Try this method and we're sure you'll agree.

Mackerel Croquettes

Two tablespoons of butter, five tablespoons flour, one cup milk, one egg, two cups mackerel, three cups riced potatoes, two tablespoons chopped parsley, salt and pepper.

Prepare a white sauce with the butter flour and milk (season). With two forks mix sauce with potatoes and fish, add egg, slightly beaten, then the parsley. Place spoonfuls of the mixture on a buttered baking sheet; cook in electric oven at 400 deg. F. for twenty minutes.

Baked Halibut with Tomato Sauce

Two pound halibut, salt and pepper, two cups of tomato sauce or canned tomato soup.

Wipe the slices of halibut with a damp cloth or paper, place in buttered baking dish, pour the sauce or soup around the fish and cook in electric oven at 350 deg. F. for thirty-five minutes.

Fish Chowder

Two cups raw diced fish, four cups water, three tablespoons of butter, one cup of chopped celery, two cups raw diced or grated potatoes, four cups milk, two-thirds cup minced onion, salt and pepper.

Fry onion in melted butter add fish, potatoes and celery cook a few minutes, season well, add cold water and cook until tender. Then add cold milk and heat to the boiling point. Serve very hot. Any kind of white-fished fish may be used.

Tartare Sauce

To one egg, slightly beaten, add one or two teaspoons of mustard, one teaspoon of salt. Mix well, then add a few drops of oil and beat with Dover egg beater, adding oil gradually, a little at a time. When the mayonnaise is thick, add two tablespoons of vinegar, then chopped pickles, parsley or else dill pickles and onions, capers, etc.

TAKE A TIP

To overcome fish odors:

1. Clean hands after handling raw fish by rubbing them with salt and then rinsing.
2. Kill cooking odors by scorching orange peel or coffee in a steel pan. Then add water and vinegar to cleanse it.
3. Dishes which have held fish should be washed in warm water to which a teaspoon of dry mustard is added.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. C. M. asks: Why does milk sometimes curdle when used to poach fish?

Answer: Smoker fish may curdle milk. Simmer fish in water before it is poached in milk.

Mrs. D. P. asks: What is parchment paper?

Answer: Butter wrappers are parchment. Use to wrap fish.

Mrs. J. M. asks: Is it necessary to use lemon juice in the water to cook fish.

Answer: No. Use vinegar when lemons are expensive. Vinegar is an acid that keeps the flesh firm and white. It is not necessary to use in the cooking of salmon.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her care of The Napanee Beaver. Send in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

WORLD'S DAY OF PRAYER SERVICE

The interdenominational "World Day of Prayer" was held in the United Church Sunday School room on Friday afternoon. This service is observed annually on the first Friday in Lent by christian women all over the world. The sun never sets on groups of women around the world who meet for the hour of prayer. It is sponsored by the Women's Missionary Societies. In Canada the Inter-Board Committee of W. M. S. Societies arranges the program.

A small group of women 77 years ago started this work which now includes women of 50 different nationalities.

Mrs. Courtland Snider was key woman, and announced the theme, "And the Lord wondered that there was no Intercessor". After quiet music, Mrs. Fred Vrooman led in the first part, and in this the hymn used was "In Christ there is no East or West".

Mrs. Shelley Denyes, President of the Auxiliary of the W. M. S. of the United Church was the leader for the section "Myrrh for Sorrow", when intense stress was made for all those in bitter distress.

Miss Mabel Martin, of the Free Methodist Church, conducted the part "Frankincense" — intercession for all races and tongues.

Mrs. Ashton Henderson and Mrs. Arthur Burnett read the prayers.

Mrs. Courtland Snider gave a paper on "The Far East and the Future".

The third part was "Gold — Intercession for the Refining of the Spirit of Mankind", which was followed by a Litany of Praise and Thanksgiving.

Mrs. H. J. Smith and Mrs. Georgina Jenkins sang an appropriate number, accompanied by Mrs. Robt. Cairns. The offering was taken by Mrs. Geo. Burnett and Miss Williamina Clark.

The three churches represented were the Anglican, Free Methodist, and United.

TRINITY W. M. S.

The President, Mrs. Switzer, presided at the regular monthly meeting of Trinity Women's Missionary Society, held in the school room on Monday, Feb. 21, at 3:00 p.m. The meeting opened by singing a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The secretary Miss Blanche Hawley, read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. H. L. VanLuven. Mrs. Ashley reported for the Finance committee, and several new members were named. The ladies were reminded of the World's Day of Prayer to be held on Friday, February 25th. Miss Shorey, on behalf of the Evening Auxiliary thanked the W. M. S. for their part in helping to make the Valentine Tea a success. Mrs. Exley, supply secretary, read a letter regarding a request for clothing for children of school age.

The Devotional period was opened by singing a hymn. The theme was "The Bible". Mrs. R. Douglas read a story, and Mrs. Waddell, Mrs. Asselstine, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Sills took part in the scripture readings, after which Miss Parks, temperance secretary, read an article entitled Our Resources. A solo was contributed by Mrs. Lorne Miller, with Mrs. Baughan at the piano.

Mrs. John Diamant gave a most interesting talk on Social Welfare, based on her own experiences and impressions during her work in the relieving of suffering in the slum district of a large American city. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. W. A. Ashley, after which Mrs. T. M. Asselstine convener, thanked all those taking part and the meeting closed with the benediction.

SELBY W. M. S.

The February meeting of the Selby W. M. S was held on Friday afternoon, February 4th. The meeting opened with a hymn and the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. The minutes were read and approved. The treasurer, Mrs. Henderson, reported a balance on hand of $49.93. The watch tower was responded to by Mrs. Tate, China; Mrs. Merrick, for Japan; Mrs. J. McConnell, for India; Mrs. Allen Wood, Christian Stewardship, who also read a letter telling of the allocation for 1944 which is the same as last year $350. The missionary to pray for is Miss Fraser, Lowaser. Mrs. M. Windover responded on temperance. Mrs. Rose read a letter acknowledging and thanking the society for a card of sympathy sent Mrs. L. I. Price. Mrs. Rose announced the World's Day of Prayer as February 25th, and gave us as our theme for the day, "The Bible, the common possession of the World Church. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Tate read a story, after which Mrs. A. Sexsmith presented the the fourth chapter of the study book. Several lessons from the Bible were read by Mrs. A. Wood, Mrs. McLeod, Mr. McCrindell, Mrs. G. Price and Mr. Henderson. The 23rd psalm was repeated in unison. These readings were interspersed with readings by Mrs J. Rose and the Lord's Prayer was again repeated in unison. After a hymn, the offering was received and Mrs. Rose dismissed the meeting with the benediction. There were 17 present.

The World's Day of Prayer was observed by the Selby W.M.S. on Friday afternoon, February 25th with the president Mrs. J. Rose in charge, assisted by Mrs. M. Windover. Mrs. Rose read an item on prayer and a hymn was sung. Mrs. Rose read from Isaiah and out of the theme for the day "The Lord wondered that there was no intercessor." Responsive readings were read alternately and a hymn was sung. The programme was taken from the leaflets passed. Mrs. Windover second leader read from the programme. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Dudgeon for all those in bitter distress. Alternate prayers were read from the leaflet led by Mrs. Windover, followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Rose, the leader, read. Prayers were then read by Mrs. Merrick and Mrs. Winter, followed with a hymn. Rev. Mr. Merrick then brought us a very inspiring message and said that we are part of a great multitude who are lifting our hearts to God in prayer. Mrs. Rose read from the programme. Mrs. W. Booth gave a splendid talk on prayer and said that prayer was our means of communication with God, first prayer for forgiveness of sins so that we can start a new life, and then we can see the power of prayer, and gave several illustrations of the power of prayer. Mrs. Windover read and Mrs. J. McConnell offered prayer, also Mrs. Tate and Mrs. Windover. We were favored with a solo by Mrs. F. Amey. Mrs. J. Henderson received the offering and standing, all joined in in prayer of consecration. A hymn was sung and Mrs. Rose read a prayer after which all joined in singing "God Save the King".

Mrs. Rose thanked those who had helped in the meeting and read the benediction that closed the meeting. There were 17 in attendance.

EBENEZER W. A.

Ebenezer Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. William Whiteman for the February meeting. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The scripture reading was read by Mrs. Alva McAlister. A reading was read by Mrs. Elwood Brown. It was decided that each member give five cents per week for the year 1944. Our W. A. has used this plan of making money for several years, with satisfactory results. A quilt was quilted at the meeting and blocks brought in by the members for another quilt. It was decided that each member would make a quilt top and donate it for war work. Yarn was given out for knitting. The treasurer gave her report. Another hymn was sung. A reading followed and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

ADOLPHUSTOWN Y. P. U.

Two successful social events were held during the month of February by the Adolphustown Y. P. U. On February 14th a Valentine party in the church basement was well attended in spite of stormy weather. Sillsville, Conway and Hayburn young people were guests for the evening.

The devotional part of the program consisted of the scripture reading by James Smith, meditation by Helen Smith and prayer by Mrs. Gordon Mack. A program of contests and community singing followed, arranged by Mrs. Hudson. Miss Powers sang a solo. Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

On Thursday evening, February 17, a similar affair was held, followed by games and a hot lunch at the church.

SAVINGS FOR VICTORY

As in Canada there are frequent war loan drives in Britain. They normally last one week in each period. The next one will be the "Salute the Soldier Week," which in London will run from March 25 to April 1.

The savings effort of the British Home Front has increased steadily throughout the war, despite the immense increase in all forms of taxation during the same period. In all, a total of more than $25,000 million have been subscribed — an average of more than $560 for each man, woman and child in Britain.

The British people have already paid tribute to the Royal Navy, the R. A. F. and the production army. Thus, to "Warships Week," London contributed $584,000,000; to "Wings for Victory Week," $648,000,000; and to "War Weapons Week," $406,000,000. The target for "Salute the Soldier Week," is $600,000,000. The striking point here is the progressive increase in home front effort which, so far from relaxing with increasing certainty of victory, shows an unparalleled increase. The total of British saving is as follows: 1940, $4,940,000,000; 1941, $6,980,920,000; 1942, $6,760,616,000; 1943, $7,611,639,056.

The increasing effort applies to every section of the British people. This is best illustrated by small savings. Small savers in 1943 bought over 400,000,000 savings certificates, bringing the war total to over 1,300,000,000, that is over four times the number of the last war. For defence savings, and gift token bought in 1940, eight were bought in 1943. Small savers holding certificates total 17,000,000, which is over 50 per cent of the entire British adult population. Over half the 1943 savings total was contributed by small savers. There was a similar increase in large savings.

Wise homemakers know that in GOOD meal planning, correct cookery methods are just as important as proper food selection. Many of those foods reach the dinner table the values present in the foods you buy at the grocers can be lost before unless particular care is taken.

1 Do not soak vegetables before cooking.

2 If you must pare vegetables and fruits, pare thinly.

3 Cook vegetables as quickly as possible.

4 Avoid overcooking — cook until just barely tender.

5 Steam vegetables rather than drowning them. Put vegetables in an amount of boiling water that doesn't quite cover them and cook in a tightly covered saucepan.

7 NEVER add soda to cooking vegetables. It may preserve the colour but it DESTROYS the vitamins.

8 Try to cook the right amount for each meal. Storing and re-heating causes loss of vitamins.

LLIED AIR FORCES STEP-UP BOMBINGS OF GERMAN TERRITORY

lore Successes Reported From All Fronts

EDNESDAY —
A United States force made a successful landing on the Admiralty Islands, capturing an undamaged field from the Japs. The island is the farthest point north now held by the Allies and is about 700 miles from Truk.

• • •

The Allied forces on the Anzio beachhead in Italy were under heavy artillery fire by the Germans, but no attacks were made by the enemy.

• • •

Three columns were reported closing in on Pskov, where fierce fighting is expected before the Germans capitulate. In the Ukraine the Russians made further advances.

• • •

The Burma campaign, under the leadership of Lord Louis Mountbatten, was reported to be making good progress.

• • •

Brunswick was again heavily bombed and the Pas-de-Calais coastal area of France was also under heavy attack.

• • •

TUESDAY —
Sea advances were made by the Russians inside Estonia. The advance toward Pskov also continued its great success for the Russians.

• • •

In Italy, following the failure of many attacks on the Anzio beachhead the Allies started a new offensive.

• • •

In Burma the Allies were continuing their advance toward the coastal coast.

• • •

Following the taking of the Admiralty Islands it seemed likely that these will be made to recapture the Philippines.

• • •

Japan endorsed Russia's terms with Finland and urged Finland to accept the terms.

• • •

Air activity on Wednesday, was concentrated on Axis shipping on the Netherlands coast.

• • •

SUNDAY —
The Russians appeared to have passed Pskov and seemed to be about to take Tallinn and Riga, capitals of Estonia and Latvia. There was also evidence that the Germans were preparing to withdraw from both Estonia and Latvia.

• • •

A heavy German drive against the Anzio beachhead, south of Rome, was shattered by the Allies. The Allied bombers were said to be ready to start any drive by the Germans.

• • •

In the South Pacific, United States forces consolidated their position on the Admiralty Islands and British submarines were reported to have sunk a Jap-con Jap aircraft carrier and a Jap-con Jap aircraft carrier and to have torpedoed a cruiser.

• • •

THE R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. hit Stuttgart with more than 600 planes in the most only four planes.

• • •

The Finnish Cabinet was said to be giving Russian peace terms consideration, but no decision had been reached.

• • •

During February 10 000 tons of ships were dropped on Germany and German-held territory by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F.

• • •

TUESDAY —
Italy on the Anzio beachhead Allies repulsed more German attacks. Allied bombers hit railway junctions in Rome, Northern Italy, 6,000 000 Italians went on strike tying up industrial production.

• • •

The Russian Army was said to be closing in on Pskov and captured 17 towns and four railway stations in one advance.

• • •

• • •

On the South Pacific the Allied land forces on Los Negros Island and the Admiralty group

• • •

The Burma British troops were successfully retaking stiffening Japanese counter-attacks.

• • •

WEDNESDAY —
In a spectacular advance in the southern Ukraine the Russians pushed ahead 35 miles, routing 12 German divisions. The Russians were in Volochisk, an important rail centre, whose capture would give full control of the Nazi chief line of retreat from the Dnieper Bend.

• • •

There was some evidence that the Germans might abandon the attempt to throw the Allied forces on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, into the sea.

Berlin was attacked on Saturday night for the third time within 24 hours. Heavy attacks were made on Sunday on French targets.

More United States reinforcements were landed on Los Negros Island in the Admiralty group.

British and Indian troops on the Arakan front in Northwest Burma ambushed a Jap supply caravan. Farther north, Chinese troops were said to be meeting heavy Japanese artillery fire.

• • •

TUESDAY —
The Russian army continued Wehrmacht and thereby cut off the Narva line of retreat from Dnieper Bend positions.

• • •

The United States Air Force lost 68 bombers during a daylight raid on Berlin, in which 176 enemy planes were brought down and great damage was done to the city.

• • •

United States infantry went into action for the first time on the Asiatic Continent and opened an attack in North in Burma and trapped a Japanese force.

• • •

The Germans were reported to have lost 24,000 men killed in fighting on the Anzio beachhead in Italy.

• • •

United States flyers bombed Hankow in Hupeh province in South China, bringing down from 30 to 50 Jap planes.

Three Young Men Held in Custody

In Police Court on Monday afternoon, three young men, who gave their names as Hugh Hicks, John Hanes and James Dillinger and their home addresses as Toronto and Hamilton, appeared before Magistrate Garvin on charges of obtaining food at the Crenic Cafe in Napanee, on Sunday evening, without making payment.

The trio pleaded guilty to the charges and were remanded in custody for one week, pending further investigation by the police.

The proprietor of the cafe informed the police after the men had left the cafe and they were picked up on Highway No. 2 just east of the town and brought back to said They claimed they were on their way to Kingston to enlist and had no money with which to pay for a meal.

FAILING TO ATTEND BATTERY PARADES BRINGS FINE

In the Magistrate's Court, Thursday, Kenneth G. F. Young, Strathcona, pleaded guilty to failing to attend parades of the 47th Field Battery, R.C.A., and paid a fine of $4.00 plus costs.

The case was the first of its kind in Napanee and the prosecution made after information had been laid by the local battery, which was represented in court by Lieut. Whitely.

Young was reported to have attended only seven parades out of 65 and had been repeatedly warned that action would be taken unless he reported.

STOVE NEEDED FOR PENSIONER

In making his investigations, the Old Age Pension Investigator has learned of the need by an elderly pensioner, of a cook stove. The pensioner would be able to pay a small amount for a stove and the investigator would be pleased to hear from anyone in the vicinity of Napanee who has a stove for sale.

GOOD ATTENDANCE FISH AND GAME ASSO. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Lennox and Addington Fish and Game Association was held in the Lanquet Hall of the Superior Restaurant on Friday night, March 3rd. Peculiar interest was transcended in a very short time. A lecture and descriptive talk, with technicolor movies was enjoyed till well on into the night by the largest attendance yet. Over 130 members were thrilled as never before by the talk given by Mr Carman Patterson of Moscow, who told of his life and work with a big outfitter and guide for "Big Game" hunters in the Yukon.

The technicolor films shown defy description. The majesty, the unutterable beauty of some of the scenes captured by his camera were, to say the least, breathtaking. Possibly of great interest to sportsmen were his pictures taken not with telescopic lens but within a few feet. Mountain goats and Alaska sheep perhaps the shyest and wariest of animals to approach were shown in yards of close-up pictures and it is hard to realize the hours of patience necessary for the cameraman to get in position to take them. Also a thrill was the reel taken within 40 feet of a Grizzly Bear feeding. Parts in the film show plainly the nervous strain on the photographer at such close quarters. Another interesting bit was the part played by a juvenile star—a two-days-old baby Moose.

Mr. Patterson brought with him an unique display of trophies which was closely inspected by the members and created a tremendous amount of interest. Among these were a Mountain Goat mounted, 2 Alaska Sheep, the head of a Wolverine and a Grizzly Bear skin.

The entertainer was introduced to the members by Mr. Ed. Hogarth, chairman of the Programme Committee, and after his discourse was thanked on behalf of the members, by Mr. Jack Keenan, vice-president.

The attendance at these meetings shows the healthy state of the Association and the interest the members have in the entertainment provided.

I. O. D. E. SOVIET RELIEF FUND

On account of the recent fire, Mr. Percy Vine has moved to the room in the Campbell House Block, now occupied by the I. O. D. E. as headquarters for the Canadian Soviet Comforts. Anyone wishing to contribute during the week may leave donations with Mr. Vine.

Among those who kindly contributed last week are: Mrs. Melvin Taylor, Mrs. Alec Winters, Mrs. P. D. Lewis R.R. 4, Hayburn Ladies, Mrs. F. Correll, Mrs. (Maj.) Amey, Mrs. Jim McGee, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Leah Russell, Mrs. Earl Penney, and Bath War Workers, S.S. No. 18 North Fredericksburgh Junior Red Cross, Rev. W. R. Merrick, Selby, Miss Mabel Russell.

Several Addresses Heard By Members Home and School Ass'n

At the regular monthly meeting of the Home and School Association, held in the Public School, Ward A, on the evening of Wednesday, February 23rd, Dr V. O. Hart gave an address in Communicable Diseases, followed by a discussion on the subject. C. E. Jamieson, Principal of the N.C.V.I. spoke briefly on vocational guidance and Vocational Guidance and Mrs. W. R. Douglas also spoke on the value of study groups in connection with Home and School Associations.

Mrs. T. Hunt, the president, presided and Mrs. Charles McConnell, the treasurer gave the financial report.

Mrs. W. R. Douglas gave a paper on "The History of the Home and School Association in Canada", in which she stated that the Canadian Association has a membership of two and a half million people and has as its object the promotion of a better understanding between parents and teachers and improvements in education.

United Nations prisoners in enemy hands live mainly on hope and Red Cross food parcels. The men shown above, enjoying Divine Service behind enemy barbed wire, rely on the Red Cross for other things besides food, such as sports equipment, libraries, medical supplies and educational material.

PROVINCIAL GOV'T AND DOMINION GOV'T PROPOSE HEALTH PLANS

Will Give Complete Services to All if Enacted

Pensions Minister Ian Mackenzie submitted to the Social Security Committee of the Dominion Government a draft of revised plan which it passed will provide a complete health service for every citizen of Canada.

The benefits under the plan include:

"Prevention of disease and the application of all necessary diagnostic and curative procedures and treatments, including medical, surgical, obstetrical, dental, pharmaceutical, hospital and nursing benefits and such other ancillary services as may be determined.

There is no provision for cash allowance in case of sickness.

An official summary of the draft says:

"Medical benefits include the services of a general practitioner, consultant, specialist, surgeon, obstetrician, hospitalization and nurse. Nursing in the home is confined to the visiting nurse, except where the circumstances are such that bedside nursing is essential.

"Dental benefit must of necessity be restricted as the number of dentists in Canada is insufficient to provide full and complete dental care for all."

Instead of a flat contribution from all adult individuals of $36 a year under the scheme of last year the new plan calls for flat contributions of $12 a year, but extra contributions based on income. These will be 3 per cent of income for single persons earning more than $660 a year up to a maximum of $30 and 5 per cent for married persons earning more than $1,200 a year up to a maximum of $50.

Following the Dominion Government's announcement of the proposed plan for health insurance the Ontario Government gave notice that it will introduce a health plan for Ontario citizens early in the present session of the Legislature.

Dr. Vivian issued a statement saying that the Government will introduce a bill called "The Ontario Municipal Health Services Act" which will "provide for an improved type of medical care available to all on a basis satisfactory to the medical and allied professions, at a cost within the means of everyone and by a method of payment that will ease the financial burden in the cost of sickness."

The plan "goes much farther" than the municipal doctor system in parts of Western Canada and on St. Joseph Island near Sault Ste. Marie, where four municipalities include a levy in the tax rate to meet the salary of a doctor who gives service without charge to all residents.

Both Dr. Vivian and Premier Drew discussed the proposed legislation later in interviews. The Premier said the Ontario plan would not bar the way to Ontario participation in a federal health scheme "acceptable" to the provincial government.

Dr. Vivian said the plan would be independent of any Dominion legislation but if the Dominion did enact a health plan then the provincial government might consider whether the Ontario scheme could be fitted into it.

Dr. Vivian's statement was issued while the House was in session. There was no reference to it in the Legislature itself.

The statement recalled that the Speech from the Throne had forecastcast health legislation and added that the government has given notice of motion to introduce" the municipal health services act.

SEVERAL FIRE CALLS DURING PAST WEEK

During the past week four fire alarms were answered by the Napanee fire brigade, but fortunately no serious damage was caused by any of the fires. On Monday of last week a chimney fire occurred in a home near the Driving Park. On Tuesday, fire broke out again in the ruins of the block destroyed in the previous Sunday's fire, but was quickly under control.

On Thursday, the firemen were called to the Campbell House where fire was discovered in the floor timber under the kitchen. The blaze was soon extinguished, but some damage was done by smoke and water.

On Monday this week there was a chimney fire at the home of Amos Clark, on West Street but no damage was done.

Magistrate's Court

On Monday, in the Magistrate's Court C. Moore, Napanee, paid fines and costs of $46.80 after pleading guilty to dangerous driving and driving without brakes. The charges were laid after Mr. Moore had been warned by Constable Cook not to proceed north on John Street, where flares had been placed while repairs were being done stretched across the road during the time they were attending a fire which broke out again in the block on the Market Square, which was burned a week ago Sunday.

Mrs. Hazel Gilbert pleaded guilty through her counsel, J. M. Simpson, to careless driving and paid a fine and costs of $8.00.

Sidney Thompson, Kaladar, appeared in court charged with making threats against Amanda Thompson, and was remanded to 2nd for one week, during which time he is to be examined by two doctors to determine his mental condition.

ONTARIO TO AID NEW TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

Toronto, (C.P.) — Dr. R. P. Vivian, Health Minister announced this week the Ontario Government will contribute $125,000 towards erection of a tuberculosis sanatorium in eastern Ontario, the first step if a program calling for the building of similar institutions in other parts of the province, including northern Ontario.

The new sanatorium will contain 160 beds. The project is expected to cost between $550,000 and $400,000 and municipalities will raise the remainder, of the funds.

Dr. Vivian said representatives of county and municipal governments met at Kingston, this week to discuss the project and it is likely agreement will be reached to build the sanatorium near Kingston. There is a 45-bed hospital at Kingston, but additional accommodation must be provided, the minister said.

I know of no point where the long-range interests of the Soviet Union are antagonistic to our own.—Gunner Wilkes.

PTE. CHAS. MARTIN WRITES FROM ITALY

B45862. Pte. Charles Martin,
Central Mediterranean Forces.
February 11th, 1944.

Dear Mother —

Well, here I am again. I have just received your welcoming autograph of December 18th, the first I have had for a long time. The weather here is miserable plenty of mud and it is snowing quite hard right now, and it is hard to keep clean for the mud. I am in a road billet. We are in an old church over six hundred years old. It is warm and dry as the boys have made a box stove and we are very cosy. I saw the mail orderly from the unit I came over with and he said there were packages of all characters besides my Christmas parcels and letters that had come through and he had re-addressed them to me so I'll be getting my Christmas parcels in February.

We get plenty of a pkg. oranges, figs, nuts and bully beef. I saw Bill Judson from Selby the other day also Jerome McHenry and Dusty Moore. Hank Goslin and a tall chap named Brown from Napanee. He said he used to sing in Trinity choir. These last two are in my unit. I was talking to an officer this week with Vernon Davis in fact he was only a few yards from him when he was killed. And he was one of the best men he had and he really died fighting. I also met a chum of Fred Pritchard and he said Fred was getting along fine instead of being captured. Over a dozen Germans were found dead around him. Their spirit is typical of Canadians here and I hope the people back home realize it.

I have seen a lot of country and have travelled plenty in the past two years, and when I get back to Canada I think I'll stay put. Milton and Sunday February 27th. Councillor Kimmerly said he believed the fair grounds needed a shake up and that the Council should not take the blame if there was slackness.

Councillor Wands the Chairman of the Fire and Light Committee in reply to Mr Kimmerly said that in his opinion the firemen had handled the fire as well as possible. He said it is easy for bystanders, who do not offer assistance, to be critical, and it is well to remember that the brigade members are volunteers and are not serving as full-time firemen. During the fire there were great streams of men in and out the men were using all they could procure in order to get water.

Councillor Wands then moved that control for a while.

After some further discussion a motion was moved by Councillors Huffman and Kimmerly and carried that the Council thank the firemen for the recent fire be referred to the Fire and Water Committee to report at a special meeting of Council to be called by the Mayor.

A by-law to strike a special tax rate of four mills for school purposes for 1944 was given its several readings and was passed.

On the recommendation of the Police Committee, pay raises for room licenses was granted to Pte. Gilleran and E. Pidgeon.

A letter was received from the Canadian Department Stores, complaining about seepage of water through the sidewalk into the basement of the Napanee store and the matter was referred to the Streets Committee, with instructions to consult with the Town Solicitor before taking action.

Councillor Robson, reporting for the Welfare Committee, stated there were five heads of families with 16 dependents, and seven single persons, a total of 28, who received relief and in January. The total cost of relief to the home by the town was $235.51.

Reeve Dale Chairman of the Finance Committee presented and explained the following items of revenue: Taxes $2614.29; Licenses $23.00; Rents $79.00; Fines and fees $121.30; Refund grants from Province $150.34; Receipts from outside municipalities $114.27; Streets $63.10; Sundry $196.85.

Expenditures included: Printing $89.14; Fire and Water $289.63; Police $565.63; Street lighting $625.40; Streets $617.41; Cemetery $366.16; Health and Sanitation $110.12; Public Welfare $746.10; Education $7,003.09; Parks $7.34; Debenture interest $867.39.

A. S. Kimmerly, Chairman of the Police Department, presented the report of the Chief-of-Police for February which was as follows: Complaints received and investigated 2; accidents investigated 5; doors found unfastened 14; gas pumps found unlocked 1; summons served 3, arrests 8.

During the month of February the following convictions were obtained in court for the town: Five charges under the criminal code, 12 charges under the Liquor Control Act, one charge under the Highway Traffic

PRISONERS OF WAR APPRECIATE RED CROSS PARCELS

In the windows of the Red Cross workrooms on Dundas Street next to the Richelieu Hotel are a number of post cards received by the Red Cross from Prisoners of War in Germany and Italy. The following are some of the messages of appreciation received from these boys regarding the Red Cross parcels they have received.

"The contents which I consider to be an aid to recipient. I appreciated very much. I tender my very best thanks to the Canadian Red Cross."

"Absolutely perfect. Very much indeed appreciated for the parcels planned contents."

"It was a real godsend to us. I have given my self a better chance and above all our state of mind a thousand thanks."

"These parcels are real lifesavers and are appreciated more than any one can realize very many thanks."

"Many thanks for the best thing in a prisoner's life."

"Good old Canada. Keep it up."

"Thanks a Million."

"Received in perfect condition these parcels far excell our hopes and dreams grateful thanks to all concerned from a fed prisoner."

"In perfect condition and fully appreciated. At least one bright moment in a very dull and wet day."

$2.50 WILL BUY ONE PRISONER OF WAR PARCEL. HOW MANY CAN YOU AFFORD? EVERY PRISONER RECEIVES A PARCEL EVERY WEEK.

COUNCIL PETITIONED FOR BUILDING PERMIT FOR NEW CHURCH

Propose to Erect Building on Bridge St. W.

Pastor Rabbie, leader of the Apostolic Mission, which was located in Mrs. Allen's block on the Market Square until the building was badly damaged by fire on Sunday, February 27th, made application to the Napanee Town Council at its meeting on Monday evening for a permit to build a $10,000 church on the lot just west of the home on Bridge St. West recently purchased by Pastor Rabbie's father from Dr. H. J. Beattie. The Clerk, W. A. Grange, was instructed to write Pastor Rabbie advising him that before any action could be taken by the Council a proper plan of the proposed building should be presented to the Council, together with a permit from the Dominion Government for the erection of such a building.

The Apostolic Mission was granted use of the Council Chamber on Sunday afternoons for its meetings until a new place for meetings is located, at a rental to be fixed by the Town Property Committee.

Councillor Kimmerly brought to the attention of the members of the Council criticism of citizens of the town concerning the manner in which the Napanee Fire Brigade handled the fire which destroyed part of the north side of the Market Square on Sunday, February 27th. Councillor Kimmerly said he believed the fair grounds needed a shake up and that the Council should not take the blame if there was slackness.

Councillor Wands the Chairman of the Fire and Light Committee in reply to Mr Kimmerly said that in his opinion the firemen had handled the fire as well as possible. Pte. [illegible] Desoronto.

Additions to List Fire Sufferers

In the account of the fire which destroyed the building on the Market Square on Sunday, February 27th, it was stated that Mrs. Mary Ann Reid, a widow, lived in the apartment over the store. However, the apartment was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reid and Mrs. Mary Ann Reid.

Mr. Reid, who is employed at the Canada Wire & Cable Co. Ltd., Deseronto, and Mrs. Reid, who is employed at the Napanee Fire Brigade Hall, had lived in the apartment for the past three years. Their daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Reid, lived in the apartment with her parents.

CLEARING DEBRIS BURNED BUILDINGS ON MARKET SQUARE

Work is progressing on the clearing of debris from the burned buildings on the Market Square, which were destroyed by fire on Sunday, February 27th. This has been a difficult task, as the debris is piled high in the basements of the buildings.

Electric power has been restored to the buildings which were damaged by the fire, and the electric wiring in the buildings which were not damaged by the fire has been repaired.

No plans have been announced by the owners of the buildings as to when they will be rebuilt, but it is understood that building operations will commence as soon as the debris has been cleared away.

English Airman Visits Relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cool

L.A.C. Ronald A. Cook, R.A.F., Twin Islands, Manitoulin, Ontario, who is taking a course at the Royal Air Force Station, Port Albert, Ontario, was the guest for a few days this past week at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Cook and Mrs. Cook.

L.A.C. Cook who is about twenty years of age had never seen his Canadian relatives who have been residents of Canada over forty years and have resided in Napanee for 3 years.

F. MACPHERSON, WILTON, ADDRESSES NAP. LIONS CLUB

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club at the Superior Restaurant, Mr. Fred MacPherson, Wilton, was the guest speaker for the evening. Following the usual routine of business Mr. MacPherson was introduced by Lion Arnold Rogers and was thanked for a thought-provoking address by Lion Reg. Bowen.

Mr. MacPherson spoke on the "Four Freedoms" and traced down through the ages starting with the Ten Commandments, the various charter enacted for the benefit of mankind. He dwelt at length on the Atlantic Charter, of recent date and stressed the need for debating groups, forums and other gatherings of similar nature to help put in force the nucleus legislation for a same and better understanding between all nations.

Following his address Mr. MacPherson entertained the visitors and club members with some clever caricatures, which were greatly enjoyed by those present.

"No need of sending anything to me or any parcel. I am getting everything from the Red Cross."

A WORD OF WARNING

Graham Towers, Governor of The Bank of Canada, in his annual report to the Minister of Finance has given a word of warning as to the future of Canada. Revival of the old fiscal policies which hampered trade, through quotas, tariff restrictions and embargos, will have results similar to those which prevailed after the First World War. To follow that policy will lead to depressions in the opinion of Mr Towers. Mr. Towers points out that because of the specialized character of Canada's resources and the comparatively small population, it will be essential for Canada to have the benefit of a large export trade. But to have that trade means, as well, that Canada will have to be willing to import a great many goods which Canada needs and cannot produce.

This, of course, is axiomatic and yet it needs to be said. It is a great thing for this country that a man of Mr Towers' position and influence has said it. There will be those who will not agree with him. There will be powerful interests which benefit because tariff walls and all the paraphernalia of an economic isolationism that will want to see the old order of things established. But in this, as in some other areas of life, old things have passed away and any attempt to re-establish them in their old forms is doomed to failure.

"If sensible international arrangements cannot be worked out," Mr. Towers said, "Canada, like most other countries, will presumably have no choice but to adopt increasingly nationalistic economic policies. Growing economic and political frictions between countries would inevitably result and it is hard to believe that any nation would deliberately choose such a course if all its implications were clear."

Well! That is Mr. Towers' warning. Economic nationalism has been tried in the balance and found wanting. In the new world, trade must be made fluid and not restricted.

INFLATION — AND TAXES

"The Evening Telegram" Toronto, Monday, had an interesting editorial on "Illusory Prosperity greases the skids to Bankruptcy." In this the Toronto paper argues that we are enjoying an illusory prosperity at the present time. It says:

"The result has been an entirely illusory prosperity which has apparently hypnotized leaders in public life and every governing body from the Dominion Government down to the Board of Education has been infected with the disease.

"The brutal truth is that Canada right now is suffering from serious inflation. How serious it is may be judged by the fact that leaders in public talk and act as though Canada was enjoying unusual prosperity and therefore now is the time to spend.

"It is true that employment is at a high peak and many people have more money than they ever had before and are enjoying a higher standard of living but the country is heading for bankruptcy unless the Government has the political courage to put on the brakes.

"Any person who is not a financial nitwit must know that spending billions on the creation of merchandise that is designed entirely for purposes of destruction is not the road to prosperity. It is unfortunately necessary to provide these implements of destruction because we are engaged in a struggle for self preservation. And we are providing them by mortgaging the country's resources because there is no other way. This means enormous increase in the amount of currency in circulation which is inflation pure and simple much as we dislike the word, but it would be much safer and saner to term it inflation which it actually is rather than call it prosperity which it definitely is not."

With this general thesis we are inclined to agree. And yet we have had a bit of a headache lately trying to figure out how we can pay the amount due on our income tax, help the Red Cross and do a bit for the War Loan which begins on April 24th. There may be more money around than ever before but the Government is syphoning it off at a pretty lively rate — and our people are not grumbling.

"THE TIMES" PROPOSAL

The London Times has come out with a strong editorial in which the paper that, to some extent reflects government opinion, suggests that after the war, Germany be not divided, but that it be maintained as a strong united nation. The main reason for this, The Times holds, is that to divide Germany would lead to future wars. Antagonism and burning hatreds would be engendered and these, sooner or later, would flare up into a real conflagration.

The Times, in taking a long view of the subject, is on solid ground. Germany will be defeated. The accomplishment of that task is the first concern of the United Nations. What then ? How is the problem of Europe to be solved. After the First Great War, Europe was cut up into a lot of small nations. The plan did not work. The solution lies in keeping Germany united, but in seeing that a new spirit is infused into the German political bloodstream. The German nation is a strong, vigorous, virile people. They have a great contribution to make to the good of mankind. But they must be taught that war does not pay. For the first time in a hundred years they are learning that lesson, now. The wars which they have instigated in the past have been fought on the other fellow's territory. This time the Germans are feeling the full weight of what war means. Their towns villages and cities are being destroyed. War may be a glorious exploit or adventure when carried on away from home. It is quite a different matter, as the Germans are now discovering, when it is fought out on one's own territory. That is the first lesson that Germany is learning to-day — that war does not pay.

Having learned that the German people will be ready for the next lesson—that if they are to live at all they must live cooperatively with their neighbours, and neighbours may mean, all people. There is no way to make the German people see this; they must learn it for themselves. Any attempt on the part of the United Nations to preach to the German people will be resented, and will do more harm than good. They must, of their own free will and accord, learn to be neighbourly.

This does not mean that the United Nations have no responsibility in the matter. Stern measures must be taken against those who have brought about this colossal world tragedy. Any show of leniency will be taken for weakness. Every precaution must be taken to see that the conditions following the First World War are not repeated. Germany must pay for her crime, but having paid she must be given another chance to establish a peaceful rule of the people, for the people, by the people.

GOING DOWN — AND UP!

Dr. L. Harris, M.D., Honorary Director of the Liverpool (England) Institute of Research for the Prevention of Disease, and Honorary Physician of Liverpool and Deputy Director for Diseases of the Heart, has recently issued a little book, born out of his experience. In this book the learned physician makes some interesting comments on the present-day health conditions, based on what he has discovered in his researches in Great Britain. One observation shows the extent in which certain diseases which once ravaged the country have progressively declined. He gives a list of a few of these — a comparison of death rates, based on two periods calculated on the same population, as follows:

| | 1927 | 1937 |
|---|---|---|
| Smallpox | 331 | 1 |
| Measles and Scarlet Fever | 12 501 | 3 |
| Whooping Cough | 7 641 | 2 |
| Typhoid and Typhus | 9 647 | 47 |
| Respiratory Diseases (Tuberculosis) | 37 794 | 4 188 |

This is an amazing record and the gradual decline is continuing since 1937, when this table was compiled.

But while there has been a gradual decline in the death rate due to these diseases, there has been a rapid increase in death due to heart conditions. Dr. Harris shows how great that increase has been in a ten-year period, 1927-1937. In 1927 the number of persons who died of heart disease was 72,100, in 1937, 128,713.

Diseases due to the degeneration of the walls of the heart: in 1927, 29,854; in 1937, 67,923.

Angina pectoris and diseases of the blood vessels of the heart: in 1927, 2,802 in 1937 15,460.

It will be seen that in these diseases the increase of the death rate has been startling. Dr. Harris attributes this to several factors: the high pressure under which we live, the accelerated pace of our advancing life, the strain of the struggle for economic security, worry and mental anxiety.

This study, which is based on British statistics, would probably hold true of this country, too. For we rather pride ourselves on this continent on our speed and efficiency. The modern mechanized civilization may have added much to our comfort, but it has taken years from the lives of those who, because of their training and ability can least be spared. We may have to learn a whole new technique of eating and living if we are to cope successfully with the motorized age. This is but another evidence of the adjustments—in this case physical and mental — that have to be made, as we move out of the horse and buggy stage into that of the automobile and aeroplane.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, MARCH 12TH, 1944

JESUS BETRAYED, DENIED AND CONDEMNED

Lesson Text: Mark 14: 10, 11, 53, 54, 66-72; 15: 12-15

Here we are face to face with one of the greatest tragedies of all time. The noblest the most gracious Man ever to walk this earth, Jesus our Lord, abused, spit upon, mock'd, betrayed. What a commentary on our civilization. Perhaps the most bitter of all the experience of our Master was His betrayal by His friends. Not much is to expected from our enemies. We know what they will do if given the chance We prepare ourselves for this attack. We prepare to defend ourselves against them. It is different, however, when it is our friends who do the betraying—those who have been in our confidence those whom we have trusted, those on whom we have leaned. When they betray us the depths of injury and despair are reached.

That is what heppened to Jesus. He was betrayed by Judas. It has been argued that Judas who was a member of a fanatical nationalist party wanted to force Jesus into declaring Himself as the Messiah and Jesus over. Peter was taken unawares; he was taken off guard. He was cornered by one of the maids. There is some excuse for a man under those conditions doing or saying something for which he would be sorry. Peter was always impulsive, and reacted to the maid's question in a way we might have expected. But Peter did not go out and hang himself. He made amends. He became contrite of heart, and finally got out to do for the Kingdom one of the finest things ever done. He gave tendership to the little group of Christians. He fired them with his own zeal and enthusiasm. Jesus forgave Peter, and Peter having learned his lesson went out and spent the rest of his life in devotion to his Master.

Then Pilate comes into the picture. He was a Roman procurator who held office from 26-36 A.D. He had a difficult role to play in this instance. He was quite convinced in his own mind that Jesus was [illegible]

TO PAY TAXES PROMPTLY

War-time taxes are necessarily so heavy as to be a financial problem for every Canadian. It is advisable to save money to pay taxes promptly, but if through unforeseen circumstances you find yourself without sufficient cash to meet them when due, a bank loan is probably the best solution to your problem. A loan may actually save money for you by enabling you to avoid penalties for overdue taxes.

Our policy in making personal loans is to help Canadian wage-and-salary-earners, professional men and women and business executives to keep financially fit. We therefore make such loans—at very low rates and on easy terms of payment. Do not hesitate to talk over your needs in confidence with the manager of your branch in your own locality.

Conway - Sandhurst

Bath, March 6. — The winter weather has made a number of people feel that signs of an early spring are false. Farmers are making good use of the snow to do their winter teaming.

L.A.C. Ross Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Morton, Conway, and at the W.S. Guelph, is in hospital with mumps.

Our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald French who were married last week. They were welcomed home on Tuesday evening with the customary charivari.

A cablegram received from A.B. Frank Morton, R.C.N.V.R., states he is confined to hospital overseas with throat trouble. This is Frank's second crossing. We sincerely hope for a speedy recovery.

The remains of the late Mr. Fisher who died in New York, were buried in St. Paul's Church cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Ila Carroll, of Napanee, has been ill at her home at Sandhurst. We are wishing for her quick recovery.

Ray Morton, Misses Marguerite and Grace, of Kingston, and Corpl. Mary Phipps of Alberta, now stationed at Rockliffe R.C.A.F. spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Morton, Conway.

Mr. E. Wright, Mrs. F. Ham and Mrs. H. Punchard all of Conway, are on the sick list, and we sincerely hope that they will all be feeling much better soon.

Former Resident of Conway - Sandhurst Passes

Word has been received in this community of the death of one of its earlier residents in the person of Mr. Jack Collins, on February 20th, 1944. He was born in Belfast, Ireland and at the age of four came to Bath with his parents, three brothers and one sister. Upon leaving here in 1901 he attended business college at Chatham and from there entered the auditing department of The Rochester Transit Company. Since 1930 he had been editor and owner of the Webster Herald. He was a man of outstanding ability and all worthy causes had his wholehearted support. He was orphaned at an early age, deprived of educational advantages which are now taken for granted, but succeeded in spite of all handicaps and attained a degree of respected citizenship which any American boy or girl could well emulate.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Collins, 62 Dunning Ave., Webster, N.Y., a son, Pte. Carleton Collins, now stationed in Texas and a daughter, Mrs. Betty Ann Collins, at home. A brother, Mortimer E. Collins, assistant to the general manager of the Northern Alberta Railways, also survives and lives in Edmonton, Alta.

COLEBROOK

Colebrook, March 4. — We sympathize with Mrs. J. Gilliean in the loss of her father, the late Charles Lee. Mr. Lee's death occurred on February 22nd, at the advanced age of 93 years. Mr. Lee was a highly respected citizen and had many friends who will mourn his passing. His funeral was conducted at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Gilliean by his pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher. Special music was furnished by Mr. H. J. Knight and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Love were Sunday guests of their son Mr. Milford Love and Mrs. Love, Wilton.

Mrs. George Price and son, Howard, of Selby, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Purcell.

Miss Charlotte Garrison is spending a week in Sydenham.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mr. Reginald Woodruff and hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cowdy, Mrs. Allory and daughter, Joan, of Murvale were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Riddell.

Mrs. Ida Riddell entertained the members of the Woman's Association on March 1st. The worship service was led by Mrs. Purcell, the theme being "Love." The hymns, scripture reading and prayer were in accord with the theme. Mrs. Love, president, conducted the business. It was decided that each member give a monthly donation towards a bazaar to be held in the fall and also to have a supper at the time the wiring of the church is completed. Mrs. N. Boyce gave a reading. The meeting was closed with prayer, after which the hostess and committee served lunch.

VIOLET

Violet, March 4. — The War Workers' Unit met at the home of the president, Mrs. Ford Scouten, with most of the members present. A quilt was quilted and some other work was finished.

Miss Catherine Sager and Miss Iva Martin spent last Wednesday in Kingston.

Mr. Ernest Lemmon and mother, Mrs. Annie MacDonald, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemmon attended the Pot Luck Supper which was held at Napanee lodge rooms on Friday evening, February 23, under the auspices of the members of the Lennox Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lemmon spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. William Sager.

Miss Coral Martin spent last week end with friends in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hinch and little son, of Camden East, spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens.

Mr. E. Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Forbes has returned home from Kingston General Hospital where he underwent an operation for throat trouble, and is much improved.

Mrs. William Sager's condition remains much the same. All hope she will soon be feeling better.

Mr. Kenneth Valentine, who has been confined to his bed for the past two weeks, through illness, with Dr. Mounce of Newburgh in attendance, is some improved.

Friends and neighbours of Mr. Allen Sager, Sr., will be sorry to know he is confined to his bed through illness, with not much hope of recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemmon and Dorothy, spent Sunday recently with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Boyce, Odessa.

Mrs. Lester Hogle of Odessa, spent a few days last week visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hogle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lemmon spent last Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Switzer, of Yarker.

STELLA

Stella March 6th. — It has been quite cold again this last week, which makes better travelling on the ice. There is a lot of traffic just now. Quite a number are drawing logs to Odessa sawmill and others are drawing feed.

Bruce Caughey and Thos. Cochrane have each purchased new milking machines.

The funeral of the late A. H. Findlay was held last Tuesday. The late Mr. Findlay, or better known as Herman, passed away in Kingston General Hospital after a long illness. He was born on the Island, sixty-two years ago, and spent the most of his life here. He with his parents, moved to the Collins Bay district quite a number of years ago and of late years made his home at Sunbury. He leaves his wife, formerly Emily Turwell; one daughter, Ruth and one sister, Mrs. Lane Kingston. The funeral service was conducted at his late home in Sunbury. He was a member of Burleigh Lodge, L.O.L. No. 482 and also belonged to the Masonic Order. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Geo. Bukih, R. A. Gibson, Clifford Glenn, Bruce Caughey, William Cochrane and Ernest Filson. The remains were placed in the vault to await burial in the family plot at Glenwood cemetery in the spring.

Mrs. C. Glenn and Mrs. A. Drumgoole have returned home after visiting their brothers in Buffalo and Connaught.

Mrs. E. Scott is under the doctor's care.

Quite a number attended the Masonic banquet in Bath on Friday evening last.

MARLBANK

Marlbank, March 6. — The Women's Association held its February meeting at the home of Miss Bessie Allen on Tuesday evening, with the president, Mrs. M. Dutcheson, presiding. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by prayer by Rev. A. W. Seaton. The scripture lesson was read by Beverly Bush in the absence of her mother. The minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Bessie Allen, and approved as read. The roll call was answered by a Bible verse by twenty-three members and four visitors. The business part was then dealt with and it was decided to hold a quilting in the near future. It was also moved to give $10 to the Chinese Relief. A letter was read from Mrs. Wesley Prinzie who is ill, for birthday cards and fruit sent to her on her birthday. A lengthy programme was then enjoyed prepared by Mrs. Burd consisting of readings by Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Burd, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Burd. A duet by Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Seaton was given, followed by a reading by Mrs. W. Asselstine. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction after which a dish contest was enjoyed. Mr. Seaton winning the prize. Lunch money $3.70, birthday money $1.10. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and committee. A vote of thanks was given Miss Allen for the use of her home.

A large congregation attended services in the United Church on Sunday afternoon, when Rev. A. W. Seaton delivered a helpful and inspiring sermon. During the service the infant daughter of P.O. and Mrs. Dale Clausson was baptized Elizabeth Ann. The sum of $55.50 has been subscribed to the Chinese Relief Fund from the members of the United Church.

Pte. Jack Young, W.G., Niagara-on-the-Lake, spent a couple of days here with his family, before being transferred to Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Herkimer Lasher of Sharp's Corners, were Saturday guests of Mrs. Lasher's sister, Mrs. James Wyate and Mr. Wayte. They also visited at Mr. Lasher's father's, W. Lasher.

Mrs. Jas. McCarey and Doreen of Kingston, were last week end guests of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Lewis.

The friends here of Mrs. Adam Wayte are sorry to hear of her illness and hope for her speedy recovery. Her niece, Lorna Arnold, is with her.

Mr. Paul Burd and sister, Lillian, of Kingston, were Sunday guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Burd.

Mrs. James Burd spent the week end in Kingston with her daughter, Mrs. C. Whalen.

Pte. and Mrs. Jack Young and Mrs. W. Lewis spent Friday with Kingston friends.

Miss Madeline McTaggart was a recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. McTaggart, Ebenezer.

Mrs. P. Marshall and Mrs. Henry Allen were Friday evening guests of Mrs. Dr. Hunt.

Word has been received here that Pte. Kenneth Tuepah of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, has been wounded somewhere in Italy. Tuepah is a nephew of Mr. E. Baldley of this place and a son of P. J. and Mrs. Tuepah, who were former Marlbank residents, but now live in Yarker.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Frizzell, Toronto, spent over the week end with friends here.

Mr. R. H. York is able to be up around the house after being confined to his bed for three weeks.

S. A. OFFICER TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN LONDON BLITZ

Captain R. E. Hoggard, who was a guest for the week end of his sister, Captain Miriam Hoggard, officer in charge of the Salvation Army, was the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Lennox and Addington Ministerial Association on Monday morning.

Captain Hoggard, who was introduced by his sister, is at present on a holiday, visiting his parents in Toronto, and other relatives in Canada, after being with the British Armed Forces in Trinidad for the past two years. He told a most interesting story of his experiences with the Salvation Army during the Blitz in England, when he was stationed in the outskirts of London. For some time during the worst part of the Blitz he was engaged in evacuating women and children from the danger zones and was able to give his audience a vivid picture of the vast amount of damage done and the loss of life and suffering among the population of London. Later he was in charge of a mobile canteen, which gave out food, blankets, clothing and layettes. The Salvation Army, he said, proved to the people that it was their friend in a practical way, because it gave not only spiritual help but food and clothing. For seven months, Captain Hoggard stated, he did not have more than three hours' sleep a night, "Only the Grace of God", he said, "made it possible to carry on".

Following his visit in Canada with his family, whom he had not seen in five years, Captain Hoggard expects to return to England.

Members of the association present were the President, Rev. G. M. Childley; Captain Miriam Hoggard, Rev. H. Hunt, P. G. Robinson, W. H. Clark, C. D. McLellan, A. C. McCallum, A. W. Seaton, W. R. Merrick, W. G. Fletcher, and Archdeacon Dumbrille.

W. H. Hunter's Funeral Service

The funeral of W. H. Hunter was conducted at his late residence, John St., last Friday afternoon by Rev. G. M. Childley, minister of Trinity United Church, and following the service the Masonic burial service was conducted by members of Union Lodge, No. 9 A.F. & A.M., of which Mr. Hunter had been a member for many years.

Mr. Hunter was one of the best known men in Napanee and a large number of friends attended his funeral. Following the service at the house his body was placed in Riverside cemetery vault, to await burial in the spring.

Honorary pallbearers were Messrs. W. P. Peters, Kingston; Dr. F. C. Wilson, S. C. S. McClue, W. S. Herrington, J. S. Ham and W. R. Wilkes. Active bearers were Messrs. W. S. Wilkes, W. J. Wilkins, F. C. Hogarth, T. H. Herriott, H. L. VanLuven and G. S. Reid.

RATION COUPON CALENDAR

BUTTER — Coupons 50-51 (inclusive) are now valid and expire March 31. Coupon 52 falls due March 22, and coupon 53 March 30th.

TEA OR COFFEE — Coupons 14-29 and E1-4 (inclusive) are now valid and will remain so until declared invalid. Coupons E5 and E6 fall due March 30. E coupons in the ration books of children under twelve are not to be used for the purchase of tea or coffee.

PREFSERVES — Coupons D1-D16 (inclusive) are now valid and remain so until declared invalid. Each is alternately good for one-half pound of sugar.

SUGAR — Coupons 14-28 (inclusive) are now valid and will remain so until declared invalid. Coupon 29 will fall due March 30th.

CANNING SUGAR — P coupons 1-10 in the No. 3 ration book will become valid on dates to be announced for the purchase of sugar for home canning at the rate of one pound per coupon. Alternatively, they may be exchanged, when valid, for preserves coupons at the rate of one P coupon per one preserves coupon.

EVAPORATED MILK — Applications for G coupons for the purchase of evaporated or partly skimmed evaporated milk for infant feeding or medical cases may be made to Local Ration Boards. All such applications for those over two years of age must be supported by medical certificates.

NEW RATION BOOKS — No. 4 consumer ration books will be distributed under the direction of Local Ration Boards, during the week of March 26. Dates and hours will vary and consumers should keep close watch for those applying to their own communities as no late applications will be entertained before April 17. All No. 3 books should be retained after the No. 4 books have been issued, as canning sugar remaining therein will continue to possess value.

• • •

FIRST COUPONLESS
THURSDAY IS COMING

For the first time for months, holders of ration books will soon experience a Thursday without any ration coupon falling due. Because of the suspension of meat rationing, they will draw a blank on Thursday, March 16, when normally one of the series of meat coupons would have fallen due.

REPATRIATED MEN THANK RED CROSS FOR ITS HELP

Everyone who contributes to the current National Campaign for funds of the Canadian Red Cross can rest assured that it is more than worthwhile. The stories being told by repatriated men of the Forces returning from the "twilight existence" in enemy held territory testify to that.

The rations doled out by the detaining power are meagre, and without the weekly inflow of supplies through the Red Cross, men behind barbed wire would soon weaken and sicken and become unbelievably miserable.

Again and again, the repatriated tell of Russian prisoners denied the life-saving stream of food parcels who died like flies, from malnutrition and lack of proper attention.

Sports equipment and books, forwarded by the Red Cross, have made the difference between monotony and a livable existence for prisoners of war. British and Allied prisoners who also come under the benefit of Canadian Red Cross parcels have warm praise for their worth.

The "proof of the pudding" is found in this unvarying mass of praise, voiced by all repatriates. The activities of the Canadian Red Cross Society . . . . the generous contributions of loyal Canadians throughout the Dominion, and the energy and care that has gone into the packing and sending of shipments of supplies, has proven its worth.

Many lives have been saved. Many more lives will be saved. From the beginning of wartime campaigns for funds, Canadians have made plain the fact that they feel that the Canadian Red Cross does take good care of our men Overseas, our men in prison camps — our "Brothers" who have been bombed and made destitute through enemy action.

This year . . . with the war reaching its decisive phase . . . Canadians are being asked to give a little more. The need is greater. Canadian Red Cross is depending on YOU!

FEW PITFALLS IN DISTRIBUTION OF NEW RATION BOOK

Consumers who recall the procedure adopted in connection with the distribution of earlier ration books will scarcely encounter any difficulty in connection with the issuance of the No. 4 books towards the close of the present month, as the program which is being followed differs only in two or three minor instances from that previously in force.

As before, consumers, if well advised, will watch local newspaper advertising for the list of their distributing centres and the hours during which they will be open. This is important not only because dates and hours of distribution will differ between communities but because the location of the centres may have been changed from the time of the No. 3 book distribution.

When they attend one or other of these centres, they will take their No. 3 books with them after having filled out in full the red application card RB-99 at the rear and signed it themselves, making certain that the county space is also filled out. If they live in the country or a distributing centre is otherwise inaccessible to them, they may place their ration books in the care of an adult neighbor to receive the new books, but children must not be entrusted with this responsibility. Under these circumstances the consumer must deface the book with all the spaces on the application card filled out to the person who is representing him or her.

The No. 3 books should not be surrendered at the time of the distribution of the new books, because the first 10 of the P coupons contained in them will become valid for the purchase of canning sugar at later dates and it is altogether likely that meat coupons after No. 40 will also have eventual value.

The campaign will get under way on March 26 but this does not mean, it should be again emphasized that dates of distribution will be identical throughout the Dominion or even in neighbouring communities. Each Local Ration Board is responsible for the distribution within its own territory and is setting up distributing centres with a view to meeting local conditions which frequently vary from place to place and district to district. Hence the importance of the consumer making certain that he is familiar with the whereabouts of the centres in his own neighborhood and the hours during which they will be open. If he fails to receive his new ration book at that time, he will have to wait until April 17 to get it.

I. O. D. E. NOTES

The March meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Chapter of the I. O. D. E., was held in the Legion Room on Monday, March 6th. Mrs. O. S. Reddick, Secretary, read the minutes of the February meeting and of the annual meeting. The Regent, Mrs. D. R. Hall, distributed "Consumers' News" to the members.

Donations of books and money will continue to be received for Camp Libraries. Last month 1,050 magazines were sent to Toronto I. O. D. E. Magazine Depot, and 187 magazines to Veterans' Guard at Bowmanville Internment Camp.

Mrs. Lewis, War Work Convener, reported 72 pair socks, 7 scarves, 6 pair gloves, 13 sweaters, 2 pair mitts, 15 turtle-neck tuck-ins, 2 fur jerkins, 9 pair large pyjamas and 3 pair small pyjamas were sent to I. O. D. E. headquarters in Hamilton. Also 10 quilts and 45 other articles of clothing enclosed for British clothing relief.

Mrs. Alpine Woods read the War Work Treasurer's report. Tribute was paid to Mrs. Andrew Egan, War Work Treasurer, and best wishes conveyed for her continued improvement in health.

Mrs. J. Diamant, educational secretary, read a letter from the mother of a pupil in the I.O.D.E.'s adopted school at Germania, thanking her for the present of clothing sent at Christmas. Mrs. Diamant also read articles on Ukranian and Russian Canadians, from a booklet, "Canadians All," by Wr. Watson Kirkonnell of MacMaster University, which stated that the second generation Ukranians are interested in peotry, handicraft, folk music, embracing educational ideals. They work hard for the Canadian war effort.

The census taken in 1931 revealed 60,000 Russians, including 17,000 Doukhobors. The majority are adopting Canadian ways and are taking their place in the national life of the country. There are many brilliant graduates of science music, literature chemistry, bacteriology and outstanding members of the medical and legal professions. Organizations bringing articles for the adopted Russian town Ahtirka, may enclose letters, descriptive literature and pictures of Napanee and district with their donations. Letters from school children may be exchanged.

A letter from headquarters was read urging more knitting for the services and urgently requesting an increase in the work. The quota for the I. O. D. E. throughout Canada is one article per member each month.

A request was also made for garments for Polish children and youths who are now in Palestine. Cotton print dresses and bloomers are wanted and cotton shorts for boys, also good used clothing may be sent.

Two new members were welcomed into the Chapter and the Regent read the aims and objects and the meaning of the badge of the Order.

The Right to Get Ahead

IN THIS NEW WORLD a man has had the right to speak and write and worship in his own way. He has enjoyed the right, too, to work at what suited him and to get ahead according to his talents. A real man strives to make his own way in the world. He takes the rough with the smooth.
He safeguards his own future by his own frugality and thrift.

ENERGY AND ENTERPRISE built Canada's prosperity. Without these rugged qualities we should never have gained the prestige we enjoy in the world today. Now we are defending the common man's right to make the most of this heritage of freedom.
The man who is free to prosper is also free to protect himself and provide independence for himself and his family.

FOR GENERATIONS, in good times and bad, the common man has relied on life insurance for protection.
Life insurance has grown into a great co-operative partnership of the whole people.
Only through this partnership can a man create an immediate estate for himself out of what he earns.
Mass enterprise and mass usefulness of over four million policyholders have provided every man and woman with the means of securing at low cost the certainty of a cushioned future.

It is good citizenship to own

RED CROSS NEWS

The regular weekly tea was held in the Red Cross rooms on Saturday afternoon with a splendid attendance. Mrs. D. Mytheand Mrs. R. Sharpe were the tea-hostesses.

A very interesting talk on army life in England was given by Capt. J. A. Egan, who has recently returned from overseas. He mentioned that the morale of the troops is very high and stated that lots of mail and cigarettes are important in keeping it so.

Miss Jean MacPherson of Toronto, who has been in England forming Overseas Clubs, spoke of the fine group of men who frequent these clubs. She also mentioned that all blankets and quilts for the sleeping quarters were supplied by the Red Cross.

The regular monthly business meeting was a part of the programme on Saturday afternoon.

In Loving Memory

YORK — In tender, loving memory of our beloved son and brother Flying Officer Lorne Herbert York, whose plane fell into the sea at Gibraltar March 12th. 1943

An Airman Soared Away —
He went away to a Land, Up There
Where the author and lecturer, on
His heart was brave he was unafraid.
For his was a soul of which heroes are made.

With twinkling eye, and a laughing "Good bye —
His soul took flight to a World on High
Where never a sound of guns is heard;
For love is the text of every word.
He was loved on earth, but needed up there;
His youth, his laughter, his joking to share
With those who on earth were filled with care
In a world where sadness is everywhere.

The welkin' in Heaven is ringing to-day
With voices of boys who flew away
Into the skies like songbirds do,
Not moaning and crying but shouting "Adieu!"

Heaven would not be a garden fair
If only the sick and the aged were there.
Ranger of the air! We'll be seeing you,
When the peace you have fought and died for comes true.

Sadly missed by
FATHER, MOTHER,
BROTHERS, SISTERS.

COX — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother Margaret Cox, who passed away March 4th, 1943.
And since she's gone it's not the same.
The world is bleak and bare;
I miss her every place I look
And the just isn't there.
I love to think, when life is done,
Wherever Heaven may be
That she will be standing at the door
Up there, to welcome me.

Sadly missed by

MORE POULTRY PROFITS
from EARLIER LAYING and STRONGER HENS!
Pullets raised on "Miracle" Growing Mash or home mashes made with "Miracle" Growing Mash Supplement may be brought to laying as early as twenty weeks old—a saving in feeding, and earlier profits from the flock. And when they reach this stage the birds are stronger—able to keep up high egg production longer without drawing down their health. The cost of "Miracle" Growing Mash is made up many times over by the earlier laying time and greater egg production.

TELL STORIES OF PRIVATION IN PRISON CAMPS

From the repatriated come stories of privation and hunger, misery and want in the prison camps of the enemy.

Flight-Lieut. A. Malloch, R.A.A.F., of New South Wales, spent more than a year in an Italian prison camp. He was captured by a Berman motor lorry unit when he parachuted from his burning reconnaissance plane after it had been attacked by German fighters over the Lybian desert.

Two of his 'crew were killed and the third sent to prison camp in Germany. Malloch still carries the scars of his battle wounds.

This is what he has to say about Red Cross: "One has to be a prisoner to realise just what the Society does. It is something staggering. When you are hungry it feeds you. When you are sick it cares for you. When you are ill-clad, it clothes you, and when you are bored it sends you books to read . . "

Malloch's statement continues: "If you have never been hungry it is hard to realise what a Red Cross food parcel means. Hunger gets so bad it keeps you awake at night, wondering if you ought to eat the few scraps of bread you have managed to save and hide away as a reserve.

"Many of us can say that we owe our existence to the Red Cross Society. We shall always be grateful to those people who have devoted so much of their time and money to our welfare."

There are many men like Malloch who wait for the brown pasteboard packets of food that go out from the five packing bureaus in Canada. Seven million such food parcels have been shipped since the beginning of the war.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! You have probably been using your egg beater more than usual during the last month or two. If so, you may have wondered sometimes just when egg whites were beaten enough. One recipe will say, "add beaten egg whites" and another "beat eggs until firm and glossy but not dry."

There is no set stage at which egg whites are beaten enough. It is a case of "it all depends." That is, you beat egg whites to different stages for different purposes. For example, when making a meringue topping for a pie or folding in an angel cake mixture egg whites should be beaten only until they are a soft foam. The air bubbles are small and the beaten whites are glossy and moist but form soft, rounded peaks.

Fairly stiff beaten eggs are used in making omelets, souffles, cake frostings and meringues. In this case the whole mass is glossy yet stiff enough to slip from the bowl intact. The peaks are pointed and you should be able to cut clearly through the whites. If, however, you beat egg whites any stiffer than this, they will be dry and look dull. Small flakes or lumps appear, which will spoil the texture of the mixture to which the egg white is added.

Several things affect the way an egg white acts when you beat it. One is that eggs at room temperature will beat more rapidly than those taken directly from the refrigerator. Another is that the thicker the egg white, the longer it takes to beat it, but the foam does stand up better. It is amazing how much egg white is left in the shell, so scrape each shell out after you have carefully separated the yolks and whites.

Grandmother has always beaten egg whites with a quick round click of the wrist on a cold plate — using a favourite fork, but any fork does the job. A good rotary beater is a good whip to use in a shallow cold bowl, but they are as scarce as the electric beater, which does the job easily for you.

And then, if sugar is to be added to egg whites, use fine granulated sugar, adding the required amount gradually.

Hot Water Sponge Cake

One cup flour one and one-half teaspoons baking powder one-quarter teaspoon salt, two eggs, one cup sugar, six teaspoons of hot water, half-tablespoon lemon-juice.

Sift the flour, measure it, add the salt and sift it again. Separate the whites and yolks of the eggs, and beat the yolks until they are thick and lemon-coloured. Add the sugar gradually and beat again. Add the lemon juice and hot water and mix thoroughly. Fold in the flour alternately with the stiffly beaten egg-whites. Be careful not to beat the cake at this stage. Bake in a floured sheet or loaf tin in electric oven sheet, 325 deg. F. 30 minutes—loaf 300 deg. to 325 deg F. 40 to 60 minutes).

Coffee Frosting

One unbeaten egg-white seven-eighths cup granulated sugar, three tablespoons cold coffee.

Place all ingredients in the top of a double boiler. Place over boiling water and beat with beater for seven minutes. Beat and spread on cake.

Fish Fondue

One cup milk, one cup soft bread crumbs, one tablespoon butter, one-quarter teaspoon salt, three eggs fish.

Scald the milk, add bread crumbs, butter and salt. Add egg yolks, slightly beaten. Cool to lukewarm Add one to one and a half cups meat or fish, drained and flaked or chopped. When ready to bake, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish and bake in an electric oven at 350 deg. F. for 45 to 50 minutes. Yield six servings.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. W. S. suggests:

Burnt Sugar Pudding

Two egg yolks beaten, one tablespoon white sugar, two tablespoons corn starch, two cups of milk boiled, teaspoon vanilla three tablespoons brown sugar.

Make boil with starch pudding by beating one and one-half cups milk and adding a paste made of sugar, corn starch, egg yolks and vanilla with a little of the half-cup milk. Put three tablespoons brown sugar in frying pan and carmelize, stirring constantly. When liquified, stir in one-quarter cup boiling water. Let mixture cook a bit in two egg whites beaten until firm and glossy.

Answer: This is a dessert to be recommended to serve your best friends.

Note: The incorrect amount of sugar in the oatmeal cookie recipe was about two weeks ago. We heard from thirteen people who said they had tried them and we are truly sorry this happened. The amount should have been one and one-quarter cups sugar, NOT two and one-quarter cups.

ANNE ALLAN invites you to write to her care of The Napanee Beaver. Send in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

GAIN FROM EXPERIENCE

It is officially estimated that there were close to three quarters of a million new gardens and gardeners in Canada last year. Instead of golf, fishing and baseball scores being discussed over luncheon and dinner tables, thousands of men and women who never before planted a single vegetable were waxed eloquent over the progress of their carrots, cucumbers and corn.

DIG IT WELL

A great deal of useful experience was gained from Victory Gardens and some lessons learned. Most important of the latter was the need for thorough preliminary cultivation. In a great many cases this was not done last year and as a result the gardener was on his knees half the summer fighting twitch and other weeds that should have been thoroughly eradicated in the first place.

Where at all possible the experts advise fall plowing or digging of the land to be gardened. Then it should be cultivated thoroughly again in the spring. The objective is to have the soil worked up, fine and free of weeds, especially twitch, before the seeds are planted. Rather than rush in the radish, carrots and peas at the first opportunity, old-timers advise waiting for another week if necessary, and in the meantime cultivating thoroughly and deeply. This extra work before the rows are planted will repay itself many times over in the hoeing and weeding it saves later, after the garden is planted.

HAVE A PLAN

Even the tiniest and simplest Victory Garden will benefit from a plan. In fact when space is extremely limited a plan is often more vital because it saves room.

In planning, minimum widths between rows range from twelve inches for such narrow things as lettuce, carrots, beets, to fifteen inches for beans and spinach, to eighteen inches for corn, tomatoes and potatoes. These distances it should be remembered are minimum. If more can be afforded, cultivation, weeding thinning and other care will be easier.

Space can be saved by alternating quick maturing things like radish, lettuce and spinach, with longer maturing vegetables such as swiss chard, beets, carrots and beans. The first named will be up and used before the latter require all the space. Another old-time saving device is to plant squash, pumpkins, cucumbers along the edge of the garden or the edge of the corn rows.

NEED SUPPLY

Seed supplies are not going to be exactly plentiful this spring, but in general the situation is improved slightly from a year ago. Dealers are confident that they can meet all demands if orders are placed early and some leeway is allowed in varieties. It may not always be possible to get the exact variety of carrot, bean or tomato wanted, but at least something very similar will be available.

MELROSE

Melrose, March 4 — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. F. Davis, with a good attendance on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. English spent Saturday in Kingston.

BANKING IS ADAPTABLE

...it changes constantly to me

this country's changing need

FOR INSTANCE...

Ever wonder where your ration coupons go? The answer is that your grocer takes your sugar, butter and other coupons to his bank, which acts as the government's agent in identifying and accounting for millions of spent coupons. This vast bookkeeping job—known as "Ration Coupon Banking"—is just one of the new, additional assignments which the banks have assumed as part of their wartime service.

Another is the payment, on behalf of the government, of certain subsidies arising out of wartime price control. Still another is the handling of exchange transactions as agents of the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

At the same time the banks have arranged facilities to serve military establishments and new war industry centres alike.

Through loans to industry and agriculture, they have helped increase the supply of raw materials, weapons and food.

They have acted as issuing agents for approximately $5,700,000,000 worth of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, as well as lending direct financial aid to the government through short term loans.

...All this in the face of widespread staff changes resulting from enlistments of 8,360 trained bank employees.

The war emergency has proved the readiness and ability of Canada's banks to adapt their services to new conditions. It has proved, once again, the strength of your banking system, which is providing a firm base of financial service for the greatest economic effort in the nation's history, and will with equal resourcefulness meet the challenge of the years ahead.

Your Dollars are Needed Now!

With thousands of Our Boys in prison camps lacking adequate food and clothing, it is essential that the weekly RED CROSS SHIPMENTS of parcels be continued at an ever increasing rate.

Having this in mind the staffs of The Gibbard Furniture Shops Ltd., and Lennox Lumber Company Ltd., have again contributed of their time and resources to the RED CROSS CAMPAIGN.

As in previous Campaigns, the amount contributed by their Employees has been doubled by each of these Firms.

GIVE THAT THEY MAY LIVE

"If it hadn't been for the RED CROSS we wouldn't be alive now!"

"It was the Red Cross parcels that gave us courage . . ."

"I don't know what we would have done without Red Cross parcels"

"The Red Cross did another great job there . . ."

HERE is evidence that cannot be denied . . . unsolicited praise for Red Cross straight from the hearts of repatriated war prisoners, men who have been through it and know from first hand experience just what it is all about.

Thousands of their comrades are still in enemy hands. Help Red Cross bring each one of them back with the same wonderful story to tell, a story of Red Cross light in the very shadow of death.

Over 39% of the money you give is earmarked for prisoners of war. Give generously that this amount will swell to meet the growing need. What we've done is small to what we've yet to do!

Women's Institute

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. T. Milligan with a fair attendance. The president conducted the opening with the code and creed. Roll call was answered by giving the title of an interesting book. Thank you letters were read from different members. During the business $2 was voted to the Red Cross Canadian Arrangements were made for the social evening to be held in place of the regular meeting in March. The husbands are to be invited. Mrs. Milligan kindly invited us to her home for that meeting. The afghan that the Institute is presenting to the Red Cross was on display More yarn was distributed for more socks. The programme followed. Miss Mary [illegible] and a pleasant social was enjoyed.

Chimney Fire

The villagers were given another alarm on Wednesday, about 1.30 p.m. when the home of Dan Gilmour was threatened with fire. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour were away at the time. Mrs. Gilmour was only a short distance out of the village, attending a quilting at the home of Mrs. Fred Milligan. She arrived home shortly after the neighbours had arrived and had it fairly well under control. By using chemicals and water it was kept from spreading and no damage was caused except by smoke through the house.

Personals

A large number of Masonic brethren as well as other of his friends, attended the funeral of the late H. A. Carscallen, in Enterprise. Mr. Carscallen is widely known throughout this district, having a large fire insurance business here.

FORMER NAPANEE BOY DECORATED—WITH A. A. F.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Leary, of Antwerp, N.Y., former residents of Napanee, recently received word that their nephew Technical Sergt. Jas. R. Leary, who is attached to the 8th A.A.F. bomber squadron, in England, had just completed his 25th bombing flight over Nazi targets in Europe. For his achievements as a "Fortress" crewman, Sergt. Leary has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three oak clusters.

Sergt. Leary also holds the Order of the Purple Heart, conferred on him because of a wound in the right arm received in combat with Nazi anti-aircraft during a mission in which he brought down a German plane. The gunner in his plane was wounded, but Sergt. Leary stayed in his position after he himself was wounded, to help ward off other attacking fighters.

Sergt. Leary is the younger son of Mr. Ben. Leary of Napanee and was born in Napanee.

Magistrate's Court

In the Magistrate's Court, Thursday, Orval Gibson paid a fine and costs of $18.00, after pleading guilty to speeding on the highway.

Maurice Baldwin for failing to stop at an intersection, paid $5.00 fine and costs.

In the Magistrate's Court on Monday, Mrs. Mildred Lockridge paid a fine of $10.00 and costs for keeping liquor in a place other than a residence. The liquor found was ordered confiscated by the Magistrate. Mrs. Lockridge's home was declared a public place a few weeks ago after she was convicted of a breach of the Liquor Control Act.

William Storms, for careless driving, paid a fine of $15.00 and costs of $3.00.

William J. Cirtis, for speeding paid $15.00 and costs.

Signs of Early Spring

W. A. Thompson, while cutting wood on the farm of Maurice Thompson, on March 6th, found pussy willows bursting out of buds, which he considers is unusually early and an indication of early spring.

Another good sign was reported by Mr. Stan Huffman of Napanee, who came upon a caterpillar crawling on the sidewalk, while out for a walk last Sunday.

$3000 COLLECTED FOR RED CROSS BY CANVASSERS

Objective $7000

The results from the 1944 Red Cross Membership Campaign in the County of Lennox and Addington indicate that the public is very generous in the support of the Red Cross. It is expected that the canvassers in the Town of Napanee will complete their canvass by the end of this week. The canvassers in the rural school sections throughout the County will probably not have their canvass completed until another week or so.

$3 000 has been collected to date and turned into campaign headquarters and it is believed that by the time the canvass is completed the objective of $7.000 will be passed by a substantial margin. The need of the Red Cross for funds to carry on the many important activities in connection with the war is realized by every one and indications are that the present appeal for members is being very generously supported.

Odessa were thereby directly threatened. The Russians also made further advances in other sections of the Ukraine.

An attack of 3,000 to 4,000 Japanese on United States positions at Empress Augusta Bay on Bougainville Island, in the Solomon area was repulsed on Saturday last and about one-third of the attacking force was killed.

NEWS ITEMS ABOUT MEN AND WOMEN IN THE ARMED FORCES

Friends of Flying Officer L. G. Coons, son of Mrs. M. A. Eppelett, of Morrisburg, formerly of Napanee, were interested in seeing his picture in the Saturday edition of the Globe and Mail. The picture was taken in India, where P.O. Coons in stationed.

Gnr. Dick Davis of Petawawa spent last week end with his relatives at WestPlain, Selby and Napanee, and with friends at Lime Lake.

Bdr. Thos. Winters is reported to be recuperating after an appendicitis operation, in England.

LAC Collins, W.A., who has been on Ferry Command at Dorval, Que., for the last three months left Friday for Vancouver, B.C., where he has been posted. LAC Collins spent a day in town, with his wife and daughters Ann and Linda, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Collins, before leaving.

SERIOUS CHARGES FACE THREE MEN

Hugh Hicks and John Rants, of Oshawa, and James Dillinger, alias Bernard Martin, Toronto, who last Thursday were in police court charged with having a meal at the Grand Cafe and failing to pay, came up before Magistrate Garvin again on Monday after spending the intervening period in gaol.

On Monday, Hicks and Hants were also charged with unlawful possession of a national registration certificate which had been altered.

Dillinger was charged with being in possession of a registration certificate not lawfully issued to him and also with counselling two other persons to commit the offense of evading military service.

At the request of Coulnsel for the accused, A. M. Simpson, K.C., the Magistrate remanded the three young men in custody for another week when the case will be proceeded with.

Mr. P. E. Cook Died Suddenly in Detroit

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cummings received word this week of the sudden death at Detroit, Michigan, of their son-in-law, Mr. Percy E. Cooke as the result of a heart attack. Mr. Cooke's body will be brought to Napanee on Thursday, noon, and will be placed in Riverside vault to await burial at a later date, in the cemetery at Morven.

Mr. Cooke was born in Chicago but had lived for number of years in Detroit, where he met and married his wife, the former Belle Cummings.

Mrs. Agnes Reid Home From New Zealand

Mrs. Agnes Reid, who has been residing in New Zealand for the past four years, with her brother, Peter Scott, returned to Napanee last week and is with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Reid, in Moscow, at the present time.

Mrs. Reid came by boat to San Pedro, in Southern California, a week before her arrival in Napanee. This is her second trip from New Zealand and she plans to remain in Napanee with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Cairns.

Her son Sergt. George Reid, R.C.C.S., who has been in Canada for the past several months, after serving overseas for some time, was granted a special leave in order to see his mother and has again rejoined his unit in Eastern Canada.

Mrs. Reid went to Scotland with her brother in 1939, just before the war broke out, with the intention of visiting relatives for several months, but returned to Canada within a few weeks. After staying in Napanee for a short time, she and her brother went to her brother's home in New Zealand, where she remained for several months, after which she came home for a visit. She again returned to New Zealand after a few months, but now, since returning again to Napanee, she intends to stay here permanently.

"He said he would lay the earth at my feet," said the sentimental girl.

"Yes," answered the practical sister "it sounds good, but it isn't practical. You already have the earth at your feet. What you want is a three-or-four-storey house over your head!"

R.C.M.P. ARRESTS LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE JEHOVAH'S WITNESS SECT

Charge Homer K. McKay Failed to Comply with Call-Up Notice

Homer Kenneth McKay, who has been representative in Napanee for the past several months of the Jehovah's Witness Sect, and has been making house-to-house calls in the town, was arrested last week, byt the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for failing to report for military training.

The charge laid against Mr. McKay reads as follows: "That unlawfully, being a man subject to the National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, he failed to report within the time limited by and in accordance with the terms of an order 'Military Training', given to him under the National Selective Service Mobilization regulations."

Mr. McKay appeared before Magistrate Garvin on Thursday, when he asked for an adjournment of his case for a week, to allow him to secure counsel. The Magistrate granted an adjournment until Monday of this week. Bail was set at $5,000, of which $1 000 was to be cash and failing to secure the necessary bail. Mr. McKay spent the interval between Thursday and Monday, in gaol. On Monday, he appeared before Magistrate Garvin again and after producing a telegram from his counsel in Toronto, asked for a week's further remand, which the Magistrate granted.

Mr. McKay presented five reasons why he considered he had been held in gaol for four days, illegally, none of which the Magistrate considered valid. Mr. McKay claimed the adjournment from last Thursday to Monday was not long enough to allow him to prepare his case. He stated that in several similar cases in Toronto that bail has been granted and a much lower figure. He said he was illegally held in gaol because he was a minister of the gospel and that he also had the option of being tried by a judge and jury.

The Magistrate refused to accept any of Mr. McKay's reasons that he was being held illegally in gaol and said that for all he knew, Mr. McKay might have been called up for military service months ago and should be ashamed of himself as red-blooded Canadian men were giving their lives for their country.

Mr. McKay objected to the Magistrate's demand for a cash bail of $500 and asked that it be changed to a property bond. Jehovah's Witness money, he said, was used to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ, to which the Magistrate replied that he was not interested in listening to a dissertation on religion.

Checker Tournament At Belleville On April 10th, 1944

The Eastern Ontario Checker Tournament will be held in Belleville, Ontario, on Easter Monday April 10 1944, at the hour of 2 p.m., when the winner of the tournament will be presented with the beautiful Silver Trophy. Other cash prizes will be distributed to other players

There will be A and B classes and a fee of $1.00 will be raised to enter the contest. Two move restrictions will apply to all games. Come and bring a friend and also your checker board, and enjoy a holiday.

MONTHLY MEETING CHILDREN'S AID

Six children from the northern part of the county were committed to the temporary care of the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society during the past month, bringing the number of children in care at the end of the month up to 39.

The Superintendent paid 32 visits to children during the month and had 24 office interviews involving ten children. Three children were placed in homes for the first time and five were replaced.

There were two new cases in the unmarried parents work bringing the cases up to 36. Twenty cases were under the Superintendent's care at the end of the month for the Dependents' Allowance Board and three cases for the Dependents Board of Trustees.

Attention was drawn to the series of articles in Children's Aid Work, which will be appearing in this paper at intervals during the next few weeks and which give valuable and interesting information concerning the Children's Aid.

Plans were made for the annual meeting of the Society to be held the latter part of April, which will probably be an open meeting.

The Superintendent, W. F. Barrett, is still looking for a receiving home where children taken into care might be kept a short time before being placed in individual homes. Information concerning such a home may be sent to W. F. Barrett, care of Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society.

LETTER FROM ITALY

The following is a letter received by Mrs. Harold Denison from Gunner Earl Oliver, who is with the active service in Italy.

Somewhere in Italy.

Dear Olive:

Received 300 cigarettes from you last night and thanks so much. They sure are appreciated as mail is very slow getting to us here, especially parcels. I think the mail mostly all goes to England first and then has to be reshipped to us here at least that is how it seems, as it sure takes a long time to get here.

Well as I have to tell you every time, there is very little that I can tell you. We have moved to another Italian town and this time we are living on the outskirts of it At present, my chum and I are sleeping in a morgue in a big Italian graveyard and it is full of Italian and German graves. It likely seems queer for us to be sleeping in a morgue but it is a good dry place with a fireplace in it. We managed to pick ourselves up some wood nearby so we make ourselves quite comfortable. The room in which we are sleeping must have been the work room as there is a big marble slab on a turn table which I think must have been where the undertaker worked on the dead but at the present time it serves as a good table for us. You can imagine me though how carefully I tread through this place while I am on guard. I walk so lightly that eggs under my feet would hardly be broken.

The other night I saw a moving picture put on by one of the mobile shows called "I Married a Witch." Can you imagine Earl going on patrol at midnight, roving around through that graveyard after seeing that picture. I can really see you grinning now while you are reading about it. The night before we had a real thundershower and whether it was due to the high altitude or not the lightning was awful. A ditch broke out and of course had to run pretty close to our quarters. My chum and I are neither of us captains, but I believe we would pass our exams for the "altering course."

I am fine. Our rations are not too bad and we manage to get by and be fairly comfortable. Write often and thanks again for the cigs.

—Earl.

PREMIER OF CANADA COMMENDS BELLEVILLE HISTORY

The Rt. Hon W. L. MacKenzie King, Premier, has written a letter to W. C. Mikel, B.C.L., K.C. of Belleville, commending the History of B-Belleville recently compiled by Mr. Mikel.

Mr. King informs Mr. Mikel that his late father, John King, K.C., lived for a time at Belleville as a boy and attended the old grammar school there and lived with his uncle, the late Bunfall MacDougall before moving to Berlin, Ontario.

Premier King's letter to Mr. Mikel reads as follows:

"Dear Mr. Mikel:—

"I thank you warmly for your kind thought in sending to me, with your letter of February the 26th, a copy of the City of Belleville History, which you have recently published This book is a reminder of how much of the real history of Canada is to be found in the carefully compiled accounts of old - established communities.

"I congratulate you upon the completion of this comprehensive and very interesting history and I am much pleased to have been numberer among those who have received this volume with your compliments.

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) W. L. MacKenzie King."

P.S. "You may be interested in knowing that my father, the late John King, K.C., lived for a time at Belleville as a boy, and attended the old grammar school there. His uncle (with whom he and his mother lived), Bunfall MacDougall, if I am not mistaken, edited one of the local papers. Mr. MacDougall later moved to Berlin, Ont., now Kitchener."

—W.L.M.K."

MORE DONATIONS FOR SOVIET TOWN

Many donations were received last week for the Soviet Canadian Comforts Fund. Those who contributed to this worthy cause are as follows:

Mrs. Frank Wartman, Mrs. Harry Sutton, Mrs. Close, Mrs. Jack Davis, Mrs. VanDyck, Mrs. Percy Vine, Mrs. J. McConnell, Mr. J. G. Ungar, Robin W. F. Miss Light, Mrs. Harry Seymour, Mrs. Fred Wright, Mrs. Ola Rapp, A Friend, Frank Vandervoort.

More Details Concerning Injuries Sergt. Jack Black

Mrs. Jack Black received a letter from her husband, Sgt. John S. Black, this week, telling more details concerning the injuries he received on Active Service with the 5th Lt. Anti-Aircraf. Regiment in Italy.

Sgt. Black said in his letter that a tarpaulin, weighing 150 lbs., fell off a gun carriage and struck him a blow wh en rendered him unconscious and cau ed a slight concussion. There was no bone fracture and at the time of writing Sgt. Black was improving and expected to be able to rejoin his unit soon.

NEW C.O. TAKES OVER AT NO. 1, I.F.S.

Wing Commander D. F. Maedonald, who was Officer Commanding No 1, I.F.S. Desoronto, since it was opened about two years ago, has been recalled to the United Kingdom for service with the R.A.F. and relinquished his command on March 8th.

Prior to his return to the United Kingdom, Wing Commander Macdonald is making a tour of some of the United States Flying Schools at the request of the R.A.F.

Wing Commander J. I. Bergen, formerly C.O. of the No 3 Flying Instructors School at Arnprior, Who succeeds Wing Commander Macdonald, took over command of the No. 1 I.F.S. on Thursday, March 9th.

HOMELESS PIG LOCATES IN CAMDEN

On Saturday afternoon at the conclusion of Mr. J. F. Scanlin's sale, E. J. Courneya auctioned for the Red Cross the pig that has earned for that Society over three hundred dollars. This pig donated by Bessett & Son, of the Tamworth Creamery, has had quite a time finding a permanent home. Warden Daly, of Napanee, won it with a lucky ticket, and returned it to the Red Cross. At a euchre and dance held in the Town Hall, it was the door prize and became the property of Mrs. F. W. Fraser, who generously returned it to the Red Cross.

However, on Saturday Sheffield's popular pig was sold to Camden citizens in the person of Warren Hawley—selling for twenty-five dollars. Mr. Hawley is chairman of the Red Cross campaign for Camden, so anything pertaining to Red Cross is of keen interest to him. He took the pig home, feeling he had not only helped the Sheffield Red Cross, but had obtained, besides, a registered antipal—the most publicized pig in mathy townships.

MR. W. F. BARRETT SPEAKS AT V.O.N. OPEN MEETING

Various Reports Presented

An open meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held on the afternoon of March 13th. Mrs. T. Hunt presided. The meeting was opened with prayer by Archdeacon Dumbrille. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. S. Phippen. The treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Medd gave her report. Mrs. George Paul gave an excellent report on the membership drive and thanked all those who had worked so hard to make it a success.

Following this, Mrs. Paul gave her report on the Bridge Marathon. There were sixty players and she thanked all those who took part in it, also the members who had worked with her to make it a success. She also thanked the auxiliary group of the V.O.N. for the help and for the donation. The prizes were donated by Mr. G. H. Challies Mr. Geo. Paul and Mr. Williams of Picton. Mrs. Paul expressed her appreciation of these gifts. The prizes were then presented to the winners of the bridge marathon, by Mrs. T. M. Galbraith. The first prize was won by Mrs. Sneath and Miss Harper Dollar; second prize by Mrs. E. J. Miller and Mrs. L. V. Anderson.

Mrs. Hunt thanked Mrs. Paul for her excellent work.

Miss Morrison, the V.O.N. nurse gave her report, in which she stated that the bedside nursing service had been particularly heavy during the past two months, with a great number of acutely ill patients. 156 visits were made, with an average time of at least one hour for each visit. A report was also given of the Well-Baby Clinic and of the inspection of school children.

Mr. W. F. Barrett, of the Children's Aid Society, gave an address in which he reviewed briefly the history of the formation of the Children's Aid Society, as it is known today, and spoke of its efforts to help neglected children in every possible way. He stated that there are, at present, 52 Children's Aid Societies operating under charter and under the supervision of the Children's Aid Branch of the Ontario Department of Public Welfare.

According to the latest report, Mr. Barrett said there are approximately 17 500 children under observation of the various children's aid societies in Ontario. Of this number 1,359 were made wards and adoptions for the period, were 1 338.

Speaking of the local Society, Mr. Barrett stated that during the past year there were fifty new children under observation and 125 were carried over from previous years. Of this number, 73 were made wards.

Mr. Barrett explained the procedure by which children are taken into care of the society. He said it is not done arbitrarily, but by authority of the court and after careful consideration.

Mr. Barrett also spoke of the need of a temporary shelter, where children may be kept a short time before being placed in homes.

Following Mr. Barrett's address a vote of thanks was extended to him by Archdeacon Dumbrille.

CORRESPONDENTS MEET FIRST TIME

The Radio programme "Country News" will give an account, Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, over C.K.C.L. of a first meeting, at Napanee, of two young women who have been in correspondence with one another for eight years. The women—Miss Isabel Hockley of Toronto, and Mrs. Garth Sanford, Napanee, began their correspondence with three other Canadian women, all the same age, about eight years ago. The first time any two of the group met was two years ago when Miss Hockley met Mrs. Gordon Hendry, Calgary, another of the group.

FRANK B. MILLS APPOINTED FIRE CHIEF BY TOWN COUNCIL

Former Chief C. W. Conway Served 46 Years on Fire Brigade

At a special meeting of the Napanee Town Council, held on Monday evening, the resignation of C. W. Conway as Chief of the Napanee Fire Department was accepted, and Mr. Frank B. Mills was appointed to fill the position.

The Fire Water and Light Committee presented the following recommendations, which were accepted by the Council:

1. That the resignation of Mr. Conway be accepted, to take effect on the appointment of his successor.

2. We recommend that Mr. F. B. Mills, a present member of the Napanee Fire Department, be appointed to the position of Chief of the said Department, at the same salary and subject to the same conditions as were formerly applied, the salary to be $100 00 per year, payable quarterly, plus regular fireman's pay, and we further recommend that a by-law be passed at this meeting of the Council confirming this appointment.

3. We recommend that Mr. Conway be paid one-quarter year's services, year 1944, plus his regular fireman's pay covering the same period.

4. In view of the fact that Mr. Conway has been associated with the Napanee Fire Department over a period of 46½ years, we recommend that this Council, through the Town Clerk, forward to Mr. Conway a letter of appreciation in recognition of his long and faithful services.

5. We further recommend that the Police Committee be instructed to see that ample police service be provided by the Police Department at all fires, to prevent vandalism and for the protection of the public.

Councillor Exley reported that he had received numerous complaints concerning the manner in which the garbage was being collected in the town and the treatment given garbage containers by the collectors. The matter was discussed. It was generally conceded by the members of the Council that the garbage collector, Mr. Frank McCutcheon, was doing the job as well as possible considering the difficulty he was experiencing in getting help. The regulation regarding proper containers was also cited again, and the Clerk was instructed to insert notices in the local papers advising citizens to use the regulation containers if they desire their garbage to be properly handled.

Councillor Vanalstine read an article from a Toronto paper containing information about advertising Ontario towns in England through Ontario House, with a view to interesting British Industry and citizen in settling in Ontario towns after the war.

The matter of sending information concerning Napanee to Ontario House in London, England, was referred to the Industrial Committee with power to act.

RED CROSS NEWS

At the regular Saturday afternoon tea at the Napanee Red Cross room Mrs. C. I. Russell and Mrs. Harry Ohlman were hostesses.

The Society is greatly pleased with the splendid response by the citizen to the appeal for funds during the recent campaign.

Wins Prize For Slogan

Malcolm Stevens, Napanee, an employee of the Aluminum Company of Canada, at Kingston, has received word that he has won a prize of $5.00 for suggesting a slogan which will be used on a poster in the plant. The slogan will bear the words "We Win Wars When We Work Willing."

Unexpected Return From Overseas of Driver William Galt

Driver William Galt, son of Mr and Mrs. Walter Galt, Napanee, unexpectedly arrived at his home in Napanee, from overseas on Sunday last. His parents, who had no other notice of his return to Canada, received word that he would arrive from Kingston at noon on Sunday. Driver Galt went overseas with the First Division of the Canadian Army nearly four years ago. He was slightly wounded in the battle of Sicily and was out of the line for a month. Since then he has spent many months in hospital in England. He has been invalided home and is with severe head and back injuries.

Lenten Service at Bethany Church

There was a splendid turnout at the second in a series of Lenten services in the Bay Pastoral Charge at Bethany Church Friday evening. The Rev. C. D. McLellan of Grace Church, Napanee, was the guest speaker and delivered a very helpful and challenging message. The joint choirs of Bethany and Greenwood led the singing and contributed an anthem. Mrs. W. B. Nolan of Hay Bay presided at the organ. The Rev. J. C. McCallum conducted the service.

SALVAGE COMPANY SOLD AT KINGSTON

Kingston. The Pyke Salvage Company, owned by the Grant Pyke Estate, has been sold to Capt. Le Beaupre, a former Kingstonian, now manager of Keystone Transport Limited, Montreal. It is understood some other financial interests are involved in the transaction.

The deal involves sale of two steel salvage tugs, Salvage Prince and Salvage Queen, three barges and considerable floating craft as well as salvage equipment. The dock and all buildings at the foot of Store S owned by the Pyke Salvage Company have been acquired by the new owner.

Capt. Beaupre will be manager of the new company which will operate under the name of the Pyke Salvage Company. He will make his headquarters in Kingston and Montreal.

Captain Pyke died suddenly in Napanee last summer while one of his boats was being unloaded.

Eleven Sheets in New Ration Books

When consumers are issued with their No 4 ration books they will find that they contain eleven sheets of coupons and twelve in the current No. 3 books. In addition, the three application sheets carried in the No. 3 books are eliminated. The new books will have one sheet of green tea or coffee coupons; one sheet of red sugar coupons; one sheet of orange preserves coupons; two sheets of purple butter coupons; four sheets of brown meat coupons; one sheet of grey spare H coupons and one sheet of blue spare K coupons.

We are on the offensive now. We will retain that initiative until we arrive at Tokio.—Admiral William F Halsey.

We won't live long enough to see the end of the war if we do it like by island in the Pacific.—Eddie Rickenbacker.

WHAT NOW ?

Eire — or Southern Ireland — has played a strange part in the present war. It has remained neutral, refusing to take any part in hostilities. Eire has no black-out. Life goes merrily on, as though the whole world were at peace. From the point of view of Eire this has been economically beneficial. Business has been good, and prosperity has been her lot. But from the point of view of Great Britain, the situation has not been so happy. The lights of Eire were beacons directing the aircraft from Germany. The refusal of Eire to allow Great Britain the use of her submarine bases, has undoubtedly resulted in the loss of many British and Allied ships.

In spite of all this Great Britain has studiously avoided doing anything which could be construed as a breech of neutrality. Indeed, the attitude of Great Britain has been so fair that even Premier de Valera has been compelled to admit that there has been a great change in the attitude of the people of Eire to Great Britain, because of it.

Now, however, the situation is changed. Invasion time draws near. Both the United States and Great Britain have asked de Valera to dismiss the German and Japanese envoys, on the grounds that they and their staffs are acting as spies for their nations and, if they continue to do so, may give valuable information to the enemy. De Valera has refused to do as requested.

What will be the next move ? The United Nations may accept De Valera's decision peacefully. That is one way out. But the conditions are so serious that such an easy acquiescence is hardly probable. It may be that the United States and Great Britain will impose economic sanctions. As much as that is to be regretted it may be necessary. Eire is not independent of others She needs all sorts of material from both the United States and England, in order to live. Should it become necessary to apply sanctions, the people in Eire will soon feel the pinch. They will learn what the rest of us learned four years ago—there is a war on —

DISCRIMINATION !

The Ontario Government has before it an "anti-discrimation" bill. The purpose of the bill, which has received second reading, is not clear. It may be intended to prevent discrimination against other people, their creeds, their beliefs. Even "The Evening Telegram" which can hardly be classed as opposed to the present government, is at sea about it. In an editorial on Monday, "The Telegram" said:—

"By giving second reading the Legislature has approved —though not unanimously—the principle of the Government's anti-discrimination bill, and accordingly must be persuaded that it knows what the principle is, even though the application of the measure remains obscure. Premier Drew tells the House that the bill is "simple in form and clear in purpose," but at the same time gives notice of a proposed amendment to make clear that the enactment will not interfere with free expression of opinion on any subject by speech or in writing. As now phrased, the bill certainly does so interfere and as pointed out by Mr. T. A. Murphy, Toronto Beaches, it covers much more territory than members seem to appreciate."

There are occasions when a well-intentioned Act of Parliament may go much further than originally intended by its authors. This would seem to be such a case. There ought perhaps, to be some way of curbing discriminatory acts and utterances. But once we embark on such a procedure we are paving the way for restrictions on freedom of speech, which may prove to be a denial of all our rights of free speech. In the long run it is much better that we have the right of free speech, even if there are some abuses, than that we should find ourselves under constant surveillance by the authorities.

CHANGING HORSES

There is an old proverb about the danger of changing horses in the stream. Germany may not have heard of the proverb because she seems to have been doing just that. Of course, a proverb may not be true, but generally it is the epitome of wisdom, accumulated through centuries of experience. There may be nothing very ominous in the fact that Germany has changed two of her leaders on the Russian front, but the probability is that the Nazi General staff is a bit worried over the turn of events in that sector. Things are not going quite according to the plan, so the obvious course for the Nazis is, to keep on advancing backward or change leaders. The new leaders may be able to stem the Russian tide. But then again, they may not. We have a very vivid memory of a picture in our old school book of a certain King Canute who had his attendants bring a chair for him to use as a temporary throne on which to sit as he brushed the waves back and sought to stop the oncoming tide. Well! it may be that the new generals on the Russian front will be able to prevent the Red Army from overrunning the remainiing portion of the Ukraine. Then again, they may not. Our guess is that they will be about as successful as the old king of school book days.

The Red Army is on the march. The only hope of stopping them would be a great number of reinforcements. But the Nazis will have a hard time finding them. The bombing from the West, and from Italy in the South, is keeping every possible source of reinforcements quite busy where they are. In the meantime, the Nazis would seem to be ready to try new military leaders on the Russian front. That may help, but they will hardly make up for the badly needed reinforcements. The ring around Germany tightens — and Germany knows it.

AS OTHERS SEE US !

In "The Gospel Witness" a magazine published by Rev. T. T. Shields, of Toronto, there is an article in the February 24th issue, which gives Napanee what is probably the most vigorous verbal pummelling it has ever received. The writer is a certain Rev. J. R. Boyd. We do not know the gentleman; but he has, evidently, visited the town. He came, he says, in answer to "a Macedonian call" from a "veteran pioneer worker, a man of influence and spiritual perception." We do not know the identity of this gentleman either. But apparently he sent for Mr. Boyd. Mr. Boyd, in the article, says he was here two days and had ten interviews. On the basis of that rather abbreviated and superficial investigation, he poses as an authority on the religious life of Napanee and district.

Mr. Boyd finds fault with the religious leads of Napanee, of which he is at pains to describe two kinds. One class o fleaders he designates as "evangelists". Of these, he says:

"Too many so-call-d evangelists content themselves with professions of faith and leave the poor souls in wild confusion due to a lack of teaching which relates God to the intricate and obstinate problems of life. Such untaught converts become easy prey to false teachers who come with doctrines designed to appeal to the alert depraved senses of the unwarned child of God. Teachers (deceivers) find such and convince them that the emotional powers they stir into fantastic and hysterical frenzies are the movements of the Spirit of God. They lead them into all kinds of wild eschatalogical theories which are designed to wed their hearts to this perishing earth. They show such low standards of morals that oftentimes the professing Christian is led into baser practices after his profession than he ever followed before. Napanee and district are infested with many such leaders who thrive on the sincere and untaught."

Then Mr. Boyd attacks the leaders of the churches of Napanee. Of these, he says :—

"The town is the focal point of a very densely populated country district. At least twenty thousand people are within easy reach — of this number about one thousand go to church occasionally. Many of these look not at pastors, but on parrots in the pulpits."

Having summarily dealt with these leaders, the writer promises that another group will undertake, in Napanee, to give the truth to our benighted citizens. He says:—

"As I saw the deadness of the established churches, and witnessed the equally dangerous campaigns to make untaught believers perpetual slaves to their own deceptive emotions. I rejoiced with unspeakable joy in the blessed privilege of helping to establish a place of true Biblical testimony, into which the hungry and deceived may come and be satisfied."

Of all this only one or two comments need be made. In the first place, it is a matter of great presumption for a total outsider to think he can estimate the value of the churches in Napanee on the basis of a two-days' visit.

Mr. Boyd and the group he represents have a right to establish a mission here if they wish to do so. But we might suggest to Mr. Boyd, that he will need public confidence in his venture, if it is to have any impact on the life of the community. We are perfectly sure that he has gone the wrong way about securing that confidence by denouncing the churches in Napanee publicly and belittling the contribution which our ministers are making to the religious life of our town and county. We are all proud of our churches. They have not done all that they might have done— no church ever does. But they have a long record of useful consecrated service, and have for a hundred years been the backbone of the religious life of Napanee, and we are not at all ashamed of their achievements. Long before Mr. Boyd was ever heard of they were at work laying the foundation for a Christian community, and long after he has gone these same churches will continue their work of redeeming and building individuals and society.

LETTER FROM LIEUT. W. E. POWELL Written In England

No. 5, C.I.R.U.,
Sat., February 26th, 1944

My Dear Marg:—

No doubt you have received my cable by now, and although the message it contained may have seemed rather pointless to you it was the quickest way to let you know that I am safe in England Censorship will not allow a cable to go through speedily when it contains any information such as "arrived" or "safely here" because it may supply important facts to the enemy, who want to know about the arrival of troops and the number that came, and other details.

We landed at night and when morning cleared away the darkness and mist, we could see that our ship was anchored in a large river, and a busy port. Most of us spent all the daylight hours on the upper decks, looking at the changing panorama of land and water traffic. There seemed to be a general feeling of relief that the ocean voyage was over, and everyone was anxious to get ashore and get on our way to our final destination. Finally, we were taken ashore and loaded into trains to start on the final leg of our journey, which also took place at night. The English trains are much different than ours. The cars are all divided into compartments which accommodate six to ten persons, depending on whether one travels first, second or third class coach. They are quite comfortable quite cozy when the doors are shut and very quiet.

Before we left our disembarkation point ladies from the Red Cross came through the train with hot tea and cookies and cigarettes, which certainly was appreciated. We pulled away from the station and as we passed through the town, the local residents lined the tracks waving at us and giving Churchill's Victory I was really something, and I have never seen anything like that in Canada. The country (what we could see of it) is very pretty, the grass is green, leaves on the shrubs, no snow, and people going about bareheaded and barelegged, (short hose). What a difference between here and home at this time of year. The train made a halt in the evening and we were once more bombarded with tea and cookies.

Most of our train trip was at night, without lights, and as we progressed we could see the flare of guns and aerial attack, many miles away. It was a thrill to sit in the train and imagine what was going on, and not too far away. However, our trip was free of any incident and we reached our destination in the morning. There was the same general feeling of "well, here we are," and we looked for familiar faces among the party that met us at the station.

We were taken to our quarters here and allotted rooms in a brick building about the size of a ten-room house, and were told that we are quarantined for a week. It seems some private was ill on the ship with a highly contagious disease, and we have been isolated until the medical people say we are free from the danger of breaking out with the same trouble. Each room in our quarters is equipped with a fireplace and we have had a great time trying to keep the fires going with coke —and very little wood. Certainly a far cry from hot water heating.

Our meals are good and well cooked. We nearly fainted when we were served eggs for breakfast after all the tall tales about the shortage of hen-fruit in this country. We have had meat every day, and I would say that the food is every bit as good as any I got at army camps in Canada. There is margarine in place of butter and the bread is dark, but outside of that everything else is very tasty.

The blackout here is really something. As soon as darkness comes on, every window is shaded, and all outside lights are turned off. Traffic moves along just the same, and it is amazing to see how buses, cars, bicycles and trucks go whizzing along the deserted-looking streets with only a faint pilot light to guide them. The street lights are dimmed out until all there is from them is a very faint glimmer. Just enough to let you see where the corners are and no more. Most of the shops close at 6 o'clock, but restaurants, movies and bars remain open until about 10 p.m. You should see the restaurants. They are about as big as your father's store with a little serving counter and three or four tables. And there are usually 25 or 30 people and a dog in each one. There isn't much privacy. The movies have three shows daily, 2.30, 5.00 and 7.30.

We haven't experienced an air raid yet, but we missed a big show by a very short time. London was raided six nights in a row, recently and the alarm was sounded here five times. One night a German bomber crashed about 1,000 yards from where I am quartered, after shedding its bombs, which did some minor damage to some buildings nearby. However, nothing has happened since our arrival here, and we are not anxious to see anything start.

We start training on Monday morning, and from then on we will be kept pretty busy for two or three months. It will be more or less routine work, similar to the type of training at home in Canada. There are quite a few chaps here that I know, and they have tipped me off about the important things to do here, and what to avoid. Incidentally, Don Embury came over on the same boat with me. I didn't see him until the morning we landed, and I was talking to him for quite a while. He had been looking all over the boat for me, as he had heard my name announced over the public address system as the ship, and knew I was

There is very little else to write about at this time. As I get settled with the country and its ways probably have more to say, but I've told you everything permitted, so I'm enclosing a menu to show you what we have on the mess

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, MARCH 19TH, 1944

Lesson Text: Mark 15: 22-26

"JESUS CRUCIFIED"

The Cross is the Church's emblem. It is emblazoned on her banners, it surmounts her spires. It permeates all Christian literature It has become a feature of personal adornment. It is used as jewellery. It has become so common in Christian society that its deep, penetrating, exacting significance is often lost sight of altogether. For far beneath the outward symbolism is the reason for the world's greatest tragedy and its greatest triumph. The meaning of the Christian religion in its struggle with the world is comprehended in the self-centered, self-seeking group could heap upon Him. Innocent of any wrong-doing He went to His death, in the line of duty, in accordance with God's plan, and in defiance of the worst that the world could do to Him

Men and women are not Christians simply because they wear a cross engraved on a brooch or a watch fob Perhaps we have been too easily satisfied on that score. To assume the responsibility of following Christ means identifying oneself with the whole personality of Jesus. As the years have passed since the first century, Christianity has become increasingly a respectable formalism. To be sure there have always been few, there has always been the spearhead of attacks against paganism in its manifold forms. But, largely, Christianity is an established rather respectable religious society. There is really not much cross-bearing, not a great deal of willingness to assume the utmost sacrifice for the sake of the Cross. The crucifixion has fired the imagination of the allegiance of youth. It has become a fancy but it has lost the symbol of the stress and challenged in the of life. Indeed, the position of attitude to our between the the two cross now, perhaps true meaning of true meaning are engaged in of the crosses

TEST TUBE OR TREE RUBBER
IT'S TECHNIQUE
THAT COUNTS!
Today, it's true that all leading tire makers use synthetic rubber from the same source.
It is also true that before the war they all used the same natural rubber. Yet . . . there existed then, as today, a wide difference in tire quality.
Obviously, it takes more than rubber to build a tire. It takes steel, cotton, carbon black and compounding. Yes, and it takes still more to make a great tire.
It takes engineering to figure stresses, strains and proper balance. It takes chemistry to properly blend ingredients. It takes skill and experience to build flawlessly. Test tube or tree rubber . . . it's technique that counts.
These are the things that have made Goodyear "The greatest name in rubber" . . . the factors that give you the plus in Goodyear Tires.
As always, your best assurance of quality is this fact, true for 28 successive years . . . "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires Than On Any Other Kind."
WARNING: The rubber situation is still critical. Synthetic rubber tires are now being produced, but they are for the armed services and "essential" civilian vehicles only. Your needs will be taken care of just as soon as humanly possible.
As your next tires probably will be made of synthetic, the following information is important to you. Synthetic rubber tires are comparatively new, they do not yet match natural rubber tires in all-around performance. The continuing laboratory and road-testing work will, undoubtedly, hasten improvements.
In the meantime, however, synthetic rubber tires will meet present needs and see us through the emergency, IF CARE is exercised AT ALL TIMES. Driving at reduced speeds (35 M.P.H. or under), no overloading, accurate inflation, regular rotation (switching tires from one wheel to another), immediate attention to tire damage and frequent inspection by a Goodyear Dealer will enable you to get satisfactory service from synthetic rubber tires.

Conway - Sandhurst

Conway - Sandhurst, March 13. — Quite cold stormy days of the past week have surely proven that March will be very lion-like in behaviour. The covering of snow augurs well as a means of saving clover and alfalfa from frosts.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. F. Ham has returned from the hospital, where she was receiving treatment.

TAMWORTH

Hold on, Little Fella — we're coming!

Yes, Bobbie knew full well the import-ant war post-war job the rest of us were up to. That big trouble has been the shelter shortage. It's been difficult for them and their Mothers, because our looms were busy making hundreds of vital military items. But we're beginning to switch gradually back to some civilian production, and diaper cloth is high on our list of urgently needed goods.

No, the stores will not be bulging with diapers next week — that won't happen till the war's all over. And you have to reserve per that as we produce more there will likely be a let-up in importations.

The general supply picture will only change slightly. But many of those long-time favourites Canadian-made goods will be available.

BETHEL

Bethel, March 9. — We had a heavy fall of snow on Tuesday night and Wednesday, which measured about 10 inches, and it keeps the roads blocked. Going to Sunday, he carried on a personal insurance business. Saturday are his wife, the former Miss Hanna, of Reddick, two sons and one daughter. The funeral was held in Toronto. Dan in Nov. Listowel, one a sister, Mrs. Fred Hall, of Oakwood. His funeral was held in Sunday on Wednesday, March 8th.

The Council of the United Church Sunday School held their annual meeting at the parsonage. A review of the past three months showed a very decided improvement in the attendance and general interest taken in the problem of the Sunday school. The best meeting will be held on the garage and the Red A. W. Sexton will speak on the subject, "Teaching as Jesus Taught".

The Y P U met in S. Andrew's Hall, with the President, Miss M. Gilmore, leading the devotional period. During the business session it was unanimously decided to form a Temperance Post in the Union. A free-will offering was taken for the China-India Relief appeal. The program was in charge of Herman Ackerman, the subject being "Temperance" Milligan and Glen Farnsmith. A social period led by Mrs. A. W. Sexton, was afterwards enjoyed by all.

NEIGHBOURS AND FRIENDS OF MR. MRS J. W. REID ENTERPRISE HONOUR THEIR RETIREMENT

On the evening of February 18, a number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid and spent a few pleasant social hours. Due to failing health, Mr. and Mrs. Reid found it necessary to conclude their farming activities and propose to retire to Kingston.

In their retirement this neighborhood will lose a couple who have distinguished themselves by their unselfish contribution to every worthwhile cause. Mr. Reid, who has reached his eightieth year has spent his entire life on the farm that was settled by his father, late J. W. Reid, well over a century ago. In the year 1867 he married Ella Hinchey who was also a native of this district.

For several years he served as councillor, later becoming Deputy-Reeve and finally Reeve. He was offered the Warden's chair, due to circumstances at the time, found it necessary to decline. For many years an active member of the L.O.L. he received the highest degree conferable by that society in this country. Mrs. Reid is a member of the local chapter of the L.O.B.A. at Enterprise.

As the evening, which was spent most enjoyably in various contests and games drew to a close, Miss Jean Reid presented the couple with a purse and Mr. Oscar Penwick read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Reid: We have assembled to spend another evening with you and to express our profound regret at your departure from our midst. We assure you that in your departure you will be greatly missed not alone in social intercourse, but in the homes where you have rendered much willing and efficient service in time of affliction and bereavement. You have always proved yourselves equal to any and every emergency and none could desire better friends.

It is therefore our most earnest and sincere wish at this time, to convey to you some tangible proof of our regards. We now desire your acceptance of this slight token which we hope may be used as a remembrance of your friends of this your old home.

With this, also kindly accept our best wishes for your improved health and may the blessing of God attend you in your new home.

(Signed) on behalf of your friends and neighbours.

Under a new order of the Prices Board relating to the sale of maple products, primary producers selling direct to consumers may do so at the price a retailer charges for the same product; When the primary producer sells to the consumer directly, his maximum prices are $2.40 per Imperial gallon for ungraded syrup, $2.65 for Canada dark, $2.90 for Canada Medium grade and $3.15 for Canada Light grade. A premium of 25c per gallon above the price of Canada Light may be charged for syrup marketed as Canada Fancy grade. For syrup sold in bulk, the ceiling is 2½c less per gallon than it is for the same product in the gallon screw-top metal containers.

Except when delivery is made by common carrier, no charge is to be made for delivery to a buyer within fifteen miles of the producers' place of business and no charge is to be made for delivery to a public market.

It is further specified that maple syrup sold by grade must have the grade legibly marked on the container and the grades for Canada Fancy, Canada Light and Canada Medium syrup must conform to the standard of grades established by the "colorimeter" approved by the Federal Department of Agriculture.

"Out of the Klim tins we made small stoves, and the jam tins were placed inside these to boil water in. The butter tins were used as mugs. Frying pans were made from Kippered Herring tins. Don't think the value of the boxes stopped with the contents—not at all! The plywood cases were made into desks. The cartons made excellent cupboards. Time was judged by Red Cross food parcel and letter day."

I. O. D. E. NOTES

The U. E. L. Chapter of the I. O. D. E. held its weekly war work meeting in the Legion room on Thursday afternoon, with approximately [illegible] visitors and members present. A hearty welcome was given to those who through sickness or distance have been unable to attend these meetings for a while. Knitting articles and fresh skeins of wool were exchanged with cheerful chatter and kind enquiries concerning members' loved ones serving in far corners. Work proceeded on two more quilts and in the corner a group were busily knitting another quilt to be sped on its way to bring comfort to the [illegible]. Tea was served by Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Dibb and Mrs. George Fisher.

OBITUARIES

DENNIS N. LUCAS

The death occurred at Selby on Friday, March 3 of Dennis Nathaniel Lucas, aged ninety years, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Lucas was born at Odessa and was one of a family of six children of George and Nancy Lucas. For many years he resided near Selby but had resided at Selby for the past several years. While residing at Odessa he was an active member of the Odessa United Church, serving on the church board for many years. He was the last surviving member of his family and was predeceased by his wife, the former Nellie Brown. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Lake, Odessa, and Mrs. G. W. Metzler, Newburgh, and by two sons, Earl, Odessa, and George Selby. He also leaves five grandchildren, Robert Lucas, Napanee; Harold Metzler, Kingston; Charles Lake, Odessa, Mrs. William Connor, Kingston, and Miss Nellie Lucas of Toronto. He was predeceased by one daughter, Annie.

The funeral was conducted at the Tierney Funeral Home on Monday, March 6th, by Rev. W. R. Merrick United Church Minister at Selby. The body was placed in Riverside vault for burial, at a later date.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Robert Lucas, Harold Metzler, Charles Lake, William Connor, Harvey Lucas and George S. Lucas.

MRS. CHARLES McLEOD

The funeral of Mrs. Charles McLeod was conducted by Rev. G. M. Chidley, minister of Trinity United Church, at the Wartman Funeral Home, on Thursday morning.

Mrs. McLeod who died on Tuesday, March 7th, had been ill for only a short time. She was born about 51 years ago at Lyndsay and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Madden. Most of her life was spent at Newburgh, where her first husband, Roy Wartman, passed away. About twelve years ago she married Charles McLeod and moved to Napanee, where she had since resided.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Webster, Toronto, Mrs. W. Baird, Toronto, and Miss Phyllis Wartman of the Women's Division, R.C.A.F., and by one son, Paul Wartman, in Kingston.

MRS. CLAYTON DELINE

The sudden death occurred at her home on John Street, Napanee, on Thursday afternoon, March 9th, of Mrs. Clayten Deline, who had been in ill-health for the past three years.

Mrs. Deline who was in her 31st year was formerly Helen Asselstine before her marriage to Mr. Deline about six years ago. She was a daughter of W. O. Asselstine and Rosamond Wartman and was born near Marlbank, where she lived until her marriage.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Donald, about four years old, her parents, one sister, Mrs. Reginald Chapman, Napanee, and one brother, Bert, of Roblin.

Her funeral was conducted at her late residence on Sunday afternoon by Rev. C. D. McLellan, minister of Grace United Church of which she had been a member since coming to Napanee.

Following the service the body was placed in Riverview Cemetery until such burial at a later date.

The pall-bearers were three cousins, Franklin McLaughlin, Aubrey Asselstine, Victoria Lodge A.F. & A.M., Centreville; Mount Sinai Chapter, Napanee, Past Masters and Past Wardens Association of Prontenac and had the honor of being District Deputy Grand Master of this district in the year 1927, an honour his father held also in 1906.

In 1916 he married Florence E. Wagar, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wagar. Who survives him, with one son, Douglas, a final year student at Queen's University. He is also survived by a sister, Gertrude, a number of years ago.

The funeral under the auspices of the Masonic Order was held from his late residence to the United Church on Wednesday, March 1st, at 2 p.m. It was conducted by his pastor, Rev. H. E. Frair, assisted by Rev. A. W. Seaton of Tamworth and was largely attended. Those from a distance attending the funeral were Mrs. O. Gillette, Essex, Connecticut, Mr. Allan, Davy and son, Ross, and Dr. and Mrs. Keith Davy, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, of Tweed; and Mrs. George Dopking Whitby. The honorary pallbearers were Messrs. W. S. Herrington, P.G.M. and P.D.D., Napanee, W. Taylor, P.D.D., Westport, Harvey Millan, P.D.D., Kingston, F. Switzer, P.D.D., Moscow; John A. Brown, P.D.D., Tamworth, C. J. Hayes, P.D.D., Tweed, Wilfred Wilson, P.D.D., Napanee, Murdoch Johnson, P.D.D., Kingston. Acting pallbearers were Messrs George Fingland, Fred Brown, Charles Amey, Kenneth Weese, Kenneth Lockridge, Harold Cook, all Past Masters of Victoria Lodge. Twenty members of the same lodge acted as flower-bearers.

The remains were placed in the Enterprise vault to await interment in the family plot at Centreville in the spring.

Mrs. G. E. Fitchett Died In London

Mrs. Nelson Young, Robert Street, Napanee, received word last week of the death at London, Ontario, on Wednesday, March 8th, of her sister-in-law, Mrs. George E. Fitchett.

Mrs. Fitchett, who was in her 82nd year, had been a resident of London for 58 years. She was prominent for many years in the work of the I. O. D. E., and at the time of her death was Honorary Vice Regent of the Over ea Chapter of the I. O. D. E. She was also active in the women's organizations of Wesley United Church.

She is survived by her husband; a brother, Capt. E. M. Insley; two sons, F. Bert., Montreal, and George E., London, and one daughter, Carrie P., at home. Mrs. Enos Pringle, Napanee, is a niece.

Her funeral was conducted last Friday and interment was in Mount Pleasant cemetery, London.

WEDDING BELLS

HANNAH - SMITH

The United Church parsonage at Odessa was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, March 1st, when Rev. C. W. Hollingworth united in marriage Patsy Mae Smith, only daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith, to Franklin George Hannah, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hannah, of Violet.

The bride looked charming in a street-length dress of orchid with navy blue accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses. The bride's only attendant was Miss Vera Kelly of Napanee, wearing a two-piece suit of navy blue sheer with accessories to match, and a corsage of Bettertime roses.

Lorne Hannah, brother of the groom, was best man.

Later, the bride and groom, left amid showers of confetti, for Montreal and other points east, the bride wearing a two-piece navy blue suit. Upon their return they will reside at Violet, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

OBITUARIES

EARLE ANGUS TESKEY

Mr. Earle Angus Teskey, Croydon, Ontario, passed away on February 11 at Christie Street Hospital, Toronto after an illness of eleven months. He had served in the R.C.A.F. on the eastern coast, as a wireless electrical mechanic, since enlisting in September 1940. He underwent a serious operation in the General Hospital at St. John, N.B. in May 1943, and when partially recovered was transferred to Toronto in August, 1943 for further treatment.

His quiet courage was greatly admired by the staff and other patients while suffering such extreme pain.

His wife was with him when he died. His body was brought to Croydon to his old home, for the funeral.

He was 37 years of age and received his education at Tamworth Continuation School and was successfully employed as a radiotechnician before enlistment. He kindly disposition and genial nature won for him many friends.

The floral tributes showed the high esteem in which he was held and how much he will be missed. The funeral on February 14th was conducted in Christ Church, Tamworth, of which he was a member. Rev. Mr. Waterhouse conducted a very impressive service which was under the auspices of the members of I.O.L. Croydon, and R. B. P. Centreville. The remains were placed in the vault awaiting interment in the spring.

The honorary pallbearers were members of the Lodge. He is sadly mourned by his wife, formerly Kathleen N. Brown, Reg. N., Whitby, his mother, Mrs. Edna Teskey, Croydon, three sisters, Mrs. C. M. Fairbank, Pa., Mrs. B. Benn, Trenton, Mrs. J. W. Wagar, Enterprise, and two brothers, Bruce with the Royal Canadian Engineers in England, and Laurie at home.

MRS. EFFIE VICTORIA WILSON

A resident of Edmonton, Alberta, for more than forty years and prominent in women's work of the old W. Minister Presbyterian Church and more recently First Presbyterian church, Mrs. Effie Victoria Wilson died at her home, 10024-94th Street, Tuesday, February 29th. She was born near Selby, Ont., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Hudgins and moved to Edmonton from Ontario in 1903. She was the widow of William Edmond Wilson, a founder of the Northern Hardware Limited, who died in 1913 in Edmonton.

She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. A. J. Bellamy; three sons, K. P. and E. R. Wilson, Edmonton, and Ft.-Lieut. J. H. Wilson of Ottawa, and two grandchildren, Shirley Bellamy and Howard Wilson. Two sisters and one brother Mrs. Jas. Wilson of Strathcona; Mrs. E. F. Purcell of Colebrook, and J. C. Hudgins, Kinsville, Ont. A sister-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Ramsay, resides in Newburgh.

Funeral services were held at Foster & McGarvey's funeral chapel on Thursday afternoon, at 3:30. Rev. J. McBeath Miller officiated and entombment was made in the Edmonton mausoleum.

MARRIAGES

BASS - STOREY — at the home of the bride's parents, Hawley, on Saturday, March 4th, 1944, by the Rev. C. D. McLellan, Helen Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Storey, to Pilot Officer Robert Welden Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Bass of Thedford.

OBITUARIES

MRS. D. O'SHAUGHNESSY

The death occurred at the House of Providence, Kingston, on Friday, March 10th, of Mrs. Daniel O'Shaughnessy, an aged resident of the county.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, who was 95 years of age, was formerly Anne Madigan, and was born in Richmond Township, where practically all her life was spent. Following her marriage, over 65 years ago, to Daniel O'Shaughnessy, she lived near Mink's Bridge, on the Newburgh Road, about two miles from Napanee. For some time recently she had been in failing health and was a patient in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, for a while before being removed to the House of Providence, where her death occurred.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy was a faithful member of St. Patrick's Church, Napanee, where her funeral was conducted on Monday morning. Rev. Father Martin, of Desoronto, Fellow me the sisters were Mrs. Stewart Shaffer, Fred H. Henderson, Myles and Mr. Paul Hogle, John M. Carter and Hazel Bertram.

She was predeceased by her husband 25 years ago.

She is survived by one son, Daniel, and by a granddaughter, Mrs. Anderson of Napanee.

MRS. E. O. McCABE

In the death of Mrs. E. O. McCabe, which occurred in the Napanee District Hill community last week, at the age of 70 years, Mrs. McCabe is survived by one son, Percy Bertram, in the Edmonton district, and by one daughter, Mrs. Frank Bertram, of the same district.

She was formerly Ella Hamblin, and was a member of one of the pioneer families of Hungerford Township, Hastings County. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Her funeral was conducted by Rev. A. C. McCollum, minister of the Bath United Church, at the Wartman Funeral Home on Saturday, March 11th, interment took place in the family plot at Sand Hill.

Mrs. McCabe is survived by one daughter, Miss Fern Bertram, and one son, Percy Bertram, both of Edmonton. Mrs. Charles Sharpe, Napanee, is a niece. Mrs. Walter Hall, Plainfield, and nephews Edward Hamblin, Hattie and Ernest Hamblin, Bloomfield, Prince Edward County. She was the last of her immediate family of seven children.

Pallbearers were Messrs. W. W. McCollum, Wilbert Hall, Ernest Hall, Mervin Hall, Percy Hall, Frank Hall and M. Hamilton.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mrs. Percy Bertram, Mrs. Walter McCall, Fred Lake, Mrs. Wallace McCall, Mrs. Mollie Lake, Mrs. Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCabe, Belleville, Ont.

In Loving Memory

PAIRD — In loving memory of Bertha Edith Waitt, beloved wife of Will Paird, who departed this life on March 15th, 1943.

Not lost, gone before.

Sadly missed by
11ap HUSBAND and FAMILY.

GILBERT — In fond loving memory of our dear son and brother Alexander Edward C. Gilbert, who died suddenly at St. Thomas, Ont. March 19th, 1943

When it is hard to understand
Why loved ones have to part
When all life's skies seem overcast
And sorrow fills the heart;
Then may it somehow comfort us
And bring us peace of mind
Just knowing that whatever comes
A loving God knows best.
We cannot say, and will not say
That he is dead—he is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there;
And we— Oh we, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return—
Think of him faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same —
He is not dead—he is just away!
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, DAD, and Sisters, DOROTHY, LEONA

She had gone to the fortune-teller and had listened with increasing interest to the sketch of her life.

"Madam," said the fortune-teller in her most impressive manner, "you should be very, very happy. A nobler man than your husband you have yet to meet."

"How absolutely thrilling! When?"

"Sleep has its own world, a boundary between the things misnamed death and existence." —Bryon

1944 Red Cross Membership Campaign for the County of Lennox and Addington

Napanee, Ontario, March 13th, 1944.

Jack McPherson, Esq.
President Gilbard Furniture Shops, Ltd.
Napanee, Ontario

Dear Mr. McPherson:

The Napanee Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Campaign Committee for the County of Lennox and Addington appreciate very much the splendid support you have given the Red Cross Campaign in this County.

Your cheque covering the generous contributions of the Gilbard Furniture Shops, Ltd., and the Lennox Lumber Company, Ltd., and the employees of both these firms is very gratefully acknowledged.

This amount actually represents the cost of a Prisoner of War Parcel for every one of your employees, which is a record that is deserving of special recognition.

The full page advertisement which you kindly placed in the paper in support of the Red Cross Campaign is also very much appreciated.

Yours sincerely,
LENORA HERRINGTON,
President, Napanee Branch.

WILFRED S. WILSON,
Chairman County Campaign Committee.

MAY BUILD 300 MILES OF RURAL HYDRO LINES

Three hundred miles of rural Hydro lines will be constructed in Ontario next summer if the problems of labor and materials do not interfere with the program, Hydro Chairman George Challies (P.C., Grenville-Dundas), informed the Legislature, last week. He said the commission has accepted 4,000 farm contracts and 2,000 urban contracts for electrical services, the largest volume in the history of the Province for a like period.

"Last year 44 miles of rural Hydro line were constructed," said Mr. Challies. "We are asking the Dominion authorities to let us construct 300 miles of rural line this summer. If we can get labor and materials we will pursue this program as fast as possible."

In reply to an Opposition question, Mr. Challies said the 300-mile program would be divided among all parts of the Province on the basis of need. Abolition of the rural service charge would result in a possible loss of revenue to the commission of $527,000, but increased use of power would offset that, it was explained.

CLASSIFIED IN INDUSTRIES

Toronto, (C.P.) — Of the 4,240,000 Canadian women over 14 years of age, approximately 255,000 are engaged in war industry and more than 31,000 are in the Armed Services. It was reported at the nineteenth annual meeting of the United Church of Canada Board of Evangelism and Social Service, last week.

Women employed in other industry totalled 936,000, with 630,000 women on Canadian farms. Engaged in study are 309,000 and 300,000 are considered unemployable, the Board was told.

In the forces of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) had greatest employment with 12,900 followed by the C.W.A.C. with 12,500 and the W.R.C.N.S. with 3,454. Nursing services had taken 2,475 and 38 women are doctors serving with the forces.

Nearly 47 per cent of employed Canadian women are working in Ontario and 31.6 per cent in Quebec, it was reported. In 1943 the largest increase in the number of women at work was shown in British Columbia, with a rise of 84 per cent, and in Alberta, where an increase of 30 per cent. was recorded.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Butter bought with coupons 52 and 53 must be made to last until March 23rd. This will be no hardship for the thrifty homemaker. The elimination of meat rationing will enable folk to get ample of this heat-providing food, because now they may purchase more bacon and other pork products that contain a lot of good fat to substitute for butter.

Render fat trimmings using low heat. Cool quickly and put in a glass or enamel container. Cover and store in the upper part of the electric refrigerator. Another amount of dripping may be added whenever fat meat is bought. Do, however keep different kinds of drippings in separate containers — beef in one jar, pork in one jar and chicken, duck or goose in another. Lamb or mutton fat is the least successful fat for reuse.

When you use these Victory fats in place of butter, use two tablespoons less of the drippings per cup than of butter or other commercial shortening.

Pan Broiled Bacon

Place slices of bacon in a cold frying pan. Do not overcrowd the pan. Cook slowly. Turn bacon to cook evenly. If crisp bacon is desired, pour off fat as it accumulates.

Broiled Bacon

Place slices of bacon on broiling rack. Broil about three inches from top electric element of oven. Turn to cook evenly.

Picnic or Boston Butt

Better grades may be baked like ham, or water cooked. Cover with water, simmer, but do not boil. Allow about thirty to forty minutes per pound. Cook until tender.

Everyday Cake

Two cups sifted cake flour, one and one-quarter cups sugar, one teaspoon salt, three teaspoons of baking powder, one-third cup of lard, two eggs, three-quarters of cup milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Sift together all the dry ingredients and blend about one-third cup of the mixture with the lard until very soft and light. Add the unbeaten eggs and beat well. Add all the rest of the dry ingredients together with about half-cup of milk to which the vanilla has been added. Stir smooth. Add the rest of the milk and stir smooth again. Bake in 2 eight-inch layer pans in an electric oven 375 deg. F. for about 20-25 minutes.

Shamrock Cookies

Seven-eighths cup shortening, one cup sugar, two egg yolks, two tablespoons milk, two teaspoons vanilla, four cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one egg white.

Green sugar crystals.

Allow the shortening to stand at room temperature and then cream with the sugar and egg yolks. Add the milk and vanilla alternately with the flour and salt to make a dough stiff enough to handle. Chill thoroughly. Toss on a lightly floured board. Roll out with shamrock cutter and brush tops of shamrock with egg white, sprinkle with green sugar and bake in electric oven at 400 deg. F. six to eight minutes. Green sugar is coarse granulated sugar sprinkled with one drop of green colouring.

Butter Spread
(Suggested by J.B.)

We make one full cup of unsweetened custard using one cup of rich top milk, one or two egg yolks and one-quarter teaspoon of salt. Cook in top of double boiler and strain. Half a cup of butter is allowed to stand at room temperature until it is soft enough to beat but not oily, then the almost cold custard is whipped into it. This makes one pound of stretched butter from half a pound of butter.

TAKE A TIP:

1. Instead of using butter, grease pans with other mild flavoured fats.
2. Drippings from beef and pork roasts can be used in meat and vegetable dishes and for pan-frying many foods.
3. Instead of using butter in cream sauces for vegetables substitute other fats.
4. Grated cheese on vegetables also will take the place of butter.
5. With baked potatoes, cut a gash in the top and squeeze open—put butter on when served.
6. If crusts are to be cut off bread for sandwiches, this should be done before buttering.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. J. S. asks: How do you render fat without it spattering over the range?

Answer. We render or try out fat by putting it in a deep pan and placing it over low heat for some time.

Or you may render it in the top part of a double boiler. Pieces of potato heated with the fat will absorb some of the flavour and make the natural taste less strong.

Mrs. M. C. says: Since we can't get as much butter as usual, what can I use to furnish Vitamin A in the menus?

Answer: Vitamin A found in butter is also found in other sources. Serve grated raw carrots or raw beets moistened with mayonnaise. Liver contains much of this important vitamin, and children who take a teaspoon of cod liver oil daily receive an adequate amount.

In the Garden

BY GORDON LINDSAY SMITH

ENORMOUS YIELDS

Those unfamiliar with actual gardening are always amazed at the amount of vegetables a plot a few yards square can produce. Handled properly, a piece of ground 12 feet wide and 25 feet long should yield practically all the vegetables, except potatoes a small family will require from early fall until frost.

For ease in cultivation rows should run across the width, not the length of the plot, and they can be as close together as 12 inches for little, narrow and early stuff like lettuce, radish and carrots, about 15 inches for beets and beans and 18 inches for corn and tomatoes. To save room and induce early and clean fruits, the latter should be staked with all side branches pinched off.

Space can be saved by alternating early vegetables like radish, onion and lettuce with later maturing sorts like beets, carrots and onions. By the time the second group really require all room the first will have been removed and eaten.

PREPARE THOROUGHLY

In these small, intensive vegetable gardens as so many Victory gardeners found last season, it is essential to prepare the ground thoroughly in advance, to dig it well and get out all twitch grass and other weeds before the vegetables are planted. It is far more difficult to get out big weeds and grass roots after the vegetables are planted than before.

Another important point is thinning. Beets, carrots, lettuce, radish and all small seed vegetables should be thinned once so that those plants left can develop quickly and without crowding and checking. An inch apart will do for beets and carrots and seed onions, and then when more room is necessary one can take out every other plant and use for the table. Carrots and beets an inch in diameter make excellent eating.

PLOT PLANTING ADVANTAGES

Even where one has a whole farm at one's disposal it is a good plan to grow certain vegetables in small plots where they can be cultivated often and watered if necessary. This advice especially applies to carrots, beets, lettuce, radish, seed onions, parsnips and such things. Vegetables of this type seem to thrive better in small, compact plots than in long rows out in the field. On the other hand beans, peas, corn, potatoes etc. seem to do better under field conditions.

Peas, for instance, do not fit in a tiny space, because at least 30 feet of row will be necessary to produce a decent family meal, and corn is almost in the same category, something like a dozen hills being necessary for minimum results. One can harvest beans from a row ten feet long every other day for a couple of weeks or more. As however, they are susceptible to disease especially when damp, they are best grown in rows where they will not be disturbed when wet with rain or dew.

LAWN WORK

As soon as the frost goes out it is time to put up protecting stakes and wire and as soon as one can walk on the grass without marring it is time to plant seed. One can hardly sow the seed too early. Lawns should be rolled when ground is soft.

MARLBANK

Marlbank, March 13. — The sympathy of this village and community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Anstiss in the loss of their daughter, (Helen), Mrs. Clifton Dolline, who passed away at her home in Napanee on Friday last, at the early age of 31 years. ## CHILDREN'S AID AT WORK

This is a Series of Articles Concerning Children's Aid Work—Prepared by the Association of Children's Aid Societies of the Province of Ontario.—Article 2.

Throughout the area in which you live — it may be a city a town or the wider boundaries of the county— there are children whom harsh circumstances have deprived of the rights, opportunities and happiness that your children enjoy. For the moment we need not ask why this has happened to them, or whose fault it is, or whether behind the neglect or misfortune that has made them its victims are conditions of society for which we are all responsible.

There is a long trail of cause and effect that leads to broken homes, to irresponsible parenthood, to low standards of living out of which can come nothing but the stunted lives and souls of children. This calls up such reflections upon the organization of human society that most of us immediately find ourselves in a bog of economic and political thinking!

Let us at once admit that the underpinnings of Canadian society cry out for enlightened social engineering and that many of our social and human problems stem out from faulty economics. Nevertheless, let us all face our children's problem in Canada with informed minds and warm hearts and recognize that there are tools waiting to be used — good tools, in every community — more tools than there are people using them!

There are at least 40,000 children in this province who for one reason and another during one year must come under the protection of the Children's Aid Societies. Of those at least 8,000 children have been found to be so utterly deprived of normal home and care that our courts have legally committed them as wards of some one of the 52 societies in Ontario. Tens of thousands of others must be temporarily protected while every effort is made to improve the conditions of their own homes and help, advise and educate their parents.

These are just cold statistical statements. Let us use our imaginations a little! They mean that forty thousand little boys and girls in this beautiful province of Ontario, for some cause, have lacked care, opportunity and happiness that in a Christian country is their birthright! Nameless babies placed out in squalor and neglect; little boys and girls so neglected physically that their clothes have had to be burnt and their bodies rid of vermin and sent home to hospital to bring them back to health; children with the blight of their parents' vices beginning to tarnish their own innocence; children, if not actually abused and neglected, suffering physically and spiritually from discord and incapacity and low intelligence within the home. And sometimes children living impoverished lives because a loving mother has been deserted or a hard working, careworn father has been left to fill a mother's place.

It was for such children as these that about seventy years ago and through the efforts of a few great humanitarians, our world began to bestir itself. It was a benevolent English businessman, who having seen the beginning of the child welfare movement in New York, brought the idea of a society to protect children to England. He went to a meeting of the Liverpool Society for the protection of animals and standing up in the audience said: "I am here for the prevention of cruelty to animals and I cannot draw the line at children!" Famous philanthropists took up the challenge; societies sprang up; the great Lord Shaftesbury fathered the first protection act in 1889. It was the beginning of a new era.

Toronto saw the first efforts in Ontario to establish a law to protect the child, even against its own parents, a shelter for abandoned waifs and regulations to prevent hundreds of little boys and girls begging, selling papers or shoe laces. These conditions had aroused the strong sympathies of a reporter on The Toronto Globe, Mr. J. J. Kelso, who really became the father of the first Children's Aid Society in Canada. As elsewhere the movement was bound up with protection for animals and it is an arresting fact that the first response to this dual movement on the part of the Toronto City Council was a drinking trough for horses in 1867. The children came after!

It was several years after this first stirring of child welfare in Toronto that a group of people in Winnipeg went into a meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and submitted a petition that this work be extended to include the homeless children running the streets of this expanding new city. It is a fact that argument was raised that if the children were included then the dogs and cats would not get adequate protection! It is also a matter of record that an elderly spinster on the platform rose, and clutching her little pet dog in her arms, spoke strongly against the motion. Finally Dean (later Archbishop) Matheson, who was the chairman, said: "All who want to fight for the children go to the left and all who want to go to the dogs stay on the right!" Believe it or not, that meeting carried for the dogs and cats. Eleven of the people who were there went out and applied for a charter to start a Children's Aid Society.

The next article will tell you something about the wonderful piece of legislation fathered by the late Sir John Gibson, which first brought into being this democratic organization that operates under Government statute, but belongs to you in your community and which you can support and help and make what you will of — your Children's Aid Society!

PAUL TRIQUET HERO OF ORTONA AWARDED V. C.

BY PRIVATE R.L. CAMERON
Army Public Relations Writer

A haze of dust and gun smoke lay heavily over Casa Berardi, tiny Italian hamlet on the Ortona-Arsoga road. From every splintered window, every wall and pile of crumbled masonry spewed leaden death and high explosives. German infantry and tanks had made a hot spot of Casa Berardi; a death trap of the deep gully which lay before it.

On the other side of that gully, pinned down by murderous fire, a badly battered company of French Canada's famous Royal 22nd gritted their teeth, hung on and fought back. Then had been ordered to assault Casa Berardi — and take it. Only a countermanding order could stop them now.

Flattened behind scanty cover lay 35-year-old Major Paul Triquet, of Cabano, Quebec, the only officer not counted dead or wounded. Half his men were killed or out of action. Enemy fire was cutting into his dwindling force from both flanks. The moment was desperate. He couldn't stay where he was. But to retire—after having fought such a long and bloody way—

Suddenly bursts of enemy fire crashed out behind him. His weary soldiers swung around to face the attack. They were getting it on all sides now. Something had to be done—and at once!

Major Paul Triquet did it. Leaping to his feet he scrambled over the rubble and waved his "Van Doos" forward.

The enemy's in front of us! Behind us! On our flanks!" he yelled above the din. "There's only one safe place for us—with the objective!"

This week, those brave words have been flashed to all corners of the Allied world—and beyond. The story of how Paul Triquet won the Victoria Cross, how he led his men out of a certain death-trap, fought a way down into that murderous gully and up the other side and slugged it out with the enemy until the tattered remnants of his tiny band reached and held the outskirts of Casa Berardi itself — is already a Canadian legend.

Paul Triquet has become a national hero. The second Canadian soldier to win the V.C. in this greatest of all wars. The third member of the world-famous Royal 22nd Regiment to receive the highest recognition of bravery the King can bestow on a soldier.

But the exploit of this tall, lean French - Canadian soldier has won more than a medal. It has captured the imagination of Allied fighting men everywhere. It has sent a ripple of wonderful pride through the whole of Canada.

• • •

At Cabano, Quebec the little lumbering town of his birth people are speaking his name with tears in their eyes. And pride! Has not Paul Triquet proved himself a true soldier of Canada? Is he not the soldier son of Major George Triquet, who fought to defend his loved France in 1914, and today, at 63, commands "A" company of Les Fusiliers du Saint Laurent, a unit of reserves? Is he not the grandson of Louis-Desire Triquet, who fought the Hun half a century before that, in the Franco-Prussian War? And the great-grandson of another Paul Triquet, who endured the hardships of, and won glory in, the Crimea?

At sixteen he travelled all the way to Quebec City 40 try to enlist, insisting to the recruiting sergeant that he was actually 17 years of age. But he couldn't make it. Disconsolate, he returned home. The next year was a restless ordeal of waiting. Finally came his 17th birthday and his fighter's heritage could no longer be denied. He journeyed again to Quebec. This time he convinced the officer accepting the Mignon benediction. A social time was spent in which "au" contests were conducted and games were played. The officers served lunch at the close of the evening.

DORLAND

Dorland, March 11. — The past week has been typical March weather, high winds, bright sunshine alternated with snow falls and zero temperature. The storm on Wednesday almost reached blizzard proportions. The crows that were so much in evidence a couple of weeks ago have disappeared.

The farmers are all rushing hauling wood and logs etc., to get the winter work completed before the spring break-up.

Mr. H. John and son Morris, spent this week at Denbigh, on business.

Messrs. Leslie Reynolds and Leo Mack went to Kingston Hospital on Wednesday, to undergo throat operations.

There was no service in the United Church last Sunday as the extreme cold of Saturday night had made it impossible for Rev. K. J. Crawford to start his car that morning.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column is sponsored by the Regional Office, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Questions on price control, ration regulations and other Wartime Prices and Trade Board rulings should be mailed to: Information Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Victoria Building, Brockville, Ont.

Q. Is it necessary for me, as a maple syrup producer, to surrender coupons for the syrup that I consume on my own premises?

A. No. It is only when the syrup is sold that you are obliged to collect and surrender valid preserves coupons.

Q. Does the temporary reduction in the butter ration alter the value of the butter coupons?

A. No. It is still worth one-half pound of butter. The reduction is effected by postponing the dates of coupons 54 and 55.

Q. Can you tell me if there is a ceiling on imported Broccoli?

A. Yes. It is one of the imported vegetables recently brought under such control.

Q. Why is it that evaporated milk is now available in so-called restricted areas only after G coupons have been tendered?

A. This priority system of sales based upon need has been inaugurated because the total demand for evaporated milk in Canada is greater than the total supply.

Q. In our household we are not able to do much canning but we do consume a fair amount of commercial jams and jellies. Is there no way in which we can increase our purchases of the latter above the value of the preserves coupons?

A. Yes. It has been arranged that each of the P coupons which are to be used for the purchase of canning sugar this year may be, if desired exchanged for one preserves coupon through Local Ration Boards. This will enable you to augment your normal purchases of commercially packed jams, jellies, etc.

Q. How many D coupons are needed to buy a gallon of maple syrup?

A. Until May 31, that is, during the production season, one D coupon will be good for 40 fluid ounces, or one quart, and four D coupons will cover the purchase of one gallon. After May 31 the value of the D coupon for maple syrup will be reduced to 24 fluid ounces.

Q. I live in the country and it is hard for me to get away in order to obtain my new ration book. Is there no way in which I can have this done for me?

A. Yes. You may hand No. 3 book to an adult neighbor and have him or her collect your No. 4 book. But be sure that the application card is filled out by yourself in advance.

Q. What is the present price for Canada light grade maple syrup?

A. $3.15 per Imperial gallon in a direct sale from producer to consumer.

Q. I have a number of out-of-town customers for maple syrup. Are they to send me their coupons?

A. No, coupons must not be sent through the mail. Have your customers take their ration book to their Local Ration Board where they will receive a purchase voucher in exchange for four D coupons. Each voucher is worth one gallon of Maple Syrup. You must receive their vouchers before sending the syrup.

Q. I bought some used radio tubes and feel I was overcharged. How can I check on this?

A. Used radio tubes sell for 25 per cent. of the price paid in the same locality for the same kind of tube when new.

ENTERPRISE

MR. AND MRS. M. J. BREAULT HONORED BY A FAREWELL PARTY AND PRESENTATION

Enterprise, March 13. — On Thursday evening, March 9th, a large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Cronk, Enterprise, to spend a social evening with MA and Mrs. M. J. Breault and Miss Catharine before they left for their new home near Napanee.

The evening was spent in games, cards and social intercourse. Later, Mr. George Lockwood read the following address and Mr. Miles Jackson, on behalf of the community, presented Mr. and Mrs. Breault with a well filled purse.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Breault and Catharine :

We the citizens of the community, wish, by gathering here tonight, to express to you our appreciation of your friendship and neighborliness during the years you have lived in this community.

We are truly sorry to know we are losing good citizens, where places are hard to fill.

You, Meacham, have always been ready to lend a helping hand when called upon to serve in whatever line you were asked to assist, whether it was in community or church affairs. In the church your work was very efficient in the different official capacities you worked in while here, and, Eva, from your youth we know you could always be depended upon when asked to assist in anything for the uplift of the community or in the church, where you served so faithfully in the choir for a number of years.

We do not persume to enumerate your good qualities, nor to detail all the good things you have done, but we do wish to make it very plain that you will be greatly missed by your friends and neighbours.

Our best wishes go with you and we trust that you will be happy in your new home, and that your new found friends may even be more congenial than your old ones.

Yes, we hope you may look back with many happy memories of your association with the citizens of the

We shall now ask you to accept this purse of money, not for its value, but for the motive which prompts the giving.

Signed on behalf of the community.

GEO. W. LOCKWOOD
MILES E. JACKSON
Enterprise, Ont., March 9th, 1944

After singing "For they are Jolly Good Fellows", Mr. and Mrs. Breault thanked all for their kind wishes and invited everyone to visit them in their new home near Napanee.

The evening closed with a dainty lunch served by Mrs Elmore Jackson, Mrs. Walter Penwick, Mrs. Miles Jackson, Mrs. George Nelson, Mrs. John Cowdy, Donald Wagar, Miles Jackson and John Cowdy.

ST. PATRICKS PROGRAMME BY LOCAL TALENT

(Contributed)

Aglow with Irish gaiety and dignity was the concert and play "Merry Molly Malone", sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, last Friday evening.

The two hour performance was opened by Mr. Herb. Gaulin who delighted the audience singing "Mother Machree" and "The Rose of Tralee." Master Bernard McWilliams very ably rendered "The Wearing of the Green" and "The Blue Bells of Scotland." Miss Edith Perry, dressed as an Irish Colleen, gave an excellent exhibition of tap dancing. Miss Agnes Cavanaugh presided at the piano throughout the evening.

A musical skit "Mr. Muramara's Band" composed of Herb. Gaulin at the piano, Ralph Lasher at the violin, "Bill" Sills with his saxaphone, and Jos. Marshall as drummer, caused much laughter. Tom Breaugh, as Master of Ceremonies was most entertaining with the usual Irish wit. A touch of grace was added to this part of the programme with high top hats and tails being worn by the entire band.

"Merry Molly Malone," a one-act comedy followed. The characters portrayed splendid ability. Mr. Pat. Murphy, as Winchell Barrington, a New York Irishman, caused much hilarity. His lovely but snobbish wife Nellie Barrington, was most ably played by Miss Gladys Gehan. Mrs. Arthur Ruttan, as Bridget O'Hara, Irish housekeeper in the Barrington home, stole the hearts of the audience. Miss Jean McNeill very ably acted the part of Molly Malone lovable Irish immigrant, who won the heart of play-boy Neal Barrington, Arthur Crook, much to the disgust of his mother and sister. Miss Ilka Barrington, Vera Ruttan who played the difficult part of the snobbish society daughter who was surprised to find her aristocratic lover, Perry Von Lone, Mr. Ray Joyce, was a brother of, Molly Malone, and his real name was Paddy Malone, thus making the ending much more agreeable for all concerned.

A sing-song "My Wild Irish Rose" led by Joe Marshall brought to a close the splendid programme.

Much credit is due the president and the director who so ably chose the characters and planned the entertainment.

Liston's Orchestra rendered excellent music for the remainder of the evening.

FIRE DESTROYS RAILROAD LANDMARK AT STRATHCONA

Station Built 50 Years Ago Destroyed in Blaze Last Week

On March 15th fire destroyed the Canadian National Railway Station at Strathcona, Ont. The station was one of the oldest landmarks in the county and was built by the Bay of Quinte Railway fifty years ago. At that time there was a cement plant, also the Strathcona Paper Co. in the village. Later the Cement Plant was removed to Marlbank, but the Strathcona Paper Company has continued making paper and at the present time employs eighty men.

It was about 9 p.m. when one of the residents noticed a small flame coming out around the chimney and gave the alarm at once. At the time there were about forty men working in the mill. Mr. Findlay closed down and released the men to fight the fire. The Strathcona Paper Company has a number one fire-fighting equipment which was brought into service at once, with streams of water playing on the building. At first, it was thought the station could be saved, but owing to a strong east wind, which fanned the flames into a roaring furnace, it was found the building could not be saved. The workers turned their attention to saving the contents of the office and freight shed. They succeeded in saving all the freight in the freight shed, which consisted chiefly of machinery, oil and mill supplies. The contents of the office were mostly saved, thanks to the willing workers.

The Canadian National replaced the destroyed station with a new combination car for the S. L. Hart, agent to use until a new station can be erected.

The employees of the Strathcona Paper Mills Company deserve credit for the way in which they handled the situation, keeping the fire from spreading to other buildings.

VERSATILE ARTIST ENTERTAINS LIONS CLUB, LADIES' NIGHT

Arthur Duncan, editor of Bata Shoe Publications, Batawa, Ont. was guest speaker Monday night, when the Lions Club held their annual bowling night. Nearly one hundred were present to be held under his spell of charm and ability. He had something for everyone, even Santa Claus.

Mr. Duncan reminded us of the British sense of humor during the Blitz of 1940, and how it helped save the day for the world. His many stories, all new, were told in many dialects His greatest contribution of the evening was an explanation of the philosophy of Edgar Guest, and he recited from memory, several of his fine poems. Mr. Duncan further entertained the Club in song accompanied by his wife, and he and Mrs. Duncan then sang a duet accompanied by Lion Follis. There was a hope expressed that this town might enjoy their entertainment again.

Owing to the absence of President Ryerson Humphrey, the Vice-President, Harry Skitch, was in the chair.

Lion Chas. McLellan asked the invocation and this was followed by a very "enjoyable meal during which many songs and stunts were put on by the club.

Vice-President Harry welcomed the ladies and Lion Murray Chidley welcomes the wives of the Club's enlisted members, and Mr. Geo. Switzer and wife, as President of the Rotary Club.

Lion Gerald Smith led the song, "Grandfather's Clock" and as usual had everyone singing.

The lucky chair prizes were won by Miss McCabe, from Batawa, Mrs. W. P. Asselstine, Mrs. Bert Seymour and Mrs. Reg. Bowers.

The speaker was introduced by Lion Russell P. Hunter, chairman of the evening, and Lion George A. Daly, co-Chairman, extended the thanks of all present in his usual witty way.

Following the regular meeting a large number stayed to enjoy the dance.

IMPOSSIBLE TO STOP RUSSIAN ADVANCE ON WIDE FRONT

Latest Successes Menace Roumania

WEDNESDAY —

The Russians continued their advance toward Nikolaev and Odessa following the fall of Kherson. The Germans were reported to have summoned all Roumanian ships to Black Sea ports, presumably to evacuate the threatened army around Odessa.

• • •

Mud still limited ground action in Italy, but planes kept up continued action mostly against supply lines.

• • •

The railroad centre of Le Mans near Paris, was truck by hundreds of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. planes and mosquito raiders also bombed Frankfurt and other objectives in Western Germany.

• • •

British troops succeeded in breaching Jap defences on the upper Chindwin River in Burma.

THURSDAY —

One of the greatest air blows in history was directed against Cassino in Italy on Wednesday, when 2,000 tons of bombs were dropped on the town and its suburbs, completely wiping them out. Following the aerial action against Cassino the Allies started a tank and infantry offensive.

• • •

Russian Army advances toward the Roumanian border and the Black Sea ports continued unchecked. Advances of as much as 18 miles were made and on the Black Sea front the Russians were within 17 miles of Odessa.

• • •

Wewak, Japanese base in New Guinea, was pounded from the air for the fourth successive day on Wednesday, and eight enemy planes were brought down.

• • •

Allied heavy bombers struck at Brunswick and Hanover in Germany bringing down 36 Hun planes.

• • •

The Finnish Parliament rejected Russian peace terms.

FRIDAY—

As a result of recent Russian successes, the position of the Germans in Southern Russia was described as desperate. The Russian army cut the railroad between Odessa and Zhmerinka which isolated the Black Sea port of Nikolaev on three sides. Further north Red army advances brought the border of Roumania almost within artillery range.

• • •

In Italy the Allies occupied about three-quarters of Cassino.

• • •

In the South Pacific, United States forces occupied Manus Island, the largest of the Admiralty group. Land based bombers attacked the Japanese base at Truk.

• • •

The British made further gains in West Burma and in the northern part of Burma the Chinese advanced six miles.

• • •

3,000 Tons of bombs were dropped by 1,000 planes, on Stuttgart.

SATURDAY —

The Russians advanced to two points only eleven miles from the Dniester River, prewar border of Roumania. The Germans were said to be in full retreat and were abandoning huge quantities of stores and arms.

• • •

Allied troops were reported fighting their way into Cassino but still found the ruined city strongly held by the Germans.

• • •

In Burma the Japs were said to be on the offensive on only one of the six fronts.

• • •

Allied planes from Italy raided Vienna on Friday. Aerial action continued over France and Germany.

• • •

MONDAY —

The Russians crossed the Dniester River and smashed into Roumania on a 31-mile front, capturing forty Bessarabian villages. Three large Russian armies also stormed through 385 more localities on a wide front from inside pre-war Poland down to the Black Sea.

• • •

Although the Allies were in possession of most of Cassino, in Italy, the Germans made some improvement in their position. On Saturday Allied airmen brought down 130 German planes in Italy.

• • •

During the week-end three heavy aerial blows were struck in Germany against munition plants, rail centres and other industries.

• • •

During the past twenty days five naval sloops sank six German U-boats.

TUESDAY —

The Russian Army continued its amazing advance along the 400-mile southern front, with Russian forces nearing the Prut River, and others in sight of the Carpathian Mountains the way to Bucharest appeared to be opening up. The Germans were said to be retiring in confusion along the whole line.

• • •

Resisting fierce counter-attacks by the Germans the Allies continued to hold the territory they had gained in and around Cassino in Italy.

• • •

The Japanese opened up a new offensive across the Chindwin River in Burma, but the new attacks by the Japs were not causing the Allied armies any special worry.

• • •

Between 1600 and 2100 Allied planes bombed in Britain were in action against the German coast area around Frankfurt, on Monday.

COMMITTEE OF COMMISSION TO VISIT E. ONTARIO

A special committee of the Ontario Agricultural Commission of Inquiry, headed by the Chairman, A. Leitch, will visit three points in Eastern Ontario during the first week of April, to hear the views and receive representations from the farmers of that section of the Province. The meetings will be held under the auspices of the County Agricultural Representatives, as follows:

APRIL 3 — KINGSTON
APRIL 4 — RENFREW
APRIL 6 — KEMPTVILLE

Representations from all of the surrounding counties will also be received at these meetings which will be open to the public and which all farmers are invited to attend. The Committee is representative of all phases of agriculture, so that briefs and representations may cover the whole field of Eastern Ontario farming.

Arrangements as to the place of meetings, which will start at 10:00 a.m. daily, will be made by the agricultural representatives. They are also taking steps to ensure that all farm organizations are given full opportunity of placing their views before the Committee.

Interesting Address on Philippine Experiences At Rotary Luncheon

Mr. Sam Wolfe, a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, who recently returned from Manila Philippine Islands, where he was a resident at the time of the outbreak of war and for some time after, gave a most interesting talk on his experiences at the luncheon meeting of the Napanee Rotary Club, on Tuesday noon.

W.P.&T.B. OFFICIAL SPEAKS TO RETAILERS AT NAPANEE MEETING

Urges Expense Saving and Conservation of Supplies

W. A. Conglon, representing the management service division of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was the speaker at a special meeting of owners and managers of retail businesses in Napanee held at the Council Chamber last Monday evening.

Mr. F. A. Correll, Chairman of the Retail Merchants' Association presided, and introduced Mr. S. J. Fraser, a representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Kingston, who, in turn, introduced Mr. Conglon.

The speaker, in a talk illustrated with charts, spoke on business management, emphasizing the importance of saving time, materials and curtailing other expense items wherever savings could be made. He also explained that the cost-of-living index was based on reports from 1,500 families from coast to coast, whose incomes ranged from $600.00 to $2,400.00 per year. He pointed out that the cost of living had gone up less than three points since price control became effective. As an instance of the way in which price control had worked he cited sugar, which, during the last war, rose to over $25.00 per cwt., and at present is between $8.00 and $9.00 per cwt. Cost of operation of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board averages about $1.25 per person per year, or about 10c. per month.

In the discussion which followed the address the retailers present expressed the opinion that a very equitable distribution of goods was being maintained by the co-operation of the manufacturer, the wholesaler and the distributor.

It was decided at the meeting to hold the annual meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association early in April, when the election of officers will be held following a dinner.

I. O. D. E. NEWS

WEEKLY WAR WORK MEETING

The U. E. L. Chapter of the I. O. D. E. held its weekly war work meeting on Thursday and in spite of the slippery condition of the streets, about twenty members and visitors were present. Tribute is paid to the faithful who turn out regularly, rarely letting anything interfere with their voluntary duties.

The war work convener, Mrs. A. E. Lewis read a letter from her nephew, written on the crested notepaper of the Scotia Chapter, I.O.D.E., Truro, Nova Scotia. He said, in part — "Dear Aunt — I have always heard you talk of the work that is done by the I. O. D. E. in Napanee and I had no idea till I came here, that they also do so many things to help entertain servicemen. Here, they have the quarters of a large brick building, with a large reading and writing room and plenty of space for games. They serve excellent meals, very cheap writing paper, magazines and have a large library of books, radio and a piano. My pal and I call regularly along with thousands of others and are always made to feel very welcome."

Assisting at tea-time were Mrs. B. Weiss, Mrs. S. Goodridge, Mrs. D. R. Hall and Mrs. O. S. Reddick.

MOTHERS' CORNER, I.O.D.E.

Wednesday last, Mrs. George Davies, Mrs. C. G. Gilbert, Mrs. Ernest Pidgeon and Mrs. George Fisher, went to the I. F. S. Airport at Mohawk, to the weekly session of mending and darning for the airmen. After a busy evening, delicious refreshments were served in the Mess Hall.

Sponsored by the I. O. D. E. town and country women are invited to take part in this pleasant task.

MR. ALPINE WOODS PROMINENT CITIZEN DIES SUDDENLY

Rendered Valuable Service for Many Years to the Community

Alpine Woods, for forty years prominent in the business, church and public life of the town of Napanee and the County of Lennox and Addington, died at his home, Bridge St., on Tuesday morning, after only a few hours illness.

Mr. Woods was in his 84th year and until the past year or so took an active interest in several of the town's public organizations. He continued to direct his own cheese box manufacturing business until the time of his death.

Mr. Woods was born at Roblin and was a son of the late Stephen L. Woods and Mary Carelton. He attended school at Roblin and graduated from the Newburgh Academy, after which he entered into the business of cheese box manufacturing at Roblin from where he moved to Napanee about 40 years ago since when he continued to successfully operate the same business.

Endowed with a keen mind and a pleasant personality, along with his business ability, Mr. Woods used his talents for many years in the interests of his church and educational and welfare institutions. While residing in Roblin he was a leader in the Methodist Church and since coming to Napanee he was one of the most active and regular attendants of Trinity United Church, in which he served for many years as trustee and a steward. For twenty-six years he was a member of the Napanee Board of Education and for twenty-five years was chairman of the Board. He was extremely well versed in school law, which, together with his genuine interest in the advancement of education led to many improvements in educational facilities in the town.

Perhaps his greatest interest for the most number of years was the Lennox and Addington Children's Aid Society of which he was a member for thirty years and its president for twenty-seven years. Many hundreds of children of the county, who came under the supervision of the Children's Aid Society, have benefitted by Mr. Wood's kindly and thoughtful interest in their welfare.

During his long residence in the town, every worthwhile cause received the support of Mr. Woods and the institutions with which he expended his energies and the citizens who have reaped benefit from them, are a lasting monument to a life well lived.

Mr. Woods is survived by his wife formerly Anna Fennell, one daughter Miss Lydia Woods, of the N.C.W.I. staff, and two brothers, Stuart, in Parkhill, Sask., and Carleton in Roblin. He was predeceased by two sisters Mrs. William Valleau and Mrs. Andrew Martin and by two brothers, George and Thomas.

His funeral will be conducted by Rev. G. M. Chidley at Trinity United Church on Thursday afternoon, at 2.30. Interment will be at Riverside cemetery.

BEEKEEPERS SELLING HONEY MUST REGISTER

Beekeepers who sell 4,000 pound of honey or more in a year are required to register with the nearest branch of the Ration Administration. If they sell less than this amount they must register with their Local Ration Board. In order to register each beekeeper simply writes to the required office stating that he is a honey producer or else calls or telephones to the office giving the same information. A beekeeper who is already registered with either office need not register all over again.

LIQUOR AND FREE ENTERPRISE

There should be in the post-war world a place for free enterprise, a place that is for the individual to set up a business for himself, out of which he can make a living for himself and family. The point at which free enterprise ceases to be free and therefore must be controlled, is where the business represented by free enterprise becomes monopolistic and semi-monopolistic. Just so soon as a business, either by crushing competitors or buying them out gets in control of the product in which it is interested, the state will have to step in. The liquor traffic is approaching that point. The rapid unification of the brewing interests is paving the way for government action. That the Government has acted quickly in connection with the Airways, shows that it has courage to take over a business when the time seems ripe.

Tucked away in a little corner of the financial pages of "The Globe and Mail" on Monday's March 20th, was an inconspicuous little notice which read: "D. C. Betts, President of Canadian Breweries, Limited, announces purchase of the majority of the outstanding shares of the Walkerville Brewing, Limited, at Windsor." This calls to mind that only a few weeks ago this same company bought up The Canada Bud Brewing Co. Where is all the money coming from to go into the market for these heavy purchases. The answer is to be found in E. P. Taylor's statement at the annual meeting of The Canadian Breweries, when he announced a refundnig of debentures by which two million dollars was turned into four millions.

This sort of thing never could have happened had not the Government authorities shortly after the war, permitted the Canadian Brewers, Limited, to make significant changes in the financial structure of their company by virtue of which they paid off arrears of dividends. That was a good stroke of business, but it was not so good for some others in the community. During the depression, dividends went by default, but under the wartime boom these are paid back. But we do not hear of the farmers being paid for the produce they sold at starvation prices during those lean years. Nor do we hear that workmen, who tramped the streets, looking for jobs, in the hungry thirties, are being paid back wages.

There is another aspect to this whole situation that cannot be overlooked. It will be remembered that Mr. E. P. Taylor — a dollar-a-year man on the Munitions Board at Ottawa, wrote an alternative speech which he put into the newspapers in the form of paid advertisements—the speech which Mr. King, according to Mr. Taylor—ought to have given on the liquor situation. Who is this Mr. E. P. Taylor ? This is what the Canadian Who's Who says about him: "President of Canadian Breweries Ltd., President of Carling Breweries Ltd., President of O'Keefe's Brewing Co. Ltd., Vice-President of Brading Breweries Ltd., Vice-President of British American Brewing Co. Ltd., Vice-President of Canada Bud Breweries Ltd., Vice-President of Cosgraves Dominion Breweries Ltd., and Vice-President of Brewing Corporation of America. Mr. Taylor was one of our most publicized dollar-a-year men. In 1940 he was appointed executive assistant to Hon. C.D. Howe, Minister of Munitions. In 1941 he became chief executive officer of the British Supply Council in North America."

Mr. V. T. Goggin, who is now Liquor Controller for Ontario, was Deputy-Minister of the Department of Supply. Both these men left within a few weeks of each other; Mr. Taylor to go on with his brewing business, and now Mr. Goggin to his new job in Toronto. Shortly after they left, the now famous signs were posted in Ontario which forced the Dominion Government to withdraw restrictions on the sale of beer.

That's the story ! And now, as the brewing interests become more and more controlled by Mr. E. P. Taylor, the way to the nationalization of the industry is opening up.

A GOOD TIME

A good time seems to have been had by all, especially the German prisoners who enjoyed a spell of freedom in Thurso, near Ottawa on Wednesday. They are really not prisoners of the dangerous type and are used in the woods to do a bit of lumbering. A number of these were taken into town to have their teeth attended to under two members of the Veterans' Guard — to the newspaper reports say — a Corporal and a Private. After getting their teeth fixed at Buckingham, the German prisoners and guards went off to Thurso, another nearby town. There they ate, drank and were merry, and when the Guard tried to get the Prisoners back to camp in a truck, they refused to go because it was not heated. So they stayed in the hotel all night.

It seems to have been a rather nice little outing for the German prisoners. They all got safely back to camp and by now are probably very happy about the whole trip — all except the Guards.

A NEW SORT OF BANK

The Industrial Development Bank which the Dominion Government proposes to set up, is quite a new departure. The announcement of the new venture has been well received. In the debates in the House, there has been no denying the need for some banking provision which would do the work the Industrial Development Bank is designed to accomplish. The preamble to the Bill gives the reasons for the new bank, among other things to censure the availability of credit to industrial enterprises who may reasonably be expected to prove successful, to provide capital assistance to industry, with particular consideration to the financing of small enterprises. It is designed, as well: "to assist in the conversion of war plants and in the development of small and medium-scale industrial enterprises."

It might be asked why the regular banks cannot undertake this financing. Mr. D C. Abbot, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Finance, made this clear in his address on the Bill, on March 2nd. He said: "The chartered banks are one source of credit for industrial enterprises. But since the liabilities of these banks are mostly in the form of deposits, withdrawable on demand or short notice, it has always been thought desirable that they should keep their assets in a rather liquid form—easily realizable in time of need. For this reason the chartered banks, for the most part, have made short-term loans to industry,— loans which in the ordinary course of business, can be paid off in full, at least once a year. . . If an industrial enterprise requires financial assistance for more than a year . . . then there is a good chance, as things stand now, that it will have considerable difficulty in raising money although the project itself may be basically sound. It is to fill this gap in our financial structure and to insure that adequate financing is forthcoming for desirable projects, that the Government proposes to establish the Industrial Development Bank."

This is an admirable evidence of practical planning for the post-war years. The interesting feature of the announcement has been the kindly reception it has received. This is the more remarkable when it is remembered that the project is to be financed by the Bank of Canada. There was much fear expressed when the Bank of Canada was founded, but it has justified its existence ,and now that another publicly-owned bank is proposed, there seems little fear because it will be government-owned.

COMING ON

The unbelievably fast speed with which the Russian Armies are driving the Germans out of the Ukraine, is one of the marvels of the war. The whole situation has changed within a week. If the Russians are able to keep up their present pace, and do not overreach themselves, the Germans in the East will find themselves in a very unhappy position.. They will be driven into the Balkans; what will happen when they get down there is anybody's guess. The people of the Balkans are not looking at the present situation with any degree of comfort: What they will do when faced with actual war conditions on their own soil, is unpredictable. They are caught between two fears—the fear of the Russians and the fear of the Germans. Having taken the tiger by the tail, they cannot let go, and yet it is dangerous to hang on. What is equally disturbing to our enemies is the effect this drive of the Russians will have on the invasion in the West. It was always a well-known and oft repeated principle of Hitler's that Germany should never have a war on both the East and the West at the same time. Well, Hitler now has the thing he dreaded. His armies all over Europe will feel the effect of this defeat in the Ukraine.

The success of Russia forces political problems for the United Nations, Just what Russia intends to do in the Balkans when her armies get there, nobody knows. But they will not stop. This adds to the prestige of Russia and gives her a more authoritative right to speak in the Council of Nations than might, otherwise, have been the case. Maybe that is the reason for the rumors that there is soon to be another meeting of Premier Churchill and President Roosevelt.

FOR SALES OF HONEY TO ISSUE VOUCHERS

In order to accommodate consumers who wish to order honey by mail, it has been arranged that they may exchange their preserves coupons at a Local Ration Board for purchase voucher RB-184. For four valid preserves coupons, they will obtain one voucher, which covers the purchase of eight pounds of honey. There is, of course, no limit to the number of vouchers allowed a consumer on this basis and later, if the consumer desires to turn an unused voucher back into preserves coupons, he may do so, again by applying to his Local Ration Board.

LETTER FROM ITALY

The following is a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Sexsmith, R. R. 6, Napanee, from their son, Willie of the Eighth Army in Italy.

Somewhere in Italy.
February 13th 1944

Dear Mother and Dad:

This is quite a nice morning down here, quite cold, but sunny, after a week of wind, snow and rain. We moved back out of the line two days ago and are having a much-needed rest, having been up front since December 5th, when we crossed the Sangro River. We are far enough back, here that we only hear a very bit of heavy artillery fire and that in itself is a treat to the ears. The Canadians, I believe have the name of being in th front line longer than any other outfit in the Eighth Army, that is, the Infantry. Nearly all this country is lucky enough to be in buildings, and it is a change from what we have been used to. Eight of us are in a building where they used to press and grind olives to get the oil. You sure have funny places to live in down here, from time to time. Seven of us slept in an old wine room and if those old wine kegs had ever sprung a leak we'd all have been drowned. There were four "small" kegs that would hold around 90 gallons each, and three big ones that would hold at least 150 gallons each, and all nearly full of wine. Two were standing on end and one guy had his bed on them, so you can see how big they were. I had my bed made on four bags of wheat on the floor, my blankets covering them; a bit rough the first night but afterward got the shape of me, and formfitting. A guy has to make the best of things and always say—no matter how bad things are, they could always be worse.

Well, last night I was glad to receive smokes from Aunt Edna and your Christmas parcel. All were in good shape and even though a "bit" late, we are in a position now to enjoy such things. I also received parcels from Ebenezer W. A., Melrose Institute, Lonsdale W. A., Jen and Edna and Lorne, also smokes from Mr. and Mrs. Bill Whiteman, besides a great deal more Christmas mail. Although impossible for me to answer all of them, everything was grand and I thank all, very, very much.

LATER — Back from dinner, which consisted of stew, bread and butter, cheese, an orange and tea. There are lots of oranges here. all we want. Arthur is fine and after being in the hospital with blood-poisoning in his hand. He saw Jerry Sexsmith of Kingsford, also the two McHenry boys are here but I haven't seen them yet. I hope to.

We were taking shelter in a bombed house a while ago and with the concussion from the artillery fire some bricks fell, landing on my head and shoulders. half hurting me. I finished up with two cuts on the back of my head, a small one over my eye, one on my hand and bricks fell on my foot. I am all OK now. The only I am wearing a number 7 boot on one foot and a number nine on the other. My mum was taken prisoner in December. I wrote his mother in Montreal. She was so pleased and thankful to hear the details, as she hadn't heard a word from her son. His father is in the merchant navy.

We got our Voluntary Service Ribbon with silver Maple Leaf for eighteen months active service or more. One has to serve overseas to get the Maple Leaf. The Colonel said we were the only voluntary army in the world, so I guess we should be proud of it. It is coloured green, red, blue, red, green, and the Maple Leaf in the centre—quite nice.

Now I must close for this time Glad to hear you are all well and best regards to all. I am fine.

As ever, your loving son,
Willie

MORVEN W. A.

Mrs. George Clarke was hostess to the members of the M.Even W. A. on March 15th, with an attendance of eighteen members and visitors. The March program convener, Mrs. Claude Craig, had charge of the program, which was opened with a poem and a hymn. A reading was given by Mrs. Ri Hill, and Mrs. Claude Craig reviewing the topic gave many instances of our airmen to-day calling upon God in prayer and for help in their many dangerous exploits. Mrs. Ball gave a reading and followed with the business in the minutes were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given and the offering taken, after which Mrs. Claude Craig gave a reading, and letters of appreciation were read from the bereaved and sick in our W. A. Mrs. William Ravenaft kindly offered her home for the next meeting, also to prepare the program for April. After a hymn, prayer was offered by Mrs. Ravenaft and the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess. Mrs. Clarke served delicious candy.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, MARCH 26TH, 1944

"THE SACREDNESS OF LIFE"

Text: Gen. 1: 27, 28; Matt. 12: 11, 12; Rom. 14: 19-21; Cor. 6: 19, 20

A person's individual life is his most sacred possession. Democracy is founded on that assumption. The newer ideologies hold that the most important consideration, that to which all else must be subordinated is not the personal life but the life of the group or nation. Fundamentally that is the difference between Democracy and Nazi-ism. It is a religious difference as well. For Jesus the individual was of deepest concern.

At the very threshold of the Bible this thought of the worth of personality stands out boldly. "And God created man in His own image in the image of God-created he them." Man has been created in the image of God, with Divine powers, aspirations dreams and hopes. He is endowed with a mind that thinks, a heart that feels a conscience that responds to good and evil, and with a will that enables him to make decisions and carry them through. Of all created things, man alone possesses these Divine qualities. "God breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul."

In the passage from Matthew this same emphasis is placed on the worth of human personality. Jesus illustrates the profound truth by telling the story of a man whose one sheep fell into the pit on the Sabbath. Will not the owner lay hold of it and take it out ? Jesus asks. The answer is self-evident, of course, for will Jesus take this to show that life is of more value even than religious institutions. Unless religious institutions serve human personality they are not fulfilling their function. Man comes first—there is nothing of such infinite worth as a human soul.

In the next section of the week's text, taken from Romans, Paul urges that men and women should refrain from doing anything which would injure others. The right to do that temptation before town. BEHIND YOUR TELEPHONE..

QUICK THINKING IN EMERGENCIES

A telephone operator hears a frantic call for help. Quickly she asks the address, sends police and medical aid. Then, to save critical minutes, she may notify the next-door neighbour, too.

In countless cases of asphyxiation or sudden seizure, precious lives have been saved by the quick thinking of a telephone operator.

Thousands of Bell operators thus serve as custodians of the community's safety. Alert, resourceful, devoted to duty, they can be depended on always to put the public welfare first.

Tamworth Lady On 86th Birthday Recalls Past Events

Tamworth, March 15. — On Friday, March 10th, at her home in Tamworth, Mrs. Nancy McKim celebrated her eighty-sixth birthday and entertained thirty - three of her friends at a party. Dressed in a pretty blue crepe dress, she gave a hearty welcome to each of her guests. She appeared much younger than her years. It was very interesting to hear her tell of pioneer life as she remembers it in this part of the world. Her earliest recollections are of very little cleared land, but great wooded areas. One means of income was the cutting and burning of these trees to make potash. (As she told about the wonderful trees that were cut and piled up and burned, some of us did some wishful thinking). With a barrel of potash, her father, with a wood runner sleigh drawn by a yoke of oxen, would journey to Napanee, sell the potash and return with six months' provisions. Land thus cleared was graded by hand, planted with potatoes or sown with wheat. There was no rationing of maple syrup and maple sugar in those days. Quantities of both were made and used to sweeten the dried apples, berries and plums which each household had by the bagful. The dried fruits were used for pies, too. The brooms were homemade and it was a great event when her father brought home a small coal oil lamp. She tells how the whole family grouped about the table to watch her mother light it. Tallow candles were the means of lighting most commonly used. Yarn was made from the raw wool, carded and spun by her mother. As soon as each child was old enough, she was taught to knit.

Mrs. McKim also related that no matter how much potash had to be made, how many other tasks pioneer hands had to do, there was always time for family prayer.

Mrs. McKim can remember when Marlbank was comprised of a saw mill, a grocery store and a school. The latter was used as a church and a Sunday school room as well. Mrs. McKim is typical of the pioneer of other days — ambitious, kindly and interested in all things for the benefit of others.

She received over fifty cards as well as some letters, gifts of fruit, candy, cakes, china and eleven dollars in cash. The latter she intends to apply to her talent money for the Woman's Auxiliary.

Tamworth United Church

Regular monthly meeting of W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Hayes with a good attendance. The president was in charge conducting the regular opening and business. Rev. A. W. Seaton had charge of the devotional and chose Ruth as the character for study. Mrs. Huffman and Mrs. Lochhead sang a duet. Mrs. Hall read the answers by naming a favorite hymn. Lunch was served at the close by the hostess and committee.

Report of
Red Cross for February

Sewing — 3 quilts, 1 wool Afghan donated by the Women's Institute, convalescent coats.

Knitting — 1 long sleeve army sweater, 2 pairs gloves, 3 scarves, 3 helmets, 26 mitts.

A quantity of fur for sailors' vests, wool for bombers' helts and fifty lbs. of fat were donated. Money raised by raffles, sale of tickets on pig and tea collection, was $305.92.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Scanlan and daughter, Mary, motored to Asshinie, N.Y., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Scanlan's brother, Dr. J. A. Kearney. Dr. Kearney, 53 years of age, died following a serious operation. He served two years overseas in World War I. For the past eighteen years he has been associated with medical work in Sing Sing Prison as well as busy with private practice.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Stinson were in Kingston on Saturday afternoon, March 11, to attend the wedding of their only son, Lieut. G. K. Stinson and Nursing Sister Mildred Conlin, at Chalmer's Church. War weddings are a tradition in this family as Lieut. Stinson's father married Mrs. Stinson (the former Maisie Hayliette) in London in 1919. Mr. Stinson was a Pilot-Flight Lieut. in World War No. 1. He returned to Canada in 1921 accompanied by his English war bride.

Mrs. F. W. Froste entertained a number of ladies at afternoon tea on Wednesday in honor of Miss Jessie Smith of Belleville, who is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lochead.

Mrs. George Stinson, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Reg. Owen, Toronto, returned home this week. She attended her grandson's wedding on Saturday.

Mrs. Peter Storey recited a poem of her own composition. Helen Covert gave the scripture reading, which was followed by a reading by Mrs. Amos Storey. Pearl Snider and Mary Holland read poems. Mrs. Howard Holland gave the Study Book chapter. Pearl Snider gave a piano solo. The National Anthem, a contest, and games closed the meeting.

Miss Eileen Milligan entertained on Tuesday evening, March 14th, in honor of her grandfather, Mr. A. W. Milligan, on his 77th birthday. Mr. Milligan's niece, Mrs. Eric Jackson, who was also celebrating her birthday, was among the guests. The other guests were Eric Jackson, Arthur Jackson, Mrs. Roy Milligan, Mrs. B. Meyers, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coulter, also Misses Irene Coulter and Grace Heim.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hartman and son, Gerald, were recent guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hartman, Camden East.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodberry, of Yarker, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Lockwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Storey, Mrs. Peter Storey, and Wesley Snider were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wagar, Violet.

Cpl. N. L. B. Coburn, Mrs. Coburn, and sons, Vernon and Lewis, spent last week in Detroit, Mich., with Mr. and Mrs. B. Corbett, also Mr. and Mrs. Charles Switzer.

Mrs. Thomas Brown was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown, Tamworth.

The Young People's Union of Enterprise United Church held their regular meeting in the church basement on Tuesday evening, March 14, with Miss Vivian Vannest presiding. Dennis Graham was Secretary, and Rev. H. E. Frair led in the opening prayer. Mrs. Miles Jackson had charge of the Christian Culture program, the topic of which was "It's Shadows that Count". Vivian Vannest, Dennis Graham and Lloyd Vannest assisted in the program. Miss Jean Jackson gave a piano solo. A contest and games were conducted by Mrs. Miles Jackson. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

No. 4 Ration Books will be distributed at Alex Davey's Store, Enterprise, on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 28th and 29th, with Mrs. O. A. Wagar in charge.

The March meeting of the W. A. of Enterprise United Church was held in the church basement, with a fair attendance. Mrs. Robt. Potter, President, opened the meeting, and Mrs. H. E. Vannest led in prayer. Mrs. R. C. Covert had charge of the devotional period. Bible reading was taken by Mrs. Frank Jackson, and Mrs. Covert gave the story of Ruth, from "Women of the Bible". Mrs. Paul Detlor was welcomed as a new member. Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. H. A. Carscallen, Mrs. S. D. Wagar, Mrs. Allan Burgess and Mrs. Roy Hartman. Mrs. R. Potter closed the meeting with a hymn and the benediction.

Mrs. Earl Raymond, assisted by Miss Helen Covert, arranged a pleasant surprise party on Tuesday afternoon at the former's home, in honor of Miss Marguerite Raymond, on the latter's birthday. The guests of honor received lovely gifts. Music and games were enjoyed by all, and a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses. The guests included Mary Holland, Jean Jackson, Nina Walker, Pearl Snider, Betty Barrett, Velma Wesc, Betty Bell, Jane Jackson, Mary Murphy and Helen Covert.

DORLAND

Dorland, March 18. — The oldest and one of the most respected residents of the locality passed away on Monday in the person of Mrs. Hokerson Hawley, who celebrated her 94th birthday last September. Mrs. Hawley was of a quiet, retiring disposition, but her untiring kindness and pleasant personality won her many friends during her long life. Some here, as long as strength permitted, she was always active in all work connected with the Methodist (later United) Church, and was particularly interested in the work of the Sunday School and Women's Missionary Society. She was a life member of the latter society and the last of the charter members. She served as President, for a number of years. The funeral services were conducted on Wednesday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Raith, where she has made her home for several years. Interment will be made in Riverside Cemetery, Napanee, beside her husband and daughter. One son, George W. Hawley, of Ridgeway, survives, also two sisters, the remaining members of a family of 10.

Despite unfavorable weather and roads the St. Patrick Fair, sponsored by the Woman's Association, under the leadership of Mrs. Gordon Mack, given in the school room of the United Church on Thursday evening, was largely attended. An entertaining program was presented and the financial returns were gratifying.

Quite a number attended the auction sale of farm stock and implements of Misses Hattie and Margaret Magee, held on Tuesday. The Misses Magee will be missed in connection with the United Church.

We welcome to our neighborhood Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kerr, formerly of Fureys Mills, who moved this week to the George Magee farm.

Creeks and ditches are overflowing, but the ice in the bays is still holding. Crossing was reported as late as Friday, but the majority have not ventured for several days.

Wild ducks have made their appearance, which would seem to indicate spring was not far away.

Some are looking forward to a short run of sap.

FLINTON

Flinton, March 20. — We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Tom Freeburn is seriously ill, having suffered a slight stroke. Much sympathy is felt for her, as only a few weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Freeburn received word that their boy in the Armed Forces was missing.

The ball that was held on the 17th in aid of the Red Cross, was a great success. The lucky ticket for the mat, that was made by the school pupils, was won by Mrs. Jas. Freeburn.

Mr. Cecil Casey, of Oshawa, spent the week end at his home here.

A quilting was held on Thursday in the Township Hall, in aid of comforts for our boys overseas.

ODESSA

Odessa, March 20. — Another of the series of educational films was shown in the Municipal Hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. Allan, of Kingston, is in charge of the films. They are sponsored by the Women's Institute.

A shower was held on Thursday evening in the Public Library in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunting, who were recently married. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Snider, and the groom a resident of Edmonton, Alta., but now in army training at Kingston. Many friends and relatives of the bride were present. The bride has been on the staff of the Bell Telephone Co., in Kingston. The evening was spent in progressive euchre and dancing.

A very successful entertainment was held on Friday evening in the Municipal Hall for the Red Cross fund, and was sponsored by the Women's Institute. There were several tables of euchre, and the "500" game was busy throughout the evening. Euchre prizes were as follows: Ladies', first, Mrs. Harry Keeler; second, Mrs. Collins. Gents', first, Clark Boyce; second, Orear Graham. Lone hand, Joe Lawler. Travelling prize, Mrs. James L. Clark. Door prize was won by Bernard Collins. Tickets were sold on a kitchen clock, which was won by Mrs. Dolly Boyce. Donations were made by The Canadian Department Store, Boyle & Son, Wallace's Drug Store, Hogarth's China Shop, Napanee; Mr. D. O. Prink and Mr. F. W. Cunningham, Odessa. Everyone enjoyed the program number given by Fred McPherson.

Mrs. Nelson Smith had the misfortune to slip on the street and break her wrist. We hope it will be alright again soon.

Mrs. R. Bell, of Nairn Centre, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Prink.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Lucas, of Napanee, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sproule.

Mr. Shelley Denyes has returned home, after spending a week with his sister, Miss Hazel Denyes, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Miss Florence Clyde is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. Kendall, and Mr. Kendall, in Toronto.

Miss L. Lake, of Kingston, is spending a few days at Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Prink's.

NEWBURGH

Newburgh, March 20 — The W. A. of the United Church held a St. Patrick social evening on March 16 in the basement of the church. The proceeds for the evening were about $59.00. There was a good crowd and everyone enjoyed the social.

At the United Church service on Sunday night there was special music by the choir, and Rev. H. B. Hewington gave a very interesting sermon on "The Prodigal Son." After the service some tea was held.

Mrs. E. McFaul has returned after spending several months in Halifax, N.S.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lochead, of Napanee, also Mrs. S. A. Furrs and Mrs. Howard Lochead, were week end guests at Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lywood.

Mrs. George Reilly, of Glenora, P.A., spent a few days the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McMullin.

Miss Marie Finn, of Kingston, was the week end guest of Mrs. P. J. Finn and Betty.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rombough (nee Marjorie Dewsnap), on the birth of a son at the Campbell Nursing Home, Napanee.

Miss Elaine Reynolds was in Kingston on Saturday and attended the "Ice Follies".

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reynolds and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reilly Finn, of Glenora.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Sutton and Mrs. Geo. Walker spent the week end in Toronto.

The February meeting of the Newburgh Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hagerman with an attendance of ten members and three visitors. After the singing of the Ode and repeating the Creed, the meeting proceeded with the roll call in suggesting "Something a Woman Can Do to Promote Agriculture in Time of War." The minutes of the last meeting were read concerning the establishing of a garden brigade. It was voted to send $2.00 to the Department for garden seeds. Reports were heard from the Flower and Fruit and Quilt and Knitting Conveners. The work sent in to the Red Cross at Napanee from January 27th to February 10th, was as follows: 6 turtle neck sweaters, 4 sleeveless sweaters, 12 pair men's gloves, 1 pair 13-inch sacks, 4 sleeping helmets, 7 quilts. Mrs. Doris Wilson, Convener of Agriculture, gave a splendid talk on the subject. Canada through its agriculture produces food for its army at home as well as in Great Britain and the Allied countries. Canada ranks high as an egg, milk, cheese and butter producing country. She stressed the great need for additional man power on the farms in Canada, the need for year round employment for hired help both now and after the war and the value of suitable housing for the families of such. Mention was made of grants up to $600.00 given to Nova Scotian farmers who use modern machinery and equipment in farming. Current Events were prepared by Mrs. Acton Robinson and read by Mrs. Hugh Ramsay. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Wilson for her timely address, and to Mrs. McCleod, as hostess for the meeting. The lunch committee served refreshments at the close.

The members of the Woman's Association of the Newburgh United Church held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. J. H. Ramsay, with an attendance of approximately 29 members. An appropriate hymn was sung and the President, Mrs. Herrington, led in prayer. Mrs. Percy Gerow was appointed Secretary of the evening in the absence of Mrs. E. Hounslow. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and the Treasurer gave her report.

Mr. Jack Sedore, of Kingston, is visiting friends and relatives here.

We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Fred York from our midst. They are going on the McJackie farm.

Letters were read from the sick and shut-ins, acknowledging flowers and fruit sent to them. Mrs. Dale McGill and Miss Alice Milligan were appointed to order a box of candy sent to each boy (who belongs to the Newburgh United Church) in the Armed Forces at home and overseas. Mrs. Herrington spoke of our deceased member, Miss Ella Yeomans, who had so devotedly and regularly attended each meeting. She reminded us of the various offices held by the deceased, not only in the Woman's Association, but every organization of the church. At the conclusion of her remarks she read an appropriate poem, "She Is Not Dead". Mrs. (Dr.) Mounce and Mrs. James McCleod planned the devotional part of the meeting and Mrs. McCleod conducted it, consisting of the singing of familiar hymns and our theme song, "Let the Beauty of Jesus be Seen in Me". Mrs. Percy Gerow read the passage of scripture and Mrs. McCleod commented on it. "The Life of Our Queen in Wartime" was read, and proved very interesting. A Biblical contest, won by Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. W. Embury, brought this portion of the meeting to a close. Mrs. Herrington extended a "welcome back" to Mrs. Cassada, who had just returned home from Vancouver. The meeting closed by the members repeating our theme prayer. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Norland Wood.

Largely Attended Blood Donors Clinic Held Last Thursday

Another successful Blood Donors Clinic was held in Napanee, Thursday morning last. It is thought by the Committee that only icy roads prevented the largest attendance to-date. There were 108 who registered and 17 of these were for the first donation. This makes a total of 125 new donors in 1944. Twenty-seven men from Camp Mohawk, Deseronto, under P. L. O. McEwen came to help this very worthy cause.

A supply of buttons for third and sixth donations were on hand and from now on it is hoped each donor will receive his recognition.

Mr. Charles McConnell gave his eleventh donation; Mr. E. C. Hogarth gave his tenth, as also did Mr. Okel Drew, of Moscow.

Donating for the ninth time were W. Percy Asselstine, Victor Drew.

Donating for the eighth time were Mrs. Holbert Empey and Mrs. Jessie Turner.

Seven time donors were Miss Mata Mellow, Mrs. Kathryn Reid, Percy Rose, Arthur McLaughlin, Meredith Wilson.

Donating six times were John Burkitt Mrs. Jennie Hagerman, Mrs. Nelda Turner, Wesley Griffin, Adrian Miller, Lester Rogers, George Smith, of Bath, Frank Clark, Kenneth S. Ham, W. A. McLeod.

Fifth time donors were P. K. Ketchesom, Mrs. Harry Seymour, Herb Correll, Lyall Martin, Mrs. Caroline Caird, David Sanford, Mrs. Eleanor Sinclair, Mrs. Carmel Dupre, Mrs. Robert Denison, Mrs. Wilfred Miller, Elva Albertson, Ralph Thompson.

ANNUAL MEETING LIVESTOCK ASS'N

At the annual meeting of the Livestock Improvement Association, held on March 15th, Mr. Charles McInnis, President of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, addressed the meeting regarding a local association for this County.

Mr. McInnis gave an outline of the Provincial Association and the work that had been done to have every County in the Province with a local association. This work has now been pretty well accomplished. Only a few Counties have not an organization.

There are many things a local association could do for a County. Improvement in the quality of hogs is something that should not be overlooked. Local marketing problems could be improved by the assistance of a local association.

The Provincial Association propose to have the Ontario Hog Producers' Association placed under the Marketing Act. This would give the association power to deal with the many problems in a business like manner.

It was agreed that a County Association be formed and the following men were proposed as Directors:

Adolphustown—
Roy Johnston, Dorland.
Ercel Foster, Adolphustown.
South Fredericksburgh—
J. B. Elliott, R.R. 2, Napanee.
Floyd Vannest, R.R. 2, Bath.
North Fredericksburgh—
Bruce Cummings, R.R. 1, Napanee.
Ward Nolan, R.R. 3, Napanee.
Ernestown—
Matt. Shetler, R.R. 1, Napanee.
George Scott, R.R. 4, Napanee.
Gordon Young, R.R. 2, Bath.
Fraser Allen, R.R. 4, Odessa.
Amherst Island—
Thomas Cochrane, Stella.
Camden—
Victor Edgar, Camden East.
Harold Brown.
Edgar Drew, Moscow.
John R. Killorin, Erinsville.
Sheffield—
Clarence Milligan, Tamworth.
Donald Young, Erinsville.
Aubrey Asselstine, Marlbank.
Richmond—
Delbert Winter, R.R. 6, Napanee.
Percy Rose, R.R. 3, Napanee.
Thomas Richmond, Roblin.
Newburgh—
Harry Sutten, Newburgh.

Wife of Ontario Bishop Dies At Kingston

Kingston, (C.P.)—Mrs. John Lyons, wife of Rev. John Lyons, Anglican Bishop of Ontario, died last Thursday, after a lengthy illness.

Besides her husband, surviving are two daughters, Mrs. C. R. Richmond of Picton, and Mrs. A. A. Anderson, Kingston; one brother, N. H. Bolton, Ottawa, and two sisters, Mrs. G. A. Walker, Dearborn, Mich., and Hilda Bolton, Woodstock, Ont.

The funeral was held Saturday afternoon.

Counsel looked sternly at the man in the dock.

"Did you, or did you not, on the date in question, or at any time previously or subsequently say, or even estimate to the defendant, or anyone else, whether friend or mere acquaintance, or, in fact, a stranger, that the statement imputed to you whether just or unjust, and denied by the plaintiff was a matter of no moment or otherwise? Answer me! Did you or did you not?"

The man in the dock clutched at his throat.

"Did I, or did I not, what?" he gasped.

WEDDING BELLS

SMITH—SUTTON

Settings of spring flowers in shades of pale pink and white decorated St. David's Anglican Church, Toronto for a quiet but charming wedding Saturday evening, March 18, when Margaret Naydene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris N. Sutton, Toronto became the bride of A.C.2. Ronald Edward Smith, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ray Smith, Napanee. The service was performed by the Rev. H. A. Bracken. Mr. F. H. Muckelstone was at the organ throughout the ceremony and during the signing of the register, accompanied Mr. Rodney Sexsmith, of Napanee, who sang "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of ice-blue white satin fashioned on classically simple lines. The long moulded bodice was made with a deep sweetheart neckline and long sheer sleeves. Self-cord trim accented the slightly lowered waistline from where the soft gathered fullness of the skirt fell. Her full length veil was caught to her head with a dutch cap of valenciennes lace and she carried a parasde of white stephanotis and white sweetpeas.

Miss Faye Morrison, of Port Credit, the bride's only attendant was attired in petal pink the moulded basque of her gown fashioned of lace and the sweepingly bouffant skirt of matching net. On her head she wore a color of flowers matched with matching pink veiling and she carried a cascade of pink carnation carnation.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception for a number of guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sutton, Port Credit. Mrs. Sutton, mother of the bride, received her guests wearing a frock of sheer blue crepe with a flowered hat in matching blue tones. Her corsage was of deep pink roses and freesia. Mrs. Smith, mother of the groom, assisting with the receiving, had chosen an ensemble of natural fresh crepe, accented with black accessories and a corsage of cyclamen and Briarcliffe roses.

Later the bride changed into her going away costume, a dressmaker ensemble of Chinese aqua wool over which was worn a black seal topcoat. Black accessories with a corsage of pink carnation petals completed her costume.

WEDDING BELLS

BASS - STOREY

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Storey at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 4th, when their eldest daughter Helen Marie, became the bride of Pilot Officer Wesley Earl Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Bass, of Thedford, Ontario. Rev. C. D. McLellan of Napanee, performed the double ring ceremony and Mrs. McLellan played the wedding music. Evergreens and spring flowers formed an effective setting for the bridal party.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white tulle over satin, styled with bolero and full skirt, her veil caught up with cerise roses, which also formed her bouquet. She wore the groom's gift, quartz crystal beads. Miss Dorothy Storey ,the bride's sister was bridesmaid and wore a gown of silk jersey and carried a bouquet of cerise roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, for relatives and intimate friends. For going away the bride chose a blue dress and hat with white accessories and a red coat with bleached fox collar. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a plastic compact and to the best man a wallet. The bride is a graduate of Queen's and is teaching in the Iroquois Collegiate. The groom is a graduate of Western University, London.

The couple left on a trip to Toronto and western points and on their return Pilot Officer Bass will go to the West Indies and Mrs. Bass will resume teaching.

PRESLAR - McRORY

On Saturday March 18th, at 2:00 p.m. a pretty spring wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McRory, Sydenham, when their only daughter, Lillian, was united in marriage to Gnr. Harold Preslar, only son of Mr. M. H. Preslar, and the late Mrs. Preslar, Napanee. Rev. S. S. Winter officiated. Mr. David Moore played the wedding music.

The bride given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta, trimmed with silver sequins on the bodice. She wore a shoulder bouquet of pale yellow roses and maidenhair fern, and a band of real yellow daffodils.

Miss Norma Preslar, of Hamilton was bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of pale blue taffeta with matching hat and shoes. Her shoulder bouquet was of pale pink roses and maiden-hair fern.

Mr. Reginald Shane of Napanee was best man. During the the signing of the register, Miss Fannie Knight sang accompanied by Mr. David Moore.

A buffet luncheon was served to thirty-five guests. Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for Toronto and points west. Upon their return they will reside near Sydenham

SEALE - WAYTE

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Friday, March 17th, at 9:30 pm in the Holiness Movement parsonage in Roblin when Jean Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. R. J. Wayte, of Napanee, and Gerald Albert, only son of Mr and Mrs. D. A. Seale, Sharps Corners, were united in marriage. Rev. W. Boston performing the ceremony.

The young couple were unattended. Later they left by train for Toronto and other western points. On their return they will reside at Sharps Corners, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ROBT. E. MEYERS

Mrs. Robert E. Meyers died at her home, R.R. 2, Napanee, on Tuesday, March 14th after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Meyers, who before her marriage was Susan Conley, was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Conley and was born at Stirling, Ont., about 68 years ago. As a girl she lived for a time at Stirling and later at Deseronto and following her marriage resided at Hawley until her husband retired from active farming in 1920, at which time the family moved to Napanee. While at Hawley Mrs. Meyers was an active member of the United Church and in Napanee was a member of Trinity United Church.

In Loving Memory

McCONNELL — In loving memory of William John McConnell, who passed away March 22nd, 1940.

He is not dead, but sleepth—
A sleep from which no one is known
We know that we shall meet again
Upon that other shore.

Sadly missed by
WIFE and FAMILY.
12ap

MILLER — In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and father, Charles Miller, who passed away March 21st, 1939.

And quiet evening at the close of day
A voice was calling that seemed to say:
"Ye that are weary come and rest.
"Lay down your head upon my breast."
Our father heard the sweet command
And gently took the Saviour's hand.

Sadly missed but fondly remembered by
WIFE and FAMILY.
12ap

BUSEY — In loving memory of father, William Henry Busby, who passed away March 8th 1933, also of mother, who passed away March 24th, 1936.

You're not forgotten parents dear,
Nor ever shall they be.
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember them.

Both sadly missed by DAUGHTER and 12ap GRANDDAUGHTER.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! March having come in "like a lion", its reasonable to hope that the first days of Spring may be fair with a real tinge of Spring warmth, which will give us all uplift in thought and inspiration to try new ways in our household duties.

From the heavier meals of Winter days, when more body warmth from food was necessary, change now to lighter dishes particularly in desserts. Have you thought, for instance, of new puff pastry with creamy fillings? It's rather tricky to make but with detailed instructions you may try them with confidence. Having once mastered the successful making of your puff pastry, there are numerous dainty and delicious desserts to try. For example: patty cases for hot creamed mixtures or cold salad concoctions; Napoleons and French pastries when fruit season commences.

Detailed Directions:

1. Sift a quantity of bread flour once. Measure one and one-half cups into a bowl — do this by spooning the flour lightly into a measuring cup to prevent packing. Add one teaspoon salt.

2. We measure the fat by filling the measuring cup with one-third cup of ice cold water and dropping chunks of very cold fat until, with all fat pressed under the surface, the water level reaches the "equal" mark. We drain the fat well. To obtain one-third cup butter we use the cup filled two-thirds with water.

3. The shortening and butter, two-thirds cup plus one-third cup, are then chopped into the sifted flour and salt. A handy dough handler or two sharp knives may be used to cut the fat into the size of large peas. A quick, sharp, keen cutting action is required — never twist the blender as that has a tendency to "cream" the fat.

4. Next, we believe in drenching in ice cold water. Use a fork to toss the flour over and over as the water is sprinkled here and there. This keeps complete control of the addition of the water so that just enough will be used to make a dough which when lightly mixed, holds together, turns and comes cleanly from the sides of the bowl — our usual rule.

5. The next step is to wrap the dough in wax paper and chill it for half an hour before rolling it.

6. We use a lightly floured board to roll it out, with a rolling pin covered with a ribbed cotton pullover, which holds a minimum amount of flour evenly. Roll it out to a thickness of one-third inch. Then fold it in half back to front and again from left to right and roll it out once more.

7. Repeat the folding; roll it out again and proceed to use it.

8. Cut for tarts and fit loosely into tart pans, excluding air; partially fill with dried beans. Bake in electric oven at 450 deg. until rich brown (a few minutes, three to ten, depending on number of tarts to be) remove beans and complete bakeing.

At this time of year we depend upon the plain vanilla - flavoured mixtures. If you have any canned fruit left over, put in a little cream filling, then a spoonful of diced fruit then more cream filling and top with a piece of fruit.

Chocolate filling is tremendously good used for these pastries—so is butterscotch or a caramel cream mixture.

Easy Puff Paste

One and a half cups once-sifted bread flour, one teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup chilled shortening, one-third cup chilled butter. Ice cold water.

Rich Chocolate Filling

Two and one-quarter cups milk, two ounces unsweetened chocolate, four tablespoons cornstarch, one-third teaspoon salt, seven-eighths cup granulated sugar, one egg and one yolk, one-third teaspoon vanilla.

Measure two cups milk into deep saucepan; cut up and add chocolate. Heat until the chocolate melts, using electric element on Low, then beat smooth with a rotary beater and bring to scalding point. Mix cornstarch with one-quarter cup milk and stir into hot mixture; also add sugar and salt. Cook with occasional stirring and mix into slightly beaten egg and egg yolk. Turn into double boiler and cook until the mixture thickens. Remove from element and add vanilla. Cool partially before using for pie or pastries.

Butterscotch Filling

1 cup brown sugar, three tablespoons cornstarch, half-teaspoon salt, two cups hot milk, two eggs, one teaspoon pure vanilla, two tablespoons soft butter.

Combine the sugar, two tablespoons of the cornstarch and salt. Stir in the hot milk. Stir and cook the mixture over double boiler until it has thickened slightly, then cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavour remains. Beat the eggs slightly and slowly stir into the hot milk mixture. Return to the double boiler and stir and cook until again thickened. Remove from heat and add the vanilla. Add the butter and cool. Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold in remaining cornstarch and vanilla. Cool partially before turning into pie crust. Bake.

Vanilla Cream Filling

One-third cup granulated sugar, three and one-half tablespoons of cornstarch, half - teaspoon salt, two and one-quarter cups of hot milk, two egg yolks or one egg and one egg yolk, one teaspoon vanilla, butter.

Double-pan, better.

Mix sugar thoroughly with cornstarch and salt. Stir in hot milk. Stir and cook in double boiler until mixture has thickened somewhat. Cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavour remains. Beat the egg yolks slightly and slowly and slowly stir in the hot milk mixture. Return to the double boiler and stir and cook until again thickened. Remove from electric element and add vanilla and butter. Cool partially before using in pie.

FIRST VEGETABLES

Both vegetables and flowers divide themselves into three main planting groups. In the first are the hardy things—those that can be planted as soon as the soil can be prepared, regardless of the weather ahead. These will stand lots of frost and, in fact, for best results they must make their first growth while the weather is still cool and wet.

In the vegetable bunch these very early things are garden peas, the first onions, carrots and beets, radish and spinach and lettuce. Experienced gardeners say that these can be planted just as soon as the soil has worked up nicely and is no longer muddy.

• • •

SPREAD OUT SOWINGS

But they advise strongly against planting them all at once. They make it a practice of sowing these radish, spinach, beets, etc., at least three times, about ten days apart. By spreading over the sowing in this way so is the harvest, and one has them coming on in successive crops of the tenderest vegetables imaginable.

One can spread out the season still more by using an early, late and medium variety. This sort of spreading is particularly advisable with those vegetables which must be sown very early in the spring.

In the second group of vegetables the semi - hardy things which can stand a light frost but would prefer none would be early potatoes (the first corn beans, cabage and, at the end of the line, the real tender plants that can stand no frost at all would be the melons, cucumbers, tomatoes, pumpkins, etc.

• • •

FLOWER GROUPINGS

Flower groupings are similar. There are very hardy things that sometimes seed themselves, such as marigolds, cosmos, sweet peas, petunia seed, and pansies, etc. One can plant them just as soon as the ground is ready. In the intermediate category would be nasturtiums, bedding plants and at the far end of the list lilies, dahlias, gladiolus, etc., semi - tropical plants that cannot stand frost at all. The degree of hardiness, of course, will be mentioned along with the variety in any good Canadian seed catalogue.

• • •

NURSERY STOCK

Nursery stock is the name that covers all the sorts of thing one gets from a nursery, everything from perennial flowers and strawberry plants to ten foot ornamental trees. This year, due to the shortage of labor, gasoline and important foundation stock from Europe, the Canadian supply is not plentiful, hence all the more reason for tailing care of what one can buy.

All nursery stock should be planted just as soon after purchasing as possible. With large plants and trees it is especially necessary to give roots plenty of room and press fine soil firmly about them. Cultivation for some time is advised and also watering when first planted and if the weather is dry. It is essential, of course, to protect roots from wind and air generally in unpacking and planting.

A well-to-do Negro had been ill for some time and showed no signs of improvement under treatment by a doctor of his own race. So presently he dismissed him and summoned a white man. The new doctor examined the patient, and then asked: "Did the other doctor take your temperature?"

The sick man shook his head doubtfully.

"I dunno, suh," he declared. "I sartinly dunno. All I've missed so far is my watch."

DESMOND Y. P. U.

Desmond Young People's Union held its regular meeting on March 1st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dorval Haley. The president, Ethelbert Ramsay, opened the meeting with a call to worship and hymn 302 followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The secretary, Alvin Drew, read the roll call which was answered by twenty-five members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and Mrs. Fred Bell invited the union to her home for the next meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to the convener, Mrs. Howard Bell, who opened her part with the use of a hymn followed by prayer by Mrs. Fred Bell. The speaker chose for her theme and readings concerning letters were given by Norman Bell, Mrs. Ramsay and the convener. A sing song of favourite hymns was enjoyed, followed by a Bible discussion by Mrs. George Drew and a reading by Marguerite Hannah. After a business the meeting closed with the repeating of the Mizpah benediction and singing the National Anthem.

NEWBURGH W. C. T. U.

The March meeting of the Newburgh Union was held at the home of Mrs. Cassada. The members were warmly welcomed by Mrs. Cassada, who had been in the West during the winter. The president conducted the worship service which was based on Bible "fits" showing all promises have a condition hinging on them. I was fee day and ten members' fees were received in answer to the roll call. The pledge was repeated in unison. An informative clip-sheet was studied, "The State care of Alcohol addicts." Mrs. Herrington addressed the meeting on the subject of Evangelism. He pointed out that individuals have a duty to their fellowmen, and social service goes hand in hand with evangelism. A helpful discussion followed this earnest address.

CENTREVILLE W. I.

The March meeting of the Red Cross Work Circle took the form of quilting. The Women's Institute sent an afternoon tea, the chairman, Mrs. McGillicuddy, presiding. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hall.

TYENDINAGA EAST W. I.

The regular meeting of the Tyendinaga East Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Percy Kimmerly with a fair attendance of members and visitors. Mrs. M. Shamenhorn conducted the meeting in the absence of the president and opened with the ode and the Lord's Prayer. Roll-call was answered by naming a Premier of a Canadian Province. Minutes and the correspondence were read also letters of thanks from the sick members. Quilts and quiltings were discussed. Interesting current events were given by Mrs. Roy Stafford. The topic was a short talk on Canadian Women Writers, which proved educational.

The following programme was conducted by Mrs. P. Kimmerly: Readings by Mrs. P. Kimmerly Miss G. Mowers Mrs. Stafford, Miss Irene Mowers, after which there was community singing. Mrs. R. Tucker conducted two contests. The collection was taken and the National Anthem closed the meeting, after which a dainty lunch was served. Mrs. R. Tucker moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality.

Mrs. Stickup: How do you manage to keep your servant girl so well nowadays?

Mrs. Highup: I'll just tell you. In the old days you know we used to give the maid Thursday evening out. Now she takes the rest of the week, and Thursday is our night out.

PRESENTATION TO THE QUINN FAMILY, BEFORE DEPARTURE FOR NEWBURGH

On Monday evening, February 21, a number of friends and neighbours from Desmond and Moscow gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Quinn, to spend a social evening with them, before they left for their new home in Newburgh.

During the course of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Quinn were presented with two lovely chairs and a beautiful tri-light floor lamp, and the following address was read by Mrs. Victor Drew.

Dear Dick, Florabel and Doris:

We, your friends and neighbours have gathered here tonight to spend a social evening with you, before your departure from our midst.

Mere words seem so inadequate to express how keenly we all feel this change, but we trust it will be for the best, and hope you will like your new home. We pray that God's richest blessing will be yours wherever you are.

You have always been so ready and willing to help in any worthwhile activity in the neighborhood and your home has been the scene of many social events of the community and Young People's Union, but we realize our loss will be another's gain. As neighbours you have been the very best ready to lend a helping hand in any time of need or sickness. Your hospitality has been a shining quality and we were always sure of a warm welcome anytime While we are indeed glad to welcome our new neighbours, we can't help regretting the loss of our old ones.

We would ask you to accept these chairs and lamp as a token of remembrance and appreciation of all you have done for us.

Sincerely,

Your Friends and Neighbours of Desmond and surrounding District

Fred Bell, Victor Drew

At this juncture the Young People's Union presented Doris with a lovely brush and comb set and Mrs. Howard Bell read her this address:

Dear Doris. — We, the members of the Desmond Young People's Union have gathered here tonight in friendship's circle, to express our sincere regret in losing you from our midst. We have realized in you, a faithful and co-operative member of our Union, and have found you always willing to do your share.

As a token of our appreciation, we ask you to please accept this small gift of brush and comb set and hope you will find it useful and a constant reminded of your friends in the Young People's Union. In closing, might we say:

It is good to have known you,
And though separated by miles
May God always bless you
May your life be worth while.

After the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellow," Mr. and Mrs. Quinn and Doris thanked all their friends for the lovely gifts and invited them all to come often to see them in their new home.

Lunch was then served and the younger ones then spent the remainder of the evening in dancing.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY MR. MRS J. R. McKEOWN, NEWBURGH

A number of relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross McKeown, on Saturday evening, March 11, in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. After a sumptuous dinner, served at a table centred with a wedding cake, decorated in keeping with the occasion cards and bingo were enjoyed.

The happy couple were presented with many useful and beautiful gifts, for which they thanked their friends.

Before dispersing everyone wished Mr. and Mrs. McKeown many more happy anniversaries.

DESMOND Y. P. U.

On March 15th, the Desmond Y. P. U. held its regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell. The president, Ethelbert Ramsay opened the meeting with a hymn followed by prayer by Mr. Frair. The roll call was read and answered by twenty members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and Victor Drew invited the union to his home for the next meeting. It was decided that the Y. P. U. give five dollars to the Red Cross.

The meeting was then turned over to the convener, Norman Bell, who opened his part with the use of a hymn, followed with a psalm. Norman gave talks on St. Patrick and The Second Mile. Readings were given by Alvin Drew and Mrs. Fred Bell and a piano duet by Mrs. Howard Bell and Norris Drew. A hymn was sung and the meeting closed with the Mizpah-Benediction and the National Anthem.

CHILDREN'S AID AT WORK

This is a Series of Articles Concerning Children's Aid Work — Prepared by the Association of Children's Aid Societies of the Province of Ontario.—Article 2.

"History tells us that in France people became interested in children born out of wedlock owing to their decomposed bodies polluting the water supply from the River Seine."

Let us turn from this almost incredible paragraph in the social history of mankind to the feelings and motives that inspired the implementing of the finest piece of legislation anywhere in the world to protect the child.

The last article told something of the compassion that touched the heart of a reporter on the old "Toronto Globe" at the suffering and depravity to be found among little children begging, selling newspapers and shoe laces in Toronto No one could have been in a better position to see this agonizing, sordid side of life than a newspaperman! These children often sought shelter at night around the stove in the reporter's room; they lived in the side streets and alleyways of downtown Toronto; they were to be found daily in the police courts.

What do we find this newspaperman, Mr. J. J. Kelso, saying when, attempting to found the first Children's Aid Society in Canada in 1891, he was asked: "Why Another Society?"

"Because," replied Mr. Kelso, "up to the present we have no society to look after neglected children."

V

Three years before, Mr. Kelso and a little group he had gathered around him had succeeded in obtaining from the Ontario Government a piece of legislation—very meagre in its scope, but the seed of what was to follow. It stated that neglected children under fourteen (please note that!) could be committed to any society or institution willing to receive them and authorized by the government, and for a special commission to try youthful offenders apart from adults.

A shelter was established as a temporary refuge for destitute and neglected children in 1890. The following year the Toronto's Children's Aid Society was founded. In 1893 the foundation stone of all that we have today in Ontario for child protection was laid when Hon. John Gibson, later Sir John Gibson Provincial Secretary, introduced the Children's Protection Act.

From this Act, with subsequent amendments and additions over the past half century, has stemmed in vigorous and beautiful growth the whole effort and undertaking—governed by statute, but given its life and spirit by communities of people—familiarly known as "Children's Aid!" Let us not forget J. J. Kelso and Sir John Gibson. From an acorn of individual compassion and pertinacity grew a great oak tree that shelters the children who have no normal roof-tree of their own!

Let us see with what vision those foundations were laid! It is especially interesting to note that the originating intentions embodied in Sir John Gibson's Act correspond exactly with the most enlightened attitude today in regard to what is the best, the most normal and most successful way of caring for boys and girls deprived of their own homes.

The highest concept today all over the world is to provide the Child with the nearest possible approach to what should be a normal home life. Not to institutionalize him, but to place him in a natural family setting, sharing both the privileges and the disciplines of the normal child.

There will be something to say later about boarding or foster home care and what thousands of foster homes in this province have done for Children's Aid Society wards; how these homes are selected and supervised; how foster parents are assisted and made part of the great family of Children's Aid. You will be told something about the magnificent, often selfless service of thousands of foster parents.

But listen to what Mr Adam Brown, Hamilton's "grand old man" had to say about his friend, Hon. John Gibson's Act at the founding of Hamilton's Children's Aid Society in 1894:

"The first principle of the Children's Protection Act is the improvement of the home and the second to place homeless children in good foster homes . . ."

Every day throughout Ontario, trained, experienced, humane social service workers of Children's Aid are striving first to rehabilitate the home; to introduce into it, by kindly patient understanding service, higher standards and more intelligent concepts of homemaking. Never lose sight of this big part of Children's Aid Work!

"It has always been my view" continued Mr. Adam Brown, "that the voluntary administration, the voluntary working in local communities should be a principle to be adopted. I have always felt that this should not be allowed to become an ordinary governmental department of administration — that it should be the result of philanthropic effort in localities; that the work should be carried on for the love of the work by the good men and women in the various communities where the act is being applied."

Yes, this was designed to be and has steadily become a unique service to the children — legislated for and protected by Government, but kept a living, breathing, human organization by the people in the community — your Children's Aid Society!

COAL Is Essential

SO IS A WELL-INSULATED HOME

SUMMER HEAT IN THE COLD OF WINTER

The Coal Administrator asks you to "save coal for the Weapons of War" — and what more practical method than thoroughly insulating your home with Rock Wool. It will save coal (and, incidentally, cut down on your fuel bill) because proper insulation holds heat in; helps to prevent heat escaping through walls and ceiling. With Rock Wool insulation, less heat is needed to maintain a comfortable temperature. Rock Wool insulation also helps to decrease fire hazard and to keep your home cooler in summer.

STRATHCONA

Strathcona, March 20. — Fire completely destroyed the C. N. R. station here on Wednesday evening of last week. It was first discovered about 9:00 p.m., and is thought to have originated from a defective chimney. The employees of the paper mill salvaged most of the C. N. R. records of value, also the contents of the freight shed. A line of hose was laid from the fire pump at the mill and within an hour's time the fire was under control, but not before the entire building was gutted. The burning of the station destroyed an old landmark, as it had been built many years ago by the Bay of Quinte Railroad. At present the agent, Mr. Stanley Hart, is using a boarding car as an office until definite plans are made for other accommodation. As the entire Strathcona station are brown and ten thousand dollars per it is to be honed for office and freight To receive a telegram the C. N. ## THREE YOUNG MEN SENTENCED ON MONDAY

Hugh Hicks and John Hants of Oshawa, and Bernard Martin, Toronto, who have been held in the Napanee gaol for the past three weeks, came up for hearing on Monday, before Magistrate Garvin, on several charges, and were sentenced.

Hicks and Hants were charged with taking a motor car in Toronto without the consent of the owner, with receiving food from the Grand Cafe in Napanee without payment, and being in possession of altered registration cards.

On the charge of taking the car Hants was sentenced to pay a fine of $20.00 and costs or to serve six weeks in gaol. The sentence for having in his possession an altered registration card was $50.00 fine and costs or three months in gaol. For getting a meal without payment he was sentenced to three weeks in gaol.

The sentences in the case of Hicks were the same as Hants received except that the fine for taking the car was $10.00 or one month in gaol.

Martin was sentenced to serve seven months definite and two months indefinite. He was charged with taking a car in Toronto without consent of the owner, with counselling the alteration of registration cards and being in possession of a registration card made out in the wrong name.

J. M. Simpson, K.C., appeared for the three boys. Mr. Simpson stated that Hants and Hicks, who are under military age, left their homes in Oshawa to go to Toronto, where they intended to try to enlist. While there they linked up with Martin, who was said to have told the boys that if they had registration cards giving different names and addresses they had a better chance of being accepted in the army. After having their registration cards altered, the three took a car belonging to a taxi company, while the driver was calling at an apartment for a passenger. The car was driven to Brighton where it was badly wrecked. Later the three boys came to Napanee where they walked out of the New York Cafe without paying for their meals and were picked up by the Napanee Police.

Hants' and Hicks' parents were present each time the boys appeared in court, and paid their fines besides paying for the meals and expenses of repairing the wrecked car.

Martin was apparently without friends, but Mr. Simpson was engaged by the other boy's parents to represent him in court.

Mr. Henderson reported on the Hog Producers' meeting in Toronto, recently. Mr. Bert Elliott also reported respecting the organization of the county for hog producers.

Mr McCaul addressed Council on behalf of the Lennox Fair, asking for the usual grant.

On motion, the matter of grants to agricultural societies was referred to the Agricultural Committee.

On motion Mr. Henderson's expenses attending the Hogs Producers' Association, $12.00, was ordered paid.

The Agricultural Committee reported recommending that the secretary of the committee attend the Kingston meeting of the Agricultural Committee of Inquiry.

Recommended the endorsation of a resolution by the Special Committee on Soil Conservation and Land Utilization.

That a grant of $75.00 be made to the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association for prize money.

That the secretary of the committee receive $25.00 as expenses to the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities.

On motion of Messrs. Breault and Johnston, the grants to agricultural fairs were the same as in 1943, provided fairs are held.

Reeve Perry, who was a delegate to the Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities, made his report to Council.

The Education and Printing Committee reported fixing the places for examination centres. Report adopted.

Mr. Wilfred McCabe tendered his resignation as a member of the Napanee Board of Education.

Moved by Messrs. Creighton and McLeod, that the resignation of Mr. McCabe be accepted and that no successor be appointed until the act governing the representation is changed. Motion carried.

Moved by Messrs. Scott and Brandon, that all accounts for burial of indigents be paid by the local municipalities which in turn would collect $30.00 from the county.

A motion by Messrs. Milligan and Breault, that the county provide a uniform for Constable Spratt, Tamworth. Referred to the Police Committee to investigate and report.

A by-law to levy 50 per cent of the cost of indigent patients in hospitals on the local municipalities in which they resided, was given its several readings and finally passed.

A by-law to borrow $55,000.00 from the Dominion Bank for road purposes, was given its several readings and finally passed.

A by-law to equalize the assessment of the various municipalities for county purposes at the same amounts as in 1943, was given its several readings and finally passed.

A by-law authorizing the Warden and Clerk to execute contracts for road work, was read and passed.

A by-law to close to public traffic the Airport Road, and convey said road to the Dominion of Canada for the sum of $0,000.00, was given its necessary readings and finally passed.

A by-law to authorize the Warden and Clerk to sign a deed of the Airport Road, was also passed.

A motion by Messrs. Thompson and Bryden, that a special grant of $300 be made to Denbigh Continuation School, to assist in meeting the deficit in the operation of the school. Motion carried.

The Flinton Continuation School made application for a special grant of ..600.00 to assist the school. On motion $150 was granted.

The Property Committee reported recommending payment of the accounts refprred to them.

Council adjourned at the call of the Warden.

MORE ABOUT THE RED CROSS PIG

The Red Cross Branch at Tamworth benefitted to the extent of $318.50 from the donation of a pig by W. C. Beckett, proprietor of the Tamworth Creamery.

Tickets on the pig were originally sold in February, and, on Mar. 4th the drawing was made. John G. Daly, Warden of the County, was found to be the holder of the lucky ticket. Mr. Daly returned the pig to the Tamworth Society and it was used as a door prize at a euchre and dance held in Tamworth by the Red Cross, and Mrs. F. W. Frost, President of the Tamworth Red Cross, held the lucky ticket. Mrs. Frost, not wishing to go into the business of raising a pig donated it again to the Society, and it was finally disposed of by auction to Mr. Warren Hawley.

So the pig has finally found a home and everyone is happy, including the pig—up to the present time.

COUNTY CAMPAIGN FOR RED CROSS FUNDS EXCEEDS OBJECTIVE

More than $7000 Subscribed by Citizens

The generous support given the Red Cross this year indicates the appreciation of the public generally of the important war services rendered by this organization in connection with the prisoners of war, blood plasma for the wounded, comforts for the fighting troops, and the civilian population in the invaded countries, and the many other activities organized under the direction of the Red Cross.

The Lennox and Addington County Campaign for 1944 Red Cross Membership exceeded the objective of $7,000.00 by over $500.00. A few canvassers in various parts of the County have not yet been heard from, but the Treasurer, Mr. Geo. T. Walters reports the following amounts have been turned in to date by the canvassers from each Rural School Section:

| | |
|---|---|
| Adolphustown Township | $ 177 00 |
| Amherst Island Township | 230 00 |
| Bath Village | 139 00 |
| Camden Township | 992 00 |
| Ernestown Township | 794 00 |
| North Fredericksburgh Tp. | 260 00 |
| South Fredericksburgh Tp. | 441 00 |
| Kaladar, A. & E. Township | 420 00 |
| Newburgh Village | 210 00 |
| Richmond Township | 618 00 |
| Sheffield Township | 230 00 |
| Marlbank | 127 00 |
| Total | $4658 00 |

The canvassers for the various Committees of the Town of Napanee have turned in the following amounts:

| | |
|---|---|
| Ladies and Girls Committee | $ 957 00 |
| Industrial Committee | 785 00 |
| Professional Committee | 146 00 |
| Officials Committee | 111 00 |
| Automotive Committee | 66 00 |
| Food Distribution Committee | 179 00 |
| Merchants Committee | 436 00 |
| Miscellaneous Business Com. | 279 00 |
| Total | $2959 00 |

Total for the County, $7617.00.

The splendid results obtained have been made possible by the wholehearted co-operation of a large number of patriotic citizens who have given their time and facilities for making the campaign a success. Over 130 rural canvassers and 70 town canvassers have carried on this important work. The contributions from the rural sections are $2,000.00 more than last year.

The leading rural canvasser was Mr. Clem Hines, who turned in over $230.00 for No. 1 School Section in South Fredericksburgh. The leading Township, according to population, is Kaladar, which was canvassed by four ladies, Mrs. C. C. Thompson, Mrs. Ed. Morley, Mrs. Harry Lavere, and Mrs. Jack Davison, who turned in over $420.00.

Among the industrial concerns whose support in this campaign has been outstanding are the Gibbard Furniture Shops Limited, the Strathcona Paper Company Limited, and the Ross-Miller Biscuit Company Limited.

GERMANS FAIL TO STOP ADVANCE OF RUSSIAN ARMIES

Situation in Italy Remains Unchanged

WEDNESDAY —

Russian troops continued their advance into Roumania and reached a point within thirty miles of the Prut River, from which the Nazis launched their 1941 offensive. In the north the Russians also advanced in prewar Poland in an offensive aimed at Lwow. During Tuesday 330 occupied places were seized by the Russians.

• • •

The Germans made some gains at Cassino, but an early decision of the battle for possession of the city was not at present visible.

• • •

Finland announced rejection of the Russian armistice terms.

• • •

Allied heavy bombers attacked the Pas - de - Calais invasion coast of Northern France without losing a plane.

• • •

THURSDAY —

The Russians reached a point only eight miles from Nikolaev on the way to Odessa, the Black Sea port, and also launched a major offensive against the Western Ukraine.

• • •

The Allies made slight gains in the battle for Cassino, in Italy, which is being bitterly defended by the Nazis.

• • •

Daylight bombing was resumed against Berlin in the heaviest raid of its kind to date. Thirteen bombers and nine fighters were lost by the Allies.

• • •

Japanese columns made their first advance into India and were pushing forward toward a key road junction.

• • •

Hungary and neighbouring Balkan States have been taken under the control of the Nazis.

• • •

FRIDAY —

The Russian Army struck the Tarnopol - Proskurov square in the middle and broke through the Nazi defences, after which it fanned out in two directions, threatening the two towns and the whole of the Ukraine. Further south the Russians continued their drive toward Nikolaev and Odessa.

• • •

There was no change reported in the situation at Cassino in Italy, although bitter fighting continued.

• • •

Allied bombers were reported to have destroyed two small Jap freighters, seven coastal vessels and 23 barges off Wewak, in New Guinea.

• • •

In a 24-hour attack on many German objectives, Allied planes numbering 5,000 or more dropped 6,000 tons of bombs. 73 Bombers and fighters were lost by the Allies in the period.

• • •

A second Japanese column crossed into India and penetrated about six miles to within thirty miles of Imphal, important key point on the Allied supply line.

SATURDAY—

After the break through the Tarnopol - Proskurov line thousands of Russian troops flowed through the gap, killing 20,000 Nazis, cutting railway lines and advanced to within five miles of the Bucovina border.

• • •

In spite of powerful artillery and air attacks by the Germans at Cassino, the Allied forces made a slight gain on Friday.

• • •

Allied troops defending Imphal, in India, which was threatened by the Japs, have checked the advance of the invaders.

• • •

United States bombers hit Rabaul, New Britain, Wewak, New Guinea and other scattered Bismark Sea points earlier in the week.

MONDAY —

Russian Army troops reached the Prut River boundary of Roumania and a crossing into enemy territory was expected soon on a front over fifty miles wide. In Poland, other Russian forces were reported within 35 miles of the German frontier.

• • •

It was conceded that the German have won a defensive victory in the battle for Cassino, which began on March 15th. Fighting around the city was said to be slightly less intense during the past few days.

• • •

In Northern Burma a decisive battle appeared to be approaching with the Allies holding most of the advantages. So far Allied forces have held up the Japs in their advance toward Imphal in India.

• • •

Masses of Allied aircraft concentrated on the French invasion coast during the week-end. In the heavy aerial attack on Berlin on Friday, 73 Allied planes were lost.

• • •

TUESDAY —

The Russian Army crossed the Dniester River into Bucovina and was a few miles from the rail centre Cermauti on Monday. In Bessarabia the Russians were only eleven miles from Jassy, another important railjunction.

• • •

No important gains were made by either side in the fight for Cassino in Italy.

• • •

The fourth Japanese force was reported headed for Imphal, in India. The three other attacking Jap forces were brought to a standstill by the Allies.

• • •

The Krupp Iron Works, in Essen were blasted from the air by Allied airmen on Monday.

MORE ELECTRIS STOVES WILL BE MANUFACTURED

Permission has been granted by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for the manufacture of a limited number of electric stoves, rangettes and grills, without any restriction being imposed on the production of repair and maintenance parts.

The programme being followed by the Board contemplates the manufacture within the next 12 months of up to 40 per cent. of the 1940 production of electric stoves and 60 per cent. of rangettes and cooking plates and grills. Essentially certificates previously required of all buyers of these articles have been abolished.

HURRAH !

The people of Canada received with cheers, outspoken or suppressed, the announcement that the income tax still to be paid on the 1943 tax, will not become due until August 31st. This was news of a high order. Millions who had been disturbed when they discovered that they had to pay more than they had calculated to make a complete return, and wondered where the money was coming from, are now jubilant because of the four months' respite.

This was a strategic move. We can very well imagine that had the hard-pressed wage earner struggled to meet his full and final 1943 obligation on his 1943 tax bill, he would have found it difficult to support the forthcoming war loan as generously as he would have liked to do.

Now with the holiday from taxes, and the immediate pressure from the Income Department lifted, the public will be in a better frame of mind to meet the new appeal, and financially much better able to support it.

We do not want to be called a kill-joy and yet it is well to remind our readers that it would be better not to put off wrestling with the income tax forms until the holidays come in August. We cannot think of anything more designed to spoil a vacation, than that.

TOWN LOSES PROMINENT CITIZENS

Last week saw the death of a number of citizens, all within a comparatively few days. Two of these had played an important part in public affairs.

Mr. Alpine Woods will be remembered by his fellow-citizens because of his long and valued service to the School Board and the Children's Aid Society. For over twenty-five years Mr Woods served these two institutions. As a member of the School Board and then for long its chairman, Mr. Woods made a keen and intensive study of education in Ontario and of the School Law. He became a recognized figure in the administrative circles of educationalists. He was not a voluminous contributor to debates on all subjects, but he knew his education and educational law, and when he spoke on these matters he did so with authority and conviction. He was invariably listened to, and his judgment was respected. Though relieved of active responsibility in more recent years, yet Mr. Woods never lost his interest in the schools and in the changes and developments in the methods of education.

As President of the Children's Aid Society, Mr. Woods showed another side of his nature and gave evidence of his public interest. He was deeply concerned with the welfare of underprivileged children and gave endless time to guiding the affairs of the society. In both these areas, Mr. Woods revealed a kindly and generous interest in youth. He will long be remembered among his many other contributions to the town life for these two particular forms of public service.

It was strange that Mrs Hooper, for nearly forty years secretary of the Children's Aid Society, of which Mr. Woods was a former president, should have passed away within so short a time of Mr Woods' passing. Mrs. Hooper, though handicapped by ill-health for some time, continued to give her services faithfully and diligently to the Children's Aid. She had an intimate acquaintance with the subject and knew the situation in the town and county, accurately. She had used her knowledge to good effect.

Mrs. Hooper was a devoted church worker. For twenty years as President of the W. M. S. of Grace United Church, she was brought into close contact with the Leaders of the Church, where she was well known and highly esteemed. Mrs. Hooper never lost her interest in the great missionary enterprises of the church, and through the years gave notable leadership to the women's work of the community, and more particularly of Grace Church.

The Church, Social Agencies, and indeed every good cause, will miss the active support of these two, who for years could be counted on to give leadership whenever the occasion demanded.

CHURCHILL ON THE AIR

Prime Minister Churchill's statement on Sunday, had been awaited with expectancy and hope. The tension in the United Nations brought about by the impending invasion, made the people more than usually eager to hear what the Wartime Premier of Great Britain had to say on the subject. They were not disappointed — at least not in the aspect of his speech which dealt with the military situation. The review of the progress of the war was encouraging—too often we are apt to forget that this is a global war. Only as we see it through the eyes of one who can see the situation as a whole do we properly apprehend the marvellous and almost miraculous change between the relative positions of the Nazis and the United Nations. The brief, vivid picture the Prime Minister painted of the progress that had been made by the military forces of the United Nations, was necessary, particularly for us in Canada, who have had our eyes fixed on the situation in Italy for some months. To see the picture and see it whole, as we did on Sunday, is to enable us to put various parts in their proper perspective. The overall picture as shown by the speaker, was extremely bright.

The Prime Minister did not dabble in direct prophecy. He told us there would be an invasion; that there would be feints at different points so as to confuse and baffle the enemy; as to where these points were, or when the invasion would begin, the Premier did not even hint.

The Speaker paid well deserved tributes to the various branches of the service, reserving for the Russians his special word of praise. He spoke in the highest praise of the devotion, skill and ability of the forces of the U.S.S.R. and of Premier Stalin in particular.

When the Premier dealt with domestic policies, however, he was not quite so happy. He showed evident annoyance at his critics, and seemed to feel the strain of the criticisms that had been levelled at his party. The Prime Minister outlined what had been done for post-war Britain; what was planned and what, he hoped, would be achieved. From this distance the plans which the Premier enunciated, looked encouraging. They held out promise that the Britain of to-morrow would be a different Britain from that which we had known in the past — better education, better housing, better opportunities, more social security. It is an amazing accomplishment that in the midst of the greatest struggle through which the Mother Country has ever been called upon to pass, so much should have been done for the future well-being of the country.

Only on occasion did Premier Churchill rise to the heights of oratory, of which he is capable. He seemed tired, and no wonder — and while the people in Great Britain may not have liked all he had to say on the domestic policies, we here at a distance, gained hope and encouragement, and experienced a real lift as we caught something of his spirit as he delineated past achievements, and hopes for the future.

A SERIOUS DEVELOPMENT

The Bill passed in the Ontario House last week, to put a curb on statements and printed notices prejudicial to race and religion, was finally amended, so that it could be used to curb a growing intolerance against certain groups in Ontario. For its final form it was not so serious to freedom of speech as it appeared to have been in the first reading of the Bill. There can be no serious quarrel with the Bill as it becomes law.

But now, a more serious sequel to this Ontario action is before the Dominion House. Mr. MacInnes, a C.C.F. member from British Columbia, has presented a Bill known as "Bill 37, An Act to Amend the Criminal Code." The main section 318A (1) of the proposed Bill, reads as follows:—

"Everyone who prints, publishes, issues, circulates distributes or otherwise disseminates any book, newspaper periodical pamphlet, picture, paper, circular, card letter, writing, print, publication or document, or who gives utterance in public to, or permits to be published broadcast or otherwise disseminated statements or words containing any material, report or statement of a nature intended or likely to expose any person or body of persons belonging to a certain race or professing a certain creed, to hatred, contempt, discrimination ridicule, insult or injury on account of such race or creed, thereby tending to create disharmony, unrest or disorder among the people or to incite a breach of the peace, is guilty of an offence." . . . . Then follow the penalties.

The motives behind this may be legitimate. The author of the Bill may have in mind that such an amendment would make it a crime for anyone to say a word against the Japanese of British Columbia, or against the Jews. But the Bill is much more all-embracing than that. We can well imagine that a body of censors could invoke the law in the event that any paper or periodical, or any letter to the editor, criticized the beliefs of any group. That would be only the beginning. We all know where this sort of thing leads to. It would be only one step further to make it a crime to attack the political beliefs of a person or party and we would have full-fledged Fascism in this country. The price of freedom is eternal vigilance. We must never let even these seemingly harmless bills, with the general purpose of which we may be in agreement, to get on our statute books. This Bill should not be allowed to pass. We suggest that those who love freedom in this area, and who believe that we are fighting for freedom of speech, should let their representative in Ottawa, know their views.

In all fairness it should be stated that there is one claim in the Bill which is designed to exempt the expression "in good faith" of expressing his opinion. Nevertheless, the persons who will decide what "in good faith" means will be the police, or the courts.

No! We had better leave well enough alone. While we dislike intolerant statements and deplore them, yet the attempt to crush intolerance by the force of the State, is a rather risky business

CHILDREN'S AID AT WORK

This is a Series of Articles Concerning Children's Aid Work — Prepared by the Association of Children's Aid Societies of the Province of Ontario.—Article 4

In this series of articles we have been looking backward to the dawn of the Children's Protection Movement in Ontario and following its development through the past half-century. We have emphasized and re-emphasized the democratic nature of the Children's Aid Society in your own and every community. We must never forget that with great wisdom, vision and high social intent our Children's Aid Societies were founded as organizations to be placed in the hands of the people of our communities.

This vital work of protection of children sprang from the hearts and was developed by the efforts of good and tender men and women. Legislation followed and the Children's Aid Society emerged as the instrument for the carrying out of the ideal that every child has a birthright in a civilized society!

Let us put it this way: The organs for the carrying out of the work are the Societies; the structure of the whole enterprise is the legislation which defines the powers and purpose of the Societies, but the life-blood that flows through the whole organization of protection is your zeal, your interest, your concern and your support of your Children's Aid Society.

In a later article we shall show what the public spirited lover of children can do for his or her Children's Aid Society by serving on its boards or one of their committees—how such people can broaden and extend its services, strengthen the hands of its trained and paid officials and enlist the whole-hearted co-operation and intelligent understanding of other men and women of the community.

It is the intention now to give as clear a picture as is possible in a brief space of some of the various functions performed by your Children's Aid Society under Ontario statutes. Under the Children's Protection Act the Society is constituted the specialist in guardianship, being legally appointed to appraise and determine the suitability of a child's given natural guardians.

Let us review a typical case that came before one of the Societies. Here we have a married couple with three children ranging in age from two to six years. Neither are vicious, but they are irresponsible lazy and shiftless to the point that their children are being neglected and suffering. The man has lost one job after another, due to inefficiency. What he does earn he and his wife spend in the beer parlour At the time the Society is called in by neighbours the man has lost his job; nearly all the furniture has been sold; there is scarcely any food in the house, the gas and electric power have been cut off and the children are sleeping on [illegible] But these parents are not actively unkind to their children, who obviously have affection for them. Is there any hope of salvaging this family? Certainly not without a very severe discipline and surveillance! The Society decides to charge them both with neglect and bring them into court, applying for temporary wardship of the children. Pending the dispsition of the case father and mother are detained and finally both placed on probation. They are told they must be able to show a rehabilitated home and a sincere desire to keep their parental responsibility before their children will be returned to them. In this case the couple did make amends. They went to work, re-established their home and today, under the watchful eye of the Society, have their children back with them. Had they not straightened up the children would have had to be made permanent wards.

Can a Society remove children from their home? Yes. It can and must lay evidence and produce information that these children are in evil hands. Court action is taken and the judge or magistrate decides whether to commit them to the Society, either permanently or temporarily. "Ward care" — that is, the over-all cost of maintenance in foster homes or institutions — is paid for under statute of the municipality. What this guardianship implies in the moral, physical and spiritual care of these little future citizens will be discussed later. It involves the whole policy of Children's Aid.

The Unmarried Parents' Act gives the Society very definite powers. These make it obligatory for it to act as a protective agent to any child born out of wedlock and, lacking the protection it is entitled to, wardship action is taken. Another function is to contact the putative father and arrange for maintenance of his child. But outside of its statutory obligations, there is always assumed by the Society a service in helping to re-establish the unmarried mother.

Tradition was upset when for the first time in history a woman was called to act as Speaker of the House of Commons. Mrs. Cora Casselman, Liberal member for Edmonton East, did it gracefully. Anyone who has seen this striking-looking motherly Parliamentarian in the House would agree she would do honour to the Speaker's throne. Patriotic letters on envelopes should be kept off letters going to prisoners of war, because the German Reich has advised it will confiscate such. This warning comes from the Post Office department. . . . National Selective Service officials say that shortly a Dominion-wide survey is to be made of all male employees between eighteen and thirty-five years. Reason: to locate persons evading call-up regulations. . . . Soon 30,000 government employees will have undergone the X-ray check-up to determine prevalence of tuberculosis.

Now that shipping from the West Indies is somewhat improved the question is often asked why more sugar is not brought into the country. We sought an answer and got this from the Consumer Branch in Ottawa. When rationing began, shipping difficulties caused short supply. The world pool of sugar which stood at ten million tons a year was down to half that at the end of 1943. From this pool Canada must inmost fourfifths of her sugar supply. The world pool was set, of course, by Great Britain, United States and Canada. The United States needs 800,000 tons this year for one thing alone, for industrial alcohol used in production of high priority war and civilian materials such as synthetic rubber. And with each piece of territory liberated, the demand on the sugar pool increases and when freedom comes to Europe as a whole the need will be more desperate.

From the Dominion Department of Agriculture comes this item importantto many areas in Canada. Farmers who supplied milk to cheese factories before September 30, 1943, and who are now selling to fluid milk distributors, creameries, and to concentration plants are required to resume deliveries to cheese factories as soon as possible. The Agricultural Food Board says that those farmers who were selling cream to creameries, or milk to concentration plants before September 30, 1943, are required to resume sales to their former markets if the dairy products manufacturers between now and April 30th Purchasers of milk are responsible for making these adjustments.

Since meat rationing was suspended farmers can slaughter livestock without permit for direct sale to any household consumption; but they cannot sell direct to butchers or quota users such has hotels and restaurants without permit, and they have to continue to stamp meat slaughtered and comply with previous defatting regulations.

Farm workers who have moved from their homes to essential employment during the winter will be drifting back shortly now. It is being worked out — by regions — by the Selective Service people so that the men will be getting back to each area when they are needed. Valid to April 1st some 73,149 permits were issued to these workers to engage in other industries. Except where provincial officials agree to certain extensions, after April 1st, they will be returning before then. The United Nations are looking to Canada for tremendous quantities of food and particularly will it be to maintain all the manpower possible.

Recent consolidation of Mobilization regulations brings in another group of men. In future a married man who is not supporting or maintaining his wife or children is liable to get his call if he is within the age group in which single men were liable —that is, if he was born in any of the years between 1906 and 1912 inclusive—providing he has not reached the age of 38 years.

What next? The R.C.A.F. is now training pigeons as paratroopers. Birds will be dropped in metal waterproof containers hitched to a small parachute when searching aircraft have located stranded airmen but cannot get to them directly. The birds can be sent back by the airmen with messages on their needs and condition.

If you wonder why stocks of dry white beans, yelloweye beans and dry whole split peas in Canada have been frozen by the Prices Board its reason given is the necessity of ensuring that supplies are available to the Department of Munitions and Supply for ships' stores and other priority users. The humble bean and pea will become important in your garden this summer.

Close follow-up work is not only socially sound and humane, but financially advantageous to the public. A second child, under such circumstances is nearly always a public charge — and so the liabilities increase!

So,we come back again to the part the men and women of every community can and should play in their Children's Aid Society. Prevention and more prevention is becoming the keynote in every enlightened community. First in the interest of the child's happiness and well being — that must always come first! Secondly as a matter of dollars and cents.

Farmers can use their own trucks to haul farm material or farm products anywhere. The regulations limiting the use of private commercial trucks to a 35-mile distance from their home address without special permit does not apply to farmers using their own trucks. By April 1, when the new gasoline ration year starts the Prices Board figures that every milk-transporting truck except that of the farmer hauling his own product will be under licensed permit On the basis of these permits the gasoline requirements of each route will be calculated, for the protection of the dairy industry as a whole. According to the Board estimates, zoned collections have resulted in reductions up to 44 per cent in number of trucks used, with consequent large savings in gas, rubber and equipment.

First Experiments With Blood Plasma Took Place Seven Years Ago

It was during the reign of Louis XIV of France that doctors first experimented with blood transfusions. The first experiment was with a dying boy in Paris. According to the story, the King's personal physician introduced lambs' blood into the veins, and within a short period of time the lad recovered. This started the popular animal to man transfusions which caused many deaths and which were finally ended by a ban of both the church and government.

For two hundred years medical scientists didn't know why transfusions killed some people and revived others. At least not until a scientist working in the United States discovered that there were four different types of human blood O, A, B, and AB. When the blood of an 'A' type person was mixed with that of a 'B' type the red corpuscles stuck together and the person, as likely as not, died.

The first experiments in developing blood plasma, which is the liquid part of the blood that remains after the red and white corpuscles have been removed, took place in 1937. By 1939, a process for drying blood plasma into powder form was developed. Today, using plasma, it is no longer necessary to match the blood of the patient before giving a transfusion. maple leaves in Canada and five other countries.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, APRIL 2ND, 1944

"SAUL BECOMES A NEW MAN"

Lesson Text: Acts 9: 1-9, 17-19.

Having spent the first quarter of this year on the Life of Jesus, we now pass into the area of history where we see the Gospel making its first great impact on the pagan world. Its impact was on individuals, and its progress, its amazing achievement through those early days of Christianity was through converted chanced men. These men, moving under the spell of a new life, with conviction, with passion, and with burning zeal for the cause, touched the whole life of the ancient world.

The story of Saul is one of the most fascinating in all history. Here a man well trained in the Jewish tradition, a zealous Judaism, a champion of his faith against any encroachment on its claims and powers almost overnight turned his back on all he had held to be true, embraced Christianity and went forth a flaming evangel for the Christian Way of Life.

The change in Paul's life was sudden, but the causes were many and cumulative, no doubt extending over a long period of time. He saw Stephen die; that made a deep impression on him. It is not sure just what the immediate effect was; we are not told. But Saul saw a good man, who being stoned to death, prayed for his persecutors. That was so different from anything Paul had known, that he never quite got over it. From then on he was battling with himself. His conscience once aroused, never let him alone. And then the climax came. He was smitten when on the road to Damascus whither he was bound as a persecutor of the Christians. The battle had been won. Paul was, from then on a Christian He never did things by halves. He became the greatest interpreter of Christianity to the pagan world that has ever lived. Under his organizing genius, his statesmanlike planning, his dynamic moving preaching, churches began to spring up here and there all across the ancient world. When he died, Christianity had been established as a world-wide religion.

We have need [illegible] Importance of this [illegible] had forgotten it this [illegible] a new Christian [illegible] the scene, and speak [illegible] to the power of Christ [illegible] We must never forget that [illegible] is that from our Sunday [illegible] there graduate, year after year, [illegible] our churches young people [illegible] church church men [illegible] mean what it must mean [illegible] it depends on the impact [illegible] Church makes on the life [illegible] child. There are many [illegible] Kingdom of God [illegible] forget that.

Some churchs think the [illegible] into him again in one way [illegible] another. There are those who [illegible] that a child unfolds [illegible] a flower, and grows naturally [illegible] Kingdom. Others insist on a [illegible] change, a conversion, a [illegible] change. A real church must [illegible] for both, and perhaps [illegible] last decade or two, as a natural [illegible] action against some extravagant [illegible] emphasis has been all on the [illegible] idea. Perhaps the time has [illegible] to insist that a Christian must [illegible] a changed person He must be [illegible] different. The lines of [illegible] ation between the Christian and [illegible] man of the world, have become [illegible] thin of recent years. A healthy [illegible] distance, and the necessity of [illegible] knowing that they have been [illegible] were doomed, and that they [illegible] only saved by a Saviour, who [illegible] down church rolls but might [illegible] a stronger and more effective [illegible] church.

Anyway, when we look [illegible] Paul's experience and realize [illegible] he accomplished, it makes us [illegible] if the world might not be a [illegible] Kingdom of God, if each [illegible] to his gifts, consecrated [illegible] the same devotion as he did [illegible] Christ whom he met on the [illegible] Road.
